P. COURSE DESCRIPTIONS ............................................................................382
Dr. Tommy Smith, Johnson University President

For over 125 years, Johnson University has remained devoted to educating students for Christian ministries and other strategic vocations framed by the Great Commission in order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations. To accomplish this mission, Johnson has demonstrated a strong commitment to:

- Discipleship: our purpose is to prepare men and women for effective service of Christ utilizing their various skills, passions, and abilities in diverse opportunities and settings. Effective service is built on a foundation of an active, growing relationship with Jesus Christ in which all members of the Johnson community demonstrate the mind of the Spirit in godly decision-making, the fruit of the Spirit in all of their relationships, and the power of the Spirit in their service activities, to the glory of God.

- Scholarship: our faculty is committed to effective teaching and learning, incorporating high standards of preparation, first-rate methodologies and technologies, and the pursuit of excellence in the classroom. All undergraduate students complete a core of Bible and theology courses which prepares them to understand and communicate God’s Word, a common arts and sciences curriculum to help them comprehend God’s world, and their choice of over 50 professional areas of study to equip them to accomplish God’s work throughout the world. There are an additional 21 master’s programs, 2 educational specialist programs, and 1 PhD program at the graduate level.

- Community: a unique dimension of our ethos is that we live in community. We believe that developing character in community is an essential part of preparing to be Christian leaders. The encouragement, guidance, and accountability we experience by living, working, eating, recreating, and studying together build strong bonds of friendship and unity that last a lifetime.

- Opportunity: from the very first years of the history of the school, Johnson established a concern for students who wanted to prepare to serve Christ but lacked the financial resources to fund such an education. We work at keeping the cost of our education low and rely on faithful partners to fund a generous scholarship program. We also continue to provide multiple work-study opportunities to assist qualified students in obtaining financial resources for their education.

Johnson University values its heritage and core beliefs and continues to fulfill its mission to join God in His great mission to reconcile all people to Himself through our Lord Jesus Christ. Whether you are already part of the Johnson community or are considering Johnson as your choice for your educational experience, my prayer is that you will discover God’s calling and realize God’s “good work” (Philippians 1:6) in your life.
GENERAL INFORMATION
JOHNSON UNIVERSITY

History

Open day and night to the poor young man who desires above every other desire to preach the Gospel of Christ.

—Ashley S. Johnson, founder of Johnson University

A Heritage with a Far-Reaching Impact. Johnson University graduates have served faithfully in Christian ministries and other strategic vocations in congregations and communities throughout the United States and around the world. Wherever they have gone, Johnson University alumni have shown the marks of personal commitment to Christ and faithfulness to the biblical witness.

Ashley S. Johnson, President 1893–1925. Motivated by a strong conviction that the one great need in the cause of Christ was more laborers, Ashley Johnson founded the School of the Evangelists in 1893. A native of East Tennessee, Dr. Johnson was a nationally recognized evangelist, teacher, and author. An important element of his vision was to provide an education for worthy young men regardless of their ability to pay. The School of the Evangelists was renamed Johnson Bible College in 1909 at the request of students and friends. It was then renamed Johnson University in 2011. From its founding until 1941, the University also included an academy for students who had not completed their high school requirements.

In developing the institution, Johnson was greatly influenced by Alexander Campbell, the founder of Bethany College. They both desired to combine the family, preparatory school, college, and church in one system of education. Even the design of the Old Main Building contributed to this idea of educating the total person, for it housed the dormitory, dining room, classrooms, chapel, and library. Reflecting Campbell’s influence, Johnson made the study of the Bible central to the curriculum. At the same time, the College offered a substantial number of courses in the Arts and Sciences, such as English, Literature (Livy, Horace, Dante, and Milton), European History, Psychology, Sociology, Economics, Astronomy, Geology, and Zoology.

Johnson University has always required a solid foundation in the Arts and Sciences as necessary for an educated ministry.

Ashley Johnson and his wife, Emma Elizabeth, were essentially a team. Under their direction, the College and Academy grew and prospered from a combined enrollment of 42 students in 1894 to 132 in 1925. A high of 188 was reached in 1910. The students came from many states and a number of foreign countries. The progress was briefly set back in 1904, when the main building burned, and during the 1918–1919 period of World War I.

The reputation of the College was enhanced by the worldwide renown of Dr. Johnson as an author. Between 1881 and 1903, at least 20 books came from his pen. One of them, The Great Controversy, sold 100,000 copies.

Emma E. Johnson, President 1925–1927. Mrs. Johnson outlived her husband by two years and served as president during that time. The couple dedicated their lives to the development of the College. Not having children, they bequeathed all their possessions to the School. The students, faculty, alumni, and supporters were their family.

Alva Ross Brown, President 1927–1941. In 1927 Alva Ross Brown, a brilliant young graduate of Johnson University and the University of Michigan, assumed leadership of the College. At 22, he was the youngest college president in America at that time. His 14 years of faithful service were greatly complicated by the Great Depression. The growing debt of the College became a heavy burden on his heart and probably contributed to his early death. At the same time, enrollment held steady, academic standards were raised, the quality of the faculty was strengthened, and the number of graduates increased.

Robert M. Bell, President 1941–1968. Robert Monroe Bell, former Johnson University teacher and established Professor of Economics at the University of Tennessee, became the fourth president of the College in 1941. The Academy was dropped that year, and Johnson University became coeducational a few years later. Dr. Bell brought the school out of debt and placed it on a firm financial footing. During his 27 years of service, the enrollment steadily increased, the academic program was improved, new buildings were constructed (Bell Hall, Myrtle Hall, Alumni Memorial Chapel, and Glass Memorial Library), and the College’s reputation grew through his influential writings.

David L. Eubanks, President 1969–2007. In 1969 David L. Eubanks, a native of Maryville, Tennessee, was called to the presidency. A graduate of Johnson University and the University of Tennessee, Dr. Eubanks had served on the Johnson University faculty for 11 years. Under his leadership, the College continued to develop within the context of its historic mission and purpose. Enrollment grew to 900; the faculty and staff increased; regional and national accreditation were achieved; undergraduate program offerings were expanded; and graduate, distance learning, and degree completion programs were added.

The physical plant was greatly improved with the enlargement of Glass Memorial Library and the construction of the Phillips-Welshimer Building, married student housing, the Eubanks Activities Center, Emma Johnson Hall for women, and Alva Ross Brown Hall for men. Computers and network infrastructure were added to provide campus-wide computer accessibility. Between 2000 and 2004, Richardson Hall, larger residence halls for both men and women, and the renovation of Myrtle Hall into a state-of-the-art Counseling Center were completed.

Gary E. Weedman, President 2007–2018. Gary Weedman assumed responsibility as sixth president of Johnson University in 2007. He graduated from Johnson University in 1964 and returned as a professor from 1969 to 1976. He later held administrative roles at Lincoln Christian College, Milligan College, Palm Beach Atlantic University, and TCM International Institute.

Under Dr. Weedman, campus development has continued with the completion of the Gally Commons dining hall, bookstore, and post office facility in the fall of 2007. The Russell Preaching Center was opened in 2009. In 2010 the White House was restored and connected by a refectory to River View, the new home of the president. Construction of the Athletics and Recreation Complex (ARC) began in 2017 with an expected completion date of December 2018.

In 2011 Dr. Weedman led the effort to rename the institution “Johnson University” and rearticulate its mission in a way that allows for future growth by expanding programs with an emphasis on extending the kingdom of God and fulfilling the Great Commission. Since that time, the institution developed many new academic offerings, including the University’s first doctoral program.

L. Thomas Smith Jr., President 2018–present. Tommy Smith became the seventh president of Johnson University on July 1, 2018. A native of Carter County, Tennessee, he is a graduate of Johnson Bible College (B.A., 1978), Emmanuel School of Religion (M.A.R., 1986), and the University of Tennessee (PhD, 1990). He has served as Professor of History and Theology at Johnson University since 1989, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences (2012–2014), and Vice President for Academic Affairs/Provost (2014–2017). Dr. Smith is a Presnell Fellow of the Class of 2017 of the Executive Leadership Institute of the Tennessee Independent Colleges and Universities Association.

Dr. Smith has held associate, youth, and worship ministries in Knoxville and Valley Forge, Tennessee, and preaching ministries in Jonesborough, Kingston, Embreeville, Knoxville, and Farragut, Tennessee. He is the author of Above Every Other Desire: A Centennial History of Johnson Bible College (1992) and Above Every Other Desire: A History of Johnson University, 1893–2018 (2018), and has contributed essays, articles and book reviews to various publications. In addition to his administrative and teaching responsibilities, Dr. Smith maintained an active speaking schedule including revivals, workshops, retreats, and seminars, and has conducted short-term mission trips to Haiti, Honduras, China and Ukraine. He has engaged in interim preaching ministries in Knoxville, Rockwood, Morristown, Farragut, Chattanooga, and Seymour, Tennessee, seeking to assist churches during important transitional periods. Tommy’s wife, Deborah Hathaway Smith, has served in many roles on the Johnson campus and is well-prepared to serve effectively as first lady of Johnson University.

Johnson University Florida. In 2013 Johnson University acquired Florida Christian College (FCC) and established “Johnson University Florida” as a branch campus in Kissimmee. Founded in 1976 as Central Florida Bible College, FCC made significant kingdom impact in Florida and around the world with a reputation for thorough training in Bible and ministry. Highlights of the history of the school include:

- After many months of prayer and planning led primarily by representatives of the Florida ministerial associations, Central Florida Bible College began with a Freshman class of thirty-two students in September 1976. The College utilized the facilities of First Christian Church in Orlando. President John Hasty led the College for the first four years, obtaining its license by the Florida State Board of Independent Colleges and Universities and building the original faculty and curriculum. In the fall of 1979, the Clifford Chapman family in Kissimmee donated a forty-acre tract of land for campus development.
- Dr. Marion Henderson was inaugurated as the second chief executive of the College in February 1981. During his tenure as president, the College made the transition to its permanent campus in Kissimmee. With the move to the new campus came a change in name to Florida Christian College. In October 1985, FCC was granted membership in the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges (now ABHE).
• FCC was led by presidents A. Wayne Lowen (1987–2001), Harold Armstrong (2002–2009), and Willam K. Behrman (2010–2013); key faculty members included Dr. James Smith, Dr. Roger Chambers, Dr. Michael Chambers, and Dr. Tony Buchanan. FCC was accredited by the Southern Association of College and Schools Commission on Colleges in December 1995.

• On July 1, 2013, Florida Christian College became part of the Johnson University system as a branch campus under the name “Johnson University Florida.”

• Dr. David L. Eubanks, President Emeritus of Johnson University, began serving as Chief Operating Officer on April 10, 2013, and retired as Chancellor Emeritus of Johnson University Florida on October 27, 2015.

• Dr. Michael L. Chambers began serving as Chancellor and Vice Provost for Academics on June 1, 2015, and retired as Executive Vice President of Johnson University Florida on June 30, 2020.

• Dr. Marvin Elliott began serving as Executive Vice President-Elect of Johnson University Florida on March 1, 2020, and as Executive Vice-President on July 1, 2020.

Mission Statement

Johnson University educates students for Christian ministries and other strategic vocations framed by the Great Commission in order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

Johnson University, a private, coeducational institution of higher learning offering associate, baccalaureate, and graduate degrees, strives to be faithful through twenty-first century methods to its historic purpose of preparing students to preach the Gospel.

Johnson University seeks qualified students committed to communicating throughout the world the message of peace, wholeness, and restoration as described in Christian Scriptures. We enroll students from all age groups and from diverse geographic, ethnic, and social backgrounds. Consistent with our historic practice, we endeavor to make education available to students regardless of their financial resources.

Johnson University engages a faculty supportive of its mission and committed to teaching and advising; scholarly and creative activity; and service to churches, Johnson University, and the larger community. We create a supportive environment for spiritual formation in which students and faculty can identify abilities and realize responsibilities for personal growth and for service to others in the churches and the human community. We also provide financial resources, facilities, and administrative and academic services that support student and faculty achievement.

Johnson University offers undergraduate programs involving a curriculum for all students that (1) centers upon the knowledge, application, and appreciation of the Scriptures; (2) builds upon a general education core aimed at understanding and appreciating cultural contexts as well as developing skills to communicate within those contexts; and (3) provides vocational options aimed at engaging students in congregational ministries and other strategic callings.

Johnson University offers graduate programs in professional and academic areas that prepare students for leadership in congregations, educational institutions, and other service vocations. Johnson University also recognizes its responsibility of service to Christian congregations, the local community, and the world.
Johnson University provides in the co-curricular and extracurricular activities a transformational, experiential, and missional education. These activities lead students to understand and exhibit ethical behavior consistent with scriptural norms, provide students with service learning opportunities that sharpen their abilities and sense of calling, and demonstrate ways that selected vocations accomplish their part of the Great Commission.

Core Values

As a private, coeducational institution of higher learning, Johnson University holds to the following core values:

- The lordship of Christ and the authority of Scripture
- The centrality of service to Christian congregations, the local community, and the world
- The necessity of faith, the efficacy of prayer, and the value of work
- The importance of affordability and the worth of a nurturing community
- The imperative of a Christian lifestyle and the virtue of academic discipline
- The priority of communicating throughout the world the message of peace, wholeness, and restoration as described in the Christian Scriptures

Statement of Faith

The University is aware of the potentially controversial nature of creeds and has no intention of adding to an already divided church. The essence of our belief is in the old saying, “no creed but Christ.” Therefore, any person who holds to the Lordship of Jesus and meets the other admission requirements is welcome at Johnson University. Yet, in order to understand the nature of the University, you should know that every trustee, administrator, and teacher holds the following items to be true, and that students may not use the campus as a place to actively promulgate teachings greatly out of line with these:

1. There is one true God of the Old and New Testaments.

   The God of the Old Testament, Israel’s God, is supreme as sole Creator and Ruler of all that exists (Genesis 1:1; Exodus 20:1–11; Deuteronomy 6:4–5). The New Testament reveals in Christ—incarnate in the world, in submission to God the Father, and exercising authority that belongs to God alone—and the Holy Spirit—sent by the Father and the Son, doing their will, witnessing to them, and doing what God alone can do—that God is Triune (John 1:1–18; 16:12–15; Colossians 1:15–20).

2. All the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments are inspired by God and sufficient for understanding of and obedience to Jesus Christ, which by faith through grace will bring the remission of sins and eternal redemption.

   The faithful of Israel received the books of the Law, the Prophets, and the Writings as God’s word through the prophets, poets, and sages whom he inspired, as witnessed by their declaration that their message was God’s message (Exodus 20:1–2; Psalm 1; 119; Isaiah 1:10; Malachi 1:1). Thus the New Testament treats the Old Testament as the inspired, authoritative word of God, in continuity with the faithful of Israel (John 10:35; 17:17; 2 Timothy 3:16). The church of Christ received Gospels telling the story of Jesus, letters applying that Gospel to the church’s faith and life, and the Apocalypse describing the church’s present and future in God’s plan, as bearing divine authority like Israel’s Scriptures (Matthew 28:18; John 16:13; Colossians 4:16; 2 Peter 3:15–16; Revelation 1:1–3).

3. Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, born of the Virgin Mary, and is completely sufficient as our Savior, Prophet, Priest, and King.

   Jesus’ virgin conception is consistently affirmed or assumed in the New Testament (Matthew 1:18–25; Luke 1:26–38; 2:1–7; 3:23; John 8:41; Galatians 4:4). He is identified by title and type as Israel’s divinely promised King who establishes God’s rule, that is, the Christ (Matthew 2:15; 16:13–17:8; Mark 1:1; Romans 1:1–7; Hebrews 1:1–4; Revelation 1:12–20; 5:1–14). As such he alone grants salvation (Acts 2:36–38; 4:12); he is the greatest of the prophets (Luke 11:29–32, 48–51); he is the great high priest (Hebrews 4:14–5:10); and the promised “anointed one,” “Son of David,” God’s promised King (Matthew 21:5; 25:31–46; 27:37; John 1:43–51; Acts 17:7; 1 Timothy 6:13–16; Revelation 17:14)

4. Jesus died on the cross for the whole human race and for all ages, and His sacrificial death and resurrected life cleanses from all sins, on the conditions expressed in the New Testament.

   Jesus described his death and resurrection in terms that recalled the substitutionary nature of Israel’s temple sacrifices for propitiation and forgiveness of sin (Mark 10:45; Luke 22:14–23). The New Testament explicitly describes Jesus’ death and resurrection as offering forgiveness for all humanity (Romans 3:25; Ephesians 1:7; Hebrews 9:11–28; 1 John 1:5–2:2; 4:10).

5. Jesus was buried in the grave and was bodily resurrected, triumphant over death for all eternity.

   Jesus’ death and resurrection is pivotal to the story of Scripture (Matthew 26–28; Mark 14–16; Luke 22–24; John 18–21; Acts 1:1–11; 2:22–41; Romans 1:1–7; 1 Corinthians 15). The New Testament affirms Jesus’ resurrection as an event in space and time, not merely an internal religious experience or private vision, using the term “resurrection” according to common Jewish usage and affirming that Jesus’ empty tomb and resurrected body were witnessed by many in a relatively brief span of time and narrow range of places, against their prior beliefs and expectations.

6. Jesus gave the Great Commission through the Apostles to the Church to embrace all nations and all ages to the end of time.

   The Bible frames the ministry, death, and resurrection of Jesus as God’s victory over the forces of rebellious evil, the beginning of the restoration of his purpose for humanity. The work begun by Jesus is to be carried out by his followers who proclaim his message so that rebellious humanity can place faith in Jesus and thereby be restored to their Creator’s blessing and purpose (Matthew 28:18–20; Luke 24:44–49; John 17:18; 20:21–23; Acts 1:6–8).

7. The Holy Spirit was sent from Heaven to the Church to establish the preaching of the Gospel through the Apostles and empower, equip, encourage, and comfort followers of Jesus in their service to Christ.

8. God offers redemption and restoration to all who confess and forsake their sin, seeking His mercy and forgiveness through Jesus Christ.

The Bible epitomizes the story of humanity in the pre-patriarchal narratives (Genesis 1–11), the patriarchal narratives (Genesis 12–50), and the grand narrative of Israel as one of headstrong rebellion against the Creator. Thus, all humanity is estranged from God and unable to redeem itself (Romans 3:9–20; Ephesians 2:1–3). Christ is the divinely provided solution to this dilemma (Romans 3:21–26; Ephesians 2:4–10). His gift is received by those who acknowledge their rebellion and helplessness, turning to God for mercy (Matthew 3:6; 4:17; Luke 24:47; Acts 2:38; 3:19; 11:18; 26:20; Romans 10:9–10; 2 Peter 3:9; 1 John 1:8–9).

9. The New Testament expresses the conditions of response to the gracious work of Christ as faith, repentance, confession of faith in Jesus and baptism (immersion), together which provide the spiritual foundation for continued obedience to Christ.

Faith (Acts 16:30–31), giving assent to the truth of the gospel and placing trust in it, is the foundational response in receiving Christ’s gift. Repentance (Matthew 4:17; Acts 2:38; 17:30), the turning from rebellion against God to seek God’s mercy, and confession (Romans 10:9–10), giving overt expression to faith, are immediate consequences of faith. Baptism by immersion, in which the passive supplicant calls out to God in Christ for cleansing and new life, expresses and encapsulates all these and is therefore consistently in the New Testament associated with conversion from the old life to the new (Acts 2:38; 22:16; Romans 6:1–6; 1 Corinthians 12:13; Galatians 3:27; Colossians 2:11–14; Titus 3:5; 1 Peter 3:21).

10. The teachings of the New Testament provide the basis on which followers of Jesus may achieve the unity for which Jesus prayed to the end that the world may believe on Him.

Jesus’ prayer for his followers’ unity (John 17:20–26) is founded on the unity of Father, Son, and Spirit and has the world’s reclamation as its final aim. That unity is revealed in the gospel, authoritatively delivered to us in New Testament Scripture that shows realization and fulfillment of God’s promises as revealed to Israel and authoritatively delivered to us in Old Testament Scripture. While deep, rich, diverse traditions inform Christians’ life and thought, Christians must continually test and reform those traditions with the authoritative deposit of Scripture.

11. Jesus Christ will come at the end of the world and will judge all people according to that which is written in the Christian Scriptures.

Jesus’ death and resurrection inaugurate the fulfillment of God’s promises to reclaim rebellious humanity. The merciful offer of forgiveness and reconciliation through Christ is made through proclamation of the gospel which demands a response of repentant faith. In his mercy God restrains final judgment on rebellious humanity to give all the opportunity to turn to him (Acts 2:34–35; Ephesians 1:20–24; Colossians 3:1–4; 2 Peter 3:1–10). But realization of God’s final purpose will not be forever delayed. Therefore, Christ promises to return at a time known only to the Father, to bring final defeat on his enemies and blessing and vindication on his people (Matthew 24:29–44; Acts 1:11; 1 Thessalonians 1:10; 3:11–13; 4:13–5:11; Revelation 22:20).

One University—Three Campuses

Johnson University Tennessee. Geographically, Johnson University’s main campus is located in almost the exact center of that portion of the United States lying east of the Mississippi River and south of the Great Lakes. The campus is 7½ miles from the city limits of Knoxville, the metropolitan hub of the Great Smoky Mountains and East Tennessee’s other famous tourist destinations. Johnson University Tennessee is only a short distance from the city’s cultural attractions, restaurants, shopping malls, and airline connections through McGhee Tyson Airport.

Directions to Johnson University Tennessee

From the NORTH: Go to downtown Knoxville on I-275 South and follow the signs to Henley Street/U.S. 441 South, which becomes Chapman Highway. From the river bridge downtown, proceed seven miles south. At the traffic light at E. Hendron Chapel Road, turn left and travel five miles to Johnson University.

From the WEST and SOUTH (via I-40/75): Go to downtown Knoxville on I-40. Take Exit 388 (Smoky Mountains) and follow signs to U.S. 441 South, which becomes Chapman Highway. From the river bridge downtown, proceed seven miles south. At the traffic light at E. Hendron Chapel Road, turn left and travel five miles to Johnson University.

From the SOUTHEAST (via Gatlinburg/Pigeon Forge): Follow U.S. 441 north from Sevierville toward Knoxville. Approximately 15 miles after leaving Sevierville, turn right at the traffic light on E. Hendron Chapel Road and travel five miles to Johnson University.

From the EAST (via I-40): Take exit 398 (Strawberry Plains Pike) and follow the signs to Johnson University. You will make a total of five left turns in approximately 12 miles.

Johnson University Florida. Johnson University Florida, a branch campus, is located in the heart of the Sunshine State in Kissimmee. The Orlando International Airport, Walt Disney World, and other Central Florida attractions are only a short drive from campus.

Directions to Johnson University Florida

From the ORLANDO INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT: From the parking garage, follow the signs reading “To Exit and Area Attractions.” Follow the brown signs for “South Exit—Kissimmee-Via Toll Road 417.” Toll Road 417 is 4 miles south of the airport. Continue straight past it on Boggy Creek Road one more mile to the next traffic light. Turn right at the Circle K store. This is Simpson Road. Continue about 3 miles, passing Buenaventura Lakes Blvd and Lakeside Drive. As you approach the next traffic light, bear right onto Fortune Road. Continue about ½ mile on Fortune Road. As you pass over the Florida Turnpike the campus becomes visible on the left. Turn left at the light onto Bill Beck Blvd and left again onto the campus.

From the WEST and Tampa (via I-4): From Interstate 4, take the Route 192 East exit. Continue approximately 12 miles through Kissimmee on Route 192 to the Bill Beck Blvd intersection, which features a Burger King, Kentucky Fried Chicken/Taco Bell, 7-Eleven, and Osceola

From SOUTH FLORIDA (via the Florida Turnpike): Take the Florida Turnpike North to Kissimmee exit 242. Turn left at the light. Drive approximately 2 miles on U.S. Highway 192 to the Bill Beck Blvd intersection, which features a Burger King, Kentucky Fried Chicken/Taco Bell, 7-Eleven, and Osceola Heritage Park. Turn right onto Bill Beck Blvd. Continue about ½ mile and turn right at the campus entrance.

From the NORTH (via the Florida Turnpike): Take the Florida Turnpike South to Kissimmee exit 244. Turn right and continue approximately 1 mile through Kissimmee on Route 192 to the Bill Beck Blvd intersection, which features a Burger King, Kentucky Fried Chicken/Taco Bell, 7-Eleven, and Osceola Heritage Park. Turn right onto Bill Beck Blvd. Continue about ½ mile and turn right at the campus entrance.

Johnson University Online. Johnson University Online is headquartered on the main campus in Knoxville, Tennessee (see above). Online professors and students live and work on six continents around the world.

Knoxville, TN

Academic Calendar

Calendar Structure. Johnson University operates year-round on an academic calendar organized as follows:

- Each calendar year includes three 16-week “terms” (excluding special events and school holidays). “Spring Term” typically extends from early January through early May, “Summer Term” from early May through late August, and “Fall Term” from late August through mid-December.

- Each 16-week “term” includes two 8-week “sessions” referred to as “Spring 1, Spring 2, Summer 1, Summer 2, Fall 1, and Fall 2.” Session courses are typically 7 weeks in length, and run weeks 1–7 or weeks 2–8 in an 8-week session, which allows time for a break between sessions.

- Within this framework, Johnson University offers courses of varying lengths according to the needs of a given academic program. To illustrate: Traditional undergraduate students typically enroll in several 15-week courses during Fall 1-2 and Spring 1-2. Non-traditional students enrolled in certain programs take one or two 7-week courses each session year-round.

Traditional Academic Year

- For undergraduate students, 12 credits per term constitute “full-time” status. For master’s students, 9 credits per term constitute “full-time” status. For doctoral students, 6 credits per term constitute “full-time” status.

- For purposes of state and federal financial aid, traditional undergraduate students are considered to be on a “standard term semester system.” Accordingly, up to 50% of their annual aid may be allocated for Fall Term and up to 50% for Spring Term. Any remaining aid eligibility is available for the Summer Term. Thus, the Summer Term is considered a “trailer.”

- For purposes of financial aid, online undergraduate students are considered to be on a “standard term trimester system,” under which their annual aid is allocated in two payments.

*The official start and end dates of these courses are the 8-week session start and end dates. The courses run for 7 weeks. Some 7-week courses run weeks 1 through 7, and other courses run weeks 2 through 8 of each 8-week session. Check with your advisor for the start and end dates of each 7-week course.

Accreditation and Authorizations

State Authorization. Johnson University is legally authorized and chartered by the State of Tennessee and approved by the Tennessee Higher Education Commission (THEC) to operate as a degree-granting educational institution.

Johnson University Florida operates and grants degrees under the jurisdiction of the Florida Department of Education (325 W. Gaines St., Suite 1414, Tallahassee, FL 32399-0400; Telephone: 850-245-0505).

Johnson University Florida is approved as an eligible private institution for receipt of federal and state financial aid by the U.S. Department of Education and the Florida Department of Education.

Johnson University is authorized by The Indiana Commission for Higher Education/The Indiana Board for Proprietary Education, 101 West Ohio Street, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204-4206.

SACSCOC Institutional Accreditation. Johnson University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award associate, bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees. Questions about the accreditation of Johnson University may be directed in writing to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, GA 30033-4097, by calling (404) 679-4500, or by using information available on SACSCOC’s website (www.sacscoc.org).

Johnson University Florida’s accreditation status with SACSCOC is strictly based on Johnson University Florida’s relationship with Johnson University. Johnson University Florida is not accredited independently through SACSCOC.

SACSCOC should be contacted only if there is evidence that appears to support Johnson University’s significant non-compliance with a requirement or standard. Normal inquiries about the University (such as admission requirements, financial aid, educational programs, etc.) should be addressed directly to Johnson University and not to the Commission’s office.

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges is the regional body for the accreditation of degree-granting higher education institutions in the Southern states. The Commission’s mission is the enhancement of educational quality throughout the region and the improvement of the effectiveness of institutions by ensuring that they meet standards established by the higher education community that address the needs of society and students. Accreditation by SACSCOC signifies that the institution (1) has a mission appropriate to higher education, (2) has resources, programs, and services sufficient to accomplish and sustain that mission, and (3) maintains clearly specified educational objectives that are consistent with its mission and appropriate to the degrees it offers and that indicate whether it is successful in achieving its stated objectives.
ABHE Programmatic Accreditation. Programs in the School of Bible & Theology and the School of Congregational Ministry are accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of the Association for Biblical Higher Education, an accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (ABHE, 5850 T.G. Lee Blvd., Suite 130, Orlando, FL 32822; Telephone: 407-207-0808; www.abhe.org).

The Association for Biblical Higher Education’s Commission on Accreditation is recognized as a national, faith-related accrediting agency by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). The agency’s official scope of CHEA recognition is as follows: Institutions and programs in the United States, Canada, and related territories that offer certificates, diplomas, associate, baccalaureate or graduate degrees aimed at preparing students for Christian ministries through Biblical, church-vocational, and general studies. The ABHE Commission on Accreditation provides programmatic accreditation for institutions whose missions include programs outside the scope of biblical higher education. Nonetheless, these institutions offer specific programs that meet the requirements of biblical higher education and lead to credentials in biblical and theological studies as well as specific ministry-related careers. Programmatic accreditation indicates that specific program offerings meet the standards of excellence in biblical higher education.

State Authorizations for Distance Education. Johnson University is an institutional participant in the National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (NC-SARA; http://nc-sara.org/). NC-SARA is a voluntary agreement among its member states and U.S. territories that establishes comparable national standards for interstate offering of postsecondary distance-education courses and programs. It is intended to make it easier for students to take online courses offered by postsecondary institutions based in another state. NC-SARA enables the University to accept any student into a distance education program who resides in a participating state without investing the expense and labor of obtaining authorization from that state. An up-to-date list of participating states may be viewed at http://nc-sara.org/sara-states-institutions. Johnson University is able to accept students from any of the participating states into its online programs.

Master of Arts in Counseling. The Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP), a specialized accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA), has granted accreditation to the following concentrations within the Master of Arts in Counseling Program: Clinical Mental Health Counseling (M.A.) and School Counseling (M.A.).

Teacher Education. Johnson University Tennessee’s Teacher Education program is approved by the Tennessee State Board of Education (710 James Robertson Parkway, Nashville, Tennessee 37243; Telephone 615-741-2966) and by the Association of Christian Schools International (P.O. Box 65130, Colorado Springs, CO 80962-5130; Telephone: 719-528-6906). Johnson University Florida’s Teacher Preparation program is approved by the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI) and by the Florida Department of Education.

Veterans. Johnson University Tennessee’s curriculum is approved by the Tennessee Higher Education Commission (the state approving agency) for the training of veterans.

Johnson University Florida’s academic programs are approved by the Bureau of State Approving for Veterans’ Training for persons eligible under laws administered by the Veterans Administration.
Memberships

Johnson University is a member of the Appalachian College Association (ACA), the North American Coalition for Christian Admissions Professionals (NACCAP), and the Tennessee Independent Colleges and Universities Association (TICUA). Johnson University is an affiliate member of the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities (CCCU).

Policy on Student Privacy

Security of Student Records. Johnson University holds student records at all locations in locked fireproof file cabinets within locked offices, in password-protected micro-imaged storage media, and/or in password-protected software systems with internal security protocols. Only personnel with legitimate academic interests have access to files. Every night the University backs up all daily changes made to server data. These changes are added to the full data backups for total recovery as needed.

Sharing of Student Records. The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA, 20 U.S.C. § 1232g; 34 CFR Part 99, also known as the “Buckley Amendment”) affords students certain rights with regard to their education records. Johnson University complies with FERPA in all locations, all academic programs, and all modalities, setting forth the following rights of students:

- The right to inspect and review their education records within 45 days of the date the University receives a request for access
- The right to request amendment of education records that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading
- The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent (see below)
- The right to file a complaint concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with FERPA requirements (Contact the Family Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20202-8520.)

Generally, schools must have written permission from “eligible students” or the parent(s) of minor students in order to release any information from a student's education record. University students are almost always “eligible students” because of their age and status as post-secondary learners. Students may sign a release waiver if they wish to share information with parents or others.

However, FERPA allows schools to disclose those records, without consent, to the following parties or under the following conditions (34 CFR § 99.31):

- School officials with legitimate educational interest
- Other schools to which a student is transferring
- Specified officials for audit or evaluation purposes
- Appropriate parties in connection with financial aid to a student
- Organizations conducting certain studies for or on behalf of the school
• Accrediting organizations
• Appropriate officials in cases of health and safety emergencies
• State and local authorities, within a juvenile justice system, pursuant to specific state law
• To comply with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena

The University may also disclose “directory information” without a student’s prior written consent. Directory information includes the student’s name, address, email address, telephone number, date and place of birth, marital status, home church and church affiliation, dates of attendance, enrollment status, classification by year, previous high schools or colleges attended, degree program, participation in official activities and sports (including height and weight of athletes), degrees and awards earned, and photographic images and voice recordings in news or promotional materials. To illustrate: Students and alumni who receive honors or special recognition may be named in school publications with some explanation of the award.

Students may restrict release of directory information (except as indicated above) by making a request in writing to the Registrar’s Office within 10 business days of the first day of each term. Once filed, this request becomes a permanent part of the student’s record until that student instructs the University, in writing, to have the request removed, or until the student dies.

Students may expect employees or contractors of the University to record student images or voices (for instance, photos during student activities, audio or video of chapel services, Media Department video productions, etc.). Johnson University reserves the right to:
• Record student images and/or voices on analog or digital video, audio, film, photograph or any other medium.
• Use the student’s name, likeness, and voice in connection with the recording.
• Exhibit or distribute such recording in whole or in part without restrictions or limitation for any educational or promotional purpose which Johnson University, and those acting pursuant to its authority, deem appropriate.
• Use the aforementioned media with remuneration.

Students may opt out of this policy by contacting the Chief Communication Officer.

Student Responsibility. Johnson University issues a unique user name and password to all new students. They receive an email with their user name and password and security information. The university-issued name and password provide students with access to my.JohnsonU.edu and Sakai courses, both of which contain personal information. Students are thus responsible for protecting their personal information with password management by changing their university-issued passwords and setting up a security question for future password changes at http://JohnsonU.edu/password.

For more information, see the Johnson University Tennessee Student Handbook or Johnson University Florida Student Handbook.

Student Grievances

Johnson University Grievance Policy. Students have the right to file a formal complaint about unsatisfactory situations if all other forms of redress failed to correct the situation. Students who are dissatisfied are encouraged to communicate their concerns to the appropriate administrator. If the issue relates to classroom instruction or faculty, the student should communicate with the program director or dean who supervises the faculty member to express his or her concerns. If the issue relates to the dean, the student should communicate with the Provost about the situation. If the dean or other administrator is not able to resolve the situation satisfactorily, the student has the right to file a formal grievance. They may submit a Student Grievance Form by using the following link on the university website:

https://johnsonu.edu/public-disclosures/student-grievance-policy/

The Vice President for Academic Affairs/Provost will read the formal complaint and attempt to resolve the issue with the appropriate administrator. If the student still requests a formal hearing, the Vice President for Academic Affairs/Provost will appoint a Grievance Committee composed of a representative from the Office of Student Services or an alternate administrator, two members of the faculty selected by the faculty representatives on the Academic Council, and one student representative selected by the president of the Student Government Association (SGA). The committee will interview the parties involved and render a judgment about the validity of the complaint and remedies for the complaint if any are needed.

SACSCOC Complaint Procedures. Allegations regarding noncompliance with accreditation standards, policies, and procedures may be made to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, GA 30033-4097. For the Commission’s complaint policy, procedure and complaint form, see the SACSCOC website (http://sacscoc.org/app/uploads/2020/01/ComplaintPolicy-1.pdf). SACSCOC should be contacted only if there is evidence that appears to support Johnson University’s significant noncompliance with a requirement or standard. Normal inquiries about the University (such as admission requirements, financial aid, educational programs, etc.) should be addressed directly to Johnson University and not to the Commission’s office.

ABHE Complaint Procedures. Complaints from individuals, institutions or programs, or agencies regarding an institution’s or a program’s significant noncompliance with ABHE Standards, policies, or procedures may be submitted in writing to the Director, Commission on Accreditation, at 5850 T.G. Lee Blvd., Suite 130, Orlando, FL 32822.

State of Tennessee Complaint Procedures. If the institution is not able to resolve the student complaint, the student has the right to contact the state of Tennessee and its appropriate agencies to determine the course of action.

- Complaints related to the application of state laws or rules related to approval to operate or licensure of a particular professional program within a postsecondary institution shall be referred to the appropriate State Board (e.g. State Board of Health, State Board of Education) and shall be reviewed and handled by that board. See the Tennessee State Government website (www.tn.gov) and search for the appropriate division.

- Complaints related to state consumer protection laws (e.g., laws related to fraud or false advertising) shall be referred to the Tennessee Division of Consumer Affairs and shall be reviewed and handled by that unit (https://www.tn.gov/commerce/consumer-affairs.html).

State of Florida Complaint Procedures. If the institution is not be able to resolve the student complaint, the student also has the right to contact the state of Florida and its appropriate agencies to determine the course of action.
• Complaints related to the application of state laws or rules related to approval to operate or licensure of a particular professional program within a postsecondary institution shall be referred to Florida Department of Education and shall be reviewed and handled by the Commission for Independent Education (http://www.fldoe.org/policy/cie/file-a-complaint.stml).

• Complaints related to state consumer protection laws (e.g., laws related to fraud or false advertising) shall be referred to the Florida Office of the Attorney General and shall be reviewed and handled by the Consumer Protection Division (http://myfloridalegal.com/pages.nsf/Main/18A7753257FE439085256CC9004EC4F7).

Out-of-State Complaint Procedures. Student complaints relating to consumer protection laws that involve distance learning education offered under the terms and conditions of the State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (SARA) must first be filed with the institution to seek resolution. Complainants not satisfied with the outcome of the Institution’s internal process may appeal, within two years of the incident about which the complaint is made, to the Tennessee Higher Education Commission (https://www.tn.gov/thec/bureaus/student-aid-and-compliance/postsecondary-state-authorization/request-for-complaint-review.html).

For purposes of this process, a complaint shall be defined as a formal assertion in writing that the terms of SARA or the laws, standards, or regulations incorporated by the SARA Policies and Standards (https://www.nc-sara.org/resources/guides) have been violated by the institution operating under the terms of SARA.

For a list of SARA member States, please visit the NC-SARA website (https://nc-sara.org/directory). Student residing in non-SARA states should consult their respective State of residence for further instruction for filing a complaint.

Public Disclosures

Campus Safety. The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (20 USC § 1092(f); TCA 49-7-2206) is the landmark federal law, originally known as the Campus Security Act, that requires colleges and universities across the United States to disclose information about crime on and around their campuses. The law is tied to an institution's participation in federal student financial aid programs, and it applies to most institutions of higher education, both public and private. The Act is enforced by the United States Department of Education.

The law was amended in 1992 to add a requirement that schools afford the victims of campus sexual assault certain basic rights and was amended again in 1998 to expand the reporting requirements. The 1998 amendments also formally named the law in memory of Jeanne Clery. Subsequent amendments in 2000 and 2008 added provisions dealing with registered sex offender notification and campus emergency response. The 2008 amendments also added a provision to protect crime victims, “whistleblower” and others from retaliation. The 2013 amendments expanded the Clery-reportable crimes to include stalking, dating violence, and domestic violence. For more information on the details of the Clery Act, see the Johnson University website.
Tennessee State Code TCA 49-7-2206 also requires crime records to be kept by colleges and universities. Each institution of higher education that maintains either a police or security department comprised of state, private, or contract employees shall make, keep, and maintain a daily log, written in a form that can be easily understood, recording in chronological order all crimes against persons or property reported to its police or security department, the date, time, and general location of the crimes and if an arrest has been made, the names and addresses of all persons arrested and charges against the persons arrested. The code does not require an institution to identify in its log, unless otherwise provided by law, the names of the persons reporting the crime, the victim or victims, any witnesses or suspects who have not been arrested, or other information relating to any investigation of the crime. All entries in the daily logs shall, unless otherwise provided by state or federal law, be open to inspection without charge to the public during regular business hours. For crime reports related to Johnson University campuses, contact the Student Life Office or see the University website.

Alcohol and Drug Abuse Policy. The 1989 amendments to the federal Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act (DFSCA), as articulated in the Education Department’s General Administrative Regulations (EDGAR Part 86.100, Subpart B), require that, as a condition of receiving funds or any other form of financial assistance under any federal program, an institution of higher education (IHE) must certify that it has adopted and implemented a program “to prevent the unlawful possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees both on the institution’s premises and as part of any of its activities.” Accordingly, Johnson University has developed the following policy regarding alcohol and drug abuse:

Standard of Conduct. In keeping with the mission of Johnson University, the use, possession, distribution, manufacture, or sale of narcotics, illegal drugs, alcoholic beverages, tobacco, or the abuse of legal substances by its students and employees is strictly prohibited. [NOTE: If a beverage contains more than zero percent alcohol, it is considered to be an alcoholic beverage.]

Drug Testing. Whenever it is reasonable to suspect a student of substance abuse, University officials will make drug testing available. If the results come back negative, the University will bear the cost of the drug test. If the results are positive, the student will bear the cost and will be subject to disciplinary action. If the student refuses a request to be tested for substance abuse, then s/he will be subject to disciplinary action.

Sanctions for Violation of the Standard. Violation of this policy will lead to disciplinary action up to and including expulsion from the University or termination of employment (and referral for prosecution when local codes, state of Tennessee codes, or federal codes have been broken).

Help is Available. Confidential referrals for counseling, treatment, or rehabilitation are available from the University Counseling Center and the Health Services Office to students and employees who voluntarily seek such assistance. Helpful literature on alcohol and drug abuse can also be found in those locations.

Tennessee Codes. Under Tennessee state law, it is illegal for any person under the age of twenty-one to buy, possess, transport or consume alcoholic beverages (TCA 1-3-113), to provide alcoholic beverages to minors (TCA 39-15-404), to be intoxicated in public (TCA 39-17-310), or to possess or exchange a controlled substance (TCA 39-17-417).
Copies of the applicable Tennessee Codes are available from the Student Services Office.

Federal Codes. Possession and trafficking in controlled substances is regulated by federal law. The federal codes provide for fines plus imprisonment for possession (21USC844); forfeiture of real and personal property used to possess or facilitate possession (21USC853, 21USC881); forfeiture of vehicles, boats, aircraft, etc., used to transport a controlled substance (21USC884); civil fines and denial of federal benefits (21USC854); and ineligibility to purchase or receive a firearm (18USC922).

Non-Discrimination Policy. Johnson University is a Christian university affiliated with Christian churches and churches of Christ. Its mission is to educate students for “Christian ministries and other strategic vocations framed by the Great Commission in order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.” Accordingly, Johnson University seeks to hire and educate individuals who share its vision and core values to carry out that mission. Johnson University does not unlawfully discriminate in admissions, educational programs, or employment practices.

Johnson University does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national origin, age, veteran status, genetic information, political affiliation, or handicap—if such disability may be accommodated without undue hardship—in provision of educational opportunities, programs and activities, or employment opportunities and benefits, pursuant to the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and subsequent amendments to that act, Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972 and subsequent re-authorization of that act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and subsequent amendments to that act.

The University, however, reserves the right under those provisions to make certain employment decisions on the basis of religion, marital status, or sex consistent with the University’s religious beliefs when establishing qualifications for certain positions. Further, as a Christian ministry, the University retains the right to select those who serve in ministerial positions, as that term has been defined by the courts in the context of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, based on criteria established by the University without regard to Title VII, Title IX, or any other federal, state, or local law governing the employment relationship.

On the Tennessee Campus, direct questions concerning the non-discrimination policy in regards to:

- employment to Mrs. Beverly Darnell, Director of Human Resources, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Box 145, Knoxville, TN 37998. Telephone: 865-251-3451. Email: bdarnell@JohnsonU.edu.
- admissions and academics to Dr. Gregory L. Linton, Vice President for Academic Affairs/Provost, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Box 94, Knoxville, TN 37998. Telephone: 865-251-2364. Email: glinton@JohnsonU.edu.
- the Americans with Disabilities Act to Mrs. Kelly Estes, Director of the Academic Support Center and Disabilities Services, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Box 1645, Knoxville, TN 37998. Telephone 865-251-2426. Email: kestes@JohnsonU.edu.
- Title IX to Ms. Emili Williams, Director of Institutional Effectiveness and Title IX Coordinator, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Box 1639, Knoxville, TN 37998. Telephone: 865-251-2373.
On the Florida Campus, direct questions concerning the non-discrimination policy in regards to:

- employment to Mr. Bruce Dusterhoft, Associate Director of Human Resources, Johnson University, 1011 Bill Beck Boulevard, Kissimmee, FL 34744. Telephone: 407-569-1315. Email: bdusterhoft@JohnsonU.edu.
- admissions and academics to Dr. Gregory L. Linton, Vice President for Academic Affairs/Provost, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Box 94, Knoxville, TN 37998. Telephone: 865-251-2364. Email: glinton@JohnsonU.edu.
- the Americans with Disabilities Act to Mrs. Kelly Estes, Director of the Academic Support Center and Disabilities Services, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Box 1645, Knoxville, TN 37998. Telephone 865-251-2426. Email: kestes@JohnsonU.edu.
- Title IX to Dr. Garrett Thompson, Assistant Director of Academic Support and Career Services, Johnson University, 1011 Bill Beck Boulevard, Kissimmee, FL 34744. Telephone: 407-569-1340.

Graduation Rates. Johnson University’s six-year baccalaureate graduation rate for first-time, full-time degree-seeking students who entered in 2014 was 63%. The average graduation rate for private Tennessee colleges and universities for this same period was 62%. Johnson University Florida’s six-year baccalaureate graduation rate for first-time, full-time degree-seeking students who entered in 2014 was 40%.

Academic Catalog

As part of its quality control systems, Johnson University constantly reviews, assesses, and revises its educational programs and policies to meet changing world needs. Accordingly, this Academic Catalog is not to be considered a contract between Johnson University and its students. While the University fully intends to offer all the programs and courses described therein, it retains the right to alter programs and course offerings for the sake of improvement. In such cases, the faculty offers students reasonable substitutions or other accommodations if courses required under a given degree program are significantly altered or removed from the curriculum.

Candidates enrolling in a degree program enter under the Catalog requirements in effect at the time they enter the program. The University permits students to complete their degrees under the original catalog requirements as long as they maintain continuous enrollment and finish the degree within a reasonable timeframe. For details, see “Time Limits for Completing Degrees” in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Academic Policies & Procedures.”

It is the responsibility of the student to read the Catalog and other information Johnson University provides; stay informed about program revisions; and know and comply with all current policies, procedures, and requirements.
INTRODUCTION TO JOHNSON UNIVERSITY ACADEMICS

Core Values for Academic Affairs

The full-time faculty of Johnson University has identified the following seven Core Values that guide their conduct and work. These Core Values are the most important standards that faculty members strive to meet in all their relationships, interactions, decision making, and behavior. They describe how faculty members do their work.

- The faculty is committed to practicing and modeling Christlikeness.
- The faculty is committed to equipping students for Kingdom work.
- The faculty is committed to integrating faith and life.
- The faculty is committed to promoting diversity and inclusion.
- The faculty is committed to implementing best practices in higher education.
- The faculty is committed to achieving excellence.
- The faculty is committed to modeling servant leadership.

Academic Organization

Provost. The Vice President for Academic Affairs/Provost leads the academic division of Johnson University. The Provost reports directly to the President and serves on the President’s Cabinet. His primary responsibility is to align every aspect of academic operations with the university mission, including programs, personnel, policies, facilities, and finances.

Johnson University Schools. Johnson University has organized its faculty into eight “Schools” focusing on various professional fields and academic disciplines. They include the (1) School of Arts & Sciences; (2) School of Bible & Theology; (3) School of Business & Public Leadership; (4) School of Congregational Ministry; (5) School of Communication & Creative Arts; (6) School of Intercultural Studies; (7) School of Social & Behavioral Sciences; and (8) Templar School of Education. Each school is led by a Dean who reports to the Provost. The Schools concentrate faculty subject matter experts within the disciplines, giving them direct oversight of all programs related to their fields—undergraduate and graduate, traditional and non-traditional, face-to-face and online.

The Schools function in relation to one another as a “hub and spokes” (see diagram on previous page). The School of Bible & Theology, together with the School of Arts & Sciences, form the “hub.” This hub plays a central role in the university by providing every student with a strong biblical foundation and general education. The professional schools radiate from the hub like “spokes,” forming multiple pathways by which students may engage the world for Christ. The hub and spoke schools work together to accomplish Johnson University’s mission of “educating students for Christian ministries and strategic vocations framed by the Great Commission in order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations” (see below under “Educational Approach”).
Academic Support Services. A professional staff works alongside the faculty to provide various types of academic support. Examples include registrar, library, testing, academic support, service learning, disability services, online education, and administrative services.

Academic Council. Decisions that affect only students within a given school or program are generally made at the school level (e.g. course curricula, practicum requirements). Decisions that require a broader “university perspective” are made by the Academic Council—or, in some cases, by the faculty as a whole. Chaired by the Provost, the Academic Council focuses primarily on issues related to educational programs, policies, assessment, quality control, and accreditation. It evaluates proposals not only from the perspective of student learning but also with regard to their implications for strategic planning, marketing, recruiting, financial aid, library resources, support services, and other aspects of university operations. The Academic Council consists of academic administrators, school deans, key directors and administrators, and representatives of the faculty at large.
Johnson University’s Educational Approach

God’s Mission. In the beginning, God created the heavens and earth “very good” in accordance with His beneficent will (Genesis 1:31). However, God’s creatures fell away from their original goodness into sin, evil, and rebelliousness (Genesis 3).

In Jesus the Savior King, God himself has entered this fallen world to redeem the human race from sin, restore creation to its original goodness, and reestablish his gracious rule over all. Jesus proclaimed:

The time has come. The Kingdom of God is near.
Repent and believe the good news. (Mark 1:15).

Every time a man or woman turns from sin and accepts Jesus as Lord, God’s Kingdom spreads a little farther. So the Kingdom of God is already present, and it will come in its fullness when Christ returns. At that time, “every knee will bow…and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord to the glory of God the Father” (see Phil 2:10–11).

In his “Great Commission,” Jesus enlisted his followers in his own global mission:

All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me.
Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you.
And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.
(Matthew 28:18–20)

Johnson University’s Mission. Toward that end, Ashley Johnson established the School of the Evangelists in 1893 (renamed “Johnson Bible College” in 1909). Its doors remain “open day and night to the poor young man who desires above every other desire to preach the gospel of Christ.” In 2011 the school attained university status and adopted the following mission statement:

Johnson University educates students for Christian ministries
in order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

Johnson University’s historical roots lie in the American Restoration Movement of the nineteenth century led by Barton W. Stone, Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Walter Scott, and others. In accordance with this heritage, the University calls on Christians from all traditions to subordinate sectarian differences to the lordship of Christ and God’s global mission.

Educational Approach: The “Intercultural Mission Model.” How does Johnson University equip students to fulfill the Great Commission and promote the Kingship of God? First, the faculty has developed academic programs that include three primary types of studies:

- Arts and Sciences include history, philosophy, literature, fine arts, natural sciences, social-behavioral sciences, and other disciplines that explore the world and the human experience.

- Bible and Theology focus on God’s self-revelation in history as recorded in the Christian Scriptures, which gives meaning and purpose to life.

- Professional Studies equip students for a broad range of professions, such as congregational ministry, cross-cultural missions, education, business, counseling, and creative arts.
Second, the faculty has adopted an “intercultural missionary model” that directs these studies toward five interrelated aims:

- Experiencing God. Johnson University actively promotes “spiritual formation,” which it defines as being with Christ, becoming like Christ, and engaging in the work of Christ according to the leading of God’s Holy Spirit. The university motto—“Faith, Prayer, Work”—embodies these concerns.

  Johnson University helps students not only to know about God, but to experience God and develop a personal relationship with Him. It encourages growth in godliness, so that students forsake sin, bear the “fruit of the Spirit” (Galatians 5:16–26), and develop a Christ-like character. Johnson University challenges students to commit their energies and their abilities to the Missio Dei (“mission of God”)—God’s redemptive work in the world.

- Developing a Christian Worldview. Every human holds a “worldview”—a set of assumptions about the world that govern behavior in the world. Worldviews are revealed by how one answers fundamental questions of life, such as: Does God exist? What is the nature of God? How did the universe originate? Does it have a purpose? What are human beings? How should they relate to one another?

  Johnson University helps students develop a Christian worldview informed by the Scriptures—that is, an understanding of God, His Creation, and His purposes. Such a worldview enables students to view life holistically; it gives meaning and purpose to all the knowledge and skills they gain at the university. A Christian worldview is the added dimension of a Johnson University education. In addition to the whats and the hows, Johnson University addresses the whys. Other students may learn where the human race has been, but Johnson University students also learn where it is headed. Others may explore how life could be lived, but Johnson University students reflect on how it should be lived.

- Understanding Competing Worldviews. Johnson University also familiarizes students with competing worldviews. The university helps them develop a biblically-informed critical understanding of theological, philosophical, political, social, and cultural issues that shape contemporary civilizations to which they take God’s “good news.”

  Toward this end, Johnson University professors stress worldview issues in almost every course—in Arts and Sciences, Bible and Theology, and Professional Studies. Students explore the “big ideas” that have shaped various disciplines, professions, and cultures, along with major critiques of those ideas from both Christian and non-Christian perspectives.

- Bridging the Gap. Not only do Johnson University students develop a Christian worldview and consider competing worldviews. They also learn to “bridge the gap” by pointing others to Christ in meaningful ways. They develop skills for analyzing cultures (including their own); communicating across religious, cultural, and philosophical lines; and building incarnational, influential relationships in an increasingly globalized world. This includes effective strategies for earning the attention, time, esteem, and trust of unbelievers toward the end of evangelism and discipleship. Students become practical theologians, who bring the gospel to bear as a “word on target” for the specific context, as did the Apostles and Prophets.

- Developing Professional Competencies for Effective Service. Johnson University equips students to serve as Christ’s ambassadors in traditional ministry roles and in a variety of strategic disciplines and professions that intentionally further the Great Commission and advance the Kingship of God. Johnson University does not accept a sharp division between the sacred and the secular, as if God were not Lord of all Creation, all branches of knowledge, and all disciplines. Instead, as Justin Martyr said, “Whatever truth has been uttered by any man in any place belongs to us Christians.” Or, to paraphrase the Apostle Paul,

On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds.

We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought —every field, every profession, every academic discipline—to make it obedient to Christ (see 2 Corinthians 10:4–5).

A Johnson University education takes a missional approach to every academic program. Professors promote faith integration, encouraging students to “think theologically” and live out the practical implications of Christian faith in their professions and in every area of life.

A “Great Commission University.” In short, Johnson University’s “intercultural missionary model” aims to produce graduates who resemble the Apostle Paul in the synagogue or the Areopagus—graduates who (1) experience God; (2) understand biblical teachings; (3) meet people where they are with regard to their religion, philosophy, culture, and circumstances; (4) intentionally and prayerfully work alongside God’s Spirit to bring the gospel to bear in transformative ways; and (5) hold professional skills to support themselves as they fulfill Christ’s “Great Commission.”

Types of Degree Programs

The American education system consists of “preschool” and “kindergarten” (typically ages 2–5), “elementary education” (grades 1–5, ages 6–11), “secondary education” (grades 6–12, ages 12–18), and “higher education” (college and university programs, ages 18+). The higher education system awards “degrees”—that is, diplomas signifying that a student has successfully demonstrated the competencies associated with a prescribed course of study. There are four basic types of degrees—namely, associate’s, bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees. Each degree lays a foundation for the next degree level above it (see diagram below).
Johnson University defines these degree levels as follows:

Associate’s Degrees. The first degree beyond secondary education is the associate’s degree, which includes a minimum of 62 credit hours, including 32 credits of general Arts and Sciences, 2 credits of Chapel, and 15 credits of Bible and Theology. Associate’s degrees usually provide a broad foundation without specialization, although some “professional” associate’s degrees include specific skills for particular vocations. At the associate’s level, Johnson University seeks to develop in students:

- A broad Arts and Sciences foundation in disciplines such as written and oral communication, history and humanities, natural sciences, social sciences, mathematics, and information technology
- Biblical foundations for a Christian worldview and faith integration
- Foundations for spiritual formation—that is, being with Christ, becoming like Christ, and participating in Christ’s redemptive work
- Basic habits and skills for lifelong learning, such as the ability to read, write, and speak clearly; think critically and develop reasoned arguments; locate and use information resources; utilize computer technology; and work well with others
- The ability to form, maintain, and enjoy healthy relationships with others
- Where applicable, foundational professional knowledge and skills
- Knowledge, skills, and competencies needed to pursue a bachelor’s degree

Bachelor’s Degrees. The face-to-face bachelor’s or “baccalaureate” degree includes a minimum of 124 credit hours, including a 53-hour Arts & Sciences Core, a 33-hour Bible & Theology major (except for a few programs that require 30 hours), 4 credits for Chapel, and either a 30+ hour professional major or 18+ hour professional minor consisting of focused studies in a given academic discipline or professional field.

Online bachelor’s degrees require 120-124 credit hours. They do not include Chapel but require HUMN 1203 Personal Spiritual Formation (3). The Arts & Sciences Core consists of 55 hours for a Bachelor of Arts and 56 hours for a Bachelor of Science. Also, the Bible & Theology Major consists of 30 credit hours.

Students who transfer into Johnson University with an associate’s degree or 60 or more hours from an accredited college or university will take a condensed 24-hour version of the Bible & Theology Major.

At the bachelor’s level, Johnson University seeks to develop in students:

- A broader and deeper Arts and Sciences foundation that includes studies in written and oral communication, world cultures and civilizations, history, religion, philosophy, languages and literature, natural sciences, social–behavioral sciences, mathematics, and information technology
- A working knowledge of the Christian Scriptures, including the ability to study, interpret, proclaim, and apply the canon in a responsible manner
- The ability to critically analyze cultural, religious, philosophical, and worldview issues in light of the Scriptures and God’s self-revelation in history
- Foundations for lifetime health and fitness
- The ability to form, maintain, and enjoy healthy relationships with others, including persons from different backgrounds and cultures
- A theological foundation, theoretical framework, and practical skills for Christian leadership
- A philosophical and theoretical framework for practicing one’s chosen discipline or profession
- An ethical and theological framework for exercising one’s discipline or profession as a servant of Christ (faith integration)
- General acquaintance with professional tools and literature, along with basic research skills
- Entry- and intermediate-level knowledge, skills, and competencies for one’s chosen discipline or profession
- Practical experience in one’s chosen discipline or profession
- Highly developed habits and skills for lifelong learning, such as the ability to read, write, and speak clearly; think critically and develop reasoned arguments; locate and use information resources; utilize computer technology; and work well with others
- Christian commitment displayed in active discipleship and participation in Christ’s redemptive mission to the nations
- Knowledge, skills, and competencies needed to pursue a master’s degree

Master’s Degrees. A master’s degree includes no fewer than 30 credit hours beyond the bachelor’s degree. Graduates demonstrate further mastery of a specialized discipline resulting in high-level professional practice. At the master’s level, Johnson University seeks to develop in students:

- Advanced experiential knowledge, skills, and competencies for one’s chosen profession, which enable graduates to mentor others in that profession
- A highly developed philosophical and theoretical framework that enables students to exercise their professions in contextually appropriate ways
- A highly developed theological framework for exercising one’s profession as a servant of Christ (faith integration)
- Active involvement with professional tools and literature, along with advanced research skills
- Advanced practical experience in one’s chosen discipline or profession
- Advanced expertise in a specialized discipline, which enables them to conduct research in the field
- Christian commitment displayed in active discipleship and participation in Christ’s redemptive mission to the nations
- Knowledge, skills, and competencies needed to pursue a doctor’s degree, a professional credential, and/or licensure
Doctoral Degrees. A “doctoral degree” or “doctorate” includes no fewer than 60 credit hours beyond the bachelor’s degree (including the prerequisite master’s degree). At the doctoral level, Johnson University seeks to develop in students:

- Highly advanced experiential knowledge, skills, and competencies for one’s chosen profession, which enable graduates to teach others in that profession
- A highly advanced philosophical and theoretical framework that enables students to exercise their professions in contextually appropriate ways
- A highly advanced theological framework for exercising one’s profession as a servant of Christ (faith integration)
- Advanced expertise in a specialized discipline, which enables them to conduct research and make original contributions to the theory and/or practice of that field
- Christian commitment displayed in active discipleship and participation in Christ’s redemptive mission to the nations

Undergraduate versus Graduate Degrees. Traditionally, the first degree earned at a college or university was the bachelor’s degree. Accordingly, students who have not yet graduated with a bachelor’s degree are referred to as “undergraduate students,” and associate’s and bachelor’s degrees are called “undergraduate degrees.” Students who graduate with a bachelor’s degree and then continue with more advanced studies are “graduate students,” and master’s and doctoral degrees are called “graduate degrees.”

First-, second-, third-, and fourth-year undergraduate students are called “freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors.”

Lower versus Upper Division. In many cases, an associate’s degree represents essentially the first half of a bachelor’s degree. Thus, Johnson University sometimes uses the term “Lower Division” to refer to undergraduate courses taken at the associate’s level (i.e. freshman or sophomore courses numbered 1000-2999). More advanced undergraduate studies (i.e. junior or senior courses numbered 3000-4999) are called “Upper Division” courses.

As they progress through the Lower Division into the Upper Division, Johnson University intentionally moves students toward higher levels of intellectual activity and professional skill. Accordingly, Lower Division courses generally exhibit the following characteristics:

- Breadth—understanding the extent of a discipline and how it relates to other fields of study
- Foundations—principles, terms, methods, literature, and perspectives of a discipline as a basis for more specialized study; basic analytical thinking and theoretical application
- General Competencies—essential skills, attitudes, and practices (such as reading, writing, speaking, critical thinking, and problem solving) as preparation for more advanced studies and life-long learning
- Knowledge, Comprehension, Interpretation, and Application—a focus on acquiring and remembering basic facts and concepts related to a discipline, understanding those facts in context and relating them to other fields and processes, and applying this knowledge to new situations
- Academic Rigor and Dependence—rigor appropriate for foundational courses with students dependent on instructors as subject matter experts
• Preparation—courses typically require few college-level prerequisites

Upper Division courses display the following characteristics:

• Depth—in-depth study of a discipline’s theories and methods, including understanding of the applications and limitations of those theories and methods; awareness and use of scholarly literature in the field

• Specialization—intellectual and professional abilities necessary for success and progress in a given field; intellectual and professional skills necessary for graduate studies

• Refinement of Competencies—applying general competencies and skills more discerningly and in more challenging contexts

• Analysis, Evaluation, Synthesis, and Creation—a focus on advanced analytical and evaluative skills, integrating and synthesizing knowledge and insights from a variety of sources, and solving problems creatively

• Increased Rigor and Independence—greater responsibility and independent learning on the part of the student

• Preparation—courses typically require Lower Division prerequisites

Undergraduate Course Numbering System. The prefix identifies the general topic of the course; the first number represents the level of instruction normally employed in the course (1000- and 2000-level courses constitute lower division courses and 3000- and 4000-level courses constitute upper division courses); and the remaining three numbers represent the sequence and additional numbers for distinction of courses.

Johnson University does not participate in the Florida Department of Education’s Statewide Course Numbering System. Courses taken on the Florida campus are listed with the same numbers used for those courses in the entire Johnson University system.

Arts versus Sciences. The most common types of undergraduate degrees are the Associate of Arts or Associate of Science, and the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science.

The term “science” refers to any branch of knowledge concerned with establishing and systematizing facts, principles, and methods. Examples include biology and geology (examples of “natural sciences” aimed at understanding the physical world), psychology and economics (examples of “social sciences” or “behavioral sciences” aimed at understanding people in groups), and mathematics.

The term “art” refers to any branch of creative work and its principles, especially making or doing things that display special form, beauty, or insight. Examples include painting, sculpture, architecture, music, literature, drama, and the dance (sometimes called “fine arts”).

Undergraduate programs are called “arts” degrees or “science” degrees depending on their major focus. At Johnson University, Bachelor of Arts degrees usually include 12+ credits of foreign language study, whereas Bachelor of Science degrees include additional Natural Science and Social & Behavioral Science courses.

Majors and Minors. A bachelor’s degree must, by definition, include a “major”—that is, an integrated series of courses focusing on a particular field or discipline. At Johnson University, a “major” includes 30+ credits (except for the condensed Bible & Theology Major of 24 hours, which is taken by transfer students with 60 or more credits), with at least 18 credits in the Upper Division.

A bachelor’s degree may also include a “minor”—a shorter series of courses focusing on a particular field or discipline. At Johnson University, a “minor” includes 18+ credits, with at least 12 credits in the Upper Division.

All Johnson University bachelor’s degree programs include a “first major” in Bible & Theology. Beyond the Bible & Theology Major, students must complete a “second major” (i.e. a “double major”) or minor in a professional field or discipline (e.g., Education, Psychology, Preaching).

Concentrations. Some undergraduate majors and graduate programs include a “concentration,” which consists of 12+ credits focusing on a particular field, discipline, or specialty.

Certificates. Johnson University occasionally forms groups of courses into certificate programs. A “certificate” consists of 9+ credit hours in a focused area of study. The term “Certificate” is used for a cluster of undergraduate courses; “Graduate Certificate” is used for a cluster of courses at the master’s level; and “Advanced Graduate Certificate” is used for a cluster of courses at the doctoral level.

Academic versus Professional Degrees. “Academic” degrees (e.g. M.Phil. and Ph.D., Th.M. and Th.D.) advance the theory of a given field typically through original research, while “professional” degrees (e.g. M.Min. and D.Min., M.Ed. and Ed.D.) advance the practice of a given profession through applied research and field investigations.

Terminal Degrees. Doctorates are also called “terminal degrees” because, as the highest level degree, they typically represent the end point or “termination” of one’s formal education. In some fields, such as Social Work, the highest degree typically offered is the master’s. Thus, for example, the Master of Social Work (M.S.W.) degree is called a “terminal master’s.”

Traditional versus Non-Traditional. In “traditional” academic programs, students typically complete several courses at one time, on-campus, in sessions lasting 10 weeks (quarter system) or 15-16 weeks (semester system). Traditional programs were originally designed with the expectation that students would live on campus or commute from nearby, devoting most or all of their time to their studies. In contrast, “non-traditional” programs are typically designed for working adults. The academic year often consists of a series of shorter sessions in which students typically take only one or two courses at a time. Students study online or attend classes only once or twice per week. Johnson University offers both “traditional” and “non-traditional” academic programs.

Credits. Studies required for a degree program are measured in “credit hours.” In accordance with traditional U.S. higher education standards (the “Carnegie Unit”) and regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Education, Johnson University defines an undergraduate “credit hour” as representing a minimum of 37.5 clock hours of active engagement in learning activities inside and/or outside the classroom.

The amount of time that is required to earn one credit hour in a laboratory-, fieldwork-, practicum-, studio- or seminar-based course, including a music performance ensemble or private music lessons, varies with the nature of the subject and the stated learning outcomes. Classroom and student involvement time can vary from 30 minutes to four hours of work in one of these aforementioned courses and is considered the equivalent of 50 minutes of classroom-based direct instruction. Semester credit hours earned in courses such as internships, research, theses, dissertation, etc., are based on outcome expectations established by the academic program.

A graduate “credit hour” includes a minimum 50 clock hours of study.

For purposes of state and federal financial aid, traditional undergraduate students operate on a “standard term semester system.” Graduate students and undergraduate studying online operate on a “standard term trimester system.” For more information, see the discussion of the “Academic Calendar” (below).

Prerequisites. Some courses carry prerequisites—that is, courses students are required to complete before they enroll in the course in questions. (For example, students must complete CHIN 2100 Chinese I, or its equivalent, prior to enrolling in CHIN 2200 Chinese II.) When applicable, prerequisites are listed at the end of each course description later in this Catalog.

Overview of Baccalaureate Degree Structure

A bachelor’s degree from Johnson University includes the four primary elements shown in the diagram below. The credits may differ in some face-to-face and online programs.
Arts & Sciences Core. The Arts & Sciences Core offers students a broad-based foundation in History, the Humanities, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences, Communications, and other important areas of learning. Students pursuing bachelor’s degrees complete a 53-credit general education Core and 4 credits for chapel. For a detailed description of the Arts & Sciences Core, see below under “School of Arts & Sciences.”

Bible & Theology Major. The required 33-credit Bible & Theology Major grounds students in the Christian Scriptures as a foundation for developing a Christian worldview. For a detailed description of the Bible & Theology Major, see below under “School of Bible & Theology.”

Professional Majors and Minors. In addition to the Arts & Sciences Core and the Bible & Theology Major, all baccalaureate students complete either a 30+ credit professional major or an 18+ credit professional minor. Johnson University offers majors and minors in a variety of fields, such as business, education, counseling, intercultural studies, media, and music. For a complete list, see below under “Academic Programs.” Detailed descriptions of professional programs appear in the sections of the Catalog devoted to each Johnson University school.

Electives. General Electives consist of university-level courses that do not duplicate other courses within a student’s degree program. Students may fulfill General Elective requirements through either Lower Division courses (1000- or 2000-level) or Upper Division courses (3000- or 4000-level). However, Upper Division courses offer advantages to students planning to enter graduate school because they represent more advanced levels of study. Portions of the curriculum allow students to choose among elective courses in a particular academic discipline to fulfill a requirement. Eligible courses may be listed in the Academic Catalog or designated by particular course numbers.

Total Credits. Students must complete a minimum of 124 credit hours (120 credits of academic coursework plus 4 credits of chapel) to earn a bachelor’s degree from Johnson University. If a student’s chosen version of the Arts & Sciences Core, Bible & Theology Major, and professional major or minor total fewer than 124 credits, the student must complete enough General Electives to meet the minimum requirement. Some bachelor’s degree programs require more than 124 credits.

Transfer of Associate’s Degrees. Johnson University accepts all accredited associate’s degrees as satisfying lower-division requirements in the University’s Arts and Sciences core. Students who transfer to Johnson University holding accredited associate’s degrees or have earned 60+ credits may complete bachelor’s requirements with an accelerated Bible and Theology Major of 24 credits.

Characteristics of Johnson University Professional Majors and Graduate Programs

In accordance with Johnson University’s Educational Approach (described above), every Johnson University professional major and graduate program gives attention to:

- Specialized knowledge, skills, and attitudes pertinent to a given field or discipline
- Philosophical approaches and theoretical models for engaging in that field or discipline
- Significant practical experiences in that field or discipline
• Legal and ethical issues related to that professional field or discipline

• Worldview issues raised by that professional field or discipline

• Integration of faith and learning—that is, the ongoing quest to understand the discipline in all of its complexity from within the framework of a Christian worldview, and then to live out its moral and spiritual implications at the levels of intellectual assumptions, motivations, and applications

• Biblical principles, theoretical bases, and practical skills for Christ-like servant leadership in that field or discipline

• Contemporary models and case studies of how Christians have used that discipline or profession to promote the Kingship of God and carry out the Great Commission mandate

• Development of the student’s personal philosophy for practicing that discipline or profession as a Christian ambassador for the Lord

In short, Johnson University professional majors equip students to think and act theoretically, practically, theologically, and missionally in their chosen disciplines and professions.

Arts & Sciences Core Curriculum

Overview. For 125 years, Johnson University’s Arts & Sciences core curriculum has served a crucial role in educating students who desire above every other desire to preach and live out the gospel of Christ (Ashley Johnson). As a Great Commission university seeking to equip students to make disciples of Jesus Christ among all nations (Matthew 28:18-20), our desire is that every graduating student demonstrates the profound love for God and neighbor modeled by Jesus and taught in his Gospel. We believe this kind of love is cultivated by encountering God’s love, God’s word, and God’s world through the lifelong perspectives and practices of extending God’s kingdom on earth in such a way that the heavenly desires of God (Shalom) might be fulfilled in our lives and in our service.

Goals: The seven overarching goals of the Arts & Sciences core curriculum are intended to guide students toward a lifelong journey of growing in Christ, as they love, serve, and lead others in their personal and professional lives. We believe students who desire the instruction of the Lord and meditate upon it day and night are like trees planted by streams of water who bear the fruit of human flourishing (Shalom) in whatever they do (Psalm 1). Johnson University’s Discipleship community forms the roots from which the Arts & Sciences Curriculum grows. Service forms the trunk connecting every facet of learning. Exploration and Expression are the branches upon which the photosynthesizing leaves of Integration and Reconciliation grow. Each element of the curriculum is designed to organically foster graduates capable of bearing the fruit of extending the kingdom of God (Shalom) in every facet of society, in every society on earth.

Student Learning Outcomes: While every course in the Arts & Sciences general education curriculum is guided by our overall goals, our student learning outcomes are specifically targeted in particular courses.
Framed by the Great Commission…

DISCIPLESHIP: Graduates (will be able to) demonstrate understanding of the gospel and apply personal and corporate spiritual practices to know and love both God and neighbor.

EXPLORATION: Graduates (will be able to) apply research methodologies from diverse sources and disciplines to understand the global human experience.

SERVICE: Graduates (will be able to) demonstrate the ability to assess and organize appropriate responses to the needs of others through reflective engagement and servant leadership to church, community, creation and “the least of these.”

INTEGRATION: Graduates (will be able to) connect, interpret, and synthesize their understanding of the human experience with a Christian worldview.

RECONCILIATION: Graduates (will be able to) demonstrate the value of fostering social justice and relational unity between people of diverse perspectives, creeds, cultures, and ethnicities.

EXPRESSION: Graduates (will be able to) demonstrate the ability to read, comprehend, and create new and original works in oral, written and artistic mediums.

SHALOM: Graduates (will be able to) demonstrate intercultural competency and engagement.

…In order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

Modality: Johnson University offers the Arts & Sciences Core face-to-face at its Tennessee (JUTN) and Florida (JUFL) campuses, as well as in an Online (JUOL) format.

Arts & Sciences Core Requirements: All face-to-face Johnson University students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree complete a 53-credit Arts & Sciences Core Curriculum plus 4 credits of chapel. Online Johnson University students complete only 53 credits of the Arts & Sciences Core Curriculum. All Johnson University students pursuing an Associate of Arts (A.A.) or an Associate of Science (A.S.) degree complete a 34-credit Arts & Sciences Core Curriculum.

Arts and Sciences Core Elements: The Arts and Sciences Core Curriculum is composed of three basic types of courses:

1) Embodied Service courses (B.A./B.S. 14 credits; A.A./A.S. 10 credits) offer students progressive training in a life of flourishing spiritual formation and other-centered service through which they might learn to extend the kingdom of God among all peoples. By serving others, students join God in his mission to redeem, restore, and re-create the world. They will discern God’s work in their communities, identify the needs of the people to whom they are called, and apply God’s resources to meet those needs in creative and relevant ways. Engaging in service will help them build influential relationships with people who do not yet know Christ and communicate to them the gospel of Jesus that offers redemption, reconciliation, peace, and justice. By serving as Christ’s ambassadors, students will fulfill Jesus’ Great Commission to make disciples and his prayer for the kingdom to come on earth as it is in heaven.

It begins in the first year, even prior to the start of fall classes, where students can participate in a Bridge course designed to orient them to the college experience and connect them to classmates. Then in their first semester, students take a Cornerstone course that continues the journey toward college readiness, especially by prompting students to thrive as disciples of Jesus Christ and think about their vocation as servants from a variety of perspectives. Encountering Cultures: City as Text helps students begin to grapple with what it means to serve in their local context. Service Learning and Discipleship helps students select a service site in a controlled environment, guided by the course instructor and site supervisor. Students then have the option of choosing either Research Methods for Service Learning, where they will learn the basic research skills and develop a research project that arises out of their service experiences; or Cross-Cultural Experience, where students will participate in a cross-cultural trip led by Johnson faculty and/or staff from a church, or mission.

The final course Senior Capstone, culminates the Arts and Sciences Core as students work in groups to develop an integrative project and presentation in an ethics-based, service context. Students also participate in a one-credit Spiritual Formation Lab, where they are mentored within their Capstone groups as a missional spiritual formation learning community focused upon a life of flourishing spiritual formation in service of others.

2) Skill and Breadth courses (B.A./B.S. 25 credits; A.A./A.S. 22 credits) help students develop the abilities and knowledge base required for lifelong learning and service. They are designed to foster a deeper understanding and appreciation of God’s world by learning through a variety of perspectives and methods of study.

Skill and Breadth courses are foundational and developmental, cultivating intellectual growth by taking courses that establish fundamental knowledge in a field of study and then build upon one another, allowing content, methodology, and critical thinking skills to increase in complexity as students mature in intellect and faith.

Skill and Breadth courses are also multidisciplinary and multicultural, providing students with the opportunity to study multiple academic disciplines, such as the humanities, the fine arts, the natural sciences and the social sciences, each with its method of study, approach to discovery, and means of expression. These courses provide opportunities for students to learn about themselves, their own faith and culture, and the cultures of those who live near and far away, in the present and in the past.

3) Integrative Elective courses (B.A./B.S. 14 credits; A.A./A.S. 0 credits). The integration of the study of the Arts and Sciences with Biblical and Theological studies is foundational to Johnson University’s historic “Third Way” approach to higher education. Many colleges seek to help students foster a deep understanding of God’s World through a liberal arts curriculum. Others seek to help students foster a deep understanding of God’s Word through an extensive Biblical curriculum. Johnson University is unique among American colleges and universities in seeking to prepare students to thrive spiritually in a life of other-centered service in any career through substantive academic work in both Biblical and Theological Studies and the Arts and Sciences. Integrated Electives offer students the chance to take classes outside of their majors that integrate discipline within the A&S Core while also giving special attention to each integrated disciplines’ faith, moral and/or ethical perspectives.

4) University Courses (B.A./B.S. 4 credits; A.A./A.S. 2 credits; JUOL 3 credits)

Chapel requirement

All face-to-face students must fulfill their chapel requirement by taking one of the two following courses:

PRMN 1300 Chapel (0.3). Part-time students (taking between 6.0-11.99 credits) pass chapel by attending 18 chapel services, groups, or events over the course of the semester (see Chapel Schedule on Sakai). Attending less than 18 Chapel services, groups, or events results in the student failing chapel and earning 0.0 credits for the course.

PRMN 1500 Chapel (0.5). Full-time students (taking 12 credits or more) pass chapel by attending 36 chapel services, groups, or events over the course of the semester see Chapel Schedule on Sakai). Attending less than 36 Chapel services, groups, or events results in the student failing chapel and earning 0.0 credits for the course.

All online students fulfill their chapel requirement by taking the following course:

HUMN 1203 Personal Spiritual Formation (3). Personal Spiritual Formation equips students for the life-long transforming and learning experience that emerges from our communion with Christ. This communion involves the joyful sharing and participation in the life and love of the Father, Son, and Spirit. This class introduces students to classic disciplines involving both solitude and community in preparation for a life of personal flourishing and other-centered service in whatever career God might call them.

Service hour requirement

PRMN 1000 Service Learning (0). The Service and Learning Together (SALT) program enables students to apply classroom learning to real-life situations by providing voluntary service in the church and community. While the recipients benefit from the services of student volunteers, students also benefit from identifying their gifts and strengths, learning to work with others, developing skills in critical thinking and problem solving, confirming their career decisions, and gaining a lifelong commitment to community involvement and civic engagement. Students choose their areas of service and are expected to be supervised during service for accountability purposes. PRMN 1000 is a pass/fail requirement.

All face-to-face students must register for PRMN 1000 Service and Learning Together (SALT) each semester and submit their service validation from the community partner they serve for no less than one hour per week each term (15 hours per semester). A student completing a four-year degree would therefore serve a minimum of 120 total hours over their academic career. Students may request credit for up to twenty hours per term and may serve in a qualifying setting during academic breaks.

Freshman Cornerstone Seminar. The Freshman Cornerstone Seminar lays a foundation for undergraduate studies at Johnson University. It includes (1) an explanation of Johnson University’s approach to higher education as a “Great Commission University,” showing how students may equip themselves for service as ambassadors of Christ; and (2) a focus on student success skills and best practices. HUMN 1102 Online Cornerstone Experience provides a similar foundation for online students.
Senior Capstone Seminar. The Senior Capstone Seminar represents the culmination of undergraduate studies at Johnson University and a bridge to lifelong education. Students integrate the Bible, Arts and Sciences, and professional areas of the curriculum through the discipline of Ethics.

Mathematics Requirement. Students who earn a score of 23+ on the math section of the ACT or 560+ on the math section of the SAT should fulfill their Mathematics requirement in the Arts & Sciences Core with MATH 2200 College Algebra or any higher-level math course that is appropriate for their program needs. Students who earn a math score less than these threshold values are encouraged to fulfill their Mathematics requirement in the Arts & Sciences Core with MATH 2100 Quantitative Literacy.

Cross-Cultural Experiences. As a “Great Commission University” equipping students to “go and make disciples of all ethnic groups,” Johnson University requires every student to experience the growth that comes from meaningful interaction with people of other cultures and backgrounds. Some required courses (e.g. ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City as Text and HUMN 1602 Service Learning & Change) include experiences that take students outside their cultural “comfort zones.” Likewise, Service Learning programs, short-term mission trips, the Urban Lab, study abroad, and other events provide opportunities for learning and service in cross-cultural or multicultural settings.

Customized Versions of the Arts & Sciences Core. Students who enroll in certain professional majors (e.g. Teacher Education and the Honors Program) complete a customized version of the Arts & Sciences Core. Such programs may substitute one course for another within the Core, or they may mandate certain electives in the Fine Arts, Natural Sciences, and/or Social & Behavioral Sciences. For specific requirements, see the descriptions of the professional majors (below).

Applying Arts & Sciences Core Courses to Professional Majors (“Double Dipping”). In some cases, a course may fulfill requirements for both the Arts & Sciences Core and a professional major. (For guidance, see the descriptions of undergraduate majors, which appear below.) Students who “double dip” in this way may need to complete additional General Electives to fulfill the 120-unit requirement for a bachelor’s degree. Please note:

- ABHE accreditation standards prohibit students from using courses in the Bible & Theology Major to fulfill Arts & Sciences Core Requirements. To illustrate: Students may not use Bible courses to fulfill Literature requirements in the Arts & Sciences Core.
- SACSCOC and ABHE accreditation standards define the Arts & Sciences Core as “general” education. Accordingly, courses applied to the Core must be “general” in nature rather than specialized courses linked to a particular profession. To illustrate: Students may not count CMML 4113 Pastoral Care in Ministry as any Integrative Elective in the Arts & Sciences Core.

Courses designated as Integrative Electives meet the following requirements:

1. Include a discipline in A&S broadly conceived.
2. Include the integration of one or more disciplines (though not necessarily through a team-taught approach).
3. Class content, methods, and/or approach give special attention to each integrated disciplines’ faith, moral, and/or ethical perspectives in practical application. Courses will typically be offered at the 3000 or 4000 level. In special cases, a 2000-level course may be included to offer a special experience of integration, when it also meets the other requirements.
4. Any prerequisites for an A&S Integrative Elective must be met through the A&S Core, and the course should be open to any student meeting enrollment criteria, regardless of major.
5. Any course listed as an A&S Integrative Elective in the Academic Catalog must be approved by the Integrative Elective Committee, a committee comprised of five (5) faculty members from the TN and FL faculty appointed by the Dean of A&S on a rotating basis.
6. Approvals of integrative electives do not guarantee that they can be offered to students or put in a regular rotation. Course offerings will be made by the Dean of A&S based on enrollment, student demand, and faculty course loads.
B.A. & B.S. students choose courses totaling 14 credits from the following categories:

History Integrative Electives (3 credits)

- HIST 3241 Race and Religion in American History (3)
- HIST 3613 World History (3)
- HIST 3201 World Christian History 1 (100–600) (3)
- HIST 3211 World Christian History 2 (600–1600) (3)
- HIST 3231 World Christian History 3 (1600–Present) (3)
- HIST 4200 History of the Restoration Movement (3)
- HIST 4613 History Seminar (3) Special Topics iterations as applicable

Natural, Applied, Health, Social and Mathematical Sciences (3–11 credits):

B.S. students choose three of the following courses, at least one of which must be a 4-credit laboratory science*;

B.A. students not taking a language choose one course from the following list:

Face-to-Face:
- ANTH 2023 Introduction to Archaeology: History, Methods, & Great Discoveries (3)
- ANTH 3103 Race & Ethnicity in the American Experience (3)
- ANTH 3300 Cultural Anthropology (3)
- *BIOL 1124 Principles of Biology II (4)
- *BIOL 2014 Fundamentals of Biology & Sustainability (4)
- *BIOL 2024 Fundamentals of Microbiology with Lab (4) (Limited to Associates in Health Science or Life Sciences program students; or by permission of the instructor.)
- *BIOL 2204 Anatomy & Human Body Systems with Lab (4)
- *BIOL 3003 Genetics (3)

- *SCIN 3200 Science Concepts & Methods with Lab (4)
- *SCIN 3224 Introduction to Meteorology (4)

Humanities Integrative Electives (6 credits):

B.A. students not taking a language choose two courses from the following list:

- COMM 2900 Society & Media (3)
- COMM 4998/ENGL 4998 Spiritual Formation & Creativity (3)
ENGL 3353  Rhetoric of Prophetic Black Preachers (3)
ENGL 4450  Special Topics: Race and Representation in Literature & Film (3)
ENGL 4450  Special Topics: (Other iterations as applicable)

HUMN 3500  Literature and Theology of Race (3)
WORS 3013  The Art & Theology of Songwriting (3)
Any HIST course listed as a History Integrative Elective above (3)

Exploration courses (0–2 Credits):
JUTN and JUFL students choose exploration courses as needed to complete 14 credits of Integrative Electives:

HUMN 2001 Special Topics: Exploration Mind Course (1). Designed to cultivate spiritual disciplines, this course includes offerings from several options designed for spiritual formation including prayer, solitude, and mentoring. Course may be repeated.

HUMN 2011 Special Topics: Exploration Body Course (1). Designed specifically for physical fitness, this course includes offerings from several options designed for physical wellbeing including basketball, yoga, and more. Course may be repeated.

HUMN 2021 Special Topics: Exploration Pop-up Course (1). Designed to engage students on spiritual, philosophical, or cultural questions this course provides opportunities to engage professors and teachers in the classroom and non-traditional settings to discuss, explore, and grapple with questions of faith and spirituality. Course may be repeated.

M.U.S.E. Program
Metacognitive Understanding for Service Engagement

“Helping students recognize the connection between their classroom learning and their service-learning.”

What is Metacognitive Understanding?
“Being aware of the relations between oneself, one’s acts of learning, knowledge and the world.”

Why this Plan?
- University assessment (NSSE) found that Johnson University students do not recognize when they are being challenged to think critically.
- Metacognition helps students recognize how they learn and to make connections between the various parts of their educational experiences.
- A program centered on metacognition addresses many of the items on the “wish list” of Johnson University faculty identified in brainstorming sessions for a future Quality Enhancement Plan.
- The plan is designed to support the University’s mission, especially the emphasis on training Christian leaders who embody the Great Commission.
Plan Overview
The M.U.S.E. program adds metacognitive elements to both parts of the Johnson University’s core curriculum:

M.U.S.E. courses add specific metacognitive elements to five core courses from both the Arts & Sciences core and Bible & Theology major. These courses will include techniques that reflect both Knowledge of Cognition and Regulation of Cognition processes. Faculty will receive specialized training in these processes and a variety of metacognitive techniques. Each M.U.S.E. course will also explore the theme “In Dialog with the Other,” including addressing “Who is the Other?” and “How can I engage in constructive dialog with the Other?”

M.U.S.E. Courses are:
- HUMN 1501 Service-Learning & Discipleship
- HUMN 1602 Service Learning & Change
- ENGL 1013 English Composition I
- HIST 2123 History of Christianity
- PHIL 2013 Philosophical Ethics
- BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament
- THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

In addition to adding elements to existing programs, we now offer a new course, called Research Methods for Service Learning, to integrate the academic and service curricula. This Research Methods course is available for sophomores and juniors.

Honors Program

Program Director: Gerald L. Mattingly, Ph.D.

Overview. The Honors Program (HP) offers academically talented undergraduates on the Tennessee campus an opportunity to enhance their University experience through creative coursework, regional cultural events, and association with a small group of outstanding students. Participants enjoy a rich and rigorous educational experience that provides excellent preparation for graduate school or seminary. Incoming freshmen and rising sophomores who meet HP requirements may apply for admission to the program, which begins every Fall and Spring Term.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Honors Program face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Program Benefits. Students enrolled in the Honors Program receive academic, social, and practical benefits, including:
- Special courses and optional minors
- Honors recognition on diplomas and transcripts
- HP Wednesday Chapel Groups
- Off-campus events each academic year
- Annual HP reception
- Extra work-study opportunities
- Early registration
• Waiver of extra charges for a term overload
• Waiver of extra charges for a course audit
• Camaraderie of program membership

Academic Elements. Like other baccalaureate students, Honors Program participants must complete the Arts & Sciences Core, the Bible & Theology Major, and at least one professional major or minor. All Honors Program members complete the following three academic requirements:

1. Complete at least 9 credits from Arts and Sciences Core courses in Honors sections. Johnson University Course schedule will note which section is an Honors Program Section. Possible options include:
   - HIST 2123 History of Christianity (3)
   - PHIL 2013 Philosophical Ethics (3)
   - ENGL 1014 English Composition II (3)
   - HUMN 1011 First-Year Bridge Course (1)
   - History Integrative Elective (3)
   - Humanities Integrative Elective (3)
   - Sciences Integrative Elective (3-4)
   - Exploration Course (1)

2. Complete either ANTH 3300 Cultural Anthropology (3) or ANTH 3360 Urban Anthropology in place of ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City as Text (3).

3. Complete CMPR 3600 Spiritual Formation: Honors Program (3) in place of one semester of Chapel (PRMN 1500).

Program members also participate in Wednesday HP Chapel Groups for at least three terms. These small groups read and discuss important books that combine academic issues with worship. They also provide access to visiting speakers or lecturers.

Honors Program students may pursue any of Johnson University’s undergraduate professional majors or minors (e.g. Ministry, Education, Communication, Intercultural Studies, Family Studies). They also have the option of designing a customized pre-seminary or pre-graduate school minor(s) with a focus in History, Literature, or Religious Studies. Each minor requires a total of 18 credit hours, or six courses in any one of these areas of study. Students work with the HP coordinator, the Dean of Arts & Sciences, and faculty subject matter experts to design the minor and select appropriate courses.

Off-Campus Learning Experiences. Each year honors students choose from a variety of on-campus and off-campus cultural experiences, such as the theater, ballet, symphony, literary events, and conferences. Honors students must attend at least three performances or events distributed over Fall and Spring Terms each academic year. The University pays admission fees and arranges group transportation. Students are welcome to participate in more than the required number of group field trips, but must pay their own admission for extra ticketed events. In addition to special events, students visit regional museums or sites that have historic, cultural, or scientific significance. Examples include:

- Abbey of Gethsemani (Bardstown, Kentucky)
- American Museum of Science and Energy (Oak Ridge, Tennessee)
- Appalachian Ballet Company (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Bijou Theater (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Cades Cove (Great Smoky Mountains National Park)
- Clarence Brown Theatre (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- East Tennessee Historical Center (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Fort Loudoun State Historic Park (Vonore, Tennessee)
- Knoxville Museum of Art (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Knoxville Opera (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Knoxville Symphony Orchestra (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Knoxville Zoo (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- McClung Museum (University of Tennessee)
- Oak Ridge National Laboratory (Oak Ridge, Tennessee)
- Ramsey House Plantation (Knoxville, Tennessee)
- Ripley’s Aquarium of the Smokies (Gatlinburg, Tennessee)
- Tennessee Museum of Aviation (Sevierville, Tennessee)

Honors Program Admission Requirements. Incoming freshmen who have been accepted into the University and meet certain academic requirements may apply for admission to the Honors Program. Rising sophomores who have been recommended by the faculty and meet the requirements may also be invited to apply. Admission requirements include:

- Cumulative grade point average of 3.6 or higher (all applicants)
- ACT score of 27 or higher or SAT score of 1290 or higher (incoming freshmen)
- Placement in upper 10% of high school graduating class (incoming freshmen)

  [NOTE: Applicants who meet two of the three criteria listed above may appeal to the Honors Program Coordinator for special consideration.]

- Three letters of reference – with an academic focus (all applicants)

  The three HP reference letters supplement the reference letters required of all students who apply for admission into the University. They should come from people familiar with the applicant’s academic background, interests, and abilities. For freshmen applicants, the best letters come from high school teachers, administrators, or leaders of organizations with which the applicants have connections. The best letters for rising sophomores come from university professors or administrators who have personal knowledge of the applicant’s academic interests and abilities. Reference letters must arrive in the HP Office by the first Monday of August, prior to the start of Fall Term. [Or the first Friday of January for those applying for Spring Term.] Letters may be mailed to Gerald Mattingly, Honors Program Coordinator, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Knoxville, TN 37998, or by email to gmattingly@JohnsonU.edu.

- Application essay (all applicants)

  The application essay introduces the student to the HP admissions committee and should reflect the applicant’s best writing. In approximately 1000 words, applicants should highlight their academic accomplishments, leadership experience, personal and educational interests, participation in school and church activities, work experience, hobbies, travel, and long-term goals. Essays must arrive in the HP Office by the first Monday of August, prior to the start of Fall Term. [Or the first Friday of January for those applying for Spring Term.] Essays may be mailed to Gerald Mattingly, Honors Program Coordinator, Johnson University, 7900 Johnson Drive, Knoxville, TN 37998, or by email to gmattingly@JohnsonU.edu.

- Interview with Dr. Gerald Mattingly, the Honors Program Coordinator (all applicants)

Applicants complete this interview on the Tennessee campus during their arrival on campus (Genesis Weekend) the weekend before Fall Term courses begin.

Requirements for Remaining in the Honors Program. To remain in the Honors Program, students must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.4. Students who fall below this average have one term to raise the GPA to 3.4 to avoid being removed from the program. HP participants must also remain in good standing with the University. To graduate with an honors diploma, students must be enrolled in Johnson University and the Honors Program for a minimum of three years.

  - ENGL 4400 Immigrant Literature (3)
  - ENGL 4450 Special Topics in Literature (3)
  - HUMN 3350 Literature & Theology of Race (3)
TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 33

Requirements for the B.A. or B.S. in English. To earn the Bachelor of Arts degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and English, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core for B.A. or B.S.: 57 credits
- Bible & Theology Major: 33 credits
- General Electives: 1 credit
- English Major: 33 credits

TOTAL: 124 credits

Academic Standards. Students must complete ENGL 1013 and ENGL 1014 with a grade of C or better, and must complete ENGL 3310 and ENGL 3313 with a grade of B or better in order to graduate with a degree in English. Students must achieve a C+ (2.5) average for the entire English Major in order to graduate.

Small Group Chapels. Students must complete three (3) terms of a small group chapel that focuses on the Bible as literature and/or the Bible and literature. The final small group chapel, taken in the senior year, will serve as a senior exit seminar for the major. The English faculty will approve an internship and/or appropriate professional mentoring experience in lieu of one Small Group Chapel.

Associate of Arts in English

Program Director: April Conley Kilinski, Ph.D.

Overview. The Associate of Arts in English provides broad training for a wide range of academic and professional careers by developing a critical understanding of the human experience across time, place, and cultures. Courses in the program introduce skills for research, analysis, and communication that prepare students for further studies toward a four-year bachelor’s degree and that help students to engage the world in which they serve in thoughtful, constructive, and creative ways.

All students in the Associate of Arts in English take the Open Concentration, which affords them the opportunity to choose classes from a range of literature and writing courses.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Associate of Arts in English face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Associate of Arts in English cultivates a critical understanding of the human experience across time, place, and cultures; it develops skills for research, analysis, and communication that enable graduates to engage the world in which they serve in thoughtful, constructive, and creative ways.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate critical thinking and analytical skills.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to write persuasively and communicate effectively.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to understand and employ scholarly, academic research skills appropriate for the study of English.
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to appreciate the distinctiveness and richness of diverse societies and cultures, and learn to cultivate an inclusive and empathetic worldview.

  - Multiple options—see English Major above

- 3/4000-level English Electives (6)—choose two:  6
  - Multiple options—see English Major above

TOTAL CREDITS IN MINOR:  18

Requirements for the B.A. or B.S. with a Minor in English. To earn the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Bible & Theology and a minor in English, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core for B.A. or B.S.  57 credits
- Bible & Theology Major  33 credits
- General Electives  16 credits
- English Minor  18 credits

TOTAL:  124 credits

NOTE: Courses listed as Multicultural English Electives will also count toward this requirement.

History Major

Program Director: Jason A. Mead, M.A.

Overview. The History Major cultivates a critical understanding of the human past and develops skills of historical research, analysis, and communication that enable students to engage the world in which they serve in a thoughtful, positive, and creative manner. Graduates may pursue a variety of career paths as communicators, educators, researchers, writers, and public historians. They will also be prepared for graduate school in history, law, or intercultural studies.

Students may choose either the B.A. degree track (which includes two years of world language studies) or the B.S. degree track. The faculty recommends the B.A. track for students who intend to do graduate work in the field.
Modality. Johnson University offers the History Major face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The History Major cultivates a critical understanding of the human past and develops skills of historical research, analysis, and communication that enable graduates to engage the world thoughtfully, positively, and creatively.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to apply critical thinking, analytical skills, and historical methods to information, ideas, and arguments in the field of history.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to write persuasively, communicate effectively, and create historical arguments and narratives.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to understand and employ the skills of historical research.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to build historical knowledge, appreciate the distinctiveness and richness of diverse societies and cultures, and view the world from perspectives other than their own.

Required Courses. The History Major consists of the following courses:

History Majors may take one additional survey course as an elective, and/or they may take one non-HIST course that covers historical areas of interest to the student. Students must get approval from advisors if they choose to take a non-HIST course for a History Elective.

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 36

Requirements for the B.A. or B.S. in History. To earn the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and History, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core for B.A. or B.S. (*57) 51 credits
- Bible & Theology Major 33 credits
- General Electives 4 credits
- History Major 36 credits
- TOTAL: 124 credits

NOTE: The following courses in this major fulfill requirements for the Arts & Sciences Core: (1) HIST 2123 History of Christianity; (2) HIST 3613 World History as the History Integrative Elective.

Academic Standards. Students must achieve a “B” (3.0) average in Historian’s Craft I, Historian’s Craft II, and History of Christianity to remain in the History Major. Students must achieve a “C+” (2.5) average for the entire History Major in order to graduate.

Senior Project/Internship. The student’s academic adviser will determine the content of the senior project or internship. In most cases, students complete a major research paper. However, students may pursue an internship or a project that integrates historical research with teaching methods.

Associate of Arts in History

Program Director: Jason A. Mead, M.A.

Overview. The Associate of Arts in History cultivates a critical understanding of the human past and develops skills of historical research, analysis, and communication that enable students to engage the world in which they serve in a thoughtful, positive, and creative manner. Courses in the program introduce skills for research, analysis, and communication that prepare students for further studies toward a four-year bachelor’s degree and that help students to engage the world in which they serve in thoughtful, constructive, and creative ways.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Associate of Arts in History face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Associate of Arts in Interdisciplinary Studies

Associate of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies

Program Director: April Conley Kilinski, Ph.D. (TN); Shawn Grant, Ph.D. (FL)

Overview. The Associate of Arts and Associate of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies provides broad training for a wide range of academic and professional careers by developing a critical understanding of the human experience across time, place, and cultures. Courses in the program introduce skills for research, analysis, and communication that prepare students for further studies toward a four-year bachelor’s degree and that help students to engage the world in which they serve in thoughtful, constructive, and creative ways.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Associate of Arts and Associate of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies face-to-face at its Tennessee and Florida campuses and online.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Associate of Arts and Associate of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies cultivates a critical understanding of the human experience across time, place, and cultures; it develops skills for research, analysis, and communication that enable graduates to engage the world in which they serve in thoughtful, constructive, and creative ways.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate critical thinking and analytical skills.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to write persuasively and communicate effectively.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to understand and employ scholarly, academic research skills appropriate for further study towards a Bachelor’s degree.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to appreciate the distinctiveness and richness of diverse societies and cultures, and learn to cultivate an inclusive and empathetic worldview.

Required Courses. The Associate of Arts and Associate of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies consists of the following courses:

- General Electives (11–14 credits)
  - JUTN and JUFL face-to-face (14)
  - Online (11)

TOTAL CREDITS IN GENERAL ELECTIVES: 11–14

Requirements for the A.A. or A.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies. To earn the Associate of Arts or Associate of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core for A.A./A.S. 34 credits
- Bible & Theology Requirements for A.A./A.S. 15 credits
- General Electives 11–14 credits

TOTAL: 60–63 credits

Associate of Science in Health Science

Program Director: Monica Marie Nelson, PhD, MEd, RN, CLS

Overview. The Associate of Science in Health Science provides the prerequisite education for students to apply to a nursing school resulting in the student becoming a registered nurse. These first two years of Pre-Nursing have a program emphasis of: (1) Scientific Excellence; (2) Spiritual Formation; and (3) Other-Centered Service reflecting Johnson’s unique commitment to spiritual formation and service learning. These emphases will distinguish the “Heart of Nursing” approach to education, which is also recognized as a needed but often missing element in many nursing programs. Program admission requirements must be kept high to build a culture of scientific excellence.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Associate of Science in Health Science program face-to-face at the Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Associate of Science in Health Science cultivates critical thinking in the sciences, respect for all cultures and faiths and formation of spiritual practices and service. Graduates will be prepared to further their education in a BSN-accredited university in order to become a registered nurse.

Graduates of the A.S. in Health Science (Pre-Nursing) program will (be able to) demonstrate:

SLO 1: Christian faith, values, ethics and integrity in the context of healthcare delivery.
SLO 2: Caring professionalism with people of varying cultures and beliefs.
SLO 3: Evidence-based knowledge to understand and practice changes in healthcare.
SLO 4: Interpersonal communication and problem-solving skills to accomplish tasks with colleagues.
SLO 5: Application of scientific principles to human pathophysiology.

Required Courses. The Associate of Science in Health Science consists of the following courses:

Arts & Sciences Core (31 credits)

- HUMN 1201 Freshman Cornerstone Seminar 1
  [NOTE: Transfer students take HUMN 3201 Transfer Cornerstone Seminar in place of HUMN 1201 Freshman Cornerstone Seminar.]
- HUMN 1023 Cultural and Spiritual Considerations in Nursing 3
- ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City as Text 3
- COMM 1013 Introduction to Speech 3
- ENGL 1013 English Composition I 3
- ENGL 1014 English composition II 3
- MATH 2200 College Algebra 3
- MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics 3
- PSYC 2100 Introduction to Psychology 3

TOTAL DEGREE CREDITS: 73

Associate of Science in Health Science Admission Standards. Students entering the Associate of Science in Health Science program must have a minimum score of 21 ACT (1080 SAT) and a 3.25 high school or college GPA (whichever is most recent) upon admission to Johnson University. Students who lack the required test scores or GPA may petition the Program Director of the Associate of Science in Health Science program for acceptance.

Academic Standards for Continuation. Once admitted, all Pre-Nursing students must maintain (1) an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher and (2) earn at least a B (3.0) in all Pre-Nursing major courses (Microbiology, Chemistry, Anatomy & Physiology I and II, Cultural/Spiritual, Human Development, Nutrition, CNA Course). Any major course completed with a grade of B- or less, must be retaken until the student can earn a B or better. (Please see the grade scale in Johnson University’s Academic Catalog for further details).

Program Progression. Students should expect academic rigor to grow each semester, especially in the sciences. Students are expected to communicate with professors and seek help when content is not understood. Students will meet with the Program Director each semester to review their progress, GPA and commitment. This progress will be documented on the Progression Through the Stages for Pre-Nursing form.

Life Sciences Major

NOTE: The Life Sciences Major will launch in January, 2022, pending SACSCOC approval.

Program Director: Sarah E. Cathey, Ph.D.

Overview. The Life Sciences Major cultivates a foundational knowledge of the living world from sub-cellular to ecological and global scales. Critical thinking skills necessary to design, collect, and interpret datasets will be a central part of the major coursework, preparing students to teach critical thinking to their own students or to apply those skills to allied health professions where analytical skills will be applied in the workplace. Students will acquire the foundational knowledge and mathematical skills to interpret published research in their ultimate professional areas. Graduates may pursue a variety of career paths as educators, researchers, laboratory technicians, physical therapists, athletic trainers, and other chosen fields. Students will also be prepared for graduate school in a variety of life or environmental science fields. Students choose a concentration in one of two areas: Biology or Fitness Science.

The Biology Concentration focuses on building a broader and deeper range of knowledge and skills in biology and further strengthens the student’s foundational knowledge of chemistry and mathematics to support scientific analytical skills.

The Fitness Science Concentration focuses on foundational knowledge and skills related to exercise science and the development of lifelong holistic wellness.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Life Sciences Major face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Life Sciences Major cultivate a broad, functional, yet critical understanding of the living world from molecules to ecosystems. Students will be equipped with critical thinking, data analytical, hands-on laboratory and communication skills to engage their next professional steps as both scientifically competent and theologically grounded individuals.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to critically understand and evaluate biological systems on molecular to organismal scales.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to design, collect, evaluate and communicate scientific experiments and resultant data with conclusions, using appropriate laboratory procedures and skills to maintain high-quality outcomes.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to evaluate interactions between living organisms and their physical environment, including the impact of human activity on other species and the natural world as humans have modified and seek to ameliorate impacts on the physical world and the biosphere.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to critically evaluate moral and ethical situations raised by and related to historical and new biology-based technology and opportunities, in order to make ethical and theologically informed choices in their professional work.

SLO 5: Graduates will be able to critically assess and evaluate the role of gene function, gene control, genetic technology and heredity in biological processes and evolution.

SLO 6: Graduates will be able to demonstrate knowledge of anatomy, physiology and interactions of multicellular organisms (type dependent on student choice) in order to better understand their role in the biosphere.

Biology Concentration

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to apply knowledge of inorganic chemistry processes and principles to evaluating and describing biogeochemical cycles.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to evaluate the rate of change in datasets to better understand and explore quantitative data.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to demonstrate knowledge of anatomy, physiology and interactions of multicellular organisms (type dependent on student choice) in order to better understand their role in the biosphere.

Fitness Science Concentration

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate principles of lifetime health and fitness.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate how to adapt fitness programming to accommodate various populations.

Required Courses. The Life Sciences Major consists of the following courses:

Life Sciences Core (35-36 credits)

- BIOL 1114 Principles of Biology I (4)
- BIOL 1124 Principles of Biology II (4)
- BIOL 2054 Cellular and Molecular Biology (4)
- BIOL 3003 Genetics (3)
- BIOL 3013 Ecology (3)
- BIOL 4013 Special Topics in Life Sciences/Biology Ethics (3)
- CHEM 1114 General Chemistry I (4)
- MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics (3)

*Organismal Biology Elective (4)—choose one:

- BIOL 2034 Anatomy and Physiology I with Lab (4)
- BIOL 2044 Anatomy and Physiology II with Lab (4)
- BIOL 3304 Animal Biology (4)
- BIOL 3404 Plant Biology (4)
- BIOL 2204 Anatomy & Human Body Systems with Lab (4)

*Biology Elective (3 or 4 credits) – choose one: 3-4

- BIOL 2034 Anatomy and Physiology I with Lab (4)
- BIOL 2044 Anatomy and Physiology II with Lab (4)
- BIOL 2024 Fundamentals of Microbiology w/Lab (4)
- BIOL 3304 Animal Biology (4)
- BIOL 3404 Plant Biology (4)
- BIOL 3604 Biodiversity: Concepts and Methods (4)
- HLSC 2203 Human Development for Health Sciences (3)
- PBHL 3110 Introduction to the Study of Disease (3)

*Concentration (11–12 credits) (choose one): 11–12

- CHEM 1124 General Chemistry II (4)
- MATH 1104 Calculus I (4)
- Biology Elective, 3000-level or higher (3 or 4)

Fitness Science Concentration (12)

- SFIT 2013 Kinesiology (3)
- SFFS 3013 Motor Learning (3)
- SFFS 3023 Essentials of Strength Training & Conditioning (3)
- SFFS 3033 Health & Fitness Testing, Evaluation, & Prescription (3)

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 46–48
Requirements for the B. S. in Life Sciences. To earn the Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and Life Sciences, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core (*57) 38 credits
- Bible & Theology Major (*33) 30 credits
- General Electives 8–10 credits
- Life Sciences Core 35–36 credits
- Concentration 11–12 credits

TOTAL: 124 credits

NOTE: The following courses in this major fulfill requirements for the Arts & Sciences Core:
1. MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics as Mathematics Requirement;
2. BIOL 1114 Principles of Biology I as the Skill and Breadth Laboratory Science Requirement;
3. Up to 12 hours of BIOL, CHEM or HLSC courses as Science Integrative Electives.

The following course in this major fulfills a requirement for the Bible & Theology Major:
4. BIOL 4013 Special Topics in Life Sciences/Biology Ethics as the Theological Study 2 requirement.

Life Sciences Program Admission Standards. Students entering the Life Sciences Major must have a minimum score of 21 ACT (1080 SAT) upon admission to Johnson University. Students who lack the required ACT or SAT score may petition the Associate Dean of Arts and Sciences for the Sciences for a waiver, especially if they meet the following criteria: (1) 30+ credit hours of college/university coursework with a 3.0+ cumulative grade point average (GPA, based on a 4.0 scale), earned over two full-time consecutive terms at Johnson University and/or another college or university with no course failures.

Academic Standards
- Students must complete BIOL 1114 and BIOL 1124 with a grade of B or better in order to graduate with a degree in Life Sciences.
- GPA Considerations for Students Seeking Graduate and Professional Programs: Most students completing the Life Science Program will be seeking admission to professional or graduate programs. These programs have admission standards that vary by program and institution, including both cumulative GPA standards and course grade standards for particular courses. Students should be mindful of these requirements in making decisions about how they proceed through their undergraduate program.

Graduation Requirements. To receive a BS in Life Sciences, students must:
- Successfully meet all Johnson University general graduation requirements.
- Achieve a C+ (2.5) average for the entire Life Sciences Major in order to graduate.

Mathematics Major

NOTE: The Mathematics Major will launch in January 2022, pending SACSCOC approval.

Program Director: Jason Bintz, Ph.D.

Overview. The Mathematics Major provides students with a strong foundation in the mathematical sciences, key skills in computation and analysis, and grounding in mathematical theory. It cultivates in students the ability and inclination to use precise language, reason carefully, solve problems effectively, and use mathematics to advance arguments and increase understanding. Students will be equipped with critical thinking, technological skills, and communication skills to engage their next professional steps as both mathematically competent and theologically grounded individuals. Students will be prepared for graduate school in a variety of fields, and they will be qualified to teach secondary education with the addition of post-baccalaureate licensure.

Students may choose to complete their degree in Mathematics as either a B.A. or B.S. degree, depending on how they fill the requirements of the Arts and Sciences Core.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Mathematics Major face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Mathematics Major cultivates in students the ability and inclination to use precise language, reason carefully, solve problems effectively, and use mathematics to advance arguments and increase understanding. Graduates will be equipped with critical thinking, technological skills, and communication skills to engage their next professional steps as both mathematically competent and theologically grounded individuals.

SLO 1: Graduates will demonstrate effective quantitative thinking and communication skills.

SLO 2: Graduates will demonstrate how mathematics is applied in various contexts.

SLO 3: Graduates will carry out open-ended inquiry demonstrating mathematical independence.

Prerequisite Courses. Students must have completed the following courses (or equivalent) with a grade of B (3.0) or better before entering the program:

- MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics 3
- MATH 1104 Calculus I 4

Required Courses. The Mathematics Major consists of the following required courses:

- MATH 1114 Calculus II 4
- MATH 2012 Introduction to Proofs 2

- MATH 3034 Numerical Analysis (4)
- MATH 3044 Probability and Statistics (4)

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 35

Requirements for the B. A. or B. S. in Mathematics. To earn the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and Mathematics, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core (57) 50 credits
- Bible & Theology Major 33 credits
- General Electives 6 credits
- Mathematics 35 credits
- TOTAL: 124 credits

NOTE: The following courses in this major fulfill requirements for the Arts & Sciences Core: (1) MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics as the Math requirement; (2) MATH 1104 Calculus I as a Sciences Integrative Elective. (Other MATH courses may also meet these requirements, if these courses are not needed.)

Program Admission Standards. Students may be admitted to the mathematics program upon successful completion of Calculus I and Calculus II with a B average or better. The prerequisite for Calculus I is a math SAT score of 550 (ACT 23) or better or equivalent or by permission.

Academic Standards. Students must maintain a “B” (3.0) average or better in Calculus I and II to remain in the Mathematics Major. If a student drops below this threshold, they must retake a course in order to raise their average program GPA within one year of falling below a 2.5 average program GPA.

Religious Studies Major

Program Director: Gerald L. Mattingly, Ph.D.

Overview. The Religious Studies Major is an interdisciplinary program that examines the religious experiences of global human cultures past and present. It develops skills of theological reflection, historical research, analysis, and communication that enable students to engage the world in which they serve in a thoughtful, positive, and creative manner. Students will strengthen their own Christian perspective and define their own beliefs more clearly by exploring the beliefs and practices of numerous other religious traditions.

The Religious Studies Major is offered in B.A. and B.S. degree tracks, which include courses in philosophy, hermeneutics, apologetics, and world religions. The B.A. track includes two years of world language studies and is recommended for students who intend to do graduate work in the field.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Religious Studies Major face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Religious Studies Major cultivates a critical understanding of the religious experiences of global human cultures and develops skills of reflection, research, analysis, and communication that enable graduates to engage the world thoughtfully, positively, and creatively.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate critical thinking and analytical skills.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to write persuasively and communicate effectively.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to understand and employ the skills of research in the field of religious studies.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to appreciate the distinctiveness and richness of diverse societies and cultures, and view the world from perspectives other than one’s own.

Required Courses. The Religious Studies Major consists of the following courses:

Religious Studies Foundation (21 credits)
- ANTH 3300 Cultural Anthropology 3
- *HIST 2123 History of Christianity 3
- *PHIL 2013 Philosophical Ethics 3
- ICST 3100 Survey of World Religions 3
- PHIL 2110 Philosophy of Religion 3
- RELS 3100 Christian Apologetics 3
- THEO 3112 Biblical Interpretation Across Cultures 3

Religious Studies Electives (15)—choose five:
- ANTH 3023 Peoples & Cultures of Modern Middle East (3)
- ENGL 3410 19th Century Russian Writers (3)
- ENGL 3420 20th Century British Writers: The Inklings (3)
- HUMN 1203 Personal Spiritual Formation (3)

- RELS 4200 Religious Studies Internship (3)
- THEO 3106 Topics in Theology (3)
- THEO 3133 Christian Thought and Film (3)
- THEO 3121 History of Christian Worship (3)

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 36

Requirements for the B.A. or B.S. in Religious Studies. To earn the Bachelor of Arts degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and Religious Studies, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core for B.A. or B.S. (57) 51 credits
- Bible & Theology Major 33 credits
- General Electives 4 credits
- Religious Studies Major 36 credits

TOTAL: 124 credits

NOTE: The following courses in this major fulfill requirements for the Arts & Sciences Core: (1) HIST 2123 History of Christianity; (2) PHIL 2013 Philosophical Ethics.

Academic Standards. Students must achieve a “B” (3.0) average in the Foundations courses to remain in the Religious Studies Major. Students must achieve a “C+” (2.5) average for the entire Religious Studies Major in order to graduate.
World Language Requirement. Students who pursue the Religious Studies major are strongly encouraged to take the B.A. degree, which includes two years (12 credits) of a biblical or modern language.

Honors Program. Religious Studies students are strongly encouraged to apply for admission to the Johnson University Honors Program. Students who complete the Honors Program and the Religious Studies Major receive an honors diploma.

Internship. During the second half of their participation in the program, Religious Studies students may complete a 3-credit internship as one of their major courses. The internship must provide significant exposure to different worldviews or religions, and it must provide practical exposure to and interaction with subjects covered in the student’s courses. A campus ministry or ministry in a cross-cultural (domestic or international) setting provide the best options. The program chair or another Johnson University professor will oversee the internship in conjunction with the leader of the agency, or church where students work.

Sport & Fitness Leadership Major

Program Director: Trevor J. Egli, Ph.D.

Overview. Athletes and sportspeople (coaches, spectators, support staff) represent one of the largest “mission fields” in the world. The sport and fitness field includes numerous opportunities for mentoring relationships through which believers can influence others for Christ. Accordingly, Johnson University has designed a general Sport & Fitness Leadership Major with a Great Commission thrust. The program includes coursework designed to qualify students for multiple professional certifications from organizations including the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM), the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA), and the Association of Church Sports and Recreation Ministries (CSRM). Graduates may pursue a variety of career paths in various community, church, and parachurch settings, including sport and recreation ministries and missionaries, coaches, fitness specialists, athletic administrators, and strength and conditioning specialists. Graduates will also be prepared to pursue graduate work in a kinesiology related field.

Students choose a concentration in one of four areas: Fitness Science, Sport Administration, Sport and Fitness Ministry, or Sport and Fitness Outreach. (Note: See below for a major in PE K-12.)

The Fitness Science Concentration focuses on foundational knowledge and skills related to exercise science and the development of lifelong holistic wellness.

The Sport Administration Concentration equips students for administrative and management professions within the unique context of sport, recreation, and/or fitness organizations within various sectors (including youth, community, scholastic, collegiate, professional, and international). This concentration includes coursework in the School of Business & Public Leadership.

The Sport and Fitness Ministry Concentration focuses on how sport and fitness may be utilized within the local church and/or parachurch setting. This concentration includes coursework in the School of Congregational Ministry.

The Sport and Fitness Outreach Concentration prepares students to serve as sport and fitness professionals in a global missions context. This includes coursework in the School of Intercultural Studies.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Sport & Fitness Leadership Major face-to-face at its Tennessee and Florida campuses. Courses will be taught on a rotating schedule on both campuses.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. Sports and physical fitness play an influential role in contemporary society, bringing people together, creating numerous opportunities for friendship, and mentoring. The Sport & Fitness Leadership Major prepares students for entry-level positions in sports ministry, fitness, coaching, sport administration, and related professions. It also equips them to use sports as an effective tool for evangelism and Christian discipleship by addressing socio-cultural, legal, ethical, economical, political, and educational issues.

Sport & Fitness Leadership (Physical Education Grades K-12) Major

Program Director: Trevor J. Egli, Ph.D.

Overview. Schools in America need leaders, coaches, and teachers who display and promote Christian values, sportsmanship, and ethics. The national focus on health, wellness, and fitness embodies the biblical view of the human body as a temple of the Holy Spirit. This program equips students to guide young people into lifelong habits of wellness. In addition to the Arts & Sciences Core, the Bible & Theology Major, and the Sport & Fitness Leadership (Physical Education Grades K-12) Major, the program includes general education courses and professional studies in child psychology, educational philosophy, and specialized teaching methodologies. The program also includes coursework designed to qualify students for eight different professional certifications from the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM), the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA), and the Association of Church Sports and Recreation Ministers (CSRM). Field experiences expose students to the full range of K-12 education in Tennessee, including public and private schools.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Sport & Fitness Leadership (Physical Education Grades K-12) program face-to-face at its Tennessee campus, with field placements and practicums in local schools.

Students in this program take either an Old Testament Exegesis course or a New Testament Exegesis course, which reduces the Bible & Theology Major by 3 credits.
Associate of Science in Sport & Fitness Leadership

Program Director: Trevor J. Egli, Ph.D.

Overview. The two-year Associate of Science in Sport & Fitness Leadership provides students with foundational preparation for work in a kinesiology-related field. Career possibilities include entry-level employment in strategic vocations or pursuit of a bachelor’s degree. Graduates with this degree may pursue a variety of career paths in various community, church, and parachurch settings, including sport and recreation ministries, and missionaries, coaches, and fitness specialists.

Modality. Johnson University offers the A.S. in Sport & Fitness Leadership face-to-face at its Tennessee and Florida Campuses.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Associate of Science in Sport and Fitness Leadership cultivates a critical understanding of how sport and fitness may be integrated into the context in which one lives and serves. It provides students with foundational preparation for work in a kinesiology-related field.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate principles of lifetime health and fitness.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate practical knowledge and skills for teaching and mentoring in sport and/or fitness-related settings.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to demonstrate foundational knowledge, skills, and attitudes essential for effective leadership in sport and/or fitness professions.

SLO 5: Graduates will be able to use sport and/or fitness effectively as a tool for evangelism and Christian discipleship.

Required Courses. The A.S. in Sport & Fitness Leadership consists of the following courses:

Interdisciplinary Courses (14 credits)

SFIT 2013  Kinesiology  3
*HLSC 1013  Health Science  3
SFIT Elective (6) — choose 6 credits:  6

Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership

Program Director: Mark Weedman, Ph.D.

Overview. Johnson University’s Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership equips graduate students to become effective Christian leaders in public contexts. The MAEL degree builds on the premise that ethical leadership involves critical engagement with contemporary cultural on both a theoretical and experiential level. Accordingly, this is an interdisciplinary program that combines instruction in theological and biblical foundations, critical analysis of modern culture, and the development of service and leadership practices.

The program assumes that an ethical leader influences organizations, communities, and individuals through:

1. Developing spiritual formation practices that foster self-awareness, other-centeredness, and soul-nourishing connection to God and others,
2. Exploring, analyzing, and adapting to their leadership context(s) in the light of theological, cultural, and moral frameworks, and
3. Demonstrating the moral courage and adaptive leadership skills required to foster thriving workplaces, cities, and congregations.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership in two modalities: The Knoxville Fellows Program and The Knoxville Thriving Congregations Program. Both modalities complete three different 3-credit classes and one 4.5-credit field experience per term, and a final 3-credit capstone project for a total of 30 credit hours. Students will complete 13.5 credits each in the Fall and Spring terms and 3 credits in the Summer term.
Accordingly, Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership students will complete the 30-credit Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership in one intensive year.

The Knoxville Fellows: Equipping Collegiate Leaders to Become City Leaders

Johnson University offers the Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership through face-to-face classes in partnership with The Knoxville Fellows program. The mission of the Knoxville Fellows Program is to increase God-principled leadership in Knoxville by equipping and developing the next generation of servant leaders to seek the peace of our city. Each year, 14 recent college graduates are chosen to live, learn, and serve together in downtown Knoxville. The Fellows is a residential program where students live and study at the 4 Market Square building in Knoxville, TN. These courses will meet on Fridays at the 4 Market Square location.

Interested students should first apply to The Knoxville Fellows program and, once accepted, complete their application to Johnson University. See: https://www.knoxvillefellows.com/ for details.

The Knoxville Thriving Congregations Initiative: Equipping Ethical Leaders to Foster Thriving Congregations

Johnson University offers the Master of Arts in Ethics and Leadership in a hybrid format (a combination of face-to-face and online classes) in partnership with The Knoxville Thriving Congregations initiative. The mission of Thriving Congregations initiative is to help congregations strengthen their ministries and thrive so they can better help people deepen their relationships with God, enhance their connections with each other, and contribute to the flourishing of their communities and the world. A cohort of pastoral and lay leaders are chosen to study, analyze, and serve together. Courses meet weekly online and monthly face-to-face (Friday evening through Saturday afternoon).

Interested students should first apply to The Three Rivers Congregational Collaboration at Johnson University, and once accepted, complete their application to Johnson University.

Bible & Theology Major

Program Director: Steve Cook, Ph.D.

Overview. The Bible & Theology Major constitutes the signature core of Johnson University’s educational experience. The goal is to “focus on God’s self-revelation in history as recorded in the Christian Scriptures, which gives meaning and purpose to life” (from Johnson University’s “Educational Approach”). The Bible & Theology Major contributes to the goals of Johnson University’s baccalaureate curriculum.

Students who choose the B.A. version of the Arts & Sciences Core may choose to develop competency in the biblical languages of Hebrew or Greek.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Bible & Theology Major face-to-face at its Tennessee and Florida campuses, as well as in fully-online format.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Bible & Theology Major provides students with the knowledge and skills needed to read, interpret, and apply the biblical text. It promotes spiritual growth and missional engagement, and equips them to fulfill the Great Commission in local and global context.

Student Learning Outcomes include the following:

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to recall basic facts about the content and context of the biblical text.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to utilize credible tools and resources to responsibly interpret the biblical text from historical, literary, and theological angles.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to interact critically with biblical and theological scholarship.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to apply biblical teaching to personal and vocational contexts.

Structure. The curriculum for the Bible & Theology Major is composed of eleven courses. This schedule of 33 credits offers Johnson University graduates their “first major” and satisfies the programmatic accreditation standards of the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE). Online programs and several face-to-face programs may require 30 credits for the Bible & Theology Major. Students who transfer into Johnson University with an associate’s degree or 60 or more credits from an accredited college or university will take a condensed 24-hour version of the Bible & Theology Major. The structure for the 4-year program in Bible and Theology appears as follows:

The structure of the Bible and Theology Major may be appreciated both vertically and horizontally. A vertical perspective views courses by content: OT, NT, and Theology trajectories (left to right). A horizontal perspective (bottom to top) views courses by scaling complexity or specificity: foundational courses, scaffolding courses, and culminating courses. These components—columns and tiers—are interlocking; lines suggest prerequisite relationships. Three foundational courses (1000-level) are required of all Bible & Theology Majors. These surveys familiarize learners with key theological ideas, introduce important characters, and follow the sweep of the biblical canon. Emphasis in each course moves beyond what the Bible says to why it matters.

Seven scaffolding courses (21 credits) at the 2000- and 3000-level build upon the foundation established at the 1000-level. Students engage texts and ideas with greater focus. At the 2000-level, one Old Testament Study, one New Testament Study, and one Theological Study 1 course is drawn from the lists below.

The isolation of Biblical Interpretation as well as the converging lines in the diagram above suggest the centrality of this course for the program. The successful completion of this course is prerequisite to all 3000-level courses.

At the 3000-level, one Old Testament Exegesis, one New Testament Exegesis, and one Theological Study 2 course is drawn from the lists below.

Finally, all students are required to take Acts and Mission of God as a culminating experience. Here, Bible and Theology are brought together in a context that promotes the discussion of intertextuality, Christian identity, multiculturalism, vocation, evangelism, and the mission of God.
Face-to-Face Bible & Theology Major. The face-to-face version of the Bible & Theology Major consists of the following courses:

- HEBR 3200 Intermediate Hebrew I (3)
- HEBR 3210 Intermediate Hebrew II (3)

Online Bible & Theology Major. Like all baccalaureate students, those enrolled in fully-online programs must complete the Bible & Theology Major. Students may fulfill major requirements through fully-online courses offered by Johnson University Online, traditional face-to-face courses offered at Johnson University Tennessee or Johnson University Florida, and/or transfer courses from other institutions. For the sake of convenience, most adult and online students complete the Bible & Theology Major entirely online as described below.

Online programs often include students who transfer significant numbers of prior college credits to Johnson University. To serve such students, Johnson University has developed a 30-credit Online Bible & Theology Major that aligns with the University’s mission and educational goals.

Students may complete the entire Bible & Theology Major online through Johnson University by completing the online courses listed below:

Bible & Theology Core Requirements (15 credits)
- BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament 3
- BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament 3
- THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology 3
- THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation 3

Theological Study 2 (3 credits) —choose one:
THEO 3115 Theology of the Trinity (3)
THEO 3999 Global Theology (3)

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 30*

*NOTE: Courses in the Online Bible & Theology Major are sometimes also required in other Majors and Minors. In these cases, all 30 credits required for the Online Bible & Theology Major will still be taken, although some will actually be counted in the other Major/Minor. See the NOTE below each Major/Minor to see which of the required 30 credits are counted in the Bible & Theology Major and which are counted in the other Major/Minor.

Second Degree or Transfer Students. Students who have completed a bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university, other than Johnson University, may earn a second bachelor’s degree at Johnson University. In this case, 24-credit hours of Bible & Theology (rather than 33 credits) are required. Likewise, students who have completed 60 or more hours from an accredited college or university and transfer into Johnson University will need to take 24 credits of Bible & Theology.

This condensed version of the Bible & Theology Major requires the following courses:

BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament (3)
BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament (3)
THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology (3)
THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation (3)

4 + 1 BA/BS to MBA

Program Director: Carol A. Decker, Ph.D.

Overview. The 4 + 1 program at Johnson University allows a student to earn a B.A./B.S. in Business Administration and a Master of Business Administration (MBA) in five years.

How does it work? Up to four classes from the undergraduate Business Administration degree can be applied to the BA/BS and MBA degree. Upon completion of the bachelor’s degree, students can complete the remaining eight MBA classes in one year.

Who is eligible? Undergraduate Business Administration students with a program GPA of 3.0 may apply for admission during the last semester of sophomore standing.
Which courses can be applied toward the MBA? Students must enroll in four of the five following courses to be applied to their MBA:

- LDRS 5013 Leadership receive dual credit for BUSN 4113 Leadership Development
- BUSN 5023 Advanced Business Analytics receive dual credit for BUSN 3063 Business Analytics & Decision Making
- BUSN 5033 Marketing Management receive dual credit for MKTG 3013 Marketing
- BUSN 5123 Business Law receive dual credit for BUSN 4043 Business Law
- BUSN 5223 Managerial Economics receive dual credit for ECON 2103 Economics

Modality. Johnson University offers the 4 + 1 MBA courses in a fully-online format.

Master of Business Administration

Program Director: Carol A. Decker, Ph.D.

Overview. The Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) program at Johnson University is designed to develop, enhance, and strengthen the critical business skills required by today’s employers: leadership, quantitative, analytical, strategic thinking, and integrity. The faculty are experienced Christian practitioners who are adept in training graduate students how to apply business knowledge and skills to life, work, and spiritual transformation. Our MBA program embraces an individual’s passion for business and their desire to demonstrate a Christ-centered life in the workplace.

The MBA Core develops competencies in leadership, analytics, marketing, operations management, accounting, business law, and economics. Concentration options include: Leadership, Management, and Nonprofit Management. The program culminates in a capstone project that demonstrates students’ capacity to research, synthesize, analyze, assess, and communicate core business knowledge.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Master of Business Administration degree in a fully-online format.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The M.B.A. program trains graduate students how to apply business knowledge and skills to life, work, and spiritual transformation.

Orientation. An interactive online Orientation provides students with valuable information concerning doctoral program aims, requirements, processes, policies, technologies, library resources, and student services and support. It introduces the Ph.D. Student Handbook, the online Doctoral Learning Community, and other helpful resources.

Leadership Core. The six courses of the Leadership Core provide a solid foundation in leadership theory and practice, global systems and policy, organizational dynamics and communication, and the personal and cultural dimensions of leadership.

During the initial course, LDRS 7123 Introduction to Global Studies, students complete (1) the Cultural Intelligence or “Cultural Quotient” [CQ] assessment, which measures students’ ability to engage successfully in any environment or social setting; (2) the Leadership Practices Inventory [LPI], which measures leadership abilities; and (3) the Spiritual Transformation Inventory [STI], which measures spiritual growth from a Christian perspective. Students also begin a Reflection Journal, which they continue throughout each stage of their doctoral studies. As they complete their dissertations, students repeat the CQ, LPI, and STI, and they also write a final Reflection Paper. Johnson University uses these tools to assess the program’s impact on students’ personal development.

Ethics Core. The two courses in the Ethics Core invite students to reflect on their personal character and to develop a philosophy of ethical behavior and decision-making informed by biblical perspectives. As part of ETHS 7223 Applied Ethics, students take the Ethical Lens Inventory (ELI), which assesses how students prioritize core values when making ethical decisions.

Research Concentrations. In RSCH 7263 Scholarship & Research Framework, students develop a 15-credit Research Concentration in one of six broad areas: (1) Organizational Leadership, (2) Educational Leadership, (3) Philosophy of Leadership, (4) Theology of Leadership, (5) Ministry Leadership, or (6) Missional Leadership. Students may earn elective credits through a variety of means, including standard coursework, Directed Independent Studies (DIS), Directed Field Studies (DFS), and transfer courses from other institutions (limit 9 credit hours). Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their research proposal.

Academic Policies. The policies regarding academic standing for Ph.D. students are consistent with Johnson University’s Academic Standing for Graduate Students, with additional specificity provided. Johnson University’s Academic Standing for Graduate Students indicates that, “In most instances, graduate students should repeat courses for which they earned a grade lower than “B.” For the Ph.D. in Leadership Studies program, only one final course grade of “C” is permitted, and if a student earns less than a “C” in any course, that course must be retaken.

Good Academic Standing. Ph.D. students must have a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 (“B”) on a 4-point scale to apply for Ph.D. Candidate status or to graduate. Students are therefore in “good standing” when their cumulative GPAs are 3.0 or higher, and no more than one “C” is a part of that cumulative GPA. Johnson University computes GPAs at the end of each term (fall, spring and summer).

Academic Warning. Ph.D. students who fail to meet the 3.00 GPA or earn a “C” for a course in a single term of a graduate program will be placed on academic warning. Graduate students on academic warning should consult the Program Director immediately. In the case of a deficient GPA, the Registrar will remove the warning notation from the student’s file after the student successfully raises the GPA to required levels. In the case of a “C” earned in a course, the student may choose to retake the course to earn a grade above a “C” to be removed from academic warning.

Academic Probation. If a Ph.D. student’s cumulative GPA falls below 3.0, they are placed on probation but may enroll in the subsequent term. Students should contact the Program Director for advice on improving academic performance. The student will also be placed on probation if a second “C” is earned for a course. If a student earns more than one “C” for a course, at least one of the courses in which a “C” was earned must be retaken.

Academic Suspension and Readmission. If the cumulative GPA remains below 3.0 at the end of the probationary term, or if the grade earned in a course that has been retaken does not result in higher than a “C,” students are suspended from the University for one term. At the end of the suspension, students may re-enroll and have two terms to achieve the required GPA of 3.0 or higher, or to raise a course grade above a “C” to meet the requirement of no more than one “C” in the cumulative GPA. Failure to achieve this within this timeframe results in permanent suspension. Permanent suspension is reserved for students who continually fail to meet Johnson University’s expected performance requirements as measured by GPA.

Notification of Probation or Suspension. The University makes every effort to notify students of probation. Suspension letters are mailed as certified mail. However, failure of the student to receive notification does not nullify the probation or suspension.

Research Core, Candidacy, and Dissertation. Once students have completed RSCH 7233 Principles of Research, earning a cumulative grade point average of “B” or better on their doctoral coursework thus far, they may enter the candidacy process. Candidacy involves producing a 25+ page integrative paper and presentation, which must be approved by faculty. The Candidacy Paper demonstrates the student’s ability to produce and defend scholarly work. Students who do not achieve candidacy within a reasonable period of time must exit the program.

Successful candidates proceed through further coursework to the dissertation phase. Students must produce and defend a Dissertation Proposal that includes the purpose and relevance of the study, a literature review, and a discussion of methodology. They must follow Johnson University’s Writer’s Guide for the Preparation of the Dissertation Proposal and Dissertation and seek approval from the Institutional Review Board (IRB) for research involving human participants. Those who successfully defend their proposals then complete their dissertations, which must make an original contribution to the field. A Dissertation Chair and Committee oversee the process. Students must complete the Ph.D. within a maximum timeframe of 7 years. See the Ph.D. Student Handbook for more information.

Continuation Course Guidelines. All degree-seeking graduate students must be active and enrolled in academic endeavors every term. This begins when the student is first admitted to degree status and continues until the student has graduated. There is one exception:
If the student has completed all degree requirements prior to the beginning of a term, but did not graduate during the previous graduation cycle (for example, they failed to apply for graduation or they did not complete their thesis or dissertation by the deadline), then that student is not required to register for their final term (the term in which they will graduate).

Most students will reach candidacy status or a point in their academic careers when they have taken all of the required courses and dissertation credits, but who are still working to complete degree requirements. These are examples of when continuation courses come into play. Continuation courses allow students to meet the above policy and criteria to continue deferment of loans.

In order to be reported as full-time, doctoral students must enroll in the appropriate continuation course:

- RSCH 8010 Candidacy Continuation – 0 hour credit (course fee – $60.00)

- Bible & Theology Major: 33 credits
- General Electives: 16 credits
- Mass Communication Minor: 18 credits

TOTAL: 124 credits

Video Production Minor

Program Director: Alan Barnes, M.F.A.

Overview. The Video Production Minor equips students to utilize production arts principles with a focus on video media content creation. It allows students in other professional programs to develop complementary skills in video production. Such skills can enhance ministry, nonprofit management, youth ministry, teaching, missions, and other fields.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Video Production Minor face-to-face at its Tennessee and Florida campuses. Some program content will be delivered online.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Video Production Minor equips students with basic knowledge and skills in video production.

SLO 1: PHILOSOPHY — Graduates demonstrate a contextually informed philosophy towards video related visual media production and design.

SLO 2: KNOWLEDGE — Graduates demonstrate application of principles and underpinnings of video related visual media production and design professions.

SLO 3: SKILL — Graduates demonstrate the ability to create content that meets professional standards of video related visual media production and design professions.
Required Courses. The Video Production Minor consists of the following courses:

- COMM 2200  Introduction to Video Production  3
- COMM 2203  Scripting  3
- COMM 3213  Video Editing & Enhancement  3
- MUTC 3302  Sound Design & Audio Postproduction  3
- COMM 4334  Video Production II  3
- COMM 3353  Video Editing & Enhancement II  3

TOTAL CREDITS IN MINOR: 18

Requirements for the B.A. or B.S. with a Video Production Minor. To earn the Bachelor of Arts Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Bible & Theology and a Video Production Minor, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core  57 credits
- Bible & Theology Major  33 credits
- General Electives  16 credits
- Video Production Minor  18 credits

TOTAL: 124 credits

Production Work. Work outside the classroom is a mandatory part of course requirements.

Portfolio. Students create a portfolio during their studies. This portfolio is evaluated at the end of the student’s sophomore year and senior year.

Musical Arts Major

Program Director: Ruth Reyes, Ed.D.

Overview. The Musical Arts Major is designed for students who wish to pursue a full-time professional career in a music-emphasis ministry in a church setting and/or private teaching career. It also prepares students to pursue graduate education in music education toward the goal of certification.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Musical Arts Major face-to-face at its Florida campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Musical Arts Major prepares students with music core skills to lead a music-emphasis ministry in the local and/or establish a private teaching studio as a career musician.

SLO 1: Graduates demonstrate music core-related skills in music theory, music history, and general musicianship.

SLO 2: Graduates demonstrate intermediate- to advanced-level performance skills in both solo and ensemble settings.

SLO 3: Graduates demonstrate related musical skills in conducting and vocal or piano pedagogy.

SLO 4: Graduates demonstrate education-core skills.

Required Courses. The Musical Arts Major consists of the following courses:

Recommendations for Musical Arts Major:
THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship as Theological Study 1
THEO 3121 History of Christian Worship as Theological Study 2

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 53

Requirements for the B.A. in Musical Arts: To earn the Bachelor of Arts degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and Musical Arts, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core for B.A. (*57) 40 credits
- Bible & Theology Major 33 credits
- General Electives 0 credits
- Musical Arts Major 53 credits
- TOTAL: 126 credits

*NOTE: The following courses in this major fulfill requirements for the Arts & Sciences Core: (1) MUSC 2113 Music History & Literature I in place of HIST 2123 History of Christianity; (2) Music Theory I-IV [MUSC 1111, 1221, 2211, 2221] in place of the four-Language track of the B.A. (3) MUAP 4310 OR 4410 Primary Instrument VII and MUAP 4000 Senior Recital fulfill the 2-credit Exploration Electives.

Application, Audition, and Admission to the Musical Arts Program. Students desiring to pursue the B.A. in Musical Arts must submit an application to the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and must pass an audition.

This application is not a substitute for the Application for Admission to Johnson University, but an additional application to enter the Musical Arts program. It invites students to describe their past musical background and experiences, choose their degree of study, and select their principal and secondary instruments.

The applicant is also required to schedule and perform an audition on the primary instrument for admission into the Musical Arts program.

Dates, deadlines, specific audition guidelines, and the application are available at https://johnsonu.edu/bachelors/musical-arts/.

Music Transfer Credits. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty of Johnson University do not automatically accept credits in music from other colleges and/or universities. Transfer credits are evaluated through placement examinations and auditions. Transfer students who do not have credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (described below). Transfer students with credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take a placement examination(s) corresponding to the level of music theory found on their college or university transcripts.

Music Reading Diagnostic Examination. During registration, all applicants (including transfer students) must complete the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (MRDE) administered by the Communication & Creative Arts faculty. Applicants who score below 75% on the MRDE will be placed in MUSC 1100 Musicianship Skills. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in this course in order to register for MUSC 1111 Music Theory I.

Applied Music Lessons, Jury Performances, and End-of Term Student Recitals. All students must choose a primary instrument they wish to study while pursuing the B.A. in Musical Arts. Options are voice and piano. Students then choose a secondary instrument of study. Options are voice, piano, and guitar. The faculty recommends that students with voice as their primary instrument select piano as their secondary instrument. Private lessons are not available for audit. Without exception, students must perform at a required student recital on their primary and secondary instruments at the conclusion of each term of study. Recital scores are factored into the music lesson final grades. In addition, students must present a required jury performance on their primary and secondary instruments at the conclusion of each spring term of study. The jury performance grade will be factored into the music lesson final grades. If extenuating circumstances prevent a student from presenting a jury performance, the Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the extenuating circumstances and make alternative arrangements. New students must earn a minimum grade of B- on their first jury performance for their primary instrument at the conclusion of their second term. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the degree program. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty may suggest to students a variety of options for the secondary instrument in order to prepare students to meet their professional goals.

Ensemble Participation. All students pursuing the B.A. in Musical Arts must earn a total of 6 or more credits through participation in Campus Choir or New Creation Ensemble.

Rehearsal/Practice Work: Rehearsal and practice outside of the classroom in the performance-related courses and corresponding public performance events are mandatory and a course work requirement.

Students who do not achieve the grade of “C” or higher in the first course of a sequence will not be allowed to continue with the next course of the sequence. Students who fail to meet the minimum grade of “C” in the first course of the sequence two times may be dismissed from the degree program.

Internship Requirements. All students pursuing the B.A. in Musical Arts must complete an internship during the last year of study (MUSC 4503 Music Internship or equivalent). The internship is designed to provide practical experience in the areas of music and music education. The internship must be a minimum of ten weeks in length and take place in a school setting or any approved music institution. It must be supervised by a full-time music educator, teaching supervisor or director who holds at least a four-year degree in music. A part-time internship in the spring term and in the fall term of the same year is also possible, as per approval of the Internship Coordinator.

Senior Recital. Musical arts majors who have demonstrated exceptional ability on their primary instrument and who wish to continue their training at the graduate level will present a recital during their senior year (MUAP 4000 Senior Recital), with the permission of their Primary Instrument Instructor. The one-hour Senior Recital is a culminating achievement of the Musical Arts Major. Students are guided by the Primary Instrument Instructor to develop and execute a recital program combined with a worship set. A “hearing” of the recital before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty is conducted at least four weeks prior to the scheduled performance.

Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership

Program Directors: Brent Weaver, D.W.S. (TN)
Ruth Reyes, Ed.D. (FL)

Overview. The Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership is designed for students who wish to pursue a full-time professional career in worship leadership with an emphasis on worship theology, congregational ministry, music, and worship-related technology and arts. It is also designed for those students who wish to pursue graduate education in worship studies at institutions of similar purpose and focus as Johnson University.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership face-to-face at its Tennessee and Florida campuses. Students on the Florida campus will experience a songwriting emphasis.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership prepares students in worship leadership for professional careers in congregational worship ministry and other related vocations.

_Note:_ Secondary Instrument: Applied Music (2)—choose 2 credits in a second instrument. Options include voice, piano, guitar.

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 76
Requirements for the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership: To earn the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership degree with a double major in Bible & Theology and Music in Worship Leadership, students must complete the following degree components:

- Arts & Sciences Core: ()31–32) 28 (TN) or 29 (FL) credits
- Bible & Theology Major: (*33) 21 credits
- General Electives: 0 credits
- Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership: 76 credits
- TOTAL: 125 (TN) or 126 (FL) credits

NOTE: The following courses may fulfill requirements for both the Bible & Theology Major and the Worship Leadership Major: (1) BIBL 3102 Message of the Psalms as the Old Testament Exegesis requirement; (2) BIBL 3314 Book of Revelation or BIBL 3311 Letter to the Hebrews as New Testament Exegesis requirement; (3) THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship as the Theological Study 1; and (4) THEO 3121 History of Christian Worship as the Theological Study 2.

NOTE: The following course fulfills requirements for both the Arts & Sciences Core and the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership: MUSC 2113 Music History and Literature I in place of HIST 2123 History of Christianity.

Application, Audition, and Admission to the Worship Leadership Program. Students desiring to pursue the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership must submit an application to the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and must pass an audition. This application is not a substitute for the Application for Admission to Johnson University, but an additional application to enter the Worship Leadership program. It invites students to describe their past musical background and experiences, choose their degree of study, and select their primary and secondary instruments.

The applicant is also required to schedule and perform an audition on the primary instrument for admission into the Worship Leadership program.

Music Transfer Credits. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty of Johnson University do not automatically accept credits in music from other colleges and/or universities. Transfer credits are evaluated through placement examinations and auditions. Transfer students who do not have credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (described below). Transfer students with credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take a placement examination(s) corresponding to the level of music theory found on their college or university transcripts.

Music Reading Diagnostic Examination. During registration, all applicants (including transfer students) must complete the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (MRDE) administered by the Communication & Creative Arts faculty. Applicants who score below 75% on the MRDE will be placed in MUSC 1100 Musicianship Skills. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in this course in order to register for MUSC 1111 Music Theory I.

Applied Music Lessons and Jury Performances. All students must choose a primary instrument they wish to study while pursuing the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership.
Options are guitar, piano, and voice. Students then choose a secondary instrument of study from the remaining two options. Private lessons are not available for audit.

Without exception, students must present a required jury or student recital performance on their primary and secondary instruments at the conclusion of each term of study. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the jury/recital performance and a grade for the performance will be given. This grade will be one of the components in the computation of the final grade for the private music lessons. If extenuating circumstances prevent a student from presenting a jury/recital performance, the Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the extenuating circumstances and make alternative arrangements for the jury/recital performance. New students must earn a minimum grade of B- on their first jury performance for their primary instrument either at the conclusion of their first or second term of study as determined by faculty. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the degree program. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty may suggest to students a variety of options for the secondary instrument to better prepare students to meet their professional goals.

Ensemble Participation. All students pursuing the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership must earn a total of six (6) or more credits through participation in one or more ensembles.

Rehearsal/Practice Work: Rehearsal and practice outside of the classroom in the performance-related courses and corresponding public performance events are mandatory and a course work requirement.

Academic Standards. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in each course required in their professional major (Worship Leadership) for the course to be applied to the degree program. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty will confer with students who do not meet this minimum grade requirement.

Students who do not achieve the grade of “C” or higher in the first course of a sequence will not be allowed to continue with the next course of the sequence. Students who fail to meet the minimum grade of “C” in the first course of the sequence two times may be dismissed from the degree program.

Internship Requirements. All students pursuing the Bachelor of Music in Worship Leadership must complete an internship during the last year of study (WORS 4403 Worship Leadership Internship). The internship is designed to provide practical experience in the area of worship leadership. The internship must be a minimum of ten weeks in length and take place in a local church setting. It must be supervised by a full-time worship minister hired by the church, or by a part-time worship minister hired by the church who holds at least a four-year degree in music or worship studies, as approved by the Internship Program Coordinator. Students must complete WORS 3110 Worship Leadership and Ministry and THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship prior to their internship.

Senior Recital. Worship Leadership majors who have demonstrated exceptional ability on their primary instrument and who wish to continue their training at the graduate level may present a recital during their senior year (MUAP 4000 Senior Recital), with the permission of their Primary Instrument Instructor. The one-hour Senior Recital is a culminating achievement of the Worship Leadership Major. Students are guided by the Primary Instrument Instructor to develop and execute a recital program combined with a worship set. A “hearing” of the recital before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty is conducted at least four weeks prior to the scheduled performance.
Bachelor of Music Education

Program Director: Donald R. Trentham, M.M.

Overview. The Bachelor of Music Education is designed for students who wish to pursue a full-time professional career as a K-12 Vocal/General Music teacher. The program is intended to meet National Association of Schools of Music standards and those of all other accrediting bodies with whom Johnson University is associated.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Bachelor of Music Education face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Bachelor of Music Education prepares students for teaching positions in K-12 Vocal/General Music. Students could pursue graduate work in a related field.

SLO 1: Graduates demonstrate professional skills in music education.

SLO 2: Graduates demonstrate intermediate- to advanced-level performance skills in both solo and ensemble settings.

SLO 3: Graduates demonstrate music core-related skills in music theory, general musicianship, conducting, and music history.

In addition to these School of Communication & Creative Arts Student Learning Outcomes, students will also meet Student Learning Outcomes, which are assessed by the Templar School of Education.

Purpose. The Music Education (Vocal Music K-12) program prepares students for entry-level positions teaching vocal music in public and Christian schools.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to develop and implement an effective system of discipline and classroom management based on a Christian Philosophical foundation.

SLO 5: Graduates demonstrate professional skills for teaching Vocal Music in K-12 classrooms.

Required Courses. The Bachelor of Music Education consists of the following courses:

TOTAL CREDITS IN MAJOR: 73.5

Requirements for the Bachelor of Music Education (BME): To earn the Bachelor of Music Education with a double major in Bible & Theology and Music Education, students must complete the following degree components:

Arts & Sciences Core for BME (*35) 26 credits
Bible & Theology Major 30 credits
General Electives 0 credits
Education 20.5 credits
Music

TOTAL: 129.5 credits

*NOTE: The following courses fulfill requirements for both the Arts & Sciences Core and the Music Education Major: (1) MUSC 2113 Music History & Literature I for HIST 2123 History of Christianity; (2) EPSY 2112 Educational Psychology for SPSY 1100 Interpersonal and Family Relationships; and (3) MATH 2110 Mathematics Concepts for the Math requirement.

Licensure and Certification. Johnson University’s Music Education program is approved by the Tennessee State Board of Education and by the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI). Bachelor’s Degrees in Music Education meet the requirements for licensure in the State of Tennessee. State clinical practice requirements are met through student teaching or an internship.

Clinical Experience. The Tennessee State Board of Education requires four distinct types of experiential learning found in Johnson University’s Music Education programs:

- Field Experience—lower level courses with few hours generally required for all students
- Practicum—upper level courses with longer hours that are program-specific
- Student Teaching—full-time clinical practice in a classroom for one term
- Internship—full-time clinical practice in a classroom for one academic year

Bachelor of Music Education Program Admission and Continuation, and Licensure. Students desiring to pursue the Bachelor of Music Education must meet the standards of admission and progress of the School of Communication & Creative Arts and The Templar School of Education.

To ensure students meet professional music standards, the School of Communication & Creative Arts sets requirements that apply to content and courses designated as Music Core.

To ensure students meet education requirements, the Templar School of Education sets requirements that apply to content and courses designated as Education.

Application. Prospective students wanting to pursue a Bachelor of Music Education should submit an application (separate from the Johnson University Application) to the School of Communication & Creative Arts. This application is available at https://johnsonu.edu/bachelors/music-education-bme/.

This application is not a substitute for the Application for Admission to Johnson University, but an additional application to enter the Music Education program. It invites students to describe their past musical background, experiences, and select their primary and secondary instruments.

Auditions. All students who wish to enter the Music Education program must perform an audition for the faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts on their primary instrument. Auditions dates will be posted on the online application. Audition requirements for admission can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/bachelors/music-education-bme/.

Music Transfer Credits. The faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts of Johnson University does not automatically accept credits in music from other colleges and/or universities. Transfer credits are evaluated through placement examinations and auditions. Transfer students who do not have credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (described below).
Transfer students with credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take a placement examination(s) corresponding to the level of music theory found on their college or university transcripts.

Music Reading Diagnostic Examination. During registration, all applicants (including transfer students) complete the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (MRDE) administered by the faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts. Applicants who score below 75% on the MRDE will be placed in MUSC 1100 Musicianship Skills. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in this course in order to register for MUSC 1111 Music Theory I.

Applied Music Lessons and Jury Performances. All students must choose a primary instrument they wish to study while pursuing the Bachelor of Music Education. Options are piano and voice. Students then choose a secondary instrument of study. Private lessons are not available for audit. Without exception, students must present a required jury performance on their primary and secondary instruments at the conclusion of each term of study. If extenuating circumstances prevent a student from presenting a jury performance, the faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts will evaluate the extenuating circumstances and make alternative arrangements for the jury performance. New students must earn a minimum grade of B- on their first jury for their primary instrument at the conclusion of their first term. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the degree program. The faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts may suggest to students a variety of options for the secondary instrument in order to prepare students to meet their professional goals.

Ensemble Participation. All students pursuing the Bachelor of Music Education must earn a total of 6 or more credits through participation in one or more ensembles.

Academic Standards. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in each of the music courses applied to the Bachelor of Music Education program. Students who do not achieve the grade of “B-” in the first course of a sequence will not be allowed to continue with the next course of the sequence. Students who consistently fail to meet this requirement may be dismissed from the degree program. The faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts will confer with students who do not meet this minimum grade requirement.

Senior Recital. Bachelor of Music Education majors will be required to present a recital during their senior year. (MUAP 4100 Senior Recital). With selections for the recital approved by the faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts, the student will rehearse the music under the guidance of the private instructor and present a “hearing” of the recital before the faculty of the School of Communication & Creative Arts at least two weeks prior to the scheduled performance.

In addition to the aforementioned standards of the School of Communication & Creative Arts, Music Education majors must also meet the standards of the Templar School of Education.

Undergraduate Teacher Education Program Admission and Continuation. For undergraduate students, earning a bachelor’s degree is a four-stage process:

- Initial Admission: Admission requirements for Johnson University’s Teacher Education programs are detailed in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Application & Admission.” Highlights include:
• Minimum score of 21 ACT or 1060 SAT (1450 Old SAT) for students applying for Teacher Education in accordance with Johnson University Tennessee’s agreement with the State of Tennessee. Students who lack the required ACT or SAT score may petition the Teacher Education Interdisciplinary Committee for a waiver if they meet the following criteria: (1) 30+ credit hours of college/university coursework with a 3.0+ cumulative grade point average, earned over two full-time consecutive terms at Johnson University and/or another college or university with no course failures; (2) passing scores on the PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators (Core) Test (Reading 5713, Writing 5723, Mathematics 5733).

• Transfer students must demonstrate:
  1. Success in college coursework of at least 30 credit hours
  2. Earned passing scores on the required ACT/SAT exemption or the required scores on the PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators (Core) Test (Reading 5713, Writing 5723, Mathematics 5733).

• Transfer courses must correspond with a Johnson University required course and are subject to validation. The Tennessee State Department of Education permits Teacher Education students to transfer only coursework from regionally accredited institutions.

• Mid-Point Evaluation: About halfway through the baccalaureate program, students undergo a mid-point evaluation. To pass the evaluation and be accepted into the Teacher Education program they must have:
  • Completed four terms or the equivalent, but not more than 70 credit hours
  • Achieved and maintained a minimum 2.75 cumulative grade point average (GPA) on all courses and relevant transfer credits
  • Provided satisfactory service during three terms of field experience in local schools
  • Completed a satisfactory Sixteen Personality Factor Questionnaire (16PF)
  • Earned the required ACT/SAT exemption or the required scores on the the PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators (Core) Test (Reading 5713, Writing 5723, Mathematics 5733) and satisfy any other requirements mandated by the State of Tennessee
  • Presented a professional portfolio and recommendation from the Teacher Education Interview Committee
  • Presented three satisfactory evaluations from selected faculty, staff, and work supervisors regarding student conduct, attitude, motivation, and performance
  • Received approval from the Interdisciplinary Committee
  • Transfer students may take 3000-level Teacher Education courses if they have completed the Mid-Point evaluation process. 4000-level Teacher Education courses are only available after full admittance to the Teacher Education program.

• Graduation: Students must successfully complete all requirements for a bachelor’s degree in Teacher Education, earning a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75 on a 4-point scale (see “Graduation Requirements” in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Academic Policies & Procedures”).

- Student Teaching or Internship and Licensure: To earn a teaching license in the State of Tennessee, graduates must:
  - Earn the minimum score set by the State of Tennessee on each part of the required PRAXIS II test
  - Earn the minimum score of a 42 on edTPA Portfolio
  - Successfully complete a 12-credit internship or 6-credit student teaching experience in a Partnership School approved by Johnson University, earning a minimum grade of B-
  - Receive a satisfactory evaluation by the Partnership School mentor
  - Be recommended for licensure by the Templar School of Education
  - Satisfy any other licensure requirements mandated by the State of Tennessee.

Requirements frequently change and candidates must meet requirements in effect at the time of their graduation. These requirements may be different from those in effect at the time they entered Johnson University or those detailed in this Catalog. Students should check with the Templar School of Education regarding current licensure requirements.

*NOTE: The following course fulfills requirements for both the Arts & Sciences Core and the Music Core: MUSC 2113 Music History & Literature I for HIST 2123 History of Christianity.

NOTE: To meet Tennessee Department of Education licensure requirements, students wishing to pursue a Bachelor of Music Education following completion of the Associate of Arts in Music must take MATH 1100 Introduction to Mathematics (2.0), MATH 2110 Mathematics Concepts (3.0), EDUC 2013 Introduction to Teaching: Elementary Education (3.0), EPSY 2112 Educational Psychology (3.0), MUSC 2221 Music Theory IV (3.0), and MUSC 2241 Music Theory Lab IV (1.0) in their junior year. Students wishing to pursue a Bachelor of Music Education following completion of the Associate of Arts in Music must meet all School of Communication & Creative Arts and Templar School of Education admission standards and Tennessee Department of Education licensure requirements.

Application, Audition, and Admission to the Associate of Arts in Music. Students desiring to pursue the Associate in Arts in Music must submit an application to the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and must pass an audition. This application is not a substitute for the Application for Admission to Johnson University, but an additional application to enter the Associate of Arts in Music. It invites students to describe their past musical background and experiences, choose their degree of study, and select their primary instrument.

The applicant is also required to schedule and perform an audition on the primary instrument for admission into the Associate of Arts in Music.

Dates, deadlines, specific audition guidelines, and the application are available at https://johnsonu.edu/associate/music/.
Music Transfer Credits. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty of Johnson University do not automatically accept credits in music from other colleges and/or universities. Transfer credits are evaluated through placement examinations and auditions. Transfer students who do not have credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (described below). Transfer students with credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take a placement examination(s) corresponding to the level of music theory found on their college or university transcripts.

Music Reading Diagnostic Examination. During registration, all applicants (including transfer students) must complete the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (MRDE) administered by the Communication & Creative Arts faculty. Applicants who score below 75% on the MRDE will be placed in MUSC 1100 Musicianship Skills. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in this course in order to register for MUSC 1111 Music Theory I.

Applied Music Lessons and Jury Performances. All students must choose a primary instrument they wish to study while pursuing the Associate of Arts in Music. Options are guitar, piano, and voice. Private lessons are not available for audit.

Without exception, students must present a required jury or student recital performance on their primary and secondary instruments at the conclusion of each term of study. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the jury/recital performance and a grade for the performance will be given. This grade will be one of the components in the computation of the final grade for the private music lessons. If extenuating circumstances prevent a student from presenting a jury/recital performance, the Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the extenuating circumstances and make alternative arrangements for the jury/recital performance. New students must earn a minimum grade of B- on their first jury performance for their primary instrument either at the conclusion of their first or second term of study as determined by faculty. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the degree program.

Ensemble Participation. All students pursuing the Associate of Arts in Music must earn a total of two (2) or more credits through participation in one or more ensembles.

Rehearsal/Practice Work: Rehearsal and practice outside of the classroom in the performance-related courses and corresponding public performance events are mandatory and a coursework requirement.

Academic Standards. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in each course required in their professional Associate of Arts in Music for the course to be applied to the degree program. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty will confer with students who do not meet this minimum grade requirement.

Students who do not achieve the grade of “C” or higher in the first course of a sequence will not be allowed to continue with the next course of the sequence.

Audition and Admission to the Music Minor. Students desiring to pursue the Music Minor must perform a brief audition. Contact Don Trentham (TN) or Ruth Reyes (FL), program director, for additional information.

Music Transfer Credits. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty of Johnson University do not automatically accept credits in music from other colleges and/or universities. Transfer credits are evaluated through placement examinations and auditions. Transfer students who do not have credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (described below). Transfer students with credits in music theory from an accredited college or university are required to take a placement examination(s) corresponding to the level of music theory found on their college or university transcripts.

Music Reading Diagnostic Examination. Students (including transfer students) must complete the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination (MRDE) administered by the Communication & Creative Arts faculty. Students who score below 75% on the MRDE will be placed in MUSC 1100 Musicianship Skills. Students must earn a minimum grade of “C” in this course in order to register for MUSC 1111 Music Theory I.

Applied Music Lessons and Jury Performances. All students must choose a primary instrument they wish to study while pursuing the music minor. Options are guitar, piano, and voice. Private lessons are not available for audit.
Without exception, students must present a required jury or student recital performance on their primary instrument at the conclusion of each term of study. The Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the jury/recital performance and a grade for the performance will be given. This grade will be one of the components in the computation of the final grade for the private music lessons. If extenuating circumstances prevent a student from presenting a jury/recital performance, the Communication & Creative Arts faculty will evaluate the extenuating circumstances and make alternative arrangements for the jury/recital performance. New students must earn a minimum grade of B- on their first jury performance for their primary instrument either at the conclusion of their first or second term of study as determined by faculty.

Certificate in Christian Ministries

Program Director: Jeff Snell, D.Min.

Overview. The Certificate in Christian Ministries targets staff members who are hired from within churches and who do not have prior bachelor’s degrees, nor Christian college or seminary background. Students will complete five online courses (3 credits each). Upon completion, graduates can apply these fifteen credits toward an online bachelor’s degree at Johnson University.

Modality. The Certificate in Christian Ministries is offered in a fully online format.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Certificate in Christian Ministries develops a foundational understanding of biblical/theological principles that are essential for effective leadership ministry. It develops a basic understanding of interpretation, integration, and communication of Scripture that enable graduates to effectively engage their ministry context.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to interpret Scripture accurately by integrating biblical research resources and skills.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to facilitate spiritual growth in themselves through implementation of key resources and practices.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to lead effectively in ministry by integrating key biblical passages and principles.

Required Courses. The Certificate in Christian Ministries consists of the following courses:

Required:

*THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation 3
CMPR 3120 Spiritual Formation for Ministry 3

Choose Three (9 credits):

Internship. Students in the Ministry Leadership Major have three internship options:

- The first option is to complete 3 internship credits through CMML 3003 Ministry Leadership Internship (typically completed in the summer term). The internship must be tailored to fit their concentration area. Students must attend an internship orientation seminar prior to their internship and schedule exit interviews with a professor at the conclusion of their internship.

- The second option is to complete a 7-month internship that extends from the summer after the student’s junior year through the fall of the senior year. The entire experience earns 13 ½ credits and includes a 1-credit summer internship and a 12.5 credit fall internship, each in Ministry Leadership. Both internships must be tailored to fit a student’s concentration area. Students who choose this 7-month option will apply the 1-credit summer internship class (CMML 3621) toward their CMML 3213 Special Issues in Ministry Leadership requirement. Additionally, students who choose this 7-month option will not take a 3-credit Ministry Elective, CMML 4013 Effective Ministry Leadership, and the New Testament Exegesis Elective in the Bible & Theology Major or attend chapel on campus as they would otherwise. Instead, the objectives for these three courses are accomplished through assignments and experiences required during the internship.

- The third option is a non-traditional approach in which the student earns three internship credits through a combination of CMPR 3440 Mentored Ministry Experience (1 credit) and any two of the following 1-credit options: CMPR 3460 Weekend Ministry Internship, CMPR 3420 Group Internship, CMPR 3430 Hospice Internship, and CMPR 3450 Clinical Setting Internship. Students who wish to pursue the non-traditional option must receive prior approval from the Ministry Internship Coordinator.

NOTE: 1) Students completing internship options 1 or 2 may not take additional courses during their internships, except with permission from the Dean of the School of Congregational Ministry. In special circumstances, the Dean may permit students to take one additional course per session or term. Students are not permitted to take two or more additional courses per session or term. 2) Students in the Pastoral Counseling concentration take CMCM 4110 Counseling Ministry Practicum in place of an internship.
Ministry Leadership Major (online)

Program Director: Jeff Snell, D.Min

Overview. Adult students have great potential to lead churches and other Christian ministries for the advancement of Christ’s kingdom. The Ministry Leadership Major equips such students with sound training in Bible, theology, and the leadership of Christian ministries.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Ministry Leadership Major online. Currently Johnson University does not offer world languages courses (required for the B.A.) online. Most students therefore pursue the Bachelor of Science (non-language) version of the degree. Students desiring a B.A. must complete language requirements face-to-face at Johnson University or at another institution.

Strategic Ministry Major

Program Director: Jeff Snell, D.Min.

Overview. Effective ministry in contemporary cultures requires a heart enflamed with mission, a head filled with biblical wisdom, and hands equipped to lead Christ’s church and expand His kingdom in His world. The Strategic Ministry Major at Johnson University involves a partnership between the academy and the church that equips students for this kind of effective, strategic Christian leadership.

The program includes a 9-month ministry residency at churches in Peoria, Arizona. As part of the residency, students complete a Leadership Core and can choose a concentration in a specialty area. Throughout the program, residents are mentored by Johnson University instructors, some of whom serve on staff at the participating churches.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Strategic Ministry Major face-to-face at its Tennessee campus, with a senior-level residency in Peoria, Arizona (30 credits). Students spend their freshman, sophomore, and junior years at Johnson University, completing all the credits required for the Arts & Sciences Core, nearly all the credits required for the Bible & Theology Major, and 6 credits toward the Strategic Ministry Major. During their senior year, partner churches in each city host the residents and provide housing and other support, as the students earn the 30 additional credits required for the Strategic Ministry major.

Students may apply for the residency no earlier than August of their junior year. They must complete a Strategic Ministry Application Form and submit it to the Dean of the School of Congregational Ministry. Application forms are available from the Dean or the Administrative Assistant of the School of Congregational Ministry. If accepted, students change their major to Strategic Ministry and spend their senior year in residence at a partner church.

For application materials and further information, contact Dr. Jeff Snell, Dean of the School of Congregational Ministry.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Strategic Ministry Major prepares Christian students to lead churches and other ministries with a biblical worldview, strategic planning, and effective management of people and resources to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

Leadership Core

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate principles and practices of strategic church leadership.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate the ability to function well as a contributing member of a church ministry leadership team.
SLO 3: Graduates will be able to demonstrate self-awareness related to conflict triggers and management styles.

Church Administration Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate effective administrative techniques to efficiently manage church and ministry programs.

Intercultural Studies Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate strategies that enable a local church to make local and global kingdom impact.

Sports Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to use sports-related ministries to extend the Great Commission.

Church Planting Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to extend a congregation’s ministry through the planting of additional sites or congregations.

Pastoral Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate the skills necessary to provide pastoral leadership for churches and ministries.

Youth Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to direct ministry for and with junior high and high school students and their families that develops them into disciples of Jesus.

Children and Family Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to direct ministry for and with children from birth through fifth grade and their families that develops them into disciples of Jesus.

Worship Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to lead others in a program of worship.

Special Needs Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to coordinate and execute meaningful ministry to and with people who have special needs.

Customized Concentration for Students Not in Arizona
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate professional skills in their chosen area of study.

NOTE: (1) Students who move into Strategic Ministry from another major within the School of Congregational Ministry must complete CMPR 2110 Biblical Teaching and Preaching and CMPR 4303 Conflict and Communication prior to the residency. Students who move into the Strategic Ministry Major from a different Johnson University School may, with the approval of the Dean of the School of Congregational Ministry, substitute 6 credits from another professional area for CMPR 2110 and CMPR 4303. (2) The Bible & Theology Major for this program is the online version. The following course in this major fulfills a requirement for the Bible & Theology Major: CMSM 4323 Bible Lands for the Theological Study 2 requirement. (3) Strategic Ministry Majors must complete 3 credits of PRMN 1500 Chapel, rather than the normal 4 credits, because they are off campus during their senior year and Spiritual Formation components are built into the major. (4) Students on the Strategic Ministry major follow a modified version of the Academic Calendar, including arriving at the residency location prior to the fall term for a period of orientation and functioning similar to the staff of their host churches in regard to vacations and holidays. Their spring term will end at the time specified on the Academic Calendar. (5) For the fall and spring term that they spend in residence at a partner church/ministry, students on the Strategic Ministry major will pay the tuition required for TN campus face-to-face students, the General and Technology Fee, and the Strategic Ministry Program Fee.

NOTE: (1) Students accepted into this certificate program pay a one-time fee when they are first enrolled that covers all tuition and fees for the entire program. This fee allows students up to three years to complete the program. If a student begins the program but chooses not to complete it, no refunds are available. (2) Normal University policies concerning academic probation and suspension do not apply to Graduate Certificate in Christian Ministries students. Instead, the Dean of the School of Congregational Ministry will deal with academic issues on a case-by-case basis. (3) Students must have achieved a cumulative GPA of 2.0 in order to receive the certificate.

Master of Strategic Ministry

Program Director: Jeff Snell, D.Min.

Overview. Christian leaders minister in a complex and rapidly changing world. Effective leadership in this context requires a biblically-based philosophy of ministry, skillful analysis of cultural dynamics, the capacity to think and plan strategically, and the ability to lead and equip people to extend the kingdom of God in His world. Johnson University’s Master of Strategic Ministry program involves a partnership between the academy and the church that equips students for this kind of effective, strategic Christian leadership.

The program includes online coursework in strategic ministry and a 12 or 24-month ministry apprenticeship at a partner church. Students complete a Leadership Core and can choose a concentration in a specialty area. Customized specialty areas are sometimes developed in partnership with church professionals on an as-available basis. Throughout the program, apprentices are mentored by Johnson University instructors, some of whom serve on staff at the participating churches.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Master of Strategic Ministry degree partially online and partially through field experiences at partner churches. Students take the core classes online and complete their field experiences face-to-face at a partner church.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Master of Strategic Ministry equips Christian graduate students with advanced skills in strategic leadership, missional ministry, and effective management of people and resources to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

Leadership Core

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to integrate the character traits Jesus’ exemplified in His ministry into their own lives, leadership styles, and ministries.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to analyze biblical teachings and contemporary approaches to leadership to develop their own philosophies of strategic ministry.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to relate leadership principles learned during the residency to other ministry contexts.

Missions Ministry Concentration

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to evaluate various mission strategies and choose strategies that will best empower a particular church or ministry to make local and global kingdom impact.

Sports Ministry Concentration

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to evaluate various sports ministry opportunities and to develop those that will best help a church minister to people in its particular community.

Pastoral Ministry Concentration

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to integrate pastoral leadership skills developed through research into actual ministry circumstances.
Student Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to analyze strategies to minister to and with junior high and high school students and their families that develop them into disciples of Jesus.

Children’s Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to analyze strategies to minister to and with children and their families that develop them into disciples of Jesus.

Worship Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to evaluate philosophies and methods of leading others in worship, and develop a philosophy and choose methods that best serve a particular context.

Special Needs Ministry Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to coordinate, execute, and analyze meaningful ministry to and with people who have special needs.

*Customized Concentration
SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate professional skills in their chosen area of study.

*NOTE: A customized concentration requires approval from the Dean of the School of Congregational Ministry.

Required Courses. The Master of Strategic Ministry program consists of the following courses:

Prerequisites:
Students who lack enough course work in biblical studies to provide adequate preparation for graduate study may be required to complete some foundational readings before the end of the first term of enrollment. This work will be assigned and assessed by the Program Director.

Applied Linguistics Major (OL)

Program Director: Steven M. Whitmer, Ph.D.

Overview. Linguistics focuses on the study of language and all its aspects, including the diversity of language, its structure, how people learn language, and use it to communicate. This degree focuses on the development of the skills and knowledge that are foundational for work in many diverse areas. The Applied Linguistics Major equips students for entry-level translation and literacy work, cross-cultural work, and for further studies in the interdisciplinary fields related to linguistics.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Applied Linguistics major in fully-online format. Currently Johnson University does not offer world language courses (required for the B.A.) in online format. Most students, therefore, pursue the Bachelor of Science (non-language version of the degree). Online courses in world languages are under development and becoming available. Currently, four online Greek and Hebrew courses are available—namely GREK 5553, Greek A, and GREK 5563, Greek B, HEBR 5543, Hebrew A, and HEBR 5553, Hebrew B.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Applied Linguistics Major prepares graduates for entry-level translation and literacy work for further studies in Linguistics.

SLO1: Graduates will be prepared foundationally for further studies as Bible translators or literacy workers.

SLO2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate critical thinking that is biblical, theological, and missiologically foundational.

SLO3: Graduates will be able to successfully implement missional ministry within world contexts.

SLO4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate the ability to work in a second language.

Required Courses. The Applied Linguistics Major (online) consists of the following courses:
*ANTH 1103  Encountering Cultures: City As Text  3
*ANTH 3203  Practical Anthropology  3
ICLI 2610  Phonetics & Phonology  3
ICLI 3410  Grammatical Analysis  3

Anthropology Minor

Program Director: Linda Whitmer, Ph.D.

Overview. Anthropology is the study of humanity, focusing on current cultures and populations across the world, past people through fossil, archaeological, and historical records, and how contemporary societies and cultures interact with each other and their environments. The Minor in Anthropology is an excellent complement to preparation for further study and careers in any discipline that requires ability to understand and deal with other cultures, such as, teaching, counseling, business, communications, ministry, and missions. An Anthropology minor complements a major in Intercultural Studies, Psychology, Family Studies, Teacher Education, Intercultural Studies, Teaching English as a Second Language, and History, among others. Issues addressed include history and politics; ways of living; and the structure of culture and values of people around the world. Those in the Anthropology Minor will advance beyond simply learning about other cultures to answering the larger “So What?” questions of why it matters and how to use what they have learned in their careers.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Anthropology Minor face-to-face at its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Anthropology Minor prepares students for a variety of ministry roles and strategic vocations in domestic and international contexts for the purpose of extending the kingdom of God.

SLO 1: Graduates will demonstrate foundational understanding of Anthropology.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate critical thinking that is biblical, theological, and anthropologically foundational.
SLO 3: Graduates will be able to communicate anthropological knowledge effectively through written, oral, and data presentation in varying formats for diverse audiences.

Organizational Psychology Major

Program Directors: Nealy Brown, Ph.D. (FL), Beth Ridge, M.S. (TN)

Overview. The Bachelor of Science in Organizational Psychology (BSOP) degree prepares students for careers within the business sector. The two concentrations of Analytics and Human Resources lead to careers in areas such as data analysis, process improvement, quality enhancement, human resources, training, talent acquisition and management, and organizational development. Graduates will utilize psychological concepts and principles learned and practiced in the program to positively impact employee selection and placement, provide training and development, and influence organizational development. Johnson University’s Christ-centered focus provides a valuable asset as graduates will have key opportunities to have a strategic Kingdom presence in the workplace. A significant component of the program includes the development of the student’s personal philosophy for practicing that discipline or profession as a Christian ambassador for the Lord. Students who graduate with the human resources concentration may qualify for certification from the Society for Human Resource Management upon passing their exam and obtaining the required experience. Both concentrations include 18 hours of graduate credit and prepare students with foundational knowledge as well as fulfill prerequisite qualifications to continue education at the graduate level.

Master of Arts in Counseling

Program Director: Kristel Headley, Ph.D., LPC-MHSP, ACS, RPT-S

Overview. The M.A. in Counseling offers concentrations in two areas: (1) Clinical Mental Health Counseling; and (2) School Counseling. Both concentrations are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling & Related Educational Programs (CACREP). Students experience a unique blend of high quality theoretical training and clinical experience in a holistic Christian atmosphere. Additionally, the program maintains a student-faculty ratio of less than 12:1, allowing for more direct interaction and engagement between faculty and students.

The Clinical Mental Health Concentration (MAC-CMHC) provides a professional mental health counseling education and experience. Graduates are eligible to pursue professional licensure in most states. In Tennessee, graduates with this degree may pursue licensure as both Marital & Family Therapists and Professional Counselors with the Mental Health Service Provider designation. The program consists of 63 credit hours. Upon graduation students will have completed 1000 hours of clinical contact. Practicum and internship opportunities include placements at the Johnson University Counseling Center, as well as various community-based settings.

The School Counseling Concentration (MAC-SC) provides a professional school counseling education and experience. Graduates of the program are eligible for licensure in Tennessee as Licensed Professional School Counselors. Students experience a unique blend of quality theoretical training and professional experience in a holistic Christian atmosphere. The program consists of 60 credit hours. Upon graduation students will have completed over 600 hours of practicum and internship experiences in both primary and secondary schools.

Modality. Johnson University offers the MAC in hybrid format based on its Tennessee campus. This course format incorporates diverse teaching modalities, such as in-class discussion, experiential activities, and online learning. Options allow individuals to complete the program in 2–5 years. Typically, courses require students to be on campus in a Class Residency two weekends per term per course.

Practicum and internship courses provide additional flexibility, allowing students to choose on-campus and/or off-campus site placements.

- MAC-CMHC: Practicum must be completed on the Tennessee campus in the University Counseling Center, and internships may include either an on-campus or an approved off-campus location, or some combination of the two.
- MAC-SC: All internship work is completed at approved off-campus school settings.

TOTAL CREDITS IN DEGREE: 60-63

Academic Standards. MAC students must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 (B) in all courses taken toward the degree. If a grade below C is assigned for a graduate course, no credit is awarded for that course. No more than two grades of C/C+ may be applied to the degree. If a student’s cumulative GPA falls below 3.0, s/he will be placed on academic probation until the average is raised to 3.0. Students on probation must meet with their faculty advisors to develop and implement an academic recovery plan.

A student who earns two grades of C/C+ may be placed on probation even if the cumulative GPA remains at 3.0. If a student’s term average falls below 2.0 (C), his/her case will be reviewed by the dean and faculty of the School of Social & Behavioral Sciences. Failure to maintain good academic standing may result in dismissal from the Graduate Counseling Program.

Personalized Degree Options. Students entering the Graduate Counseling Program develop an Individual Program of Study that is revised each term with their faculty advisor. This form identifies which courses will be taken in each semester leading up to graduation. This plan can be adapted at any point, allowing students the flexibility to adjust and personalize their academic course load.

Students typically complete the program in 2½ to 3 years as full-time students. Students also have the option to enroll part-time and complete the program within a 3–5 year timeline.

Additionally, students may choose to complete requirements for both concentrations. Students who do so will graduate with an MA in Counseling, with concentrations in CMHC and SC.

Students who do this need only complete one Practicum course, but otherwise must complete all coursework in both concentrations. Doing so results in a degree of 78 credit hours, and allows for pursuit of licensure as a Professional School Counselor, Professional Counselor with Mental Health Service Provider designation, and Marital and Family Therapist.

Fingerprinting and Background Checks. The Johnson University Graduate Counseling faculty requires background checks for all degree-seeking graduate counseling students. Students are required to pay a fee (approximately $60) to cover the cost of this requirement. This requirement must be completed no later than week 8 of the first semester of enrollment in the Graduate Counseling Program or students may not be allowed to register for an additional term. Students convicted of a felony may not be eligible to be licensed to work in the mental health field, and they should disclose any prior felonies to their admissions counselor when applying to the Graduate Counseling Program.

Graduation Requirements. Students who successfully complete all academic coursework and the practicum/internship should be eligible to receive their degree given the following conditions are also met:

- Student has a cumulative graduate GPA of 3.0 or higher
- Student has an earned final grade of C or better in all academic coursework
• Student has earned no more than two grades below B- in all academic coursework
• Student has an earned final grade of B- or better in all practicum/internship courses
• Student is not on academic or clinical probation
• Student has submitted an Intent to Graduate form to the Registrar by the due date
• Student consistently demonstrates all counseling dispositions identified by the graduate counseling program (meets or exceeds standards)
• Student has completed the School Guidance & Counseling (0420) Praxis examination. (SC Concentration only). To be recommended for licensure as a Professional School Counselor in the state of Tennessee, students must pass this exam.
• Student has passed an oral comprehensive examination
• Student has successfully passed the CPCE or completed remediation as designated by the core faculty

Licensure and Certification. Johnson University Florida’s Teacher Preparation program is approved by the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI) and by the Florida Department of Education. A Bachelor’s Degree is offered in Elementary Education (Grades K-6) with Endorsements in ESOL and Reading. State clinical practice requirements are met through field experiences and internships.

Johnson University Florida Teacher Education graduates are in high demand and have experienced great success in obtaining teaching positions in public and private schools in Florida.

Experiential Learning. Experience in the school classroom is considered a vital part of a teacher’s training and is part of the Johnson University Florida Teacher Preparation program. Students participate in the following clinical practice experiences:

- Field Experience—lower level courses in public schools
- Practicum—upper level courses in ELL, and ESE classrooms and a Reading lab
- Internship—clinical practice in a public school classroom for one academic year

Undergraduate Teacher Preparation Program Admission, Continuation, and Licensure. For undergraduate students, earning a bachelor’s degree and teaching license is a four-stage process:

1. Initial University Admission: Admission to Johnson University Florida is detailed in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Application & Admission.”

2. Templar School of Education Admission: Admission to Johnson University Florida’s Teacher Preparation Program is based on the following criteria:
   - CGPA of 2.5
   - CGPA of 2.5 in Arts and Sciences
   - Passing grade on all of the General Knowledge Tests of the Florida Teacher Certification Examination (FTCE)
   - Grade of B- or better on Teacher Preparation Core Courses* and Field Experiences
   - Satisfactory completion of required elements of the e-portfolio

3. Graduation: Students must successfully complete all requirements for the bachelor’s degree in Elementary Education (Grades K-6) with Endorsements in ESOL and Reading, including passing all FTCE exams, and earn a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 on a 4-point scale (see “Graduation Requirements” in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Academic Policies & Procedures”).

4. Licensure: Florida Statute 1012 establishes the authority and purpose for Educator Certification. All information regarding Educator Certification is overseen by the Bureau of Educator Certification (BEC). Comprehensive certification information can be found on the BEC website: www.fldoe.org/teaching/certification or on the Florida Department of Education (FLDOE) home page: www.fldoe.org under “Educator Certification.” Graduates who need help with the certification process may contact the Templar School of Education Administrative Assistant.
Elementary Education (Grades K-6) Major with Endorsements in ESOL and Reading (FL)

Program Director: Wendy Guthrie, Ed.D.

Overview. This program introduces students to the fundamentals of teaching in the elementary school and in English Language Learning (ELL) classrooms. In addition to the Arts & Sciences Core and the Bible & Theology Major, the Elementary Education major includes general education courses and professional studies in child development, educational philosophy, and specialized teaching methodologies. Students receive instruction in lesson preparation and presentation, classroom management, integration of a biblical worldview and application of biblical knowledge to the teaching profession, development and implementation of curriculum, and current trends in education. They develop their own philosophy of education based on these insights, and they demonstrate their skills and knowledge through an electronic portfolio using the Florida Educator Accomplished Practices (FEAPs). Field experiences expose students to the full range of elementary education in Florida, including ELL and ESE classrooms.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Elementary Education (Grades K-6) Major with Endorsements in ESOL and Reading face-to-face at its Florida campus, with field placements and practicums in local schools.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Elementary Education (Grades K-6) major with Endorsements in ESOL and Reading prepares students for entry-level positions teaching in Elementary classrooms in Florida public schools.

SLO 1: Graduates will utilize various teaching strategies in their lesson planning and presentations.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to maintain a student-centered learning environment that is safe, organized, equitable, flexible, inclusive, and collaborative.

SLO 3: Graduates will exhibit a thorough understanding of the subject matter they teach.

SLO 4: Graduates will demonstrate competence in the skills and dispositions of the teaching profession.

Tennessee Campus

Licensure and Certification. Johnson University’s Teacher Education program is approved by the Tennessee State Board of Education and by the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI). Bachelor’s Degrees are offered in several licensure areas and partially meet the requirements for licensure in the State of Tennessee. State clinical practice requirements are met through student teaching or an internship. Early Childhood Education PreK-3, Early Childhood Education PreK-3 & English as a Second Language PreK-12 dual program, Elementary Education K-5 & English as a Second Language PreK-12 dual program, and Special Education Interventionist K-8 candidates must pursue MA in Holistic Education with one year internship. Physical Education K-12, English as Second Language PreK-12, and Music Education K-12 can choose either internship or one semester student teaching.

Undergraduate Teacher Education Program Admission, Continuation, and Licensure. For undergraduate students, earning a bachelor’s degree and teaching license is a four-stage process:
- Initial Admission: Admission requirements for Johnson University Tennessee’s Teacher Education programs are listed below:
  - Minimum score of 21 ACT (1080 SAT) for students applying for Teacher Education in accordance with Johnson University Tennessee’s agreement with the State of Tennessee. Students who do not meet these requirements may apply to the Templar School of Education for Consideration of Waiver. Entrance will depend upon approval by the Interdisciplinary Committee. Requirements to request a waiver would be:
    - Freshman should achieve a 2.75 GPA on two consecutive full-time semesters of Johnson University courses and passing scores on the Praxis Core Academic Skills for Educators.
    - Transfer or non-traditional students should have success in college coursework of at least 30 credit hours and passing scores on the Praxis Core Academic Skills for Educators.
- Mid-Point Evaluation: About halfway through the baccalaureate program, students undergo a mid-point evaluation to be accepted into the Teacher Education program.
- Graduation: Students must successfully complete all requirements for a bachelor’s degree in Teacher Education, earning a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75 on a 4-point scale (see “Graduation Requirements” in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Academic Policies & Procedures”).

Graduate Teacher Education Program Admission, Continuation, and Licensure. For graduate students, earning a master’s degree and teaching license is a three-stage process:

1. Admission: Education programs are detailed in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Application & Admission.”
2. Graduation: Students must successfully complete all requirements for the master’s degree in Teacher Education, earning a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 on a 4-point scale (see “Graduation Requirements” in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Academic Policies & Procedures”).
3. Internship and Licensure: To earn a teaching license in the State of Tennessee, graduates must:
   - Earn the minimum score set by the State of Tennessee on each part of the PRAXIS II test
   - Successfully complete a 12-credit internship or 6-credit student teaching in a Partnership School approved by Johnson University, earning a minimum grade of B-
   - Earn the minimum score of a 42 on edTPA Portfolio
   - Receive a satisfactory evaluation by the Partnership School mentor
   - Be recommended for licensure by the Templar School of Education
• Satisfy any other licensure requirements mandated by the State of Tennessee. Requirements frequently change and candidates must meet requirements in effect at the time of their graduation.

Master of Arts in Educational Technology

Program Director: Roy Miller, Ed.D.

Overview. The M.A. in Educational Technology program is designed for licensed teachers who want to further their education and are interested in technology. It offers an understanding of the roles of hardware, software, and their integration within various curricular areas. It also explores ethical and biblical issues involved in the use of technology in education.

Modality. Johnson University offers the M.A. in Educational Technology partly online and partly face-to-face, or totally in face-to-face format based on its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. This program provides graduate education in education, technology, and Bible to professionals, such as teachers interested in using technology in their classrooms, Christian school teachers who need Bible and technology credits for certification renewal, supervisors, and computer coordinators.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate the teaching profession as servants of Christ.
SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate professional skills related to educational technology.
SLO 3: Graduates will be able to make responsible decisions to keep up to date with technological innovations in their workplace.

Required Courses. The M.A. in Educational Technology consists of the following courses:

- BIBL 5101  Old Testament Survey (or HIST 5033 Early Hebrew History)  3
- BIBL 5107  Ministry of the Master (or ENGL 5023 Eastern Mediterranean Literature)  3
- EDUC 5022  Teaching in a Christian School (or PHIL 5200 Confucius & Wisdom Literature)  3
- CPED 5103  Computer Architecture  3
- CPED 5213  Putting Your Class on the Web  3
- CPED 5233  Mobile Computing  3
- CPED 5313  The Internet of Things  3
- *CPED 5323  Special Issues: Multimedia  3
- *CPED 5408  Special Issues: Robotics  3
- *CPED 5402  Special Issues: Digital Video  3
- CPED 5404  Computer Tools for the Teacher & Student  3
- CPED 5503  Introduction to Technology Worldwide  3

TOTAL CREDITS IN DEGREE:  36

*Topics considered in Special Issues courses vary as new issues and technologies emerge that have relevance for education.
Master of Arts in Holistic Education

Program Director: Nikki L. Votaw, Ph.D.

Overview. The 13-month M.A. in Holistic Education program provides a “fifth year” of advanced study leading to licensure for those who have completed a baccalaureate degree from the Templar School of Education. Students choose a concentration in (1) Early Childhood Education with Grades PreK-3 Licensure, (2) Early Childhood Education with Grades PreK-3 & English as a Second Language Education with Grades K-5, (3) Elementary Education & English as a Second Language Education with Grades K-5 Licensure and Grades PreK-12 ESL Licensure, (4) Special Education Interventionist with Grades K-8, (5) English as a Second Language PreK-12, (6) Music Education K-12 or Physical Education K-12.

Modality. Johnson University offers the M.A. in Holistic Education through a traditional, on-ground format based on its Tennessee campus.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. This program provides beginning teachers an opportunity to hone their skills in holistic education (i.e. instruction that addresses the whole child, integrative practices, and best practices) and a chosen area of concentration while completing a year-long internship under the mentorship of expert teachers.

Holistic Education Core

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to develop multicultural, and diversity competencies.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to develop and implement an effective system of discipline and classroom management based on a Christian Philosophical foundation.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to understand and apply principles of human development with a holistic view of the child to the classroom.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate technological and technical skills required for competent classroom instruction.

Early Childhood Education Concentration with Grades PreK-3 Licensure

SLO 5: Graduates will be able to integrate Early Child Ed. PreK-3 methodologies and content into teaching.

Elementary Education & English as a Second Language Education Concentration with Grades K-5 Licensure & Grades PreK-12 ESL Licensure

SLO 7: Graduates will be able to integrate Elem. Ed. & ESL w/ K-5 & PreK-12 methodologies and content into teaching.

English as a Second Language Education Concentration with Grades PreK-12 ESL Licensure

SLO 8: Graduates will be able to integrate ESL PreK-12 methodologies and content into teaching.

Non-Degree Graduate Student Teaching

Program Director: Nikki L. Votaw, Ph.D.

Overview. After completing a degree in Interdisciplinary Studies, a graduate may choose to seek licensure without continuing into the Master of Arts in Holistic Education. To receive Tennessee and Association of Christian Schools International (ASCI) licensure apart from the Master’s Degree, the student will complete a semester of student teaching in (1) Music Education, or (2) Fitness Leadership (Physical Education grades K-12) licensure. The student will complete 10 weeks in a public school placement and 10 weeks in a Christian school placement.

Required Course. Choose one of the following concentrations:

Music Education
MUED 5500 Student Teaching: Music

Fitness Leadership (Physical Education grades K-12)
PHED 5400 Student Teaching: Physical Education

Master of Arts in Teaching

Program Director: Nikki L. Votaw, Ph.D.

Overview: The 14-month Master of Arts in Teaching Program allows candidates with a non-education undergraduate degree to obtain a Master’s degree in Education and Tennessee teacher licensure.

Modality: Johnson University offers the M.A. in Teaching face-to-face program at its Tennessee campus.

Initial Admission: Students will be admitted into Johnson University working toward admission into the MAT Program upon meeting the following requirements:

- An appropriate bachelor’s degree in a non-education field from a regionally accredited university with a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of at least 3.0
- An application to Johnson University Graduate Program
- An interview with the Teacher Education Graduate Committee

Admission into the MAT Program: Students will be admitted into the Master of Arts in Teaching Program upon completion of the following:

- The successful completion of 12 hours of the program with a 3.0 average and a B- or above in each of the first 4 courses
- Earned the required ACT/SAT exemption or the required scores on the PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators Test
- Acceptance into the master’s program and the student teaching or internship experience by the Teacher Education Graduate Committee

Student Teaching and Licensure: To earn a teaching license in the State of Tennessee, graduates must:

- Earn the minimum score set by the State of Tennessee on each part of the PRAXIS II test
• Earn the minimum score of a 42 on their edTPA Portfolio
• Successfully complete a 6-credit student teaching placement in a Partnership School approved by Johnson University, earning a minimum grade of B-
• Receive a satisfactory evaluation by the Partnership School mentor
• Be recommended for licensure by the Templar School of Education
• Satisfy any other licensure requirements mandated by the State of Tennessee.

Requirements frequently change and candidates must meet requirements in effect at the time of their graduation.

Graduation: Students must successfully complete all requirements for the master’s degree in Teacher Education, earning a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 on a 4-point scale (see “Graduation Requirements” in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Academic Policies & Procedures”).

Master of Arts in Teaching
Elementary Education with Grades K-5 Licensure

Program Director: Nikki L. Votaw, Ph.D.

Overview. The Master of Arts in Teaching with Grades K-5 Licensure introduces students who completed a bachelor’s degree in a field other than education to the fundamentals of teaching in the elementary school. Students receive instruction in lesson preparation and presentation, classroom management, integration of a biblical worldview and application of biblical knowledge to the teaching profession, the development and implementation of curriculum, and current trends in education.

Modality. Johnson University offers the Master of Arts in Teaching with Grades K-5 Licensure through traditional, online, and hybrid formats based on its Tennessee campus. Students complete student teaching in local schools.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Master of Arts in Teaching with Grades K-5 Licensure equips college graduates in a field other than education to teach in elementary schools.

Master of Arts in Teaching Core

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to develop multicultural, and diversity competencies.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to develop and implement an effective system of discipline and classroom management based on a Christian Philosophical foundation.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to understand and apply principles of human development with a holistic view of the child to the classroom.

SLO 4: Graduates will be able to demonstrate technological and technical skills required for competent classroom instruction.

Elementary Education with Grades K-5 Licensure

SLO 5: Graduates will be able to integrate Elem. Ed. K-5 methodologies and content into teaching.
Required Courses. The Master of Arts in Teaching Elementary Education with Grades K-5 Licensure consists of the following courses:

Bible & Theology Corequisites (3 credits)

Required for students who have not completed 9 or more undergraduate or 3 or more graduate credits in Biblical Studies and/or Theology from an accredited institution approved by Johnson University. Students may meet this requirement prior to entering the Elementary Education program or concurrently while completing the coursework. The course needed to fulfill this requirement is:

Endorsement in Gifted Education
(Undergraduate)

Overview. Johnson University offers the Gifted Education Endorsement as an add-on for Teacher Education students already enrolled in bachelor’s or master’s degree programs at the University. The program provides them with an opportunity to obtain an additional endorsement in teaching gifted children.

Modality. Johnson University offers the undergraduate courses for the Endorsement in Gifted Education online. Other concepts and experiences are incorporated into graduate courses offered in hybrid format based on the Tennessee campus, as well as internship or student teaching assignments in local schools. Students participate in an afterschool enrichment program where they team-teach small groups of children.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Endorsement in Gifted Education program prepares teachers to understand and meet the needs of gifted and talented students, to help them broaden their experiences and find areas of personal interest and growth.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate the teaching profession as servants of Christ.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate professional skills for teaching in Gifted classrooms.

Endorsement in English as a Second Language Education
(Continuing Education)

Overview. This program provides an opportunity for licensed teachers to obtain an additional endorsement in teaching English as a Second Language (ESL). The Program Coordinator interviews applicants for the purpose of evaluating the extent to which their teaching experiences and past coursework demonstrate competencies required by Johnson University. Evidence is collected in a portfolio. Any deficiencies are addressed through coursework or projects. When the student has met all the standards, s/he presents the portfolio to an exit committee. Upon successful completion of this process, the Templar School of Education recommends the student to the Tennessee State Board of Education for the Endorsement in English as a Second Language Education.

Modality. Educational needs of students pursuing the ESL Endorsement are determined on a case-by-case basis. Accordingly, the program may include prior undergraduate courses offered at the Tennessee campus. Students will be required to participate as an online cohort that begins during the summer session and concludes the following summer term.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The Endorsement in ESL Education program prepares teachers to understand and meet the needs of students who do not speak English at a level where they can obtain grade-level competencies.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to demonstrate the teaching profession as servants of Christ.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to demonstrate professional skills for teaching in the ESL classrooms.

Required Courses. The Endorsement in ESL Education program consists of the following courses (or the equivalent competencies):

- ESED 5101 Principles for Second Language Acquisition 3
- ESED 5102 Instruction & Assessment for English Learners 3
- ESED 5103 Topics and Trends 3
- ESED 5104 Literacy and Content 3

Education Specialist in Educational Technology

Program Director: Roy Miller, Ed.D.

Overview. The Education Specialist (Ed.S.) program in Educational Technology is designed to serve as a specialist degree in the area of educational technology and is designed to meet the needs of educational technology coaches, administrator of educational technology programs and technologically savvy teachers. Graduates of the program would serve in building level leadership positions such as technology coaches, as well as district level leadership positions such as supervisors and directors.

Modality. The preliminary structure of the Ed.S. in Educational Technology program combines in-person, online, and hybrid courses. The base courses and Bible courses will be taught online with the specialized courses being taught during the summer at the Johnson University TN campus. This hybrid approach to the instructional program ensures that students have a copious and propitious education while accommodating the schedules of working professionals.

Purpose and Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

Purpose. The purpose of the Education Specialist in Educational Technology is to prepare exceptional technology leaders to serve education institutions as exceptional leaders while exemplifying Christian ideals.

SLO 1: Graduates will be able to integrate their faith and technology in their job.

SLO 2: Graduates will be able to meet the ISTE technology standards for coaches.

SLO 3: Graduates will be able to make responsible decisions to keep up to date with technological innovations in their classrooms, schools or districts.

Required Courses. The Ed.S. in Educational Technology consists of the following courses:

- CPED 6103 Biblical Principles of Leadership 3
- CPED 6203 Educational Technology Leadership 3
- CPED 6303 Instructional Design & Learning Environments 3
- CPED 6403 Technology in Integrated Learning Environments 3

ACADEMIC POLICIES & PROCEDURES

Behavioral Standards

Student Conduct. Students, by their voluntary membership in Johnson University’s Christian community, assume responsibility to abide by all the regulations of the University. They should also use personal discretion regarding any activities that may be morally or spiritually destructive, or may reflect poorly on the University. For specific guidelines, see the Student Handbooks posted on the Johnson University website for the Tennessee campus and the Florida campus.

Academic Integrity. Because Johnson University seeks to develop mature Christian leaders and scholars, the University strictly upholds the principle of academic integrity. The primary rule of academic integrity is that all members of the University community must do their own work, executed to the best of their ability, exclusively for the assignment for which it is presented. Consequently, all forms of dishonesty, including plagiarism or cheating in any form, are wrong, non-productive, and contrary to the University’s educational objectives and the students’ best interest.

- Plagiarism. Students commit plagiarism when they deliberately submit the writing of someone else as their own work. This offense may involve either submission of a paper written by someone else or directly copying from a printed source without using quotation marks or appropriate documentation. For demonstrable plagiarism in a paper, students will receive a minimum penalty of “F” on that paper. The penalty may include a failing grade for the course. The matter will also be reported to the Student Life Office. Disciplinary action may lead to suspension or dismissal from Johnson University.

- Excessive Collaboration. To write more effectively, students (like most writers) may discuss their ideas and plans for papers with others or may read a paper (or a section of a paper) to friends, making revisions based on their responses. Normally such collaboration improves writing. Students may also seek help from a volunteer or hired typist. For instructors to gain an accurate representation of a student’s work, the student must present the rough draft of any theme or research paper typed by someone other than the student. The final copy must mention the typist’s name. Either of the above practices carried to the extreme constitutes excessive collaboration and prevents instructors from recognizing the real ability and progress of their students, thus inhibiting effective teaching and learning. Students may receive the grade of “F” on a paper which shows unmistakable evidence of excessive collaboration. Since students often practice excessive collaboration without a deliberate intention to deceive, a professor, after conferring with the student, may allow a rewrite of the paper.

- Insufficient Documentation. Honesty and courtesy require that writers acknowledge their debt for information and opinions they draw from other sources. Documentation provides both an acknowledgment of this debt and a kind of support for the ideas expressed in a paper.
Appropriate documentation may range from the mere mention of a name or title to the extensive footnotes and bibliography required in a fully documented paper. Insufficient or inaccurate documentation constitutes a serious weakness in a paper and normally results in a lowered grade. Students may receive the grade of “F” on a paper where insufficient documentation overwhelms the communication.

- Inadequate Paraphrase. In paraphrasing, students should carefully change the words and sentence structure of the original source while retaining the original sense of the source’s meaning. Students must learn the ability to paraphrase. Usually inadequate paraphrase represents a lack of knowledge and skill on the part of the student rather than a deliberate attempt to deceive. Professors treat inadequate paraphrase like any other writing deficiency, provided it does not also involve insufficient documentation. Students may receive the grade of “F” on a paper where inadequate paraphrase makes up most of the communication. In such instances, professors may require the student to rewrite the paper. Inadequate paraphrase without documentation usually constitutes plagiarism.

- Other Forms of Cheating. Examples of other forms of cheating include (1) padding a bibliography by adding resources not actually used in the paper, (2) getting exam questions ahead of time from someone who has already taken the same exam, (3) copying another student’s work on an exam, (4) giving answers to another student during an exam, (5) using unauthorized notes during an exam, and (6) working on the same homework with other students when the professor does not allow it.

Communication

All electronic communications from the University are sent to students’ Johnson University email addresses. Students are responsible for checking their University Email regularly. Please consult the official email policy contained in the Student Handbook for more information.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>FALL TERM</th>
<th>SPRING TERM</th>
<th>SUMMER TERM</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>(16 weeks)</td>
<td>(16 weeks)</td>
<td>(16 weeks)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fall 1</td>
<td>Fall 2</td>
<td>Spring 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(8 weeks)</td>
<td>(8 weeks)</td>
<td>(8 weeks)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Traditional Academic Year

- Each calendar year includes three 16-week “terms” (excluding special events and school holidays). “Spring Term” typically extends from early January through early May, “Summer Term” from early May through late August, and “Fall Term” from late August through mid-December. Term courses are typically 15 weeks in length, which allows time for a break between terms.
• Each 16-week “term” includes two 8-week “sessions” referred to as “Spring 1, Spring 2, Summer 1, Summer 2, Fall 1, and Fall 2.” Session courses are typically 7 weeks in length, and run weeks 1–7 or weeks 2–8 in an 8-week session, which allows time for a break between sessions.

• Within this framework, Johnson University offers courses of varying lengths according to the needs of a given academic program. To illustrate: Traditional undergraduate students typically enroll in several 15-week courses during Fall 1-2 and Spring 1-2. Non-traditional students enrolled in certain programs take one or two 7-week courses each session year-round.

• For purposes of state and federal financial aid, traditional undergraduate students are considered to be on a “standard term semester system.” Accordingly, up to 50% of their annual aid may be allocated for Fall Term and up to 50% for Spring Term. Any remaining aid eligibility is available for the Summer Term. Thus, the Summer Term is considered a “trailer.”

Current Academic Calendars. The current academic calendars for the Tennessee Campus, Florida Campus, and Online and Non-Traditional 7-Week Programs appear in the first section of this Catalog under “General Information on Johnson University.”

Credit Hour Definition

Johnson University students earn “credit hours” or “credits” by successfully completing university courses. Most Johnson University courses are 3-credit courses. The University defines a “credit hour” in a manner consistent with traditional practice in the United States (the “Carnegie Unit”) and with regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Education.

Undergraduate Credit Hour. At the undergraduate level, Johnson University defines a “credit hour” to include a minimum of 37.5 clock hours of learning activities.

Graduate Credit Hour. At the graduate level, Johnson University defines a “credit hour” to include a minimum of 50 clock hours of learning activities.

Academic Advising

Academic Advisors. Johnson University assigns each student an academic advisor. Advisors assist students in planning their educational programs by explaining requirements and procedures, suggesting coursework appropriate to students’ career goals, aiding with course registration (described below), and recommending ways to improve academic performance.

• On-Campus Undergraduate Students. A staff member of the Office of the Registrar advises new on-campus undergraduates as they prepare for initial enrollment. Initial contact is made through students’ Johnson University email addresses. Following the initial contact, students are welcome to work with their advisors in person, by email, or by phone at 865-251-2300 (Tennessee Campus) or 407-847-8966 (Florida Campus). During their first term, school deans assign a permanent faculty or staff advisor based on their chosen program of study.

• Online Undergraduate Students. School deans assign online undergraduate students an advisor according to their chosen program of study. Initial contact is made through students’ Johnson University email addresses or by phone.
Graduate Students. School deans assign graduate students a faculty advisor according to their chosen program of study. Initial contact is made through students’ Johnson University email addresses or by phone. The deans, the entire graduate faculty, and administrative staff are also available for graduate advising.

Student Responsibilities. Prior to registration for each term, students contact their advisors to discuss their status and upcoming courses. However, students are ultimately responsible for their own academic progress. The following list outlines students’ responsibilities in the advising process:

- Read the Catalog and other academic information Johnson University provides.
- Know and comply with all current policies, procedures, and requirements for earning a degree—including internship and practicum requirements.
- Review the Course Schedule and discuss course options with the advisor.
- Contact advisors in a timely fashion for registration, advising, and other necessary consultations.
- Obtain, complete, and submit all forms needed for registration, course changes (audit, add, drop), graduation, and related matters, according to the deadlines set by the Office of the Registrar.
- Contact advisors immediately with concerns about academic progress in particular courses or progress toward a degree.

Course Registration

Registration Dates and Process. Students are required to register for courses prior to the beginning of each session or term. They register through the online student portal for Jenzabar EX, the data management system used by Johnson University. The Office of the Registrar notifies students of the registration dates and process through their Johnson University email accounts. Registration dates also appear on the academic calendar. Registration for the next term typically begins shortly after the midpoint of the current term.

Through Jenzabar, students may track their degree progress, view courses scheduled for upcoming terms, and plan their course of study. Prior to registration, students should consult with their academic advisors in person or through the telephone or email. Advisors approve student course selections through Jenzabar. If students deviate too far from their degree plan, advisors may reject student course selections and require additional advising with the student. Students are then responsible for registering for courses needed for their academic program.

Registration may also include other preparations, such as making financial arrangements, providing insurance and directory information, and taking yearbook and I.D. photos. Students must clear all academic, financial, and student life holds on their account in order to register for courses. Students who do not complete necessary arrangements will be withdrawn from the University by the add/drop deadline.

Course Schedule Changes. Students may change their course schedules during the registration period, which opens during registration week and remains open until the add/drop deadline.

Registration Reinstatement Fee. Continuing residential students who are not enrolled in courses before students arrive on campus are subject to a Registration Reinstatement Fee of $100.
Directed Study

Under exceptional circumstances, individual students or groups of students may request to engage in a Directed Study under the supervision of a Johnson University professor. A Directed Study is a current course in the catalog using the section code -75. Such studies provide an opportunity to augment or enrich a student’s learning experience by pursuing learning in a closely-supervised program or to remedy unavoidable course scheduling conflicts. They are not intended to remedy poor academic planning on the part of the student or merely as a personal convenience (e.g. enrolling in a Directed Study to avoid an early morning class). Students are responsible for arranging their schedules so as to complete required courses when they become available.

Students initiate a Directed Study by completing the Request for a Directed Study form available from the Office of the Registrar. The form must be accompanied by a Directed Study course syllabus designed by the intended instructor which details the required contact hours of the course between the student and the faculty member, a significant writing component, and evidence that the course substantially provides the same learning experience as the traditional offering.

The Directed Study must be approved by the instructor, the student’s academic advisor, the appropriate school dean, and the Provost’s Office in Tennessee and/or Florida. Johnson University can approve only a very limited number of Directed Study courses due to the already heavy demands on faculty members’ time.

Students are assessed a $100 per credit Directed Study fee—above and beyond normal tuition—which compensates the faculty supervisor. The appropriate school dean may waive the fee if Johnson University created the need for the Directed Study through, for example, an unavoidable course scheduling conflict. (NOTE: The Directed Study policy and fee do not apply to Elective Concentrations within the Ph.D. program.)

The following conditions apply: only two courses (6 credit hours) completed by Directed Study may apply toward a Johnson University degree; no more than 4 credit hours of Directed Study may be applied toward one project; a maximum of 4 credit hours of Directed Study may be taken during one academic term; and a Directed Study may not be employed to repeat a course in which a student has already received a grade of “D” or “F” (at Johnson University or at any other college). A student must have a GPA of 2.0 or higher to be approved for a Directed Study.

Independent Study

An Independent Study is designated within a discipline by the course code of the discipline and the number 3999 or 4999 and involves a student-proposed project requiring supervised research and writing within a major or minor to provide an opportunity to explore an area of interest not covered by Johnson University’s standard curricula or a current course in the Academic Catalog. An Independent Study fee of $100 per credit hour will be charged to the student over and above regular tuition, both on and off campus, which compensates the faculty supervisor. Consideration of requests for such independent study originates with the student and must be approved by the faculty member involved, the Dean(s) of the School(s), and the Provost of the University. Successful petitions must include a copy of the syllabus and/or learning contract, which detail a significant research and writing component. The Independent Study form is available in the Office of the Registrar.
Auditing Courses

Audit Policy. Students may audit (“listen in on”) Johnson University courses for personal enrichment without seeking academic credit. To audit a course, students must secure written permission from the course instructor, register for the course, and pay the audit fee. The number of audit students in a given course may be limited at the discretion of the University.

Audit students may attend class sessions, complete required readings, and participate fully in face-to-face and online learning activities and group discussions. Written and/or graded assignments are optional. Students who audit a course do not receive a final letter grade. Instead, their transcripts indicate “Audit” in place of a grade. Audited courses may not be used to meet graduation requirements for any degree program. Students may not audit private music lessons or other specialized courses as designated by the Office of the Registrar.

Financial aid is not offered for course audits.

Applying to Audit a Course. Students who are not already enrolled at Johnson University and who wish to audit a course must submit the following:

❖ Acceptable Undergraduate Application Form available on the University website.

❖ Application Fee. Submit the $35 non-refundable application fee via check, credit card, or online.

❖ Commitment to the Johnson University Lifestyle. Students must read and adhere to the Johnson University lifestyle by signing the commitment form.

❖ Letter of reference from the applicant’s minister.

Online Courses

Online Course Prerequisites

HUMN 1102 Online Cornerstone Experience
Students enrolled in an online program must complete the HUMN 1102 Online Cornerstone Experience requirement. This course is offered online in the first session of each term. New online program seeking students must complete the HUMN 1102 Online Cornerstone Experience course prior to/alongside their first courses. A transfer student may receive a waiver with a 2.5 GPA or higher on transfer work and is 25 years of age or older. If a waiver of HUMN 1102 is granted, the student must complete the ORCC prerequisite.

Online Readiness Certification Course (ORCC)
All undergraduate students taking online courses must complete the Online Readiness Certification Course (ORCC) offered through the Department of Online Education. All elements of the ORCC must be completed before students can register for their first online course at Johnson University.

Online Course Enrollment. Students enrolling in 7-week online courses may enroll in up to 6.0 credits of online coursework per 7-week session. Students may not enroll in more than 6.0 credits without permission from the Office of the Registrar and their academic advisor.

Note: While many online courses are available to all students, not all online courses are available to students enrolled in face-to-face programs. Students enrolled in face-to-face programs are not generally permitted enrollment in online classes in the Spring and Fall terms. Exceptions to this policy require permission from the Dean of the student’s school and the Dean of the school which manages the online course. Students may obtain an online approval request form from the Office of the Registrar.

Final Examinations

For traditional face-to-face undergraduate programs, the University schedules a week of final examinations at the end of Fall and Spring Terms. Johnson University publishes dates for the final exam week at least one year in advance, and the final exam schedule is available at the beginning of each term. Administering final examinations early tends to compromise the integrity of the tests. For this reason, students should not schedule air travel, weddings, vacations, and any other events at times when they might conflict with finals.

Grading System

Grades and Quality Points. The standard 4-point grade scale for Johnson University appears on the table below. All Johnson University professors use this scale unless the unique demands of their subject matter require a different approach. In such cases, the alternative grade scale appears in the course syllabus. Professors then convert final grades to the letter grade and quality point system found on the table. Grades and quality points are recorded as follows:

Special Grades. All assignments not completed by the end of the term automatically receive the grade of “F” unless students successfully petition the instructor for the privilege of taking an Incomplete (“I”) or Emergency (“E”) grade. This arrangement must be made before the end of the term.

1. Incomplete (“I”) Grade. The “I” grade is a temporary grade indicating that work for the course is not yet complete, but is expected to be complete within a short period of time. The instructor must submit to the Office of the Registrar an Incomplete Grade Request Form with a course completion plan.

   Instructors should award an “I” when students are confronted with unavoidable life situations, such as a well-documented serious illness or a death in the family near the end of the term. Instructors should not award an “I” merely to allow students to improve on a bad grade due to poor performance to that point. Nor should Incompletes serve as a remedy to laziness or poor planning on the part of the student. The instructor decides if the student’s Petition falls within these guidelines. Normally, the instructor will not approve an Incomplete unless the student has finished at least 75% of the coursework prior to the end date for the course.

   The Request Form must include a plan and timeline for completing the remaining course requirements. The instructor must submit a letter grade (A, B, C, D, F, or P) based on all work assigned for the course, including 0 points for missing assignments. If the student does not submit those missing assignments by the deadline on the Request, this grade stands. If the student does submit the missing assignments, the instructor adjusts the final grade accordingly. The Incomplete may extend no more than 3 weeks beyond the last day of the term or subterm in which the course is offered.

   “I” grades are awarded within the framework of the Johnson University Attendance Policy (see below). This means that students who exceed the total allowed absences for a course may not file an Incomplete Grade Request Form, but must withdraw from the course and retake it at a later time.

2. Emergency (“E”) Grade. A grade of “E” is given when an emergency situation interrupts otherwise satisfactory coursework for an extended period of time.

   Instructors, advisors, or students may request an Emergency grade when students are confronted with serious and unavoidable life situations, such as a well-documented major medical issue, the death of a close relative, a sudden job change or relocation, or a catastrophic personal circumstance. Instructors should not request Emergency grades merely to allow students to improve on a bad grade due to poor performance to that point. Nor should an “E” serve as a remedy to negligence or poor planning on the part of the student. Normally, an Emergency grade will not be awarded unless the student has finished at least 50% of the coursework prior to the end date for the course. If an emergency situation arises early in the term, it is usually best for the student to withdraw and retake the course at a later time.

To request an Emergency grade, instructors, advisors, or students contact the Registrar’s office on their campus. Online courses fall under the Registrar’s office in Tennessee. The Registrar’s office will complete a Request Form that includes a plan and timeline for completing the remaining course requirements. The Emergency grade may not extend beyond 180 days from the date of approval. Instructors may recommend a timeline less than the 180-day maximum, but this is subject to final determination by the Vice Provost for Academic Services. The instructor must submit a letter grade (A, B, C, D, F, or P) based on all work assigned for the course, including 0 points for missing assignments. If the student does not submit those missing assignments by the deadline on the Request, this grade stands. If the student does submit the missing assignments, the instructor adjusts the final grade accordingly and reports the final grade to the Registrar’s office. Requests for Emergency grades are subject to approval by the Vice Provost for Academic Services. The Academic Support Office on each campus will be notified of approved Emergency grades in case the student needs assistance.

Difference Between an “E” Grade and an LOA. An Emergency (“E”) grade is intended for students who must leave Johnson University while courses are in progress. A Leave of Absence (LOA, described below) is for students who must leave Johnson University between terms with courses not in progress. If students take an “E” grade followed by an LOA, the total combined “E”/LOA may not extend beyond 180 days from the date of approval of the Emergency grade.

How to Compute a Grade Point Average (GPA). The student’s grade point average (GPA) is an important index to academic achievement. Students must maintain a minimum GPA to remain enrolled in the University or a given academic program (see below under “Academic Standing”). This average also determines the student's eligibility for academic honors and financial aid. In the example given below,

3. The quality point value of the letter grade for each course (see above under “Grades and Quality Points”) is multiplied by the number of credit hours in the course to determine the grade points for each course.

- The total grade points for all courses divided by the total credit hours yields the grade point average or “GPA” (41.9 ÷ 15 = 2.79).

- Johnson University does not transfer in grades or the total GPA for a student’s prior coursework. Rather, the grade of PT (pass-transfer) is applied and only coursework from Johnson University is factored into the cumulative GPA. Note: students in the Templar School of Education are exempt from this policy and all transfer work will be entered with the corresponding grade and GPA on the transcript due to Tennessee Department of Education teacher licensure regulations.

Grade Information. Students may view their grades in Jenzabar at mid-term and following each term. Students may view their transcripts at any time on Jenzabar.

Attendance Policy

Johnson University has deemed all programs as “Non-Attendance Tracking Programs” as defined by the U.S. Department of Education. As such, professors record attendance only at the beginning of the course to determine that students have started and on the Add/Drop date to ensure they have maintained their enrollment (Enrollment Verification). If individual schools, programs, or professors choose to assess student participation as part of the evaluation process, they may record attendance or use other methods such as quizzes, classroom discussions, online discussions, participation in study groups, documentation of access to the Sakai course website, submitted assignments, tests, and/or direct interaction with the instructor.

Adding, Dropping, or Withdrawing from Courses

Adding a Course. Students may add a course through the University’s online enrollment system or Office of the Registrar until the date in the table below. Students should seek the advice of their academic advisor to assure that the course meets credit hour requirements and academic goals. They should consult with a financial aid counselor regarding financial implications. Students receiving VA benefits must contact Johnson University’s School Certifying Official (SCO) before adding the course. Any absences accumulated before enrollment are chargeable to the student according to the attendance policy. Furthermore, students are responsible for securing required textbooks and materials in a timely fashion.

Dropping a Course. Students may drop a course through the University’s online enrollment system or Office of the Registrar until the date in the table below. Students should be aware that dropping a course could affect full-time student status, financial aid, and VA benefits. Students should seek the advice of their academic advisor to evaluate how the dropped course affects requirements and academic goals. They should consult with a financial aid counselor regarding financial implications. Students receiving VA benefits must contact Johnson University’s SCO before dropping the course. Dropped courses do not appear on student transcripts.

Administrative Removal from a Course. It is the responsibility of the student to drop a course in which they decide not to participate. Further, online students enrolled in a 7-week subterm course must log into the course and participate in an academically related activity in the course within the first 3 days. However, if a student does not attend or fails to participate in an academically related activity in their subterm courses, the professor reports via enrollment verification to the Office of the Registrar and the staff removes the student from the course. The student is financially responsible.

Withdrawing from a Course. Students may withdraw from a course with a grade of “W” (Withdrawal) prior to the deadlines in the table below. Withdrawals are effective on the date the student delivers a completed Withdrawal Form to the Office of the Registrar. Forms are available in the Office of the Registrar or online.

Students are responsible for tuition and fees for the course. Possible consequences of withdrawing include (1) loss of work-study hours, (2) loss of on-campus housing, (3) loss of some VA benefits, (4) and/or loss of current or future financial aid. Students should consult with their academic advisors, financial aid counselor, and veterans SCO prior to withdrawing.

Withdrawing from Johnson University

It is the responsibility of students who have registered for courses to attend them or, if that is impossible, to withdraw from the University and complete the official withdrawal form with signatures. All official withdrawals from the University are initiated through the Student Life Office and include an exit interview. Failure to complete the entire withdrawal process causes the student to forfeit any potential refunds.

Students who officially withdraw from the University receive a grade of “W” ( Withdrawal) for all courses if they complete the process prior to the deadline for withdrawing from courses (see above). If the deadline has passed, they receive a grade of “F” ( Failure) for all courses.

Failure to initiate and complete withdrawal procedures results in a grade of “F” (Failure) for each course. Such students must complete a Returning Student Application before enrolling in subsequent terms.

Students should confer with a financial aid counselor prior to withdrawal to ensure that they fully understand the financial implications of their decisions. Withdrawal may, for example, cause Johnson University to remove financial aid funds from student accounts and return them to the government, or it may trigger student repayment of loans.
Leave of Absence (LOA)

Academic Leave of Absence. In cases of severe physical or mental illness, a call to active military duty, the death of a spouse or other catastrophic personal circumstances, students may file a Request for Official Leave of Absence at the Office of the Registrar. Doing so enables students to return and complete a degree program under the requirements in place at the time they took the leave—without the need to reapply to enter the University. In most cases, an official LOA also allows students to defer repayment of educational loans. However, students considering an LOA should consult with a financial aid advisor to ensure they have full information regarding their own circumstances. The official LOA must be approved by the Registrar and either the Vice Provost of Academic Services in Tennessee or Executive Vice President in Florida.

The LOA may not extend beyond 180 days from the date of approval. Students who do not petition for the LOA or who discontinue study for more than 180 days must reapply prior to entering the University. Such students must complete their degree program under the requirements in place at the time of their return.

Difference Between an LOA and an “E” Grade. An Emergency (“E”) grade is intended for students who must leave Johnson University while courses are in progress. A Leave of Absence (LOA) is for students who must leave Johnson University between terms with courses not in progress. If students take an “E” grade followed by an LOA, the total combined “E”/LOA may not extend beyond 180 days from the date of approval of the Emergency grade.

Retaking Courses

Retaking Courses (Grade Forgiveness). Students may repeat courses for personal enrichment or in an attempt to earn a higher grade. Repeated courses and the new grades will appear on student transcripts. The grade earned the last time the student completed a given course will be used for grade point average (GPA) computations—even if it is a lower grade—because it represents the most recent measure of student competency.

Students seeking grade replacement for an elective course not offered again before their projected graduation date may, after talking with their advisor, petition their dean for approval to take an alternative course.

Certain types of courses are not processed as repeats and cannot be used to better a grade. They include courses transferred from other colleges or universities, courses that may be repeated for credit (e.g. Chapel), and courses applied toward a degree that has already been conferred.

Financial Aid Implications. According to federal regulation 34 CFR 668.2(b), financial aid eligibility depends on the grade for a given course. All courses for which a student received a grade of “F” (Failure—see above under “Grading System” for additional information) may be repeated and count toward total enrollment for financial aid eligibility. In addition, all courses completed with a satisfactory grade may be repeated once and count toward total enrollment for financial aid eligibility. If the student fails the course after earning a satisfactory grade on the previous attempt, that course may not be included in total enrollment during future attempts for financial aid eligibility.

All students are subject to policies regarding “Satisfactory Academic Progress for Financial Aid Eligibility” (found in the section of this Catalog devoted to “Student Finances & Housing”), which requires students to complete successfully 67% of all courses attempted and maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or 3.0 for undergraduate or graduate programs, respectively.

Veterans should consult with the School Certifying Official (SCO) regarding the latest regulations for retaking courses. As a general rule, the VA does not pay for courses previously completed with a passing grade (“D” or above).

Classification of Undergraduate Students

Johnson University classifies undergraduate students according to the number of credits they have earned:

- Freshman: 0 – 29.9 credits
- Sophomore: 30 – 59.9 credits
- Junior: 60 – 89.9 credits
- Senior: 90+ credits

Academic classification is also important for determining the level of financial aid for which a student may qualify.

Johnson University recommends that students not enroll in a course more than one level above their academic classification (e.g. freshmen should generally take 1000- or 2000-level courses, rather than 3000- or 4000-level courses). Johnson University students may enroll in a 5000-level graduate course only when they reach Senior classification and only with written permission from the school dean who oversees their major.

Course Loads and Full-Time Student Status

The number of credits in which students are enrolled in a given term (“course load”)—and whether or not they carry “full-time” enrollment status—determine the length of time to graduation, as well as the level of financial aid for which students may qualify.

Traditional Undergraduate Students. For traditional undergraduate students, 12 credits per term constitute “full-time” status. Students may not enroll in more than 18.5 credits without permission from the dean of the school in which they are studying. Students on academic probation must enroll in a limited class load of no more than 12.5 credits.

An excess load fee is charged for credits that exceed 15.5 credits per term. Students enrolled in the Honors Program are exempt from the excess load fee.

Adult Studies and Online Undergraduate Students. For non-traditional adult studies and online undergraduates, 12 credits per term constitute “full-time” status. A normal course load is 12 credit hours per term (i.e. 6 credit hours per subterm). Students may not enroll in more than 12 credits without permission from the dean of the school in which they are studying.

Master’s Students. For master’s degree students, 9 credits per term constitute “full-time” status. A normal course load is 9-12 credit hours per term. For MBA students, a normal course load is 6 credit hours per term (or 3 credit hours for each subterm).

Doctoral Students. For doctoral students, 6 credits per term constitute “full-time” status. A normal course load is 6 credit hours per term (or 3 credit hours for each subterm). Most students will reach candidacy status or a point in their academic careers when they have taken all of the required courses and dissertation credits, but who are still working to complete degree requirements. As they work to complete their degree requirements, they enroll in continuation courses which allows them to maintain their “full-time” status. It is assumed that students enrolled in continuation courses will be engaged in academic work averaging 15-20 hours per week. The student’s advisor will ensure that this criteria is being met.
Academic Standing for Undergraduate Students

Good Academic Standing. To earn an associate’s or bachelor’s degree, students must have a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 (“C”) on a 4-point scale for the entire degree. (As noted below, they must also earn a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 for courses included in their professional major.) Students are therefore in “good standing” when their cumulative GPA is 2.0 or higher. Johnson University computes GPAs and academic standing at the end of the fall term, spring term, and summer term. Academic Standing is not reviewed at the end of sub-terms.

Undergraduate Students Academic Warning. Undergraduate students who fail to meet the required GPA of 2.00 for all course work in the fall term or spring term will be placed on Academic Warning. Undergraduate students who were admitted after 2014 will be placed on Academic Warning if the GPA in their declared major falls below 2.50. The student placed on Academic Warning will be required to meet with the Director of Academic Support to develop an Academic Success Plan that may include academic coaching, counseling, or referral to other support services as needed. The Academic Support Center will monitor the student’s progress throughout the term that the student is on Warning. Students on Academic Warning may participate in campus activities and take a full course load. The Registrar will remove the Warning notation from the transcript after the student has earned a 2.0 or higher for the term during which the student was on Warning.

Academic Probation. Students who fail to meet the required cumulative GPA of 2.0 or who earned a term GPA below 2.0 for two consecutive terms (fall-spring or spring-fall) will be placed on Academic Probation for the subsequent term. Students on Academic Probation are limited to no more than 12.5 credits per term. Online students are advised to take no more than 3.0 credits per seven-week session or a total of 6.0 credits per full-term. They should repeat courses for which they received a low grade in order to raise their cumulative grade point average. The student placed on Academic Probation will be required to meet with or contact the Director of Academic Support to develop an Academic Success Plan that may include academic coaching, counseling, or referral to other support services as needed. For students on the work-study program, the plan must explain how the student will prevent work responsibilities from interfering with his or her academic progress. The Academic Success Plan must also be approved by the student’s academic advisor. Failure to fulfill the conditions of the Academic Success Plan during a term on Probation will result in Suspension if the student’s cumulative GPA is still below 2.0. The Academic Support Center will monitor the student’s progress throughout the term that the student is on Probation.

Face-to-Face students on academic probation may not enroll in online courses while on probation. In situations for which timely matriculation warrants taking an online course, a student on academic probation may appeal for permission to take the online course from the dean of the school overseeing their program.

Students on academic probation may not participate in intercollegiate sports or university club teams, hold an office in a recognized student group, or participate in university-sponsored travel (e.g. travel choir, summer camp teams, and serving as Johnson University representatives at college fairs or youth conventions).

Students may remain on academic probation no longer than two consecutive terms (fall-spring or spring-fall). The student will be suspended at the end of the third term if the GPA/CGPA does not meet the stated standards.

Veterans (receiving educational benefits) who have been placed on academic probation must raise their cumulative GPA to the minimum requirement for the hours attempted within two terms or lose their educational benefits.

Academic Suspension. Students who do not meet the required academic standards will be suspended from the University. Suspension occurs automatically when a student:

- Has received an F grade in every 3-credit course taken during a term.
- Receives an F grade in 12 consecutive or simultaneous credits taken if they are a part-time or online student.
- Does not earn a term GPA of 2.0 or higher in the subsequent term after being placed on Probation, even if the cumulative GPA is 2.0 or higher.
- Does not achieve a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher after two consecutive terms on probation.
- Does not fulfill the conditions of the Academic Success Plan during any term on Probation unless the student has raised the cumulative GPA to 2.0 or higher.

After the first suspension, students may not return to Johnson University for two 16-week terms. If they wish to be readmitted, it is recommended that, if possible, they successfully complete courses at another institution to provide evidence of their ability to fulfill academic expectations.

After the second suspension, students may not return for three terms (one full academic year). To qualify for readmission, they must enroll full-time at another accredited institution and complete a minimum of 12 credit hours with a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher. These hours only transfer to Johnson University if they meet transfer guidelines.

After the third suspension, students may not return for six terms (two academic years).

Disciplinary Probation or Suspension. Students may also be placed on probation or suspended as a result of disciplinary sanctions. No student may graduate while continuing on disciplinary probation or suspension.

Notification of Probation or Suspension. The University makes every effort to notify students of probation. Suspension letters are mailed as certified mail and emailed to a student’s Johnson University email address. However, failure of the student to receive notification does not nullify the probation or suspension. Calculation of the student’s GPA to determine probation or suspension will occur within 14 days after the due date for final grades at the end of the term so that notification letters can be sent in a timely fashion. Probation or suspension will be based on this calculation and will not consider grade changes after this date.

Readmission After Suspension. Readmission after fulfilling the terms of the suspension should not be considered automatic. Students who have been suspended may apply for readmission to the University through a two-stage process:

1. They must send a letter to the Academic Standing Committee in care of the Office of the Registrar. The letter should include (1) a request to return to Johnson University; (2) confirmation that they have met the requirements of their suspension as described above; (3) official transcripts sent directly from other institutions if additional coursework was completed; (4) an explanation of the circumstances that led to their suspension; and (5) a case for why they should be allowed to return, including concrete strategies for improved academic performance.

The Academic Standing Committee is comprised of the Provost or a representative appointed by the Provost, Registrar, Vice President for Student Services, Chief Admissions Officer, Director of Academic Support, and two faculty members. The Academic Standing Committee makes recommendations to the Admissions Office regarding readmission, but the Admissions Office makes the final decision.

2. Students must reapply for admission to the University by submitting to the Admissions Office (1) a Returning Student Application; (2) all necessary financial aid paperwork; and (3) financial clearance to resume enrollment from the Student Accounts Office. The reapplication process includes a review of many factors, including academic ability, student character and maturity, motivation and seriousness of purpose, and financial issues. Applications of acceptable candidates demonstrate timeliness, integrity, academic readiness, spiritual maturity, and a purpose in harmony with that of Johnson University. The Admissions Office decides whether or not to admit an applicant.

Academic Standing for Graduate Students

Good Academic Standing. Graduate students must have a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 (“B”) on a 4-point scale to graduate from any degree program. Students are therefore in “good standing” when their cumulative GPAs are 3.0 or higher. Johnson University computes GPAs at the end of each term (fall, spring and summer).

Academic Warning. Graduate students who fail to meet the 3.00 GPA or any other requirements in a single term of a graduate program will be placed on academic warning for the following term. Graduate students on academic warning should consult their advisor immediately. The Registrar will remove the warning notation from the student’s file after the student successfully raises the GPA to required levels.

Academic Probation. If a graduate student’s cumulative GPA falls below 3.0, they are placed on probation but may enroll in the subsequent term. Students should contact their school dean for advice on improving academic performance. In most instances, graduate students should repeat courses for which they earned a grade lower than “B.”

Academic Suspension and Readmission. If the cumulative GPA remains below 3.0 at the end of the probationary term, students are suspended from the University for one term. At the end of the suspension, students may re-enroll and have two terms to achieve the required GPA of 3.0 or higher. Failure to achieve overall cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher within this timeframe results in permanent suspension. Permanent suspension is reserved for students who continually fail to meet Johnson University’s expected performance requirements as measured by GPA.

Notification of Probation or Suspension. The University makes every effort to notify students of probation. Suspension letters are mailed as certified mail. However, failure of the student to receive notification does not nullify the probation or suspension.

Changing Degree Programs, Majors, or Concentrations

Students who wish to change their degree program, major, or concentration must complete the Change of Program or Concentration form and submit it to the Office of the Registrar. New faculty advisors are assigned prior to the next scheduled registration.

Applying Graduate Courses to Undergraduate Degrees ("Swing Courses")

Select programs at Johnson University allow students to participate in accelerated matriculation options. These programs clearly articulate academic requirements, including but not limited to minimum GPA and completed credit hours prior to enrollment. Participation in dual-enrollment courses must be approved by the instructor, the student’s academic advisor, and the appropriate school dean. Students enrolled in a bachelor’s program complete these courses at the undergraduate tuition rate. The University allows a maximum of 18 graduate units to apply to a bachelor’s degree and a maximum of 18 graduate units to apply to both a master’s degree and a bachelor’s degree. (NOTE: Completing “swing courses” does not exempt students from graduate admissions requirements if they later decide to enroll in a master’s degree program.)

Residency Requirements

Undergraduate Residency Requirements. In order to receive an undergraduate degree, certificate, or other credential from Johnson University, at least 25% of the required coursework must be awarded by Johnson University. All types of Johnson University courses—face-to-face, online, or hybrid—count toward meeting this “residency requirement.” In many cases, students must complete more than 25% of the coursework at Johnson University because transfer equivalents are not easily available from other colleges or universities. Examples include courses that are central to the University’s distinct ethos and educational aims, such as HUMN 4200 Senior Capstone Seminar.

Professional Programs Undergraduate Residency Requirements. In order to earn a bachelor’s degree in a professional program, at least 50% of the coursework required for the professional major’s core, and concentration of minor must be earned at Johnson University.

Graduate Residency Requirements. In order to receive a graduate degree, certificate, or other credential from Johnson University, at least 50% of the required coursework must be awarded by Johnson University. All types of Johnson University courses—face-to-face, online, or hybrid—count toward meeting this “residency requirement.”

Transcripts

The Office of the Registrar furnishes students with complimentary official or unofficial transcripts upon written request. Transcript Request forms are available on the Johnson University website and at the Office of the Registrar. Students should complete the form and deliver it to the Office of the Registrar. Students may also request official electronic transcripts through Parchment: Digital Credential Service. No transcripts will be furnished until all financial accounts have been settled satisfactorily with the University.

Credit for Prior Learning

Students may fulfill degree requirements by successfully completing courses offered at Johnson University. Students may also secure credit for prior learning. Johnson University accepts an unlimited number of credits for prior learning within the bounds of the University’s residency requirements (see above) and the policies outlined below. Decisions regarding the awarding of credit for prior learning are made by the Office of the Registrar in consultation with the school deans and Provost. The last 32 hours of credit must be earned at Johnson University. This policy may be waived for extenuating circumstances, including study abroad programs, by the governing dean or program director. Each transfer student must take at least one-third of the required courses in the major(s) and/or minor(s) at Johnson University. The Office of the Registrar provides students with transcript evaluations and other documents specifying the type and amount of credit granted.

Note that students must complete the final 36 credits of degree requirements, including the majority of their professional requirements, during the five years immediately preceding the granting of the degree. This policy ensures that students’ knowledge and professional skills are reasonably up-to-date at the time Johnson University awards the degree.

Credit by Transfer. Johnson University accepts transfer credits from the following types of institutions. Applicants must submit official transcripts from those institutions.

Other Colleges and Universities. Johnson University accepts academic credits transferred from other colleges or universities according to the following criteria:

- The college or university must be an institution of higher education accredited by a regional accrediting body (e.g. SACSCOC, HLC, WASC), national accrediting body (e.g. ABHE), or professional accrediting body (e.g. NASM, NCATE) recognized by the U.S. Department of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). These accrediting bodies mandate assessment and other quality control systems that give Johnson University a high level of confidence in their programs.

NOTE: The Tennessee State Department of Education permits Teacher Education students to transfer only coursework from regionally accredited institutions.

Other educational experiences will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis according to the following criteria: course/degree content, faculty credentials, and student performance. Applicants may be asked to provide course syllabi or other evidence needed to make those judgments. If experience shows that Johnson University can have confidence in a given institution, the Office of the Registrar may place it on a list of “approved” institutions, which will facilitate the transfer process. Johnson University reserves the right to withhold recognition of credits awarded by any college or university that does not, in the opinion of the administration, meet reasonable academic standards.

- Students must apply for Credit for Prior Learning prior to enrolling in the final 30 credit hours of their degree.
- Students must have completed the transferred courses, earning a minimum grade of “C” (or “P” if the courses were offered on a Pass/Fail basis). Johnson University does not transfer in grades or the total GPA for a student’s prior coursework. Rather, the grade of PT (pass-transfer) is applied and only coursework from Johnson University is factored into the cumulative GPA. Note: students in the Templar School of Education are exempt from this policy and all transfer work will be entered with the corresponding grade and GPA on the transcript due to Tennessee Department of Education teacher licensure regulations.
• The transferred courses must apply to a Johnson University degree program as the equivalents of required courses (i.e. providing a similar knowledge base and/or competencies) or as appropriate electives.

• Students who transfer credits from non-English-speaking countries must provide Johnson University with a certified translation of transcripts and course descriptions, as well as a detailed and comprehensive transcript evaluation. Johnson University accepts transcript evaluations only from agencies that hold membership in the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES, www.naces.org). Applicants should use one of the following agencies: World Education Services, Inc. (www.wes.org), Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (www.ece.org), or ACRAO International Education Services (http://ies.aacrao.org). A copy of the transcript in the native language must accompany the certified translation.

• Johnson University does not grant credit for remedial coursework, college orientation, high school level courses (apart from the Advanced Placement program described below), or General Education Development (GED) tests.

• Johnson University does not grant credit for duplicated courses (e.g. Beginning Composition completed at one college and Freshman English completed at another).

• If a course has been repeated for credit, the last grade earned will be used in the transfer evaluation—even if it is a lower grade—because it represents the most recent measure of student competency.

Vocational Schools, Technical Colleges, or Institutes. Credits earned at vocational or technical institutions, which are equivalent in content to required Johnson University courses, may be transferred to Johnson University according to the policies stated above. A maximum of 12 such credits may be applied to degree requirements as General Electives. If students have completed vocational programs based on clock hours, rather than credit hours, transfer credit will be computed on the basis of 50 clock hours equaling 1 credit hour.

Concurrent Enrollment. Students may take courses at other institutions concurrently with studies at Johnson University. To verify that credits are transferable to Johnson University, students should follow this procedure:

• Complete a Petition to Take Coursework at Another University, which includes the name of the proposed course, the place and dates it is offered, an official course description, and the Johnson University requirement the course will fulfill.

• Secure advance approval in the form of a signature from the Registrar and the appropriate school dean.

• The Registrar will then place the signed Petition in the student’s file as a binding agreement. If the student completes the proposed course, earning the appropriate grade, the Johnson University requirement will be fulfilled.

Transfer Guidelines for the Arts & Sciences Core. The Johnson University faculty has specifically designed each Arts & Sciences Core course to serve the university mission and goals (see above under “Educational Approach”). Accordingly, the faculty prefers that students complete all their coursework at Johnson University. At the same time, they do not wish to place unnecessary burdens on students who have earned academic credits elsewhere and desire to transfer those credits to Johnson University. Therefore, in an effort to be “transfer friendly” while remaining true to its mission, Johnson University has established the following transfer guidelines for the Arts & Sciences Core. The Registrar applies the guidelines in consultation with the Dean of the School of Arts & Sciences and the Provost.

- Teacher Education students must complete a Life Science course (usually Biology) and an Earth Science course. Both must include a lab.

Transfer of Associate’s Degrees

Johnson University accepts all accredited associate’s degrees as satisfying lower-division requirements in the University’s Arts and Sciences core. Students who transfer to Johnson University holding accredited associate’s degrees may complete bachelor’s requirements with an accelerated Bible and Theology core of 24 semester hours.

Advanced Placement (AP)

Students who qualify through the Advanced Placement (AP) program may receive advanced standing and/or exemption from certain courses in the Johnson University curriculum. Their status will be determined following one term of study at Johnson University.

The American Council on Education recommends that colleges and universities award credit for AP grades of “3” or higher on any AP Examination. Johnson University accepts this recommendation for all AP exams with the exception of the Music Theory and World Languages exams (see table below for details). Scores below “3” are not accepted. To apply AP credit to the professional major, students must earn a score of “4.” For purposes of computing grade point averages (GPA), Johnson University assigns Advanced Placement credit a grade of “P” (Passing).

The following table lists available AP exams, the number of credits Johnson University awards for successful completion of each exam, and Johnson University course requirements those exams may fulfill:

International Baccalaureate (IB). Students who qualify through the International Baccalaureate (IB) program may receive advanced standing and/or exemption from certain courses in the Johnson University curriculum. Their status will be determined following one term of study at Johnson University.

The American Council on Education recommends that colleges and universities award credit for IB grades of 5 or higher on any IB Examination. Johnson University accepts this recommendation. Scores below “5” are not accepted. To apply IB credit to the professional major, students must earn a score of “6.” For purposes of computing grade point averages (GPA), Johnson University assigns IB credit a grade of “P” (Passing).

The following table lists selected IB examinations, the number of credits Johnson University awards for successful completion of each exam, and Johnson University course requirements those exams may fulfill. College Level Examination Program (CLEP). Students who qualify through the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) may receive advanced standing and/or exemption from certain courses in the Johnson University curriculum. Their status will be determined following one term of study at Johnson University.

To allow time for processing before graduation, students should complete all CLEP examinations prior to reaching senior-level status (90 credit hours). Official notification from the organization to the Office of the Registrar is required for credit. If a student fails a Johnson University course and then passes a CLEP equivalent, the course grade remains on the transcript but the course requirement is fulfilled. The only way to remove the course grade is to retake the same course.

The table on the following pages lists available CLEP exams, the minimum scores required to earn Johnson University credit, the number of credits Johnson University awards for successful completion of each exam, and Johnson University course requirements those exams may fulfill. In setting its requirements, Johnson University has taken into consideration guidelines published by the American Council on Education. For purposes of computing grade point averages (GPA), Johnson University assigns CLEP credit a grade of “P” (Passing).

NOTE: Under “Minimum Scores,” the numbers not in parentheses denote the minimum score students must earn to apply CLEP credit to Arts & Sciences Core or General Elective requirements. The numbers in parentheses denote the minimum score students must earn to apply CLEP credit to their professional major at Johnson University.

*Teacher Education students must pass Biology and either Chemistry or Natural Science CLEP examinations to fulfill program requirements.

DANTES Subject Standardized Tests (DSST). Students who enroll at Johnson University may also secure credit through the U.S. military’s Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Educational Support tests (DANTES), which cover more than 50 disciplines. The American Council on Education recommends that universities award credit for the scores appearing on the table below. Johnson University follows these recommendations.

To allow time for processing before graduation, students should complete all DANTES exams prior to their final term at Johnson University. If a student fails a Johnson University course and then passes a DANTES equivalent, the course grade remains on the transcript but the course requirement is fulfilled. The only way to remove the course grade is to retake the same course.

The following table lists available DANTES exams, the minimum scores required to earn Johnson University credit, the number of credits Johnson University awards for successful completion of each exam, and Johnson University course requirements those exams may fulfill.

NOTE: Under “Minimum Scores,” the first set of numbers refers to older DANTES exams completed prior to 2008. The second set of numbers refers to Updated Exams completed since 2008. The numbers not in parentheses denote the minimum score students must earn to apply DANTES credit to Arts & Sciences Core or General Elective requirements. The numbers in parentheses denote the minimum score students must earn to apply DANTES credit to their professional major at Johnson University.

Credit for Military Training. Johnson University evaluates military training courses according to the American Council on Education’s (ACE) Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services (https://www3.acenet.edu/militaryguide/CourseSearch.cfm). Students must submit all pertinent documentation to the Registrar for evaluation. Military transfer courses should be reported on an Army American Council on Education Registry Transcript (AART) or Sailor/Marine American Council on Education Registry Transcript (SMART) or, if not available, on form DD295 for personnel still in service or form DD214 for those discharged.

Credit by Demonstrated Competency (CDC). The faculty recognizes that some students come to Johnson University with university–level competencies that have been developed experientially or attained outside of the traditional classroom. The University has developed the CDC program to recognize and evaluate such learning and to grant appropriate academic credit to students.

Students may obtain credit for such competencies by assembling appropriate evidence for each claimed competency in a portfolio and submitting it to the dean who oversees the appropriate subject matter. Evidence of competency may be illustrated, for example, through seminars, workshops, volunteer experiences, apprenticeships, formal on-the-job training, certificates, demonstrations, examinations, interviews, licenses, job descriptions, memoirs, papers, products, publications, publicity, references, and other appropriate materials. Students must demonstrate knowledge, skills, and philosophical grounding in a subject area for which Johnson has professors with appropriate credentials to evaluate the student’s proposal.

Students will follow the guidelines provided in the CDC Handbook to construct a CDC portfolio that demonstrates the student has achieved collegiate-level competencies through life experience and/or professional training that has not already earned academic credit. Once the portfolio is evaluated, the appropriate dean may award academic credit according to the level of mastery displayed by the student or deny the student’s petition for credit based on demonstrated competency. Students receive a grade of Pass/Fail for CDC work.

The student must submit the CDC Registration Form prior to the add/drop date of the semester in which they will complete the CDC. The University will charge the student $50.00 per credit for which the student applies.

For more information, a student may request to see the Credit by Demonstrated Competency Student Handbook from the dean of their school.
Foreign Language Achievement Testing Service (FLATS). Students may receive advanced standing and/or exemption from world language courses in the Johnson University curriculum through the Foreign Language Achievement Testing Service (FLATS). FLATS tests are offered through Brigham Young University (BYU) and provide students with the opportunity to receive up to 12.0 credit hours of pass/fail university credit through tests for more than 50 world languages. BYU does not award credit to Johnson University students. Johnson University awards credit based on the results of each test after receiving official scores.

Graduation Requirements

To earn a degree, certificate, or other credential from Johnson University, students must complete all required coursework, within the specified time limit, while maintaining a sufficient grade point average and fulfilling Johnson University’s residency requirements. Students who meet all graduation requirements and have not been dismissed from the University for disciplinary or other reasons are considered approved by faculty for graduation. Students must meet all financial obligations in order to receive their diplomas.

Degree Requirements. For lists of required courses for each Johnson University degree program, see the program descriptions included in the sections of this Catalog devoted to the University’s eight Schools (above).

Johnson University academic programs must, by definition, include a minimum of 60 credits for an associate’s degree, 120 credits for a bachelor’s degree, 30 credits for a master’s degree, and 60 credits for a doctoral degree. In some cases, general electives may be required to meet these standards.

Minimum Grade Point Average (GPA). To earn an associate’s or bachelor’s degree, students must earn a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 on a 4-point scale for the entire degree. They must earn a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 for courses included in their professional major. This requirement does not apply to professional minors.

To earn a master’s degree, doctoral degree, or teaching credential, students must earn a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0.

Undergraduate Residency Requirements. In order to receive a degree, certificate, or other credential from Johnson University, at least 25% of the required coursework must be awarded by Johnson University. All types of Johnson University courses—face-to-face, online, or hybrid—count toward meeting this “residency requirement.”

Graduate Residency Requirements. In order to receive a graduate degree, certificate, or other credential from Johnson University, at least 50% of the required coursework must be awarded by Johnson University. All types of Johnson University courses—face-to-face, online, or hybrid—count toward meeting this “residency requirement.”

Time Limits for Completing Degrees. Candidates enrolling in a degree program enter under the Catalog requirements in effect at the time they enter the program. Students are responsible for arranging their schedules so as to complete those courses when they become available.

Johnson University recognizes that not all students will be able to complete their degree requirements within the normal timeframe (2 years for an A.A. degree; 4 years for a bachelor’s degree; 1–3 years for a master’s degree or credential, depending on the program; and 4–6 years for the Ph.D.). Accordingly, the University permits students to complete their degrees under the original catalog requirements as long as they do so within 150% of the normal timeframe (e.g. 3 years for an A.A., 6 years for a bachelor’s degree). If degrees are not completed within the allotted timeframe, students must fulfill the new degree requirements. Students who do not enroll in courses for 180 days return under the catalog requirements in force at the time of re-enrollment. [NOTE: Requirements for Teacher Education programs are subject to changes without notice when imposed by the Tennessee State Board of Education.]

Students must complete the final 36 credits of degree requirements, including the majority of their professional requirements, during the five years immediately preceding the granting of the degree. This policy ensures that students’ knowledge and professional skills are reasonably up-to-date at the time Johnson University awards the degree.

Changes in Degree Requirements. As part of its quality control systems, Johnson University constantly reviews, assesses, and revises its educational programs to meet changing world needs. Accordingly, this Academic Catalog is not to be considered a contract between Johnson University and its students. While the University fully intends to offer all the programs and courses described therein, it retains the right to alter programs and course offerings for the sake of improvement. In such cases, the faculty offers students reasonable substitutions or other accommodations if courses required under a given degree program are significantly altered or removed from the curriculum. [NOTE: Requirements for Teacher Education programs are subject to changes without notice when imposed by the Tennessee State Board of Education.]

Double Majors, Triple Majors, and Second Bachelor’s Degrees. If an undergraduate student completes 120-149 credits that include all courses required for two Johnson University majors (e.g. a Bible & Theology Major, along with a professional major), then Johnson University awards a single bachelor’s degree with a “double major.”

If an undergraduate student completes 120-149 credits that include all courses required for three Johnson University majors (e.g. a Bible & Theology Major, along with two professional majors), then Johnson University awards a single bachelor’s degree with a “triple major.”

If an undergraduate student completes 150+ credits that include all courses required for three Johnson University majors, then Johnson University awards two bachelor’s degrees—one with a double major in Bible & Theology and a professional area, and a second bachelor’s degree with another professional major.

If an undergraduate student completes 150+ credits that include all courses required for two Johnson University majors plus a Johnson University minor, then Johnson University awards two bachelor’s degrees under the following conditions: The first degree must include the major in Bible & Theology and the professional minor, and the second degree must include the professional major. Johnson University does not award a bachelor’s degree that does not include a major.

If a Johnson University student desires to earn a second bachelor’s degree, the student must complete an additional 30 credits beyond the 120 credits required for the initial bachelor’s degree—that is, 150+ credits. The additional 30 credits correspond to the Johnson University residency requirement for the second bachelor’s degree, so a student earning two degrees must complete a combined total of 60+ credits at Johnson University.

A given course may simultaneously fulfill requirements for more than one major or minor, provided that students complete the total number of required credits for their degree(s).
If a given bachelor’s degree is based on the B.A. version of the Arts & Sciences Core, then Johnson University awards a Bachelor of Arts degree. If the degree is based on the B.S. version of the Core, Johnson University awards a Bachelor of Science degree.

Students who have completed a bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university, other than Johnson University, may earn a second bachelor’s degree at Johnson University. Degrees that include a professional major will require 24 credit hours of Bible & Theology courses, 2 credit hours of Chapel, 3 credit hours of Restoration History, 3 credit hours of Senior Capstone Seminar, and the required courses for the professional major (30+ credits). If the student’s previous bachelor’s degree included 12 or more credit hours of foreign language, the student will receive a Bachelor of Arts; otherwise, the student will receive the Bachelor of Science. Degrees that include a professional minor will include the normal 33-credit Bible & Theology Major, 2 credit hours of Chapel, 3 credit hours of Restoration History, 3 credit hours of Senior Capstone Seminar, and the required courses for the professional minor (18+ credits). The following courses are required for the second bachelor’s degree that incorporates a professional major:

- BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament 3
- THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology 3
- THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation 3
- BIBL 2xxx, 3xxx choose one Old Testament Study or Exegesis course 3
- BIBL 2xxx, 3xxx choose one New Testament Study or Exegesis course 3
- THEO 2xxx, 3xxx choose one Theological Study Course 3
- BIBL 4103 Acts and the Mission of God 3
- HIST 4200 History of the Restoration Movement 3
- HUMN 4200 Senior Capstone Seminar 3
- PRMN 1500 Chapel (½ credit each term) 2

Professional major 30+

Multiple Graduate Degrees. Graduate students may earn multiple master’s or doctor’s degrees from Johnson University, provided that no more than 50% of the coursework for one degree is applied to the other degree.

Senior Assessments. In order to graduate, senior undergraduates must complete certain surveys and other assessment instruments Johnson University may administer in a given year. These assessments do not affect students’ grade point averages, but provide information that the University uses to improve educational effectiveness.

Probation and Suspension. Candidates for degrees offered by Johnson University must prove their ability to complete the prescribed coursework, must be faithful in the performance of all assignments in the University work-study program, and must demonstrate Christian character in word and deed. Accordingly, no student may graduate while on academic or disciplinary probation or suspension. Likewise, no student may graduate while on service learning suspension (see above under “Arts & Sciences Core”).

Graduation and Commencement

Students graduate when Johnson University certifies they have completed all degree requirements and posts the degree on official student transcripts. Commencement is not the actual awarding of a degree, but a formal ceremony marking the actual or anticipated completion of that degree. Johnson University holds commencement ceremonies three times each year, during May, August, and December in Tennessee and April/May in Florida. The following policies govern graduation and commencement.

Graduation. Students nearing the end of their degree programs follow five steps to complete the graduation process:

Step 1: Students submit the Declaration of Intent to Graduate available on the University website. The Declaration includes a Completion Plan showing the courses remaining for students to fulfill all graduation requirements. Deadlines for submitting the Declaration of Intent to Graduate are October 15 for May Commencement and June 15 for August Commencement. The form includes information for ordering the student’s diploma, cap, and gown. Failure to submit the form in a timely fashion may cause the student to wait until the next commencement ceremony.

Step 2: Students pay a non-refundable graduation fee, which helps cover the cost of the diploma, cap, gown, and other graduation expenses.

Step 3: The Registrar conducts a preliminary degree audit to verify students’ readiness for graduation. If students are not ready, the Registrar assists them in revising their Completion Plan. If students are ready, the Registrar approves the Declaration of Intent.

Step 4: Students fulfill their completion plans.

Step 5: After final grades are received, the Registrar completes a final degree audit to verify that students have met all degree requirements. If so, the Registrar posts the degree at the next posting date. Once the degree is posted, students’ transcripts show that they have “graduated” from Johnson University.

Transcripts may be ordered immediately, and graduates should receive their diplomas at the commencement ceremony or via certified U.S. mail. However, the University will not release diplomas or transcripts until students receive clearance from the Business Office, Library, and all University offices for obligations incurred up to the time of graduation.

Attendance at Commencement. All students are expected to participate in the commencement ceremony. Those who cannot must request to graduate in absentia (“while absent”) through the Declaration of Intent to Graduate or the Graduate Absentia Request Form available on the University website. The graduation fee will still be charged to those who graduate in absentia. Students may not walk at a graduation ceremony until all program and degree requirements have been fulfilled.

Academic Honors

Undergraduate Dean’s List. All degree-seeking undergraduate students who complete at least 12 credits and have a Fall Term grade point average (GPA) of 3.67 to 4.00 appear on the Dean’s List. The Dean’s List is printed in the Awards Chapel program. Students on disciplinary probation or who do not fulfill Chapel or Service Learning requirements do not qualify for the Dean’s List.
Graduation Honors. Johnson University awards several types of graduation honors to bachelor’s degree recipients. The University recognizes students who have achieved these honors at its Awards Chapel and/or Commencement ceremony.

Delta Epsilon Chi Honor Society. Delta Epsilon Chi is the Honor Society of the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE), one of the accrediting bodies for Johnson University. The Greek letters that form its name are taken from the phrase translated “Approved in Christ” found in Romans 16:10. The purpose of Delta Epsilon Chi is to encourage and honor outstanding academic scholarship, approved Christian character, and Christian leadership ability among the schools accredited by ABHE. The Johnson University faculty may nominate up to 7% of the graduating class, choosing from among those who have earned a minimum 3.40 cumulative GPA and who embody the ideals of the society. Recipients receive a certificate and other gifts at the annual Awards Chapel.

Latin Honors. Johnson University awards Latin Honors to students who demonstrate academic excellence throughout their undergraduate coursework at Johnson University:

- Students earning a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.50 to 3.69 graduate cum laude (“with honors”). They receive a white cord to wear at Commencement.
- Students earning a GPA of 3.70 to 3.84 graduate magna cum laude (“with high honors”). They receive a silver cord to wear at Commencement.
- Students earning a GPA of 3.85 to 4.0 graduate summa cum laude (“with highest honors”). They receive a double gold cord to wear at Commencement.

Johnson University does not award such honors to graduate students. Since such students must perform at a high level simply to graduate (3.0 cumulative GPA), graduation itself is considered honor enough.

Honors Program Graduates. Students who complete the Honors Program receive an “honors” watermark on their diploma and recognition of that achievement on their official transcripts.
Application for Admission

Purpose and Mission. Johnson University exists to carry out a specific mission:

Johnson University educates students for Christian ministries and other strategic vocations framed by the Great Commission
in order to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

In accordance with its mission, Johnson University seeks to enroll students who are committed to specialized Christian service or who have a serious purpose to profit from a Christian education. Admission to the University is based on evidence that an applicant has Christian character and motivation, maturity, breadth of interests, seriousness of purpose and intellectual capacity to participate successfully in the program of the University.

In fulfillment of Johnson University’s mission statement, students accepted into the university are those who plan to use their professional career to extend God’s kingdom throughout the world.

Johnson University does not accept all students who apply for admission. Candidates should view the application process as an opportunity to make a case for being accepted. The application of an acceptable candidate will demonstrate timeliness, integrity, academic readiness, and spiritual maturity. The following criteria constitute the “whole file” evaluation of admissions standards:

Spiritual Maturity. Applicants demonstrate spiritual maturity by their reference forms, their answers to certain questions on the application form, and through their application essays in which they set forth their Christian commitment, their life experiences including a history of church involvement, their life goals, and a purpose in harmony with the institutional mission of Johnson University.

Integrity. Applicants demonstrate integrity by not providing false or misleading information. Unacceptable practices include not reporting all schools previously attended or having someone else write the application essay. The University will not consider for admission any applicant who knowingly submits false or misleading information.

Academic Readiness. The applicant demonstrates academic readiness by submitting appropriate documents that demonstrate a satisfactory level of performance. Academic readiness is determined by an evaluation of all application materials. The administration considers it unethical to admit, retain, and collect tuition from students who do not demonstrate “ability to benefit”—that is, the academic ability and/or willingness to complete their chosen program of study at Johnson University. A 17 on the ACT (or its SAT or CLT equivalent) is recommended as a minimum standard for predicting academic success at Johnson University.
Prospective students desiring to enroll or seeking further information about University programs may communicate with the Admissions Office as follows:

International Students. Following acceptance, a $1,500 deposit is required for face-to-face students before enrollment. With the approval of the Student Accounts Manager, a maximum of $125 of this deposit may be used for books or supplies each term beginning the third term. Any unused portion will be returned to the one who paid it when the student terminates enrollment and pays his/her account. Face-to-face international students must also submit an affidavit of financial support, financial arrangements, and an I-20 application.

International students should submit an international academic credential evaluation prior to any transfer of courses.

Veterans and War Orphans. Johnson University courses are approved for veterans' training. Credit will be given for previous college or university work and for schooling completed in the service through the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) sponsored by the Educational Testing Service (ETS). If veterans fail to complete a course, the amount charged for a portion of the course will not exceed the approximate pro rata portion of the total charges for tuition, fees, and other expenses. The Student Financial Services Office at Johnson University serves as the School Certifying Official (SCO) for the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Eligible VA students must complete formal University admission requirements and must be admitted into a degree program before they request certification for VA payment. Students should contact the Financial Aid Office for specific information about requesting VA payments for course enrollment. The Department of Veterans Affairs makes the final decision regarding approval of payments for students in special admissions categories. Students should inform the Financial Aid Office of the type and amount of any VA benefits.

To ensure receipt of benefits, eligible VA students must inform the Veterans Affairs Coordinator of their intention to register for classes and supply the necessary paperwork. After the appropriate paperwork has been submitted to the Veterans Affairs Coordinator, certification of enrollment in courses is submitted to the Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office for processing and, generally, payment.

Procedures and forms for application and enrollment certification may be obtained online at www.gibill.va.gov. Each student's request will be handled individually according to the type of VA Education Assistance Program for which the student is eligible and the student's enrollment status at the University.

All students receiving VA Educational Assistance payments from the Department of Veterans Affairs are responsible for immediately notifying the Student Financial Services Office of any changes in their degree program and/or credit load during a term (e.g., changing degree programs or majors, dropping or adding a course, withdrawing from the University, or auditing a course. The VA generally does not allow payment for courses not computed in a student's GPA or not counted toward graduation requirements for a student's degree program.

Undergraduate Admissions Documents

Priority Deadline. Applicants demonstrate timeliness by submitting all application materials by June 1 for Fall Term, November 1 for Spring Term, and March 15 for Summer Term.

Admissions Documents. The following admissions documents constitute the admissions file. Candidates must submit all documents before their applications may be considered. Special instructions for returning students, international students, and certain degree programs appear below. Other special considerations (e.g., background checks for counseling and elementary education students and the Music Reading Diagnostic Examination for music education/musical arts/worship ministry students) appear in the academic programs section of this Catalog.

❖ Undergraduate Application Form available on the University website (www.JohnsonU.edu/Apply) The online application contains a commitment form, three short-answer essay questions, and contact information for one reference.

➢ Reference. Johnson University requires one reference from a spiritual mentor, minister or church leader. The applicant cannot be related to the reference, and it is preferred for the applicant to know the reference for a minimum of one year. A “spiritual mentor” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment. References from teachers are also accepted.

➢ Commitment to the Johnson University Lifestyle. All who study at Johnson must commit to the Johnson lifestyle based on biblical standards regarding our beliefs, attitudes, and behaviors. The Statement of Faith describes the reason for applying to Johnson University, including Christian commitment, church involvement, life goals, and a purpose in harmony with that of Johnson.

➢ Essay Questions. Students must answer three short-answer essay questions. Responses should be at least 150 words in length and edited for grammar, spelling and content.

❖ Application Fee. Submit the $35 non-refundable application fee via check, credit card or online (www.JohnsonU.edu/Apply)

❖ High school transcript, home-school transcript, or General Educational Development certificate (GED)

➢ For students who have not yet graduated, the transcript should show the student's grades and class rank at the time of application.

➢ GED scores:

• GED scores before 2014 - Applicants without high school diplomas must score 2,250 or above with no score lower than 410 on any of the five tests.

• GED scores after 2014 - Applicants without high school diplomas must score 600 or above with no score lower than 150 on any of the four tests.
• Applicants from high schools or home schools not accredited who score less than 18 on the ACT (or its SAT equivalent) must earn a GED and score of 600 or above with no score lower than 150 on any of the five tests.

❖ ACT or SAT or CLT scores

➢ Not required of students over age 24 who have not already taken one of the tests (except for Tennessee Teacher Education students—see test score requirements below) or for students who have completed at least 24 credit hours of college coursework with a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher.

➢ Applicants with an ACT below 17 (or its SAT or CLT equivalent) may be accepted to Johnson University if there are compelling reasons, resulting from a whole file evaluation, that a student could be successful. Accepted students with an ACT below this standard may be placed on Academic Caution for a probationary period (see section on Academic Caution below).

➢ Test-Optional Admissions – Students who choose not to submit scores may submit an additional academic reference and a 500-word writing sample in its place. Students with a high school or college GPA below 2.5 are not eligible for test-optional admissions and must submit ACT, SAT, or CLT test scores. Students who choose not to submit their test scores will not be eligible for merit-based scholarships with test score requirements unless they provide them.

➢ Teacher Education Requirements

• Johnson University Tennessee – Minimum score of 21 ACT or 1080 SAT for students applying for Teacher Education in accordance with Johnson University Tennessee’s agreement with the State of Tennessee. Students who lack the required ACT or SAT score may petition the Teacher Education Interdisciplinary Committee for a waiver if they meet the following criteria: (1) 30+ credit hours of college/university coursework with a 3.0+ cumulative GPA, earned over two full-time consecutive terms at Johnson University and/or another college or university with no course failures; and (2) passing scores on the PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators (Core) Test (Reading 5713, Writing 5723, Mathematics 5733).

• Johnson University Florida – Minimum score of 19 ACT or 1000 (1350 pre-2016 SAT including essay) for students applying for Teacher Education in accordance with Johnson University Florida’s agreement with the State of Florida. Students who lack the required ACT or SAT score may petition the Teacher Education Interdisciplinary Committee for a waiver if they meet one of the following four sets of criteria:

  1. meet two of the three criteria:
     • minimum of 2.5 cumulative GPA at Johnson University
     • passing score on General Knowledge Test
     • grade of B- or better in all Teacher Preparation Core Courses and Field Experiences
  2. meet all of the following criteria:
     • minimum 2.3 cumulative GPA at Johnson University
     • passing score on the General Knowledge Test
• grade of C or better on only one Teacher Preparation Core Course or Field Experience; all other grades in Teacher Preparation Core and Field Experience B- or better

(3) meet all of the following criteria:
• minimum 2.5 cumulative GPA at Johnson University
• no passing score on the General Knowledge Test
• grade of C or better on only one Teacher Preparation Core Course or Field Experience; all other grades in Teacher Preparation Core and Field Experience B- or better

(4) meet all of the following criteria:
• minimum 2.3 cumulative GPA at Johnson University
• no passing score on the General Knowledge Test
• grade of B- or better on all Teacher Preparation Core Courses and Field Experiences

❖ Transcripts from all colleges and universities attended
❖ Photo ID. Applicants for online programs are asked to provide a recent government-issued photo ID of themselves in print or digital form.

Undergraduate Readmitted Student Admissions Documents

Any time a student withdraws from the University during a term, s/he must complete the following requirements before enrolling in subsequent terms. The difference between reenrolling students and reapplying applicants will be determined according to the duration of the absence.

Reenrolling Students: absent for no more than three consecutive terms (includes full Fall, Spring, and Summer terms). The reenrollment process is available to those who left the University in good standing. Suspended students need to follow the established appeal and approval process to reenter Johnson University as published in the Academic Catalog. Reenrolling applicants, must submit the following:

➢ Reenroll Application available on the University website (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz)
➢ Transcripts from all colleges and universities attended since leaving Johnson University.

There is no fee for reenrollment.

Reapplying Applicants: absent for more than three consecutive terms (includes full Fall, Spring, and Summer terms). Applicants must submit the following:

❖ Undergraduate Application Form available on the University website (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz). The online application contains a commitment form, three short-answer essay questions, and contact information for one reference.
  o Reference. Johnson University requires one reference from a spiritual mentor, minister or church leader. The applicant cannot be related to the reference, and it is preferred for the applicant to know the reference for a minimum of one year. A “spiritual mentor” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.

- Commitment to the Johnson University Lifestyle. All who study at Johnson must commit to the Johnson lifestyle based on biblical standards regarding our beliefs, attitudes, and behaviors. The Statement of Faith describes the reason for applying to Johnson University, including Christian commitment, church involvement, life goals, and a purpose in harmony with that of Johnson.

- Essay Questions. Students must answer three short-answer essay questions. Responses should be at least 150 words in length and edited for grammar, spelling and content.

- Application Fee. Submit the $15 non-refundable application fee via check, credit card or online (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz)

- Transcripts from all colleges and universities attended since leaving Johnson University

- Appeal letter to the Academic Standing Committee if the student was not in good standing upon departure

- Approval to Return from the Student Life, Student Accounts, and Registrar’s offices (obtained by admissions counselor)

Undergraduate Concurrent Student Enrollment

High school junior and senior students who are seeking to earn both high school and college credits by taking classes at Johnson University must submit the following:

- Undergraduate Application Form available on the University website (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz). This includes the Commitment to the Johnson Lifestyle form and three short-answer essay questions.

- High school transcript, home school transcript (unofficial or current transcripts can be used for acceptance purposes).

- Letter of Reference using the undergraduate Applicant Reference form (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz)

  - One letter of reference from a minister or church leader. The reference must be from a minister or church leader at the church the applicant currently attends. The applicant cannot be related to the reference, and it is preferred for the applicant to know the reference for a minimum of one year. A “church leader” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.
Undergraduate International Student Admissions Documents

Applicants whose citizenship lies with a country outside the United States and its territories are international students. International students must submit the following:

❖ Undergraduate Application Form available on the University website (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz). The online application contains a commitment form, three short-answer essay questions, and contact information for one reference.

➢ Reference. Johnson University requires one reference from a spiritual mentor, minister or church leader. The applicant cannot be related to the reference, and it is preferred for the applicant to know the reference for a minimum of one year. A “spiritual mentor” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.

➢ Commitment to the Johnson University Lifestyle. All who study at Johnson must commit to the Johnson lifestyle based on biblical standards regarding our beliefs, attitudes, and behaviors. The Statement of Faith describes the reason for applying to Johnson University, including Christian commitment, church involvement, life goals, and a purpose in harmony with that of Johnson.

➢ Essay Questions. Students must answer three short-answer essay questions. Responses should be at least 150 words in length and edited for grammar, spelling and content.

❖ Application Fee. Submit the $35 non-refundable application fee via check, credit card or online (https://my.johnsonu.edu/ICS/Admissions/Admissions_Home.jnz)

❖ High School Transcript or equivalent with an international academic credential evaluation

❖ Affidavit of Financial Support. Johnson University requires that you provide a detailed plan of how you will be funding your education.

❖ Evidence of Competency in English in one of the following forms (if the majority of their education was not delivered in English)

➢ Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) test score of 527–530 for paper, 197 for computer, or 71 or higher for internet (This test is available from the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, NJ 08540) or

➢ Evidence of passing the Ordinary Level English test or its equivalent

❖ Official Transcripts from all colleges and universities attended (if any). Applicants who have earned academic credits from non-U.S. educational institutions must submit official course-by-course transcript evaluations in digital format to the Johnson University Admissions Office (Admissions@JohnsonU.edu). These evaluations serve as the applicant's official record of academic achievement and are used to determine eligibility. Johnson University accepts transcript evaluations only from agencies that hold membership in the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES, www.naces.org). Applicants should use one of the following agencies:

• World Education Services, Inc. (www.wes.org)

• Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (www.ece.org)

Admissions Decisions. Applicants may expect a response from the admission committee to be mailed within two weeks after their application file is completed. The committee may decide to admit, to admit conditionally, to place the applicant on a waiting list, or to deny admission. The Admissions Office will notify applicants in writing of the status of their files. The committee may reconsider files placed on the waiting list at any time; however, the committee will make final decisions on all applicants on the waiting list prior to the application deadline date.

Academic Caution. A limited number of students who do not otherwise meet academic admission standards may receive a type of conditional admittance called “Academic Caution.” Students admitted on “Academic Caution” are limited to 12.5 to 14.0 credits during their first term and must enroll in JASC 0101 Skills for Academic Success, a 1-credit course offered by the Academic Support Center (ASC). Students required to take this course must pass it and be in good standing (GPA 2.0 or higher) with the University at the end of the term, or they will be suspended.

ENGL 0101 Introduction to College Writing. Students at the Tennessee and Florida campuses who score 17 or lower on the English portion of the ACT or 450 or lower on the English portion of the SAT are automatically enrolled in ENGL 0101 Introduction to College Writing, with the option to test out during Genesis weekend. (If a student takes the ACT and/or SAT multiple times, their highest English score is used.)

Reading Labs. New students at Johnson University Florida who have an ACT Reading score less than 21 or an SAT Evidence-Based Reading and Writing score less than 450 will be required to take JASC 0102 Orientation to OT Reading Lab (1). The class will be corequisite with BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament, using readings from the Old Testament class as the text to improve reading skills in the accompanying lab. Students who do not attain college-level reading proficiency after taking this class will be required in their second semester of enrollment to take JASC 0103 Orientation to NT Reading Lab, similarly using readings from the New Testament class as the text to improve reading skills in the accompanying lab.

Additional Admissions Requirements for Certain Undergraduate Programs

The following undergraduate programs include additional admission requirements:

Musical Arts Major. Please see Application, Audition, and Admission to the Musical Arts Program in The School of Communication & Creative Arts chapter, under Musical Arts Major.

Worship Ministry Major. Please see Application, Audition, and Admission to the Worship Ministry Program in The School of Communication & Creative Arts chapter, under Worship Ministry Major.

Undergraduate Teacher Preparation Program (FL). Please see Undergraduate Teacher Preparation Program Admission, Continuation, and Licensure in the Templar School of Education chapter.

Undergraduate Teacher Education Program (TN). Please see Undergraduate Teacher Education Program Admission, Continuation, and Licensure in the Templar School of Education chapter.

Bachelor of Music Education (TN). Please see Bachelor of Music Education Program Admission and Continuation, Application and Audition in the School of Communication & Creative Arts chapter.

Associate of Science in Health Science (TN). Please see Associate of Science in Health Science program Admissions and Continuation in the School of Arts & Sciences Chapter.

Undergraduate Enrollment

Enrollment Process. Being accepted as a student at Johnson University is the first step toward being approved to enroll in courses. Students must complete their files by submitting certain health and information forms (available at my.JohnsonU.edu), paying their enrollment fee, and by making appropriate arrangements with the Student Accounts Office, Student Services Office, and Academic Office before actually receiving a course schedule. The Admissions Office guides accepted students through the enrollment process until their files are complete, at which time they are forwarded to the Academic Office.

Applying for Financial Aid. For first-time students, the Johnson University financial aid process begins once the student is accepted. Because the paperwork for Federal Financial Aid requires adequate lead time, students should submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) online at www.fafsa.ed.gov prior to acceptance. For more information, see the section of this Catalog devoted to “Student Finances and Housing” (below).

Applying for Housing. Campus housing is assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. Students who have housing preferences should submit their housing applications and deposits as early as possible. Applications for campus housing can be made after a student has been accepted to Johnson University. For more information, see “Student Finances and Housing” (below).

Other Undergraduate Admissions/Enrollment Considerations

Credit for Prior Learning. Students may complete part of their Johnson University degree requirements through transfer credits from other institutions, academic testing (e.g. AP, CLEP, DANTES, IB), and other learning assessments. For related policies, see the section of this Catalog devoted to “Credit for Prior Learning” (below). NOTE: The Tennessee State Department of Education permits Teacher Education students to transfer only coursework from regionally accredited institutions.

General Requirements for Admission to Master-Level Graduate Programs

Purpose and Mission Fit. Johnson University seeks master’s degree applicants whose goals are commensurate with both the institutional mission and the intended outcomes of the desired graduate program. Applicants express their goals in an admissions essay (described below).

Bachelor’s Degree. All master’s degree applicants must hold an earned bachelor’s degree from an accredited academic institution.

Appeal of Unaccredited Bachelor’s Degree. Students who graduated from unaccredited institutions may be considered for conditional admittance (probationary) if they score in the 50th percentile or higher on the verbal portion of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test and if, in the judgment of the graduate faculty, the programs and reputation of the University justify such admission. Students from unaccredited institutions must provide evidence of the breadth, depth, and quality of their programs through, for example, course syllabi and faculty credentials. Students who complete 9 credit hours of graduate work with a 3.0+ GPA will be removed from probationary status. Students who do not maintain a 3.0 GPA after completing 9 credit hours will be withdrawn from the program.

Bachelor’s Degree Grade Point Average (GPA) Requirements. Applicants must have earned the following minimum GPA in their undergraduate program to qualify for admittance to a graduate program:

Appeal of Low Grade Point Average. Applicants who meet all admissions requirements except the undergraduate GPA requirement may petition the faculty for conditional admittance (probationary). Probationary status may be granted to an applicant who provides evidence of performance above that predicted by his undergraduate GPA. Such evidence must be presented in writing and may include (1) a score in the 50th percentile or above on the verbal portion of the GRE General Test or 50th percentile or above on the Miller Analogies Test (MAT), or (2) outstanding achievement in research and writing, or (3) other evidence of ability to perform successfully at the graduate level. This policy is intended primarily for persons who have been away from formal education for five or more years.

Bible Prerequisites. The following master’s programs include Bible prerequisites. These requirements may be met through either undergraduate or graduate coursework. Appropriate courses are available from Johnson University in both face-to-face and online formats. Students may enroll in prerequisite courses concurrently with their graduate work.

➢ Application Fee. Submit the $50 non-refundable application fee via check, credit card, or online. Johnson University seniors continuing into graduate programs are exempt from the application fee.

➢ Completed Graduate Reference Form with three references—preferably from a minister/church leader*, educator, and employer/colleague

* A “church leader” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.

➢ Official Transcripts must be received from all undergraduate and graduate institutions the applicant has attended. Applicants must contact those institutions and request that they send official transcripts in sealed envelopes directly to the Admissions Office at Johnson University (Admissions@JohnsonU.edu). Those interested in transferring graduate-level coursework to Johnson University should seek approval from the appropriate dean or program director. The maximum number of transfer credit hours varies by program. NOTE: The Tennessee State Department of Education permits Teacher Education students to transfer only coursework from regionally accredited institutions. Transcripts may also be sent electronically through services such as eSCRIPT-SAFE, the Global Electronic Transcript Delivery Network, and Parchment send services. A fax is not considered an official transcript.

International Students. Applicants who have earned academic credits from non-U.S. educational institutions must submit official course-by-course transcript evaluations in digital form to the Johnson University Admissions Office (Admissions@JohnsonU.edu). These evaluations serve as the applicant's official record of academic achievement and are used to determine eligibility. Johnson University accepts transcript evaluations only from agencies that hold membership in the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services.
Applicants should use one of the following agencies:

- World Education Services, Inc. (www.wes.org)
- Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (www.ece.org)
- ACRAO International Education Services (www.aacrao.org/)

➢ Admissions Essay. Applicants must submit a two- to three-page essay to Admissions@JohnsonU.edu describing their:

- Reasons for pursuing a chosen degree program at Johnson University
- Current Christian commitment, including church and ministry involvement
- Prior teaching and/or work experience, including both ministry and professional activities that have shaped their decision and prepared them for graduate studies
- Personal career goals and how their chosen graduate program will help accomplish those goals
- Additional information the faculty should know as it considers the application

Additional Admissions Requirements for Certain Master’s Programs

The following master’s degree programs include additional admissions requirements:

Master of Arts in New Testament. Students who lack enough course work in biblical studies to provide adequate preparation for graduate study may be required to complete some foundational readings before the end of the first term of enrollment. This work will be assigned and assessed by the Program Director.

Applicants who desire to pursue the M.A. in New Testament with a Preaching Concentration should have completed six credit hours of Homiletics or the equivalent. Otherwise, they must complete CMPR 5101 Expository Preaching through Johnson University. This course is also recommended for students who have not taken a Homiletics course in the last 10 years.

Applicants who desire to pursue the Research Concentration must demonstrate proficiency in translating and exegeting New Testament Greek texts by either (1) presenting a university or seminary transcript showing 12 credit hours (or equivalent) in Hellenistic Greek, or (2) passing a proficiency test administered by the graduate faculty.

Admissions Decisions – Admissions decisions for this program are issued on a rolling basis as applications are completed.

Master of Arts in Educational Technology. Applicants who desire to pursue the M.A. in Educational Technology must hold a current teaching license or current employment as a teacher in a State or Christian school. They also must have access to a multimedia computer with high-speed modem or broadband access and an account with full internet access. They must show Evidence of Competency in English in one of the following forms (if a major part of education was not in English):

- Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) test score of at least 483 for paper, 157 for computer, or 50 for internet

  - This test is available from the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, NJ 08540
    Johnson code: 1345

- Evidence of passing the Ordinary Level English test or its equivalent.

Master of Arts in Teaching. Applicants who desire to pursue one of Johnson University’s Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) programs must:

1. Hold an earned bachelor’s degree in a field other than education from a regionally accredited institution with a cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of at least 3.0.

2. Submit a standard résumé delineating academic experience, work history, volunteer time, honors and awards history, and other pertinent information.

3. Submit answers to the following questions, using a separate page for each:
   a. What experience do you have working with children and/or youth?
   b. What training have you received to work with children and/or youth either at church or in the community?
   c. Why do you want to be an elementary or secondary ed school teacher and participate in the Johnson University MAT program?
   d. How do you believe you have met the general education and professional education standards? (For example, list general education courses you have taken and give examples of ways you have learned about working with children or youth.)

4. Provide evidence of competency in English in one of the following forms (if a major part of education was not in English):

   - Test of English as a Foreign Language () test score of at least 483 for paper, 157 for computer, or 50 for internet

     - This test is available from the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, NJ 08540
       Johnson code: 1345, or

   - Evidence of passing the Ordinary Level English test or its equivalent, or

   - Assurance of the applicant’s English language competency from a University-approved source

   - A virtual/phone interview with the Templar School of Education is required.

As a part of the application process, MAT students are also required to complete either the PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators and the appropriate PRAXIS II test for the academic program in which the student desires to enroll. In place of PRAXIS Core Academic Skills for Educators, students may substitute an ACT score of 22+ or SAT score of 1120 taken before entering the undergraduate program, or a GRE score of 1000+ on the verbal and quantitative sections of the general test.

PRAXIS scores required by the state change often and appear on the website of the Educational Testing Service (ETS, https://www.ets.org/praxis). Upon completion of the tests, select Johnson University (code 1345) as the institution to which official scores will be sent and the Tennessee State Department of Education (TN state code 8190).

Admissions Decisions – After an applicant’s complete file is evaluated, faculty from the Templar School of Education will contact the applicant to schedule an interview. A final determination regarding admission will not be issued until after the interviews for all applicants have been completed.

Graduate Student Teaching. Current Johnson University seniors who apply for student teaching must also complete the required PRAXIS II test.

Admissions Decisions – After an applicant’s complete file is evaluated, faculty from the Templar School of Education will contact the applicant to schedule an interview. A final determination regarding admission will not be issued until after the interviews for all applicants have been completed.

Master of Arts in Holistic Education. Applicants who desire to pursue the M.A. in Holistic Education must submit required PRAXIS test scores, and gain acceptance to the internship experience.

Admissions Decisions – After an applicant’s complete file is evaluated, faculty from the Templar School of Education will contact the applicant to schedule an interview. A final determination regarding admission will not be issued until after the interviews for all applicants have been completed.

Master of Arts in Counseling. The following special considerations apply to master’s programs in Counseling:

Counseling Prerequisite. The graduate counseling programs require applicants to have completed 15 undergraduate or graduate credit hours in counseling or a related field from a regionally accredited institution. These courses should include academic credit in subjects such as human development, counseling, family studies, psychology, and sociology. Applicants without adequate preparation must complete this requirement before their applications are considered complete. An official transcript must be received by the Admissions Office before the application deadline. Non-degree seeking coursework in the Graduate Counseling program may not be applied to prerequisite hours.

Miller Analogies Test (MAT). Applicants must complete the MAT as part of their application to enter graduate counseling programs. The MAT is a high-level assessment of mental ability required by many graduate schools. The test is given at official Controlled Testing Centers throughout the United States. A list of testing sites and fees may be obtained by calling the Psychological Corporation at 800-622-3231 or visiting www.milleranalogies.com.

Within a few days of taking the MAT, applicants will receive an official report of their test score. The score will also be sent to institutions designated by the applicant. The MAT score must be received by the Admissions Office at Johnson University by the application deadline. Non-degree seeking students are exempt from the MAT requirement. While the MAT is preferred, the Graduate Counseling Program will consider scores from the Graduate Record Exam (GRE) in place of the MAT. Applicants may submit GRE or MAT scores completed within the past five years.

Writing Sample. Applicants must submit a 5–10 page writing sample from their previous college work, which will help faculty evaluate their academic writing ability. In the graduate counseling programs, students will use the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 7th edition (APA) as their style guide. As such, it is preferred that students submit writing samples in APA format, although papers submitted in the Modern Language Association (MLA) style guide or Chicago Manual of Style (CMS) will also be accepted.

Interview and Interview Waiver Form. An integral component of the application process is the applicant interview. The interview committee consists of the School of Social & Behavioral Science graduate faculty. Applicants participate in an Interview Day that includes activities with other candidates, current graduate students, and faculty, along with an individual interview with the faculty. The Interview Day is designed to assess applicants’ personal qualifications, Christian character, and readiness for training in the professional counseling field. Applicants must sign an Interview Waiver Form prior to the interview, thereby waiving their right to privacy with reference to the interview.

Admissions Decisions. The faculty will review application materials and notify participants in writing of the status of their application within one month of the Interview Day.

Post-Acceptance Requirements. Students accepted into graduate Counseling programs must maintain continuous student membership in the American Counseling Association (ACA). This organization provides up-to-date information in the counseling field, liability insurance for internships, opportunities to network with other therapists, and numerous training conferences and publications. An application for student membership may be obtained from the ACA website (www.counseling.org). ACA will send the applicant a membership letter with an identification number. Evidence of ongoing membership in the ACA and up-to-date malpractice insurance must be submitted to the graduate program each year; if ACA membership and/or malpractice insurance lapse, students may not register for classes until these items are brought up to date.

Master of Strategic Ministry Phoenix. Applicants must apply and be accepted to the Leadership Institute to be accepted in the Johnson University Master of Strategic Ministry program. Submit a Leadership Institute letter of acceptance to the Admissions Office at Johnson University Tennessee.

Master of Strategic Ministry Orlando. Applicants must submit an Orlando Strategic Ministry application and also apply to Johnson University’s Graduate program. Three references must be completed using the reference form specific to the Orlando Strategic Ministry program.

Master of Strategic Ministry Wellspring. Applicants must submit a Wellspring Strategic Ministry application and also apply to Johnson University’s Graduate program. Three references must be completed using the reference form specific to the Wellspring Strategic Ministry program.

Educational Specialist (Ed.S.) in Educational Technology. Applicants who desire to pursue Johnson University’s Ed.S. in Educational Technology program must:

1. Hold a masters’s degree in education or a related field
2. Hold a valid teaching license or comparable credentials
Admissions Decisions – After an applicant’s complete file is evaluated, faculty from the Templar School of Education will contact the applicant to schedule an interview. A final determination regarding admission will be issued after interviews for all applicants have been completed.

Graduate Readmitted Student Admissions Documents

Any time a student withdraws from the University during a term, s/he must complete the following requirements before enrolling in subsequent terms. The difference between reenrolling students and reapplying applicants will be determined according to the duration of the absence.

Reenrolling Students: absent for no more than three consecutive terms (includes full Fall, Spring, and Summer terms). The reenrollment process is available to those who left the University in good standing. Suspended students need to follow the established appeal and approval process to reenter Johnson University as published in the Academic Catalog. For reenrolling students, Admissions must receive the following information via the my.JohnsonU.edu online form:

- Current Address
- Current Phone Numbers
- Current Email Address
- Program (if changing program, a form is required by the Registrar)
- Term of Reenrollment
- Any schools attended during their absence from Johnson University

There is no fee for reenrollment.

Reapplying Applicants: absent for more than three consecutive terms (includes full Fall, Spring, and Summer terms). Applicants must submit the following:

- Acceptable Graduate Application Form available on the University website (www.JohnsonU.edu/Apply)
- Application Fee of $15 (non-refundable) via check, credit card or online (www.JohnsonU.edu/Apply).
- Completed Graduate Reference Form with three references—preferably from a minister/church leader*, educator, and employer/colleague.

* A “church leader” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.

- Transcripts from all colleges and universities attended since leaving Johnson University
- Admissions Essay. Applicants must submit a one-page essay to Admissions@JohnsonU.edu describing their:
  - Reasons for re-entering their chosen degree program at Johnson University
  - Current Christian commitment, including church and ministry involvement
  - Prior teaching and/or work experience, including both ministry and professional activities that have shaped their decision and prepared them for graduate studies
Personal career goals and how their chosen graduate program will help accomplish those goals

Additional information the faculty should know as it considers the application

Appeal letter to the Academic Standing Committee if the student was not in good standing upon departure

Doctoral Program Admissions

Purpose and Mission Fit. At the doctoral level, Johnson University offers the Ph.D. in Leadership Studies. The University seeks applicants whose goals are commensurate with both the institutional mission and the intended outcomes of the doctoral program. Applicants express their goals in an admissions essay (described below).

Master’s Degree. All doctoral degree applicants must hold an earned master’s degree from an accredited academic institution.

Admissions Documents Required for the Doctoral Program

The following admissions documents are required for the doctoral program. Candidates must submit all documents before their applications may be considered.

- Completed Doctoral Application Form found on the Johnson University website. Applicants must submit the form by May 1 and complete their files by June 15 for Fall (August) enrollment. They must submit the application by October 1 and complete their files by November 15 for Spring (January) enrollment.

- Application Fee. Submit the $50 non-refundable application fee via check, credit card or online (Online Payment).

- Completed Doctoral Reference Form Three references are required—preferably from a minister/church leader*, educator, and employer/supervisor.

  * A “church leader” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.

- Official Transcripts must be received from all undergraduate and graduate institutions the applicant has attended. Applicants must contact those institutions and request that they send official transcripts in sealed envelopes directly to the Admissions Office at Johnson University Tennessee. Transcripts may also be sent electronically through services such as eSCRIPT-SAFE, the Global Electronic Transcript Delivery Network, and Parchment send services. A fax is not considered an official transcript. Transcripts should demonstrate that the applicant holds an earned master’s degree from an institution of higher education holding regional accreditation or accreditation by the ABHE (Association for Biblical Higher Education). Johnson University will evaluate degrees from other schools on a case-by-case basis. Successful applicants will typically hold a 3.0+ cumulative GPA on a 4-point scale for their master’s-level coursework.

International Students. Applicants who have earned academic credits from non-U.S. educational institutions must submit official course-by-course transcript evaluations in digital form to the Johnson University Admissions Office (Admissions@JohnsonU.edu). These evaluations serve as the applicant's official record of academic achievement and are used to determine eligibility. Johnson University accepts transcript evaluations only from agencies that hold membership in the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES, www.naces.org). Applicants should use one of the following agencies:

- World Education Services, Inc. (www.wes.org)
- Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (www.ece.org)
- ACRAO International Education Services (http://ies.aacrao.org)

➢ Admissions Essay. Applicants must submit a 500–1200 word essay describing their:
  - Reasons for pursuing a Ph.D. in Leadership Studies from Johnson University
  - Current Christian commitment, including church and ministry involvement
  - Prior teaching and/or work experience, including both ministry and professional activities that have shaped their decision and prepared them for graduate studies
  - International and/or cross-cultural experiences
  - Personal career goals and how the Ph.D. will help accomplish those goals
  - Additional information the committee should consider while reviewing the application

➢ Academic Writing Sample. As a sample of their academic writing ability, applicants must submit a published article or a research paper written for a graduate course (e.g., master’s thesis).

➢ Interview. An interview with members of the faculty may be required.

  - Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) with a minimum score of 527 for paper, 197 for computer, or 71 for the internet-based test. TOEFL is available from the Educational Testing Services. Scores are only valid for two years.
  - Evidence of passing the General Certificate of Education (GCE) Ordinary Level English test or its equivalent.
  - Assurance of graduate-level English language competency from a Johnson University-approved source.

Evidence of English Competency is not required for:

- Non-native speakers who hold degrees or diplomas from postsecondary institutions in English-speaking countries (e.g., the United States, Canada, England, Ireland, Australia, and New Zealand).
- Non-native speakers who have successfully completed at least a two-year postsecondary course of study in which English was the language of the instruction.
• Transfer students from institutions in the United States or Canada whose postsecondary academic coursework was favorably evaluated in relation to its demand and duration.

• Non-native speakers who have taken the TOEFL test within the past two years and meet Johnson University standards.

• Non-native speakers who have successfully pursued postsecondary academic work at schools where English was the language of instruction in an English speaking country for a specified period, typically two years.

Admissions Decisions – Completed files will be reviewed collectively following the application deadline. Faculty from the School of Business & Public Leadership will contact the applicant to schedule an interview. A final determination regarding admission will be issued after all interviews and all applicant files have been reviewed by the Evaluation Committee.

Doctoral Readmitted Student Admissions Documents

Non-Degree Admissions

Audit Courses. Students may audit (“listen in on”) Johnson University courses for personal enrichment without seeking academic credit. To audit a course, students must secure written permission from the course instructor, register for the course, and pay the audit fee. For admission requirements, see the Academic Policies & Procedures section of the Catalog, under “Auditing Courses.”

For-Credit Courses. The following admissions documents are required for those who desire to complete select undergraduate or graduate courses for credit as non-degree-seeking students. Johnson University does not offer non-degree options at the doctoral level.

❖ Completed Application Form submitted electronically through the Johnson University website:
  - Undergraduate Online Application (www.JohnsonU.edu/Apply)
  - Graduate Online Application (www.JohnsonU.edu/Apply)

❖ Application Fee. Submit the non-refundable $35 undergraduate or $50 graduate application fee via check, credit card or online (Undergraduate Application Fee), (Graduate Application Fee). Johnson University seniors continuing into graduate programs are exempt from the application fee.

❖ Letter of Reference from either the applicant’s minister/church leader* or educator. Use the appropriate reference form found online:
  - Undergraduate Applicant Reference Form
  - Graduate Applicant Reference Form

*A “church leader” may refer to any spiritual leader who can verify the applicant’s church involvement and Christian commitment.

❖ Official Transcripts. If applying for undergraduate courses, applicants must provide a high school transcript. If applying for graduate courses, they must provide an undergraduate transcript. Applicants must contact the appropriate institutions and request that they send official transcripts in sealed envelopes directly to the Admissions Office at Johnson University. Transcripts may also be sent electronically through services such as eSCRIPT-SAFE, the Global Electronic Transcript Delivery Network, and Parchment send services. A fax is not considered an official transcript.
Abbreviated Admissions Essay, one-half to one page in length, that includes:

- Personal introduction
- Purpose for pursuing course(s) from Johnson University
- Any additional information the applicant desires to share
- List of courses in which the applicant intends to enroll

Enrollment Items. Accepted applicants must submit the following item before registering for classes:

- Recent government-issued photo ID emailed in digital format (e.g., driver’s license, passport photo)

Limits. Non-degree coursework is limited to 25% of the total credits needed to earn a degree. After the non-degree limit has been reached, students must declare a degree/major and satisfy degree-seeking application requirements.
STUDENT FINANCES & HOUSING

Introduction

Johnson University is proud to offer students an affordable, excellent education. Johnson University continues to be among the least expensive accredited private universities in the state of Tennessee. This affordable cost is made possible by the responsible use of investment income and gifts of faithful churches, alumni, and friends of the University.

This section of the Catalog highlights Johnson University’s policies regarding payment, refunds, campus housing, meal plans, and student health insurance. It also provides overview of the fees associated with each program.

Student Accounts

An electronic student account is created for each student who is accepted into one of Johnson University’s academic programs. Every term, charges are added to students’ accounts according to their enrollment status. These charges include tuition, general fees, room and board (if applicable), and other additional charges. Financial aid and payments are also applied to a student’s account once funds are received.

Students have 24/7 access to their student account information online. Students may inquire about their account directly by contacting the Student Accounts Office at 865-251-2292 or StudentAccounts@JohnsonU.edu.

Payment Policy

Payment Policy. Students are required to have their student account balance paid in full or in good standing through financial aid and/or a NelNet/Tuition Management Systems (TMS) payment plan before they may begin courses. For payment options, see below.

Students are informed before the beginning of each term about their anticipated balance through billing statements that detail tuition, fees, room and board, other charges, and financial aid. Students are notified about their billing statements via email and payment is due by a given deadline.

Payment Options. Johnson University is pleased to offer students two standard payment options:

- Prepayment. Students should determine their term cost after taking into account all sources of financial aid and pay this balance in full prior to August 15 for Fall Term, December 15 for Spring Term, and April 15 for Summer Term. If payment is not received prior to these dates, students will not be permitted to participate in courses until their account is in good standing. Students will be charged a late fee or registration reinstatement fee of $100.

- Monthly Payment Plan. Enrolling in NelNet/Tuition Management Systems (TMS) enables students to pay for their education in interest-free, monthly installments, over the course of a 4-month period. There is an enrollment fee of $35 for each one-term payment plan. To learn more about NelNet/TMS, contact them at 888-722-4867 or visit JohnsonU.Afford.com.

Refund Process

Refund Process. Students who have a credit balance on their student account are encouraged to complete a Refund Request form (found on their my.JohnsonU.edu portal on the Student Finances Tab) if they wish to receive a refund check.

Refund requests will be processed in a timely manner when there is a credit balance on the student account of funds that have been disbursed (when the University receives the funds from the government or organization).

Financial Aid is disbursed after the Add/Drop dates of each term/session, based on your enrollment status. Refunds cannot be released until one week after aid is disbursed. Undisbursed funds show up in the "Pending Aid" section on your Student Account Center, which can be accessed on the Student Finances tab of the my.JohnsonU.edu portal.

Tuition and Fees: Tennessee Face-to-Face Programs

NOTE: Johnson University sets tuition rates based on the costs associated with offering a given academic program.

Students are billed for tuition in accordance with the program in which they are enrolled—not the course in which they are enrolled. To illustrate: If students enrolled in a face-to-face undergraduate program take an online course, they pay the face-to-face rate rather than the online rate for that course. They are charged the face-to-face rate because they utilize face-to-face services and receive financial aid based on their degree.

Full-time employees of member institutions in the Appalachian College Association and students with degrees from those institutions will receive a 10% discount on the tuition for M.A. Educational Technology, M.A. Holistic Education, M.A. Teaching, and Ed.S. in Educational Technology but not for the M.A. Counseling program.

Tuition and Fees: Online Programs

NOTE: Johnson University sets tuition rates based on the costs associated with offering a given academic program.

Any additional fees to those listed below associated with taking online courses, including costs for verification of student identity, will be communicated to students at the time of enrollment.

Students are billed for tuition in accordance with the program in which they are enrolled— not the course in which they are enrolled. To illustrate: If students enrolled in an face-to-face undergraduate program take an online course, they pay the face-to-face rate rather than the online rate for that course. They are charged the face-to-face rate because they utilize face-to-face services.

Full-time employees of member institutions in the Appalachian College Association and students with degrees from those institutions will receive a 10% discount on the tuition for M.A. Intercultural Studies, M.A. New Testament, and Master of Business Administration but not for the Master of Strategic Ministry or Ph.D. in Leadership.

Explanation of Fees

Activity Fee. Every student who takes courses on campus has access to intramural athletics, club sports, open gymnasium, swimming pool, tennis courts, fitness center, wellness programs, and recreation facilities. The activity fee supports the operation of these student services.

Audit Fee. This fee is charged per credit hour for any campus or online audit courses.

BA/BS Business Administration Program Fee. This SoBPL program fee is charged in the Fall and Spring Terms to all students enrolled in the face-to-face Business Administration program on the Tennessee and Florida campuses, to assist with costs associated with conferences, meetings, food and entertainment, etc.

BA/BS Nonprofit Administration Program Fee. This SoBPL program fee is charged in the Fall and Spring Terms to all students enrolled in the face-to-face Nonprofit Administration. program on the Tennessee and Florida campuses, to assist with costs associated with conferences, meetings, food and entertainment, etc.

Capstone Program Fee. Each Fall Term, all students enrolled in a face-to-face degree program are charged this fee to help off-set a portion of the cost for the Senior Capstone Seminar required of seniors.

Copier and Printing Charge. Students are allowed a base number of pages per academic year which may be made using lab printers and copiers. This charge is for pages produced beyond the base amount.

Course Fees. A number of courses have fees associated with them. The fees help to off-set a portion of the cost of course activities, materials, or background checks.

Credit by Demonstrated Competency (CDC) Fee. This fee applies only to students who seek course credit based on life experience. Students develop a portfolio through which they demonstrate competencies related to a given course(s).

Directed Study Fee. This fee applies to students who request a Directed Study under the supervision of a Johnson University instructor. Students are assessed the directed study fee—above and beyond normal tuition—which compensates the faculty supervisor. The School Dean may waive the fee if Johnson University created the need for the Directed Study through, for example, an unavoidable course scheduling conflict. This fee does not apply to Elective Concentrations within the Ph.D. program.

Enrollment Fee. This fee applies to new or transfer face-to-face undergraduate students to reserve their spot in the incoming class and must be paid prior to the student being registered for classes. It is a non-refundable fee. If a student re-applies after sitting out one year or more, the fee will be assessed again prior to class registration.

Excess Load Fee. This fee applies to students enrolled in face-to-face undergraduate programs only. Students are charged the excess load fee per credit hour above 15.5 credit hours. This fee is waived for participants in the Honors Program.

General Fees. Every student who takes courses on campus has access to the computer network and labs, library, activities center, academic support center, career services, counseling center, first aid, interscholastic sports, and other services during the academic year. General fees support such services.

Students who elect to provide their own computers have wireless access to the computer network from their residence hall room and other on-campus locations. Suggested computer configurations are available from the Information Technology staff.

Graduate General Fee. Every student who takes courses on campus has access to the computer network and labs, library, activities center, career services, counseling center, first aid, interscholastic sports, and other services during the academic year. General fees support such services, along with additional technology needed for specific courses.

Graduation Fee. This fee is assessed when the student submits an Intent to Graduate Form to the Registrar. It is used to cover the cost of diplomas, caps and gowns, and other expenses associated with graduation. This fee is non-refundable. If students determine they will not graduate as anticipated, they may have this fee reduced or waived by contacting the Office of the Registrar. The graduation fee is required of all graduates regardless of their intentions to participate in a graduation ceremony.

Handicap Parking Citation. University Security will issue citations to people who use handicap parking spaces without a permit.

Housing Unit Cleaning Fee. This fee applies if a student’s housing unit must be cleaned after they move out of the residence or room. The amount of the charge depends upon the extent of cleaning needed.

Housing Unit Damage Fee. This fee applies if a student’s housing unit must be repaired after they move out of the residence or room. The amount of the charge depends upon the extent of the repairs needed.

Housing Unit Pet Registration Fee. This fee is assessed annually when a non-traditional student registers an approved pet. Additional details can be found in the Student Handbook and in the housing agreement signed by the student. The Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUTN Student Handbook.

Housing Unit Transfer Fee. This fee is assessed when students living in a family housing unit request to transfer from their current unit to a different unit.

Housing Unit Utility Charge. This fee is charged to students living in certain housing units to cover water, electricity, and/or gas.

Independent Study Fee. This fee applies to students who request an Independent Study under the supervision of a Johnson University instructor. Students are assessed the independent study fee—above and beyond normal tuition—which compensates the faculty supervisor. This fee does not apply to Elective Concentrations within the Ph.D. program.

Late Financial Arrangement Fee. This fee applies to students who do not settle their accounts by the deadlines set by the Student Accounts Office.

Library Collection Fee. The librarians assess this fee when patrons have not paid library fines for late returns or lost material after the third notice. It covers additional expenses associated with turning the matter over to Student Accounts.

Library Late Return Charge. The librarians assess this fee when patrons return library materials after the due date.

Library Lost Material Charge. The librarians assess this fee when patrons lose library materials, when patrons return library materials with extensive damage, or when patrons have not returned overdue materials after the third notice. Funds are used to replace those materials.

Lifetime Transcript Fee. All new students are charged this one-time fee to cover all transcript needs for their lifetime. The fee is assessed during each student’s first term enrolled. Students may request a transcript by contacting the Office of the Registrar at the Tennessee or Florida campus, or by completing the Transcript Request online.

Lost Key Charges. These fees apply when students lose a key issued to them from the University. These fees are used to offset the cost of replacing keys and locks.

MA New Testament Continuation Fee. This fee applies only to students enrolled in the M.A. in New Testament degree program, who are working on an integrating project or thesis. The University assesses this fee each term following the initial term for the thesis/project. It covers expenses associated with supervising these endeavors.

MA New Testament Retreat Fee. This fee applies only to students enrolled in the Spiritual Formation & Leadership Concentration within the M.A. in New Testament degree program. It is applied when a student participates in the retreat.

MBA Program Fee. This fee applies to students enrolled in the Master of Business Administration program to assist with costs associated with conferences, meetings, food and entertainment, etc.

Moving Violation Fee. This fee is assessed if a student violates traffic regulations, such as speed limits and stop signs.

Online Technology Fee. This fee supports the computer network and access to the Sakai network.

Parking Citation. University Security will issue citations to people who park in restricted areas.

Private Music Lessons. These fees apply only to face-to-face undergraduate students who enroll in private lessons for voice or musical instruments.

Reduced Excess Load Fee. This fee applies only to students enrolled in face-to-face undergraduate programs. Students who have a cumulative GPA of 3.5 or above are charged the reduced excess load fee per credit hour above 15.5 credit hours. This fee is waived for participants in the Honors Program.

Registration Late Fee. Registration periods are published in the Academic Calendar. If students do not register during this period or prior to 30 days before the start of the term/subterm, this fee will be applied to their student account.

Registration Reinstatement Fee. This fee is charged to students who have not paid the balance for their course(s) by the payment deadline in accordance with the University payment policy. If their courses are dropped prior to making payment arrangements, this fee will be assessed to re-register them for classes.

Returned Check Fee. This fee applies to each check payment that is returned due to insufficient funds or account closure.

Student ID Replacement Fee. This fee is charged to students who must have their student identification card replaced.

Teacher Education Liability Insurance. Professional Educators of Tennessee (PET) is a liability insurance program that protects students from claims against them that could arise from working in local schools. This fee is assessed yearly for students in Clinical placements.

Teacher Education Insurance & Activity Fee (JUFL). This fee is assessed to all JUFL Teacher Education students every term to cover liability insurance, yearly conference registration and other activities.

Textbooks. Textbook costs should be considered additional expenses for enrollment. The only exceptions to this policy are the textbooks required for online bachelor’s and master’s degree programs in Intercultural Studies. Textbooks may be purchased from the online bookstore.
Thesis Binder Fee. This fee applies only to students enrolled in the M.A. in New Testament program. It covers the cost of binding theses.

Vehicle Decal Replacement Fee. This fee is charged to students who must have their vehicle decal replaced.

Vehicle Registration/Decal Citation. University Security will issue citations to people who have not renewed their vehicle registration or do not display their vehicle decal.

Campus Housing

Tennessee Campus Housing. Johnson University’s main campus in Knoxville encompasses 329 acres of beautiful East Tennessee countryside. Campus housing is available for both single students and married students with families.

Housing Deposit. A new, transfer, or returning student is required to pay a housing damage deposit when applying for single residence space and/or family housing accommodations. The deposits vary depending on the housing unit. These funds are held by the University as a security deposit against any damages that might occur to the housing unit. When the unit is vacated and has been properly inspected, the deposit is refunded with any damage charges deducted from it. In the event of cancellation by an applicant, this deposit will be refunded provided notice of the cancellation is given before August 1 for Fall Term or December 1 for Spring Term. The policy regarding deposit refunds for married student housing appears in Section D of the Housing Agreement.

Resident Halls. Charges for housing in residence halls are based on a 16.5-week term with two students per room. Single rooms, when available, may be purchased for an additional fee. See the housing rates at Tennessee Future Student Housing at http://www.JohnsonU.edu/Tennessee/Future-Students/Housing.aspx.

Family Housing Units. Housing needs of non-traditional students vary significantly. Johnson University Tennessee therefore provides four primary types of housing units: apartments, mobile homes, townhouses, and duplexes. See Tennessee Future Students Housing at http://www.JohnsonU.edu/Tennessee/Future-Students/Housing.aspx for details.

Rental charges are computed on a per-term basis (19 weeks) for Fall and Spring. If a student lives on campus during the summer, a summer rental fee (for 14 weeks) is charged to the student’s account. This balance is expected to be paid in installments over the summer.

Students who do not live on campus during the summer may store their belongings in their current unit and reserve it for Fall Term by paying a summer storage charge equivalent to one month’s rent. The charge must be paid before leaving campus for the summer.

The University provides water, sewer, and trash removal. Electricity and gas are contracted individually for all non-traditional student housing units except for Bell Hall.

Bell Hall Apartments. Bell Hall is a three-story apartment building containing one-bedroom, two-bedroom, efficiency, and studio units of varying sizes. All utilities are included in the rent for these apartments.

Townhouses. Garrett Way and Gateway Court townhouses have two bedrooms and one and one-half baths. They are designed for families with one or two children of the same sex. The University provides water, sewer, and trash removal. Students are responsible for arranging utilities.

Duplexes. Duplexes have three bedrooms and two baths. Student families are assigned a duplex unit on the following priority basis: (1) three or more children, (2) two teenage children, (3) teenage child and second younger child, (4) two younger children, (5) one teenage child, and (6) one younger child. If more than one family has the same priority basis, the earlier date of payment of the housing damage deposit determines who will occupy the unit. The University provides water, sewer, and trash removal. Students are responsible for arranging electrical service.

Mobile Homes. Various sizes of mobile homes are available for rent in Old Orchard Court and Sunset Court. The University provides water, sewer, and trash removal. Students are responsible for arranging electrical service.

To Arrange for Student Housing:

1. After you have been accepted to the University, you will receive an email which includes your user name and password for your Johnson University email account and my.JohnsonU.edu portal. Log into https://my.JohnsonU.edu/ics, click the Student Life Tab, select the campus you will be attending, then select and complete the appropriate housing application.

2. Pay the required housing deposit.

Housing assignments are made based on the date of the housing application with damage deposit, available units, size of family, unit requested, and University discretion. It is advisable to arrange for housing as early as possible. Being accepted as a student does not guarantee housing.

Florida Campus Housing. Johnson University’s 40-acre branch in Kissimmee, Florida, likewise features housing for both single and married students.

Single Student Housing. Single students share apartment-style housing units, which provide the experience of independent living, opportunities for Christian fellowship, security, and a family atmosphere. Apartments feature full kitchens, satellite television service, and wireless internet access. Other campus amenities include on-campus parking, laundry facilities, swimming pool, exercise room, student lounge with TV/VCR/DVD and stereo access, and plenty of space for recreation in the park-like atmosphere of the southern part of the campus. On-campus housing includes ground-level apartments designed and equipped for the physically disabled.

Family Housing. Johnson University Florida welcomes families and encourages them to become involved in the campus community. Students with families enjoy the pool and recreation rooms, as well as the play area, swings, bicycle racks, picnic tables, and an abundance of grassy areas for play. Childcare and employment are available either on campus or within an easy drive. Students interested in family housing on the Florida campus should contact the Resident Director.

Meal Plans

Tennessee Campus Meal Plan Options. Johnson University’s main campus in Tennessee features the Gally Commons dining area, the River Grill, and the Underground coffee café. The University has partnered with Pioneer College Caterers, Inc., to provide six flexible term meal plan options designed to meet the needs of students living on campus. All students enrolled in face-to-face programs must complete the Meal Plan Selection Form at https://my.johnsonu.edu/ics. Each student living in a residence hall is required to select a meal plan. Other students taking classes on campus may elect to enroll in a meal plan. Students may change their meal plan at any time up to registration day. They are not permitted to change plans after registration day.

Traditional Meal Plans. Pioneer generally prepares three meals on Tuesdays through Fridays, two meals on Mondays and Saturdays, and one meal on Sundays. Traditional meal plans consist of a guaranteed number of meals per week. Currently, Johnson University Tennessee offers traditional meal plans with 17, 13, or 9 meals per week. Students may use up to the specified number of meals for their plans each week. They do not have to worry about running out of meals each term because their meals reset weekly. The 13-meal traditional plan, for example, enables students to eat lunch and dinner every day during the school week and all meals offered on weekends. Students who do not officially select a plan will be automatically enrolled in the traditional plan featuring 17 meals per week.

Block Meal Plans. Alternatively, block meal plans consist of a certain number of meals per term. Currently, Johnson University Tennessee offers block meal plans with 225, 190, or 130 meals per term. Unlike the traditional plans, block plans allow students to use as few or as many meals as they wish per week. Additionally, students with this plan may give their meals to other persons, such as visiting family or friends. Unused meals do not carry over from one term to the next. These plans provide students more flexibility, but they need to monitor carefully their meal usage so that they do not run out of meals during the term.

For more information regarding meal plans, see Student Life Campus Dining or ask for information in the Gally Commons.

Flex Dollars. Students may also purchase Flex dollars for their ID cards at any time during the term, and these dollars may be used to pay for their meals on campus. Upon purchase, students receive a 10% bonus in value. To illustrate: If students purchase $50.00 in Flex Dollars, they actually receive a $55.00 credit on their student Flex Dollar accounts. Flex Dollars work as cash that may be used at the Gally Commons dining hall, the River Grill, and at the Underground coffee café. Unused Flex Dollars may carry forward from year to year as long as a student is enrolled in classes, but are non-refundable.

Florida Campus Food Services. Food services are provided to the Florida campus community through the Florida Commons Dining Hall and Café during posted hours. For single students living in campus housing, the charges for board are based on a required meal plan (9, 13, or 17 meals per week), which has proven to be the most economical method to provide both adequate and high-quality meals. All single students housed in the residence halls are required to be on a meal plan. Commuter students, married students, and employees may purchase a meal plan, if desired, or they may purchase individual meals. Special dietary arrangements may be made within a student’s meal plan through the food services manager, which requires a doctor’s note describing the student’s special dietary needs.

Built in 2018, the Florida Commons Dining Hall offers the Florida campus community professionally prepared healthy, balanced meals with multiple menu options, buffet style service, and the convenience of prepared food. The Café offers the campus community a coffee/snack shop open after normal business hours, as well as another gathering space for social, study, and fellowship activities.

Health Insurance

The University requires all undergraduate students taking courses on campus to have health insurance. Students must either complete a waiver or the enrollment form on https://my.johnsonu.edu/ics. Student policy information is available on the Johnson University website at Student Health Insurance.

Undergraduate students are automatically enrolled in the University’s health insurance plan unless they provide proof of coverage by completing the waiver form. Students who enroll in the plan at the beginning of Fall Term pay in advance for a 12-month policy. Students who begin in the Spring Term pay a reduced amount due to the reduced length of the policy.

Tuition Refund: Tennessee and Online Campuses

General Information. Johnson University recognizes the occasional necessity for students to withdraw totally from coursework for a variety of valid reasons. The University acknowledges that a refund policy must be reasonable and equitable for both the student and the University. The student, through registration, makes a financial commitment to the University upon which the institution determines its expenditure patterns and obligations. Since the University is unable to reduce its costs significantly if a student partially or totally withdraws, the refund policy includes a time schedule with reasonable and equitable withdrawal refund deadlines. In its academic calendar, Johnson University publishes the “last day to add or drop a course.” Add/drop dates are set 3–10 days from the beginning of a term, depending on the nature of a given program. The purpose of the policy is to enable students to make necessary adjustments near the beginning of a term without undue penalty. (For more information see “Adding or Dropping a Course” in the “Academic Policies & Procedures” section of this Catalog.)

Students who leave a course prior to the add/drop date are said to have “dropped” the course. Students who leave a course after the add/drop date are said to have “withdrawn” from the course. Students who drop or withdraw from all their Johnson University courses are said to have “withdrawn” from the University. There are financial implications for each action.

Financial charges and aid amounts are based on the total number of credits in which students are enrolled at the end of the course add/drop period. If students “drop” a course prior to the add/drop date, but remain enrolled in other courses, they are not held responsible for the costs of the course dropped and the aid may adjust accordingly. If students “withdraw” from a course after the add/drop date, but remain enrolled in other courses, they do not receive a refund for the course. If students withdraw from all courses after the add/drop date, they may be eligible for a partial refund or no refund according to the policies outlined below.

Active Duty Military. Military personnel who withdraw from the University as a result of a call to active duty receive a 100% refund of tuition, selected fees, room, and board.

Term-Length Courses (15–16 Weeks). After the first day of the term, face-to-face or online students who withdraw from all term-length courses (i.e. students who withdraw from the University) receive refunds of tuition, selected fees, and room based on the scale below. Board expenses are prorated based on total days of enrollment relative to the total number of days in the term. Johnson University determines the number of days a student has been enrolled by counting... all days (including Saturdays, Sundays, and Mondays) from the first day of the term to the date the withdrawal is initiated.

7 days or less after 1st day of term 100% refund
14 days or less after 1st day of term 75% refund
30 days or less after 1st day of term 50% refund
31 days or more after 1st day of term 0% refund

Session-Length Courses (7–8 Weeks). After the first day of the session, face-to-face or online students who withdraw from all session-length courses (i.e. students who withdraw from the University) receive refunds of tuition, selected fees, and room based on the scale below. Board expenses are prorated based on total days of enrollment relative to the total number of days in the term. Johnson University determines the number of days a student has been enrolled by counting all days (including Saturdays, Sundays, and Mondays) from the first day of the term to the date the withdrawal is initiated.

3 days or less after 1st day of session 100% refund
10 days or less after 1st day of session 50% refund
11 days or more after the 1st day of session 0% refund

Tuition Refund for Online out-of-State Students. When a state that authorizes online courses requires a refund policy that differs from Johnson University’s standard policy, the University will provide the refund that equals the greater of the University’s policy or the applicable state requirement based on the residency of the student.

Subsequent Activity Calculation. If other charges and/or fines are applied to students’ accounts after all funds are returned or refunded, the student is responsible for those charges and/or fines.

Tuition Refund: Florida Campus

General Information. Johnson University recognizes the occasional necessity for students to withdraw totally from coursework for a variety of valid reasons. The University acknowledges that a refund policy must be reasonable and equitable for both the student and the University. The student, through registration, makes a financial commitment to the University upon which the institution determines its expenditure patterns and obligations. Since the University is unable to reduce its costs significantly if a student partially or totally withdraws, the refund policy includes a time schedule with reasonable and equitable withdrawal refund deadlines. When online students reside in states with minimum refund amount requirements, Johnson University will refund tuition at the greater of the institution’s policy or the applicable state requirement rate.

In its academic calendar, Johnson University publishes the “last day to add or drop a course.” Add/drop dates are set 3–10 days from the beginning of a term, depending on the nature of a given program. If students withdraw from all courses after the add/drop date, they may be eligible for a partial refund or no refund according to the policies outlined below.

Students who have been accepted but do not matriculate will receive a full refund of fees, such as housing deposit, except for the application fee.

Active Duty Military. Military personnel who withdraw from the University as a result of a call to active duty receive a 100% refund of tuition, selected fees, room, and board.

Term-Length Courses (15–16 Weeks). After the first day of the term, students who withdraw from all term-length courses (i.e. students who withdraw from the University) receive refunds of tuition, selected fees, and room based on the scale below. Subsequent Activity Calculation. If other charges and/or fines are applied to students’ accounts after all funds are returned or refunded, the student is responsible for those charges and/or fines.

Return of Financial Aid as a Result of Withdrawal

Institutional and State Aid. Johnson University awards various types of institutional, federal, and state financial aid (discussed below) designed to support students in reaching their educational goals. When students withdraw from the University, aid is reduced based on the refund calculations described above.

Federal Aid. Federal regulations (668.22) require that, when a student who is a recipient of federal funds withdraws, the date used to determine if federal funds must be returned is the last date of attendance (LDA) for attendance-monitoring programs. For non-attendance-monitoring programs, the date used to determine if funds must be returned is either the date the withdrawal was initiated or the mid-term date for the course. The University distributes or returns funds within the 45-day requirement.

The calculation used to determine the percentage of federal funds earned is set by federal regulations. It is based on the total number of days in the term, which includes all days from the first day of the term to the final day of the term, excluding breaks of five or more days. The percentage of federal aid earned is calculated by taking the total number of days enrolled based on either the LDA, withdrawal initiation date, or mid-term date, divided by the total number of days in the term. If students have earned more than 60% based on this calculation, they are deemed to have earned 100% of their federal aid.

Allocation of Returned Federal Aid. If it is determined that students must return federal funds, those returns will be made in the federally required order of priority:

1. Unsubsidized Federal Direct Loan
2. Subsidized Federal Direct Loan
3. Federal PLUS loan received on behalf of the student
4. Federal Pell Grant
5. Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant
6. Federal TEACH Grant
7. Any other Title IV federal program

Please note:

• The return is allocated up to the full amount the student received from a particular fund.
• If the student has a credit balance at the time of the return calculation, the University retains the funds until after the return calculation is complete.
• If a refund is due to a lender, the Financial Aid Office returns the funds for the full amount of the refund, indicating which loans should be credited.
• If a refund is due to the student, the Office of Student Accounts informs the student and prepares a check for the full amount of the refund.
• If other charges and/or fines are applied to the student’s account after a refund is determined, the student is responsible for those charges and/or fines.
• Once the appropriate refund amount has been determined, the refund is allocated in the federally required order. Johnson University distributes or returns funds within the 45-day requirement.

Allocation of Unearned TA (Tuition Assistance). If it is determined that a student has withdrawn and received military tuition assistance, the university must return any unearned portions of TA funds on a proportional basis through at least 60% of the period for which the funds were provided. TA funds are earned proportionally during an enrollment period, with unearned funds returned based upon when a student stops attending.

16-Week Course Withdraw Return:
- Before or during weeks 1–2: 100% return
- During weeks 3–4: 75% return
- During weeks 5–8: 50% return
- During weeks 9–10: 40% return (60% of course is completed)
- During weeks 11–16: 0% return

8-Week Course Withdraw Return:
- Before or during week 1: 100% return
- During week 2: 75% return
- During weeks 3–4: 50% return
- During week 5: 40% return (60% of course is completed)
- During weeks 6–8: 0% return

Financial Aid

Philosophy. Johnson University has a long tradition of providing financial aid to students who are unable to pay the cost of their education. As a general rule, more types of aid are available for traditional undergraduate programs than for non-traditional (online and adult studies) and graduate programs. Johnson University has responded to this reality by setting non-traditional and graduate tuition rates lower than those of many peer schools.

Applying for Financial Aid. For all federal, state, and Johnson University institutional aid, students must complete the Free Application for Student Aid (FAFSA). Financial aid is available to cover expenses related only to courses included in the student’s degree program. Courses taken outside of the student’s degree program are not included when determining a student’s enrollment status and are not eligible for financial aid assistance.

Financial Aid Counseling. The Financial Aid Office is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. EST, Monday through Friday. To schedule a personal appointment with a financial aid counselor, students may telephone the Tennessee campus at 865-251-2303 or the Florida campus at 407-569-1353.

Institutional Aid

Standards for Financial Aid. Johnson scholarships are available to any full-time, traditional, on-ground day student. If a student falls below full time enrollment they would not be eligible for their institutional aid. A student's full time status is based on credits that are only taken at Johnson. If a student achieves full time status through a consortium agreement this would not qualify them for institutional aid if the amount of Johnson hours only were not already at full time status. Students taking at least three credit hours and in their final term for graduation are eligible for a pro-rated amount of their institutional scholarships. Additionally, Graduate students who are in their continuation period may receive their institutional scholarships for a prorated amount and will not lose their scholarship for being below three credit hours during the continuation period.

Both the FAFSA and the Financial Aid Check-In are required in order to receive institutional aid. Unless stated otherwise students must maintain a 3.0 GPA to remain eligible for their scholarship. Some institutional aid is automatically awarded or renewed from the prior year. Other institutional aid requiring applications can be obtained from the Financial Aid office or online at the Johnson web site at Financial Aid.

Total institutional, non-merit based, aid cannot exceed annual tuition unless otherwise stated. Institutional aid is limited to four years only. If a student withdraws during the proration period then their institutional aid will be reduced according to the same standards set for the Return of Title IV funds.

President’s Scholarship. This merit-based scholarship is based on the applicant’s highest ACT or SAT score and final cumulative GPA from high school or college. An initial scholarship is awarded the first year. Award amount varies from $1,000 to $8,000. For students not awarded a President’s scholarship their initial year at Johnson, if a 3.0-3.99 cumulative GPA is achieved, the student will be awarded $900 annually for consecutive years. If a cumulative GPA of 4.0 GPA is achieved, the student will be awarded $1,800 annually for consecutive years. The student must initiate contact to the FAO if they have achieved this GPA at the end of their freshman year in order for it to be awarded. Student must also maintain a 3.0 or higher for continuation of the award.

Johnson University Gap Scholarship. This is a need-based scholarship designed to bridge the gap between cost and aid. The Financial Aid Office automatically calculates the award for any eligible student based on data received from FAFSA and other considerations by the Financial Aid Office. Students may receive up to $3,000 annually for four years at the TN campus. Students may receive up to $1500 annually for four years at the FL campus. The student must maintain a 2.75+ GPA for continuation of these awards. The amount of this scholarship is reviewed regularly to determine if the amount of need has changed. If the amount of need changes the scholarship would be adjusted.

Ashley S. Johnson Minority Scholarship. Students are deemed eligible for this scholarship based on their self-reported ethnicity during the enrollment process, the Registrar’s survey, and/or their high school transcripts. Students who are interested must inquire with the financial aid office. Students receive $1,000 annually. In addition, the student must maintain a 2.5 or higher high school or college GPA. Once the student receives the minority scholarship they do not need to re-apply every year. It would be renewed the following year when the counselor awards the students.

Minority Student Teaching Scholarship. Recipient must be a Tennessee campus student. This scholarship is awarded to a Tennessee campus sophomore, junior, or senior minority student pursuing a teaching degree. Recipients are selected by the Teacher Education Committee. Awardees receive $1,200 per academic year up to a maximum $3,600 for three years. Students may apply at the Templar School of Education office.

International Student Scholarship. Recipients must be nationals from a foreign country and ineligible to receive federal aid or a DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) student. The International Student Scholarship cannot be used in conjunction with the Ashley S. Johnson Minority Scholarship. If total Johnson University aid does not exceed $1,000 annually, students receive 1/2 off tuition. If aid exceeds $1,000, students receive 1/3 off tuition. Once they receive it their first year it can be renewed so long as they maintain a 2.0 GPA under SAP requirements.

Preaching and Church Leadership Scholarship. Students majoring in Ministry Leadership with a concentration in Preaching & Church Leadership automatically receive this scholarship as long as they do not change their major and they meet all other criteria. An automatic $1,000 scholarship is awarded the first three years. If a student maintains a cumulative 3.0 GPA or greater at the end of their Junior year they will receive $1,500 for their senior year. The student must contact the FAO if they have achieved this GPA. Students cannot receive both the Preaching and Church Leadership Scholarship in conjunction with the Preaching and Student Ministry scholarship, they must receive only one.

Preaching and Student Ministry Scholarship. Students majoring in Ministry Leadership with a concentration in Preaching & Student Ministry automatically receive this scholarship and will continue to do so as long as they do not change their major and they meet all other criteria. An initial $375 scholarship is awarded the first year. If the student has a 2.5 GPA at the end of their first year their scholarship can increase to $500 for sophomore and junior year. If a student has a CGPA of 3.0 or higher at the end of their Junior year they can receive $750 for their senior year. The student must contact the FAO if they have achieved this GPA. Students cannot receive both the Preaching and Church Leadership Scholarship in conjunction with the Preaching and Student Ministry scholarship, they must receive only one.

Program Scholarships. Programmatic Scholarships include Business Administration, ESL, Intercultural Studies, Linguistics, Media, Missions, Music and Worship Ministry, Psychology, Sport and Fitness Leadership, Student Ministry, Teacher Education and others. Some may require additional information such as an essay or a letter of recommendation. Students must apply every year. See https://johnsonu.edu/admission/scholarships/ for more information.

International Missionary Scholarship. Recipients must be Tennessee campus students, who are dependents of missionary parents serving internationally. Parent(s) must meet the following criteria:

- Primary work of ministry is done internationally. Generally stationed overseas.
- 30 hours or more per week is devoted to ministry

If total institutional aid does not exceed $2,000 annually, the student will receive 1/2 off tuition. If aid exceeds $2,000, the student will receive 1/3 off tuition. Student must complete the application as well as provide proof of employment. Award cannot be in conjunction with the international student scholarship.

Christian Ministry Scholarship. Eligible applicants are dependents of a full-time Christian preacher or teacher of the Word of God or independent students who are serving in said capacity at a church. This ministry position must be the family’s primary source of income. If total Johnson University aid does not exceed $2,000 annually, the award is $2,000. If aid exceeds $2,000, students receive $1,000. Proof of employment is required for this scholarship.

Tuition Reduction Scholarship. Recipients must be Tennessee campus students, who have been married at least three years. Both spouses must be enrolled full-time. The award is limited to one per household. It cannot be used in conjunction with the Married Student Scholarship. Students receive 1/3 off tuition annually. No separate application is necessary.

Family Scholarship. Recipients must be Tennessee campus students, who have a sibling or parent enrolled full-time at Johnson University. The award cannot be used in conjunction with the Married Student or Tuition Reduction Scholarships. Students receive $400 annually.

Bible Bowl Scholarship. Recipients must be Tennessee campus students, who have competed and placed at national, state, or Johnson University Bible Bowl competitions. Awards vary accordingly and are awarded for the highest placed achievement of all Bible Bowl competitions excluding Beginner Bowl.

Those who participated in Bible Bowl, but did not place at competitions, may still be eligible for a scholarship. Applicants must have been active members in Bible Bowl for three years or more at the senior high level, and must not already be receiving any other type of Bible Bowl Scholarship from Johnson University. Awardees receive $500 for one year.

Preaching/Public Speaking Scholarship. Recipients must have competed and placed at national, state, or local competitions. Awards vary accordingly. Applicants should inquire at the Financial Aid Office.

SAGE Scholarship. Johnson University is a participating member of the SAGE Scholars program. Any student who applies and is accepted to Johnson University must submit, at the time of application, a statement of their rewards with the SAGE Scholars program. The financial aid office will determine from the reward statement the amount of the scholarship that the student can receive. Johnson will honor the reward points in the form of an institutional scholarship divided evenly over four years.

First Generation Student Scholarship. Recipients are first-generation students (neither parent has a college degree) with a 2.5 High School or College GPA. Students will submit all necessary documents to the Financial Aid Office and the FAO will submit the materials to the first generation student committee who will make determinations of awards which are typically $1,000 annually. This scholarship must be applied for each year.

First Class Scholarship. Recipients are undergraduate seniors who continue directly from their senior year into the M.A. in New Testament, the Master of Strategic Ministry, or the M.A. in Intercultural Studies. This scholarship covers the tuition cost for the first course.
Graduate Counseling Program Scholarship. Full-time graduate students enrolled in the MA Counseling programs on the Tennessee campus are eligible to apply. Full-time status for scholarship eligibility requires students to accumulate a minimum of 18 credit hours of coursework in concurrent Summer-Fall-Spring Semesters of the academic year. The number and amounts of awards vary each year.

Graduate Holistic Education Program Scholarship. Full-time graduate students enrolled in the Holistic Education program on the Tennessee campus are eligible to apply. The number and amounts of awards vary each year.

Intercultural Studies Graduate Scholarship. This scholarship is awarded during all semesters by the Intercultural Studies Department. All awards require the student to maintain part-time enrollment status. The amount of the award ranges up to $2,000 per academic year.

Center for Global Studies Doctoral Student Scholarship. This scholarship is awarded during all semesters by the School of Business and Public Leadership. The scholarship amount is determined after review by the scholarship committee. All awards require the student to maintain full-time enrollment status (6 credits per term). The amount of the award ranges up to $2,500 per academic year. To be eligible the student must be a US Non-resident, and identify financial need.

Federal Aid

Federal Pell Grant. The Pell Grant is a federal program designed to assist students with high financial need. Recipients are not required to repay the grant. Baccalaureate degree holders are no longer eligible. The amount of the award is determined by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) available online (www.FAFSA.ed.gov). Applicants who do not have access to a computer may use the computer in the Financial Aid Office designated for students. The maximum grant is $6,345 annually.

Federal TEACH Grant. The TEACH Grant is a federal financial aid program that assists aspiring teachers by providing them with a maximum of $16,000 in additional funding. Recipients must complete four years of teaching in a high need field as defined by the Department of Education or as listed on the Nationwide Teacher Shortage Areas Listing at an eligible Title I school within eight years of program completion. Failure to fulfill these requirements results in the grant converting into a Federal Unsubsidized Direct Loan (described below).

FSEOG Grant. The Federal Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG) is campus-based federal aid and designed to assist the neediest undergraduate freshmen students. Recipients must be eligible for the Pell Grant. Awards typically range from $400 to $1,000 annually, based on the availability of funds.

Federal Work-Study. The Federal Work-Study (FWS) program allows students who exhibit financial need to obtain certain on-campus jobs. A limited number of community service job opportunities are also available. Most work assignments range from 6 to 10 hours per week and pay the current federal minimum wage. Johnson University cannot guarantee job placement for every student, nor can it guarantee the total number of hours students will work or the total amount they may earn. Students who are not eligible for FWS, but who desire to work, may apply for positions as part-time, temporary employees of the University. Limited student employment is available.

Federal Subsidized Direct Loans. This program allows undergraduate students to borrow up to $3,500 as freshmen, $4,500 as sophomores, and $5,500 as juniors and seniors. Students demonstrating financial need may qualify for an interest subsidy, by which the government pays the interest while the student is enrolled in at least 6 credit hours per semester. Application instructions for Federal Direct Loans appear online. Repayment may be deferred while the student is enrolled at least half-time.

Federal Unsubsidized Direct Loans. This program allows undergraduate students to borrow $2,000 annually or the remainder of their annual eligibility if ineligible for the full subsidized amount. Independent students and dependent students whose parents are denied the PLUS loan may borrow either $4,000 or $5,000, based on number of credits earned. Graduate students are eligible for up to $20,500 per year. This amount may vary based on cost of attendance. Repayment may be deferred while the student is enrolled at least half-time. Interest continues to accrue during this time.

Federal Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS). Parents may borrow up to the cost of attendance minus financial aid at a fixed interest rate.

Tennessee State Aid

Tennessee Aspire Award. Recipients must be eligible for the Tennessee HOPE scholarship and have a household AGI of $36,000 or less. The award consists of a $1,500 supplement to that scholarship. Students may receive either the Aspire Award or the General Assembly Merit Scholarship (see above), but not both. Tennessee Dual Enrollment Grant. This scholarship is for students who are enrolled in an eligible high school and are admitted to and enrolled in an eligible postsecondary institution. Recipients may qualify for at $500 per semester.

Tennessee General Assembly Merit Scholarship (GAMS). Recipients must be eligible for the Tennessee HOPE scholarship and have a minimum of a 29 ACT score and 3.75 high school GPA. The award consists of a $1,000 supplement to that scholarship. Students may receive either the GAMS or the Aspire Award (see below), but not both.

Tennessee Helping Heroes Scholarship. This scholarship is available to students who are US veterans who were honorably discharged or who are a member of the National Guard (former or current) who have not previously earned a baccalaureate degree. Recipients may qualify for up to $4,000 a year.

Tennessee HOPE Access Grant. This grant applies only to the initial 24 attempted credit hours. Students may be eligible for the Tennessee HOPE Scholarship in the second year by meeting HOPE Scholarship renewal criteria. Recipients may qualify for up to $2,250 annually based on available funding from the State Lottery.

Tennessee HOPE Lottery Scholarship. Tennessee residents must be enrolled within 16 months of graduation from an eligible high school or GED program, 3.0 overall minimum grade point average and/or minimum 21 ACT score. Freshmen and Sophomores may qualify for up to $3,500 annually. Juniors and Seniors may qualify for up to $4,500 annually.

Tennessee Promise Scholarship. Recipients must be a Tennessee resident, who are entering into an Associate degree program. The scholarship will cover tuition and fees not covered by the Pell Grant, Hope scholarship or state student assistance funds. Essentially it is a last-dollar scholarship. Participants must complete mandatory meetings to remain eligible, as well as complete eight hours of community service per term enrolled, as well as maintain satisfactory academic progress (2.0 GPA) at their institution.

Tennessee Reconnect Grant. Recipients must be a Tennessee resident who have not previously earned an associate or baccalaureate degree, are independent according to the FAFSA rules, and are enrolled part-time in an eligible program of study. The grant will cover tuition and fees not covered by the Pell Grant, Hope scholarship or other state student assistance funds. It is a last-dollar grant.

Tennessee Student Assistance Awards (TSAA). The TSAA Program was established for financially-needy undergraduate Tennessee residents. Applicants must be enrolled in at least 6 credit hours, and have a valid Expected Family Contribution (EFC) of $3,500 or less. Funds are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. To receive priority consideration, students are strongly encouraged to submit a FAFSA as soon as possible after October 1 each year. Awards are made until funds are depleted, up to a limit of $4,000 annually. The maximum award is determined by TSAC Board of Directors. Baccalaureate degree holders are no longer eligible.

Florida State Aid

Florida Effective Access to Student Education (EASE) Formally known as FRAG. Recipients must be a Florida resident and a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen for at least 12 months. The student must be enrolled in a program of study leading to a bachelor’s degree that does not lead to a degree in theology or divinity. Students must not have previously received a baccalaureate degree. The 2020–2021 annual award amount is $2,841. Eligibility for renewal is determined at the end of the second semester of each academic year. A renewal applicant must have earned a minimum institutional cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of 2.0 and earned the equivalent of 12 credit hours for each term an award was received during the academic year.

Florida Bright Futures Scholarship Program. Bright Futures awards are funded by the Florida Lottery and administered by the Florida Department of Education (FDOE). To apply, students must submit an Initial Student Florida Financial Aid Check-In during the last year in high school prior to graduation. Recipients must be a Florida resident and a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen for at least 12 months. A student who receives funding during the current academic year (Fall through Spring) is automatically evaluated for renewal at the end of the Spring Term. As of 2020–2021, students from the top two tiers are eligible for funds during the summer term as well. The following table outlines institutional CGPA and earned hours requirements for renewal:

*Florida Academic Scholars with 2.75-2.99 will renew as Florida Medallion Scholars. Johnson University Florida only qualifies for the Academic and Medallion tiers.

Florida Student Assistance Grant Program. Recipients must demonstrate financial need by completing an error-free Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each academic year. Recipients must be a Florida resident and a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen for at least 12 months. Students must not have previously received a baccalaureate degree. A renewal applicant must have earned a minimum institutional cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of 2.0 and earned 12 credit hours for each term an award was received during the academic year. Eligibility for renewal is determined at the end of the second semester of each academic year. Credit hours earned during the previous summer can be counted toward the total number of credit hours required. Allocation is determined by the Florida Department of Education each academic year to the institution. The institution will determine student eligibility and award amount.

Florida Work Experience Program. Recipients must be a Florida resident and a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen for at least 12 months. Students must not have previously received a baccalaureate degree. Recipients must be enrolled with a minimum of six credit hours per term in an associate or baccalaureate degree program. Recipients must maintain a minimum 2.0 CGPA. Funding is based on the number of hours a student worked. Students receive the award funding directly from the employer.

Florida Jose Marti Scholarship Challenge Grant Fund. Recipients must be of Spanish culture, born in or having a natural parent who was born in either Mexico or a Hispanic country of the Caribbean, Central or South America, regardless of race. Recipients must demonstrate sufficient financial need to receive a $2,000 scholarship by submitting the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) in time to be processed by the U.S. Department of Education on or before May 15. Recipients must submit a fully completed error free Initial Student Florida Financial Aid Check-In during the student’s last year in high school by April 1. They must also have earned (by the seventh semester) a minimum unweighted high school CGPA of a 3.0.

Florida Scholarships for Children and Spouses of Deceased or Disabled Veterans. Recipients are dependent children or un-remarried spouses of Florida veterans who died as a result of service-connected injuries, diseases, or disabilities sustained while on active duty or who have been certified by the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs as having service-connected 100% permanent and total disabilities. Recipients may also be a dependent child whose parent is classified as a prisoner of war or missing in action by the Armed Forces of the U.S. or as a civilian captured while serving with the consent or authorization of the U.S. Government during wartime service. Funding is applied to tuition and registration fees. The award amount varies each year and is determined by the Florida Department of Education. Recipients must complete an error-free Initial Student Florida Financial Aid Application by April 1.

Honorably Discharged Graduate Assistance Program. Funds have been created as additional need-based veteran educational benefits to be used to assist with living expenses. Funds are to be awarded to Florida residents who are active duty and honorably discharged members of the Armed Forces who served on or after September 11, 2001. A student’s need will be determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) error-free by deadline created by the institution. The award will be certified by November 1st and must not exceed the student’s unmet need. The maximum award amount is $50 per day for a maximum of 20 days for the academic year.

Veterans/Military Service Benefits

Eligible U.S. military service members, veterans, and dependents are welcome to apply for educational benefits. Students may verify eligibility and receive current information by telephoning the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) at 1-800-827-1000. This number is accessible from anywhere in the United States and connects callers to the nearest regional office. They may also visit www.gibill.va.gov or call 1-888-442-4551.

The University’s VA Certifying Official is the point of contact (POC) for service members relating to academic and financial advising. The certifying official is trained and knowledgeable in the Tuition Assistance program, Title IV funding, and Veterans Affairs education benefits. The POC is also familiar with University services providing academic counseling, financial aid counseling, job search support, and other student support services offered to Service members.

Certification to the VA. Enrollment at Johnson University will be reported by the School Certifying Official (SCO) for each Fall and Spring enrollment period, noting credit hours, start/end dates, tuition, and fees. Certifications from Johnson University will be reported after add/drop of the enrolled term. Students must submit a Certificate of Eligibility for entitlement to educational assistance no later than the first day of a course of education (the first day of a term). The University’s VA Certifying Official may also require additional information necessary to the proper certification of enrollment. Students are also responsible for the difference between the amount of the student’s financial obligation and the amount of the VA education benefit disbursement.

In accordance with Title 38 US Code 3679 subsection (e), this school adopts the following additional provisions for any students using U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Post 9/11 G.I. Bill® (Ch. 33) or Vocational Rehabilitation & Employment (Ch. 31) benefits. While payment to the institution is pending from the VA, Johnson University agrees that it will not:

- Prevent the student’s enrollment;
- Assess a late penalty fee to the student;
- Require the student to secure alternative or additional funding;
- Deny the student access to any resources (access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities) available to other students who have satisfied their tuition and fee bills to the institution.

However, to qualify for this provision, such students will be required to:

- Provide the enrolling institution with a copy of his/her VA Certification of Eligibility (COE) – A “certificate of eligibility” can also include a “Statement of Benefits” obtained from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs’ (VA) website; eBenefits; or a VAF 28-1905 form, for chapter 31 authorization purposes.

Additional criteria to qualify for this provision are also required for such students and listed
No other requirement other than COE.

Montgomery GI Bill® (Chapter 30). The Montgomery GI Bill, known as the MGIB, is a program providing educational benefits to individuals who entered active duty for the first time after June 30, 1985, and who received an honorable discharge. Active duty includes full-time National Guard duty performed after November 29, 1989. To receive the maximum benefit, participants generally must have served continuously for three years.

Montgomery GI Bill® (Chapter 1606). MGIB-SR (Montgomery GI Bill-Selected Reserve Educational Assistance Program, chapter 1606 of title 10, U.S. Code) is for members of the Selected Reserve. The Selected Reserve includes the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Army National Guard, and Air National Guard. The reserve components decide who is eligible for the program.

Vocational Rehabilitation Assistance (Chapter 31). Vocational Rehabilitation is a program of services for active duty military and veterans with service-connected physical and/or mental disabilities.

Post-Vietnam Era Veterans Educational Assistance Program (Chapter 32). Under VEAP, active duty personnel voluntarily participated in a plan for education or training in which their savings were administered and supplemented by the federal government. Service persons were eligible to enroll in VEAP if they entered active duty for the first time between January 1, 1977 and June 30, 1985.

Post-9/11 GI Bill® / Yellow Ribbon Program (Chapter 33). The Post-9/11 GI Bill® is for training pursued on or after August 1, 2009. Benefits may include tuition and fees, monthly housing allowance, books and supplies stipend, and miscellaneous expenses. Benefits are based on students’ entitlement percent and enrollment status. Eligible spouses and children of active duty members who died in the line of duty after September 10, 2001 also qualify for the GI Bill®, excluding Yellow Ribbon. This is used for students who qualify for the Fry Scholarship. Students who have submitted required documentation to begin the certification process are eligible to be certified up to 120 days before the enrolled semester by Johnson University’s School Certifying Official (SCO). Certifying a Chapter 33 student early will help begin the process of receiving their housing allowance and book stipend promptly.

Dependents Educational Assistance Program (Chapter 35). This program provides education and training opportunities to eligible dependents of certain veterans. Students who wish to verify eligibility should contact the regional office of the Department of Veterans Affairs and provide the veteran’s service dates and the VA file number.

DoD Military Tuition Assistance. This program provides education tuition assistance to eligible members of the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force, and Coast Guard. Each service has its own criteria for eligibility, obligated service, application process and restrictions. Money is paid directly to the institution by the individual services. For more information contact your Education Service Officer (ESO) to receive approval from your installation commander before applying to the institution.

GI Bill® is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA).
Vocational Rehabilitation Assistance

Vocational Rehabilitation Assistance is available to qualified students. The local office of the student’s hometown can provide specific information about this resource.

Other Financial Aid

Alternative Loan Programs. Alternative loans enable students to borrow educational funds to supplement federal/institutional financing. Information on lenders appears on the Johnson University website.

Outside Scholarships. In addition to federal, state, and institutional financial aid programs, students are encouraged to investigate other potential sources of assistance, such as churches, employers, labor unions, civic groups, professional organizations, and corporations. More information is available at the Financial Aid Office and on its Facebook page.

Financial Aid Process

Undergraduate Students. Undergraduate students apply for federal and state financial aid, along with certain types of institutional aid, by taking the following steps:

1. Complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) (www.FAFSA.gov).
   a. Include Johnson University’s school code (003495) on the FAFSA.
   b. For Tennessee residents, the FAFSA serves as the application for commonly awarded Tennessee state aid. The deadline for application is February 1 for state residents.

2. Complete the Johnson Financial Aid Check-In online.

3. To obtain a Federal Direct Loan:
   a. Students must complete Entrance Loan Counseling and sign a Master Promissory Note (MPN) at www.StudentAid.gov. More information may be obtained from the Financial Aid Office website.

4. Parents of students wishing to apply for the Federal Direct PLUS Loan must:
   a. Complete a PLUS Master Promissory Note (MPN)

5. Quickly respond to any document requests or emails you receive from the Financial Aid Office. Students are responsible for checking their Johnson University email accounts for communications from the Financial Aid Office.

6. To receive Johnson University institutional aid, students must write one or more Thank You Letters to Johnson University donors. Fall Thank You Letters are assigned in October for all current students. Spring Thank You Letters are assigned in March for new spring students. Students may lose all or a portion of their aid if this requirement is not met.

7. If applicants think a mistake has been made regarding their financial aid information, they should contact the Financial Aid Office.

Graduate Students. Graduate students may contact the Financial Aid Office to discuss funding options with a Financial Aid Counselor.
Satisfactory Academic Progress for Financial Aid Eligibility

Policy. To maintain eligibility for financial aid, students must make Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) as defined by their grade level classification and program of study. Failure to meet the prescribed standards may result in loss of financial aid eligibility. All students are reviewed after each payment period or period of enrollment.

Undergraduate Students. To maintain satisfactory academic progress, undergraduate students must sustain a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.00 and must successfully complete at least 67% of all credits attempted. The completion percentage will be rounded up or down according to standard rounding principles. Failure to meet either requirement after the Spring term automatically puts students on Financial Aid Suspension status. At this point, students may appeal, by letter, to the Student Financial Services Office to regain eligibility for one additional payment period/period of enrollment. If approved, students are placed on Financial Aid Probation status. If students fail to demonstrate satisfactory academic progress after the probationary payment period/period of enrollment, they return to Financial Aid Suspension status.

The only way to continue receiving financial aid while suspended is to complete an Academic Plan (defined below). All Academic Plans must be approved by the Financial Aid Office.

If at any review point students are found to be in compliance with SAP requirements, they are automatically removed from Warning, Probation, or Suspension status.

In addition to the above grade point average and completion rate requirements, all students must complete their programs of study by attempting no more than 150% of the credit hours normally required for completion. If, for example, a program of study is normally completed with 120 credit hours, financial aid eligibility ceases once a student has attempted 180 credit hours or more.

Graduate Students. To maintain satisfactory academic progress, graduate students must sustain a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.00 and must successfully complete at least 67% of all credits attempted. The completion percentage will be rounded up or down according to standard rounding principles. Failure to meet either requirement after the Spring semester automatically puts students on Financial Aid Suspension status. At this point, students may appeal, by letter, to the Student Financial Services Office to regain eligibility for one additional payment period/period of enrollment. If approved, students are placed on Financial Aid Probation status. If students fail to demonstrate satisfactory academic progress after the probationary payment period/period of enrollment, they return to Financial Aid Suspension status.

The only way to continue receiving financial aid while suspended is to complete an Academic Plan (defined below). All Academic Plans must be approved by the Student Financial Services Office.

If at any review point students are found to be in compliance with SAP requirements, they are automatically removed from Warning, Probation, or Suspension status.

In addition to the above grade point average and completion rate requirements, all students must complete their programs of study by attempting no more than 150% of the credit hours normally required for completion. If, for example, a program of study is normally completed with 36 credit hours, financial aid eligibility ceases once a student has attempted 54 credit hours or more.

Circumstances for a SAP Appeal. SAP appeals can be filed for any of the following circumstances: The death of a relative; injury or illness of the student; family difficulties, such as divorce or illness; interpersonal problems with friends, roommates, significant others, or another individual; difficulty balancing school and work, athletics, family responsibilities; or financial difficulties.

Definition of Terms. The following paragraphs define key terms related to Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP):

Academic Plans are personalized plans designed to enable a student to meet SAP requirements at a subsequent review. They are developed by a Financial Aid Counselor or the Director of Financial Aid in conversation with the student and other University representatives as determined by the Director. The timeframe for the plan is developed on a case-by-case basis. As long as students remain in compliance with the Academic Plan, they are eligible to receive financial aid. If they fail to meet the requirements of the Academic Plan, they return to Financial Aid Suspension status.

Financial Aid Probation is a status assigned to students on Financial Aid Suspension after they successfully appeal, by letter, to the Student Financial Services Office. Such students retain financial aid eligibility for one additional payment period/period of enrollment as they attempt to demonstrate Satisfactory Academic Progress. Students may be on probation multiple times during their enrollment at Johnson University as long as the periods are not consecutive.

Financial Aid Suspension is a status assigned to students after a Warning or Probation period in which they failed to demonstrate compliance with SAP requirements. Students on Financial Aid Suspension are not eligible to receive financial aid. They remain under this status until they meet SAP requirements.

Financial Aid Warning is a status automatically assigned to students after the first payment period/period of enrollment in which they fail to comply with financial aid satisfactory academic progress requirements. Students on Warning are still eligible to receive financial aid. They may remain on Warning for only one payment period/period of enrollment. Student may be on warning status multiple times during their enrollment at Johnson University as long as the periods are not consecutive.

Successfully Completing a Course means earning the grade necessary to apply the course toward graduation requirements for a given academic program. Most programs require a “D-” or above for the course to be “completed.” In the event that a program requires a grade higher than “D-” for a given course, students must earn the required grade for the course to be considered “complete.” A grade of “P” (Passing) is also satisfactory. Students earn no credit for grades of “F” (Failing), “I” (Incomplete), “E” (Emergency), “W” (Withdrawal). Such courses count as courses attempted but not successfully “completed.”
Main Campus: Johnson University Tennessee

Tennessee Campus and Facilities. Johnson University’s main campus is located at 7900 Johnson Drive, Knoxville, Tennessee 37998. Geographically, the main campus is in almost the exact center of that portion of the United States lying east of the Mississippi River and south of the Great Lakes. The campus is seven and one-half miles from the city limits of Knoxville, the metropolitan hub of the Great Smoky Mountains and East Tennessee’s other famous tourist destinations. Johnson University Tennessee is only a short distance from the city’s cultural attractions, restaurants, shopping malls, and airline connections through McGhee Tyson Airport.

The Knoxville campus encompasses 329 acres of East Tennessee countryside. Approximately 125 acres have been developed, leaving ample room for growth. Within this property, the facilities services department maintains a small “village” that includes 686,075 square feet of commercial and residential buildings, 3.2 miles of roads, and 294,000 square feet of parking lots.

Most students at Johnson University Tennessee live on campus. There are two residence halls for single students, as well as 93 housing units for married and adult students ranging from studio apartments to three-bedroom duplexes. Many members of the faculty and staff also live on campus.

Primary structures include:

- Athletic Facilities. The University maintains athletic facilities for both varsity and intramural athletic programs including two gymnasiums, three tennis courts, two racquetball courts, baseball field, disc golf course, walking track, hiking trails, and facilities for floor hockey, and volleyball.

  The Athletic and Recreation Complex (ARC) opened in the Spring of 2019. This facility includes an 80,000 square-foot recreation building that features a student center, game room, multi-purpose room, classrooms, fitness center, competition gym, recreation gym, varsity team locker rooms, a trainer’s room, and a competition-size pool. Outdoor facilities include a soccer field, baseball field, softball field, and intramural space.

- Bell Hall (1955) is a three-story apartment building for married and adult students containing studio, one-, and two-bedroom units of varying sizes. All utilities are included in the rent. A laundry facility is available across the street.

- Brown Hall (2000), the primary residence hall for single men, is equipped with private bathrooms in all rooms and has both wireless and Ethernet network connections. It houses 288 students, has three large common areas, two public kitchenettes, two sizeable laundry facilities, and a prayer room.
• Campus Services Building (completed Spring 2018) houses the School of Communication & Creative Arts’ music program. A choir room, classrooms, practice rooms, and music faculty offices are part of this building.

• Clark Hall (1905) currently not used.

• Duplex Units have three bedrooms.

• Eubanks Activity Center (EAC, built in 1990 and remodeled in 2009–2011), houses the offices of the president, advancement, church relations, enrollment services, student accounts, financial aid, along with a science lab and nurse’s station. The upper level includes classrooms, radio station, TV studio, audio studio, editing suites, and offices for part of the School of Communication & Creative Arts. The lower level houses a snack bar, coffee shop, game room, racquetball courts, television area, fitness center, and graphics office.

• Gally Commons (2007), houses the post office, campus store, and a large dining facility. Special events are held in three private dining rooms.

• Garrett Way and Gateway Townhouses have two bedrooms, one and one-half baths. These units are designed for families with one or two children of the same sex.

• Glass Memorial Library (1965) provides students with a convenient place for research and study. It also houses one of the three computer labs on campus.

• Johnson Hall (2000), the primary residence hall for single women, is equipped with private bathrooms in all rooms and has both wireless and Ethernet network connections. It houses 288 students, has three large common areas, two public kitchenettes, two sizeable laundry facilities, a cardio exercise room, and a prayer room.

• Mobile Homes are available for rent in various sizes in two mobile home courts.

• Old Main (1905) contains a small chapel, the Museum of Archaeology, a calling center, prayer room, and office space. Built in 1905, it is the oldest building on campus still in use apart from the White House.

• Phillips-Welshimer Building (PW, 1975), located in the heart of the campus, contains an auditorium, administrative offices, faculty offices, the Russell Preaching Center (RPC, 2009), and classrooms of various sizes and layouts. The Russell Preaching Center houses one of the three computer labs on campus.

• Richardson Hall (RH, 2001) houses the Templar School of Education, School of Intercultural Studies, Academic Support Center, and archaeology lab. It also contains an interactive prayer room, multimedia classrooms, and a computer lab.

• River View (2010), the official residence of the president, overlooks the French Broad River and Johnson Island. It is connected to the White House by a large dining/meeting room called the Refectory.

• University Counseling Center (UCC), located in Myrtle Hall (built in 1951 and remodeled in 2004), is dedicated to training professional therapists as they serve Johnson University and the surrounding communities.
• The White House (1890) was built in 1890 and restored in 2010. The oldest structure on the campus, it was the residence of Ashley and Emma Johnson, and other presidents, and now serves as a guest house. The White House is connected to Riverview by a large dining/meeting room called the Refectory.

Tennessee Student Services. Johnson University Tennessee provides a wide array of student services. Major services on the Tennessee campus include:

• Academic Advising. School deans assign a faculty advisor to each student to assist in selecting appropriate courses each term. Advisors also counsel students with vocational and personal concerns as needed.

• Academic Support Center. The Academic Support Center (ASC) provides general academic assistance, as well as course-specific assistance to students who request it. The ASC professionally manages and employs a variety of techniques, including peer tutoring and computer-assisted instruction. It provides training in time management, study skills, proofreading, writing, test-taking skills, and other aspects of university success. The Center also provides online academic coaching through WCOnline5. Advising and tutoring appointments may be scheduled online (https://JohnsonU.mywconline.com). Information and resources offered by the Academic Support Center appear on the University website (https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/academic-support/). The ASC is located in Richardson Hall, Room 265.

• Admissions and Financial Aid Advising. Contact the Admissions Office to schedule an appointment to discuss admission to the University and financial aid opportunities. (Telephone: 800-827-2122; Email: Admissions@JohnsonU.edu).

• Campus Store. The Johnson University Campus Store is typically open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. It is the official source for Johnson University Gear, clothing and accessories that bear the University insignia. The Campus Store also stocks a variety of other merchandise, including books, school supplies, gifts, snacks, and personal items. Students may contact the Campus Store by telephone (865-251-2246) or email (bookstore@JohnsonU.edu).

• Career Services. The Johnson University Career Services Center’s (CSC) programs and services provide a network for students, employers, alumni, and faculty, while training and preparing students to be servant leaders and ethical professionals. The CSC supports the mission and goals of Johnson University by assisting students in realizing their God-given potential through exploring and developing academic and career plans rooted in their faith and values. In partnership with alumni, parents, and employers, the CSC develops informational and experiential networks that support career exploration. It also provides career counseling, assistance with job searches, information regarding internships and experiential education, workshops, events and professional development. Johnson University Ministry and Employment Opportunities posted on the website provide a current list of churches and employers searching for Johnson University students and alumni to fill positions (https://JohnsonU-csm.symplicity.com). The Career Services Office is located in the Eubanks Activity Center, Room 316.

• Communications. The University equips each residence hall room with a telephone jack and phone number. Students may request a land line phone for their dorm room. The campus post office assigns each student a mailbox in the mailroom in the Gally Commons. Post office personnel post U.S. mail and campus mail daily. The Student Life Office maintains a current announcement page. Announcements can be found on the Johnson app or the campus portal. Students have the option of having the announcements delivered to their email account. A calendar of events is available on the Johnson app. Several University offices maintain informative bulletin boards. All electronic communications from the University to students are sent using students’ Johnson University email addresses. Students are responsible for checking their Johnson email account regularly.

- Counseling Services. The University Counseling Center (UCC) provides limited mental health services to students currently enrolled in traditional programs. The center is staffed by graduate students under the careful supervision of the professional counseling faculty. The UCC exists to offer a broad range of preventive, remedial, and developmental counseling services to Johnson University students. It offers accessible, culturally competent, quality care to clients that is respectful of a person's family and loved ones, faith, language, culture, ethnicity, gender, and identity as a sexual being. At the client's level of comfort, student therapists incorporate spirituality and biblical components in the counseling process regarding faith as core to the growth and healing process. The UCC clinical faculty retains the right to refer clients or potential clients to other service providers when necessary.

- Disability Services. Johnson University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 by providing reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities. The Special Services Coordinator on the Tennessee campus evaluates requests submitted through the Request for Reasonable Accommodations Form, which is accessible on the website and the student portal (my.JohnsonU.edu), and determines appropriate accommodations. The Academic Support Center provides appropriate assistance.

- Disciplinary Procedures. Johnson University is committed to the principle of justice as revealed in the Scriptures and to the practice of reasonable, fair, and appropriate disciplinary procedures. A Discipline Committee meets as needed to deal with serious matters of student misconduct. The committee consists of three faculty members and two students. The Dean of Students chairs the committee. The committee works until it comes to a unanimous decision. Sanctions are always administered in a spirit of Christian concern with a sense of compassion for the student.

- Food Services. Food services are provided through Pioneer College Caterers in the Gally Commons dining hall at posted hours. In the Eubanks Activities Center, Pioneer also operates the River Grill and the Underground, a coffee shop featuring Starbucks brand coffees. A third meal option, Habaneros, is available in the Athletic Recreation Center. Coffees, smoothies, salads, and quick snacks are at the ARC Coffee Shop. Vending machines with drinks and snacks are also available. For single students the charges for board are based on a required contract food plan (9, 13 or 17 meals per week). Meals are served buffet style in the dining hall with the opportunity of eating some meals at the River Grill and Habaneros.

- Health Services/Health Insurance. The student Health Services Office is staffed by a registered nurse and located in the Eubanks Activities Center, Room 381. Services include wellness instruction, first aid for injuries and illness, and coordinating referral to area physicians. The nurse is not responsible for diagnosis, treatment of sicknesses, making appointments, or providing transportation to area doctors. Office hours are posted each term. Adequate hospitals and medical facilities are available in Knoxville if serious medical attention is needed.

Undergraduate students must show evidence of adequate health insurance, or they must purchase the Student Insurance Policy offered through the University.

The University requires undergraduate students living on campus and full-time commuter students enrolled in traditional undergraduate programs to have health insurance. Policy information is available on the Johnson University website Student Health page.

Students are automatically enrolled in the University’s health insurance plan unless they provide proof of coverage. Students who enroll in the plan at the beginning of Fall Term pay in advance for a 12-month policy. Students who begin in Spring Term pay a reduced amount due to the reduced length of the policy.

Housing. The University has excellent housing for single and married students (see above under “Campus and Facilities”). Most undergraduate single students are housed two to a room in nicely furnished residence halls that include private baths, a telephone, two Internet connections, and security-card access. Students are allowed to have small microwaves and refrigerators. Full-time single students are not permitted to live off campus or in married housing unless they live with parents or guardians or they are at least twenty-three years old. A qualified staff of resident directors and resident assistants is available in each hall. The University maintains a curfew for single students. For curfew hours please see the Student Handbook. The Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUTN Student Handbook. Non-traditional student housing includes mobile homes, apartments, townhouses, and duplexes. Assignments are made according to the size and needs of the student families. No pets are allowed in Urban Plunge or residence hall housing. For detailed information, see the “Single Student Housing Policies” and “Married Student Housing Policies” in the Student Handbook. The Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUTN Student Handbook.

- Information Technology (IT). The University provides an email address and on-campus Internet access to all students. Students may use the computer labs located in Richardson Hall, the Russell Preaching Center, the Glass Memorial Library.

- Library Services. Glass Memorial Library provides students with a convenient place for research and study. It contains over 100,000 physical book volumes and over 10,000 bound periodical volumes. It provides access to over 400,000 digital books and approximately 16,000 full text digital journals. The library website (http://www.johnsonu.edu/library) provides a helpful overview of resources and services, including a link to the library catalog. All students and faculty, whether on or off campus, may access digital library resources through the library website by using proxy software with their Johnson University logins and passwords.

- Motor Vehicles and Parking. Students may bring vehicles to campus. All motor vehicles must be properly licensed, carry full liability insurance, be registered with the University, and display a current Johnson University auto registration permit. Ample parking is available on campus. The University issues student parking permits, which are color coded for the lots to which students are assigned. Three commuter lots serve commuting students. Housing units are near academic buildings, so campus residents are not to drive to class.

- Security. Three characteristics of the University that contribute to campus security are its rural location, small size, and special purpose. Because of the kind of students the University attracts and the administration’s concern for student behavior, Johnson University is a drug free and alcohol free environment. Residence halls are security-card access only. The University is registered with the State of Tennessee as a proprietary security organization and contracts with an outside service to provide licensed security personnel. Johnson University security personnel can request assistance from the Knox County Sheriff’s Department and other agencies for incidents that require special resources. Security personnel receive and investigate all incident reports and refer crimes and offenses to local law enforcement authorities. The sheriff’s department makes occasional patrols through the campus and responds to 911 calls made from the campus. They also patrol the campus at night. The University collects crime statistics required by federal and state law and reports them in the Student Handbook, which prospective students should read before enrolling in Johnson University. The Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUTN Student Handbook.

- Textbook Services are offered online through Follett Bookstore Management, the leading textbook provider in the United States. Students enter the bookstore website through a Johnson University sign-in and password, place texts and other learning materials in their “shopping cart,” and make their purchases through a credit card or by charging them to their Johnson University student account. Follett ships the books to campus or to another address provided by the student. For questions about textbook purchases, contact the Campus Store by telephone (865-251-2246) or email (bookstore@JohnsonU.edu).

Tennessee Campus Life. Campus life is busy and rewarding. Most classes convene for one hour and fifteen minutes on either Tuesday and Thursday or Wednesday and Friday. Some intensive courses and seminars meet on Mondays, Saturdays, or evenings. Students attend chapel three mornings each week. Other hours are devoted to work, study, sports, and recreation. Students are encouraged to make Sunday a day of worship, rest, and service. Campus life reflects the Johnson University motto: “Faith—Prayer—Work.”

Johnson University has expectations for students with respect to class and chapel attendance, dress, and behavior that go beyond those of most institutions of higher learning. These standards are described in detail in the Student Handbook, which every prospective student should read. The expectations are appropriate for students preparing for Christian vocations, and most do not find them burdensome. The Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUTN Student Handbook.

Academic life is demanding at Johnson University. This emphasis on academic rigor is consistent with spirituality and preparation for ministry and service. Indeed, students demonstrate their spiritual growth and leadership potential by the way they approach academic life. Not everyone is expected to be an “A” student, but all students must study hard to get along well at Johnson University.

Tennessee Student Activities. The University supports many activities designed to enhance student life and promote spiritual, intellectual, physical, professional, and social development. Examples include:
• Area Attractions. Students have many opportunities to visit the scenic and educational areas surrounding Johnson University Tennessee. Some of the most popular attractions include The Great Smoky Mountains National Park; Ripley's Aquarium; Dollywood; Norris, Fontana, and Douglas Dams; Cherokee Indian Reservation; Lookout Mountain; the American Museum of Science and Energy; state parks; planetariums; area art studios; and theaters.

• Chapel and Worship. The University expects students to be active in local churches. Chapel meets Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 9:00 to 9:50 a.m. The purpose of chapel at Johnson University is to worship God in a way in which God is exalted and His people are formed into the likeness of Christ. Wednesday chapels consist of small group meetings (described below). On Tuesdays and Thursdays, the entire student body assembles for worship. These meetings usually consist of prayer, singing, and preaching, but other programs are common. While faculty and senior students provide several chapel sermons during the year, the University also invites area ministers, missionaries, and other guests to speak. Through Preaching Emphasis Week and the Craddock Lectures, the University brings nationally known speakers to campus each year. Such experiences contribute to the total learning process and inform students of fields of service to consider as ministry for Christ. In addition to these formal opportunities for worship, prayer rooms are scattered throughout the campus in various buildings. Students taking 5.9 credits or less are not required to enroll in chapel.

Smaller “Chapel Groups” meet on Wednesdays. Some are special interest groups, such as Harvesters (world missions), Society of Preaching (pulpit ministry), Student Government, Honors Chapel, Freshman Student-Led Chapel, and various topical studies. Additional small groups meet regularly for discipleship, accountability, and residence hall devotions.

• Special Events. Each year in February, classes are dismissed for the annual Homecoming. Hundreds of alumni return to campus for a program of preaching and workshops. On Founder’s Day, celebrated in April, classes are dismissed after a morning chapel service featuring a graduate from the early years of the University. Students also enjoy the Festival of Christmas Joy, music recitals, a senior banquet, mountain hikes, and many other special events.

• Sports and Recreation. The University is a member of both the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) and the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) Division II. Varsity teams in men's baseball, basketball, soccer, and tennis, compete with other college and university teams inside and outside the Associations. Women’s varsity teams compete in softball, basketball, volleyball, soccer, and tennis. The colors of the Johnson University Tennessee Royals are blue and white with gray accent.

A well-rounded program of intramural sports is designed to give the largest possible number of students an opportunity to participate in athletics. Soccer, basketball, volleyball, flag football, and softball are played enthusiastically in friendly rivalry among the classes. Students also participate in table tennis, track, tennis, racquetball, billiards, and swimming. Athletic facilities include a baseball diamond, a soccer field, three tennis courts, outdoor basketball court, two gymnasiums, a weight room, women’s fitness center, an indoor swimming pool, outdoor walking track, disc golf, and playgrounds for the children of married students.
• Student Government Association. The Student Government Association (SGA) consists of student representatives, elected by the student body, who seek to build a united student body through encouraging and uplifting servant leadership. These representatives consist of executive officers and class officers who work alongside appointed directors to oversee the functions of the SGA. The SGA strives to be the unified voice of student concerns, while creating campus involvement and community outreach. In addition, the SGA works to enhance unity on campus by promoting opportunities for the enrichment and fulfillment of the student body’s social and spiritual life through events and activities.

• Service Learning. After their first term, all students participate in a program of Service Learning. Under the direction of the Service Learning Director, students provide 16 hours of service each term to a church or community organization. This experience complements the classroom teaching by practical application through personal services to others.

• Other Activities. Other activities students enjoy on campus include drama productions, music groups (choir, traveling groups), and other activities sponsored by classes and the student government.

Branch Campus: Johnson University Florida

Florida Campus and Facilities. Johnson University’s branch campus is located at 1011 Bill Beck Boulevard, Kissimmee, Florida 34744. This strategic location, just south of Orlando, provides numerous opportunities for work and Christian service. Close proximity to both Florida coasts and local theme parks enables students to enjoy a break from coursework while remaining close to campus.

The 40-acre campus is conveniently located near the Florida Turnpike, providing easy access to ground and air transportation. Most students live on campus in apartment-style housing units. Primary structures include:

• Athletic Facilities include an exercise room, gymnasium, athletic field, and outdoor swimming pool open year-round.

• Beazell Hall (1998) is a student apartment building with six living units.

• Brough Music Wing (1998), attached to the Chapman Center, houses the music department.

• Chapman Center (1985), a multi-purpose building constructed in 1985, remains the center of operations. It includes classrooms, conference rooms, a gymnasium/auditorium, and faculty and administrative offices.

• Foundation Hall (1985) is a student apartment building with fourteen living units.

• Heritage Hall (2005) is a sixplex student apartment dedicated to the North Shore Christian Church (Jacksonville, Florida) and the Palatka Christian Church (Palatka, Florida).

• The Library (built in 1994 and expanded in 2001) houses books, journals, electronic learning resources, and computer resources for student use. Two of three phases are complete.

• Packer Hall (1994) contains four apartments and a laundry.
• Roger Chambers Hall (1989) is a student apartment building with thirteen townhouses named in honor of Dr. Roger Chambers, a professor during the early days of Florida Christian College.

• Tribble Student Union (1990), otherwise known as the “Student Union Building” or “SUB,” houses the Student Life Offices, a large general meeting area, a small kitchen, student mailboxes, and a fitness center.

• Trulock Hall (1985) is a student apartment building with fourteen living units. Built in 1985, it was later renamed in honor of LeRoy Trulock, a former trustee and friend of Florida Christian College.

• The Florida Commons Dining Hall (2018) offers the Florida campus community professionally prepared healthy, balanced meals with multiple menu options, buffet style service, and the convenience of prepared food.

• The Café (2018) offers the campus community a coffee/snack shop open after normal business hours, as well as another gathering space for social, study, and fellowship activities.

Florida Student Services. Johnson University provides a wide array of student services. Major services on the Florida campus include:

• Academic Advising. School deans assign a faculty advisor to each student to assist in selecting appropriate courses each term. Advisors also counsel students with vocational and personal concerns as needed.

• Academic Support Center. The Academic Support Center (ASC) provides general academic assistance, as well as course-specific assistance to students who request it. The ASC professionally manages and employs a variety of techniques, including peer tutoring and computer-assisted instruction. It provides training in time management, study skills, proofreading, writing, test-taking skills, and other aspects of university success. The Center also provides online academic coaching through WCONLINE5. Information and resources the ASC offers also appear online (https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/academic-support/). The Academic Support Center is located in the Library building.

• Admissions and Financial Aid Advising. Contact the Admissions Office to schedule an appointment to discuss admission to the University and financial aid opportunities. (Email: AdmissionsFL@JohnsonU.edu; Telephone: 888-468-6322 or 407-569-1172).

• Campus Store. The campus store is open weekdays throughout the school year and is located in the Chapman Center, in the Admissions Office. It stocks clothing with the University logo.

• Career Services. The Johnson University Career Services Center’s (CSC) programs and services provide a network for students, employers, alumni, and faculty, while training and preparing students to be servant leaders and ethical professionals. The CSC supports the mission and goals of Johnson University by assisting students in realizing their God-given potential through exploring and developing academic and career plans rooted in their faith and values. In partnership with alumni, parents, and employers, the CSC develops informational and experiential networks that support career exploration. It also provides career counseling, assistance with job searches, information regarding internships and experiential education, workshops, events and professional development. Johnson Ministry and Employment Opportunities posted on the website provide a current list of churches and employers searching for Johnson University students and alumni to fill positions (https://johnsonu-csm.symplicity.com). The Career Services Office is located in the Library building.

- Communications. The Student Life Office assigns each student a mailbox. Personnel post both U.S. mail and campus mail daily. The Student Community Director prepares announcements each week for distribution by email. The Student Life Office publishes a pictorial student directory (available on request) early in Fall Term and updates it in the Spring. Several University offices maintain informative bulletin boards. All electronic communications from the University to students are sent using students’ Johnson University email addresses. Students are responsible for checking their email regularly.

- Counseling Services. Students may seek informal counseling from faculty and staff at the Florida campus. Professional counseling with area clinicians may be arranged through the Student Life Office at a reduced fee. The Student Handbook lists area service providers who work with Johnson University. The Student Life Office provides financial assistance for the first visit and half of all subsequent visits for degree-seeking students. Confidentiality is assured. The Student Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUFL Student Handbook.

- Disability Services. Johnson University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 by providing reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities. The Academic Support Center on the Florida campus evaluates requests submitted through the Request for Reasonable Accommodations Form, which is located on the website, and determines appropriate accommodations. The Academic Support Center provides appropriate assistance.

- Standards of Conduct. Johnson University Florida is dedicated to training men and women for effective Christian service. Servants of Christ must live by the standards of Christ, including those for ethical behavior. Romans 12:1–2; Ephesians 2:10; 1 John 2:15–16; and 1 Corinthians 8:9–13; 10:23–24 outline God’s expectations for His people. The University recognizes it is difficult to judge the motives that produce behavior. However, it accepts the responsibility to establish minimal standards of conduct to enhance the quality of student life and to ensure that the school will not be compromised in its task as a Christian institution of higher learning.

- By joining the Johnson University community, students indicate they are willing to uphold the community standards, which include biblical, legal, and University standards. The standards are designed to encourage the pursuit of academic excellence, individual responsibility, respect for authority, and maturity. Enforcement of these standards balances personal responsibility with appropriate discipline based on love and grace. Critical components of successful discipline include the right attitude of a person’s heart and the adjustment of a person’s unacceptable behavior. While discipline is rarely viewed as pleasant, it is necessary for the healthy development of a person training for leadership and service. For more information, including disciplinary procedures, see the Student Handbook. The Student Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUFL Student Handbook.
• Food Services. Food services are provided to the Florida campus community through the Florida Commons Dining Hall and Café during posted hours. In addition, student apartments at Johnson University Florida are equipped with kitchens for food preparation. A variety of grocery stores and restaurants are nearby.

• Health Services/Health Insurance. Johnson University Florida is committed to making every reasonable effort to provide students with a safe and healthy learning and living environment. The University community has access to emergency, general medical, and specialized physicians in close proximity to the campus. On-campus medical services are limited to educational opportunities and general health information. Student Life Office personnel are available to direct students toward medical care and provide transportation, if necessary. The University requires all undergraduate students taking courses on campus to have health insurance. Students must either complete a waiver or the enrollment form on the Johnson University Portal at https://my.johnsonu.edu/ics. Student policy information is available on the Johnson University website Student Health page.

Undergraduate students are automatically enrolled in the University’s health insurance plan unless they provide proof of coverage by completing the waiver form. Students who enroll in the plan at the beginning of Fall Term pay in advance for a 12-month policy. Students who begin in the Spring Term pay a reduced amount due to the reduced length of the policy.

• Housing. Single students living in on-campus University housing are placed in apartments, which provide security, the experience of independent living with other Johnson University students, opportunities for Christian fellowship, and a family atmosphere. Apartments are equipped with satellite television service and wireless internet access. Campus amenities provided with housing include on-campus parking, laundry facilities, swimming pool, exercise room, student lounge with TV/VCR/DVD and stereo access, and plenty of space for recreation in the park-like atmosphere of the southern part of the campus. On-campus housing includes ground-level apartments designed and equipped for the physically disabled.

Johnson University Florida welcomes families and encourages them to become involved in the campus community. Students with families enjoy the pool and recreation rooms, as well as the play area, swings, bicycle racks, picnic tables, and an abundance of grassy areas for play. Childcare and employment opportunities are available on campus or within an easy drive.

• Information Technology (IT). The University provides an email address and on-campus Internet access to all students. Students may use the computer lab located in the Library. Student-owned computers used in the resident facilities require a network card to connect to the Johnson University network.

• Library Services. The Johnson University Florida Library provides students with a convenient place for research and study. It contains over 50,000 physical book volumes and over 7000 periodical volumes. Johnson University also provides access to over 400,000 digital books and approximately 16,000 full text digital journals. The library websites (https://johnsonu.edu/library/florida/ and https://johnsonu.edu/library/tennessee/) provide helpful overviews of resources and services, including links to the library catalogs. All students and faculty, whether on or off campus, may access digital library resources through the library website by using proxy software with their Johnson University logins and passwords.

- Textbook Services are offered online through Follett Bookstore Management, the leading textbook provider in the United States.

Florida Campus Life. Campus life is busy and rewarding. Most classes convene for one hour and fifteen minutes on either Tuesday and Thursday or Wednesday and Friday. Some intensive courses and seminars meet on Mondays, Saturdays, or evenings. Students attend chapel three times each week, two corporate worship services and one discipleship group meeting. Other hours are devoted to work, study, sports, and recreation. Students are encouraged to make Sunday a day of worship, rest, and service.

Johnson University has expectations for students with respect to class and chapel attendance, dress, and behavior that go beyond those of most institutions of higher learning. Indeed, students demonstrate their spiritual growth and leadership potential by the way they approach academic life. Not everyone is expected to be an “A” student, but all students must study hard to get along well at Johnson University.

The Student Services administrative area (also called Student Life) supports the mission of Johnson University by supplementing the University’s curricular programs with extra-curricular programs and services designed to help students develop the social, physical, and intellectual skills beneficial to service in Christian ministries and other strategic vocations. It provides students with programs and services designed to give them the opportunity to …

1. Develop and maintain healthy relationships with God, family, friends, and colleagues.
2. Participate in recreational, social, and service activities that positively impact the campus community, the local community, and the larger world.
3. Develop the self-discipline and leadership skills that encourage positive personal, vocational, and community development.

Student Life provides student support programs, services, and activities that contribute to the physical, emotional, and spiritual development of students. Student Life personnel assist with the transition to university life by helping students gain the most from their university experience. Students develop strong relationships with staff and faculty as Johnson University employees make themselves available in a wide array of Student Life activities. Detailed information about Student Life programs is available from the Student Life Office or the current Student Handbook. The Student Handbook can be found at https://johnsonu.edu/student-life/. Click on JUFL Student Handbook.
Johnson University Florida recognizes the non-academic achievement of students with its annual Citizenship Award, Son of JUFL, Daughter of JUFL, and various intercollegiate athletic awards. These awards are presented, along with academic honors, at events such as Convocation, Commencement, Awards Chapel, and the Athletic Awards Banquet.

Florida Student Activities. The University supports many activities designed to enhance student life and promote spiritual, intellectual, physical, professional, and social development. Examples include:

- Area Attractions. Johnson University Florida students enjoy a wide variety of recreational, entertainment, and sightseeing activities. Central Florida abounds with famous attractions and natural beauty that make the Orlando-Kissimmee area the world’s #1 tourist destination. Some of the most popular attractions nearby include Walt Disney World, Sea World, Universal Studios, Gatorland Zoo, and the Holy Land Experience. The area offers many other cultural benefits, including art galleries; parks; museums; a planetarium and science center; a performing arts center that regularly hosts orchestra, opera, and ballet performances; an excellent public library system; and more. Major convention centers and performing arts centers regularly host many outstanding artists from around the world. Swimming, deep-sea fishing, snorkeling, diving, and boating are great leisure activities available to those who live in Central Florida. Other opportunities within walking distance of the campus include the home of the Orlando City professional soccer training complex across the street; Osceola Heritage Park, home of the Silver Spurs Rodeo, down the street; the Osceola County Fairgrounds, just around the corner; and world-class bass fishing accessible in downtown Kissimmee.

- Chapel and Worship. The University expects students to be active in local churches. The Kissimmee area features a number of congregations from which to choose.

  Chapel meets Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 9:00 to 9:50 a.m. The purpose of chapel at Johnson University is to worship God in a way in which God is exalted and His people are formed into the likeness of Christ. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, the entire student body assembles for worship. These meetings usually consist of prayer, singing, and preaching, but other programs are common. While faculty and senior students provide several chapel sermons during the year, the University also invites area ministers, missionaries, and other guests to speak. Such experiences contribute to the total learning process and inform students of fields of service to consider as ministry for Christ.

  Smaller “Chapel Groups” meet on Wednesdays and focus on special interests. Students taking 5.9 credits or less are not required to enroll in chapel.

- Student Organizations/Clubs. Students are encouraged to form student clubs through the SGA around shared interests. Normally, these organizations are requested by interested students and function with the advisement of a faculty or staff sponsor. Currently active clubs on the Florida campus include the Timothy Club (preaching focus) and the Harvesters Club (missions focus).

- Music Ensembles. Vocal and instrumental ensembles are organized under the supervision of the School of Communication & Creative Arts. They perform for church programs, retreats, camps, chapel, and other school functions.
• Class Groups. For social enrichment and leadership development opportunities, students in traditional undergraduate degree programs are divided into class groups (freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes), each functioning within the SGA. These class groups provide a basis for social activities and spiritual growth. Classes share an important role in planning various on-campus and off-campus events, such as banquets, fellowship meals, community service projects, special interest trips, and social activities for the campus community. Classes also serve as a basis for the Student Government Association (SGA) in that class officers are chosen each year to represent the student body’s interests to the SGA and, through the SGA, to the University.

• Sports and Recreation. The University is a Division II member of the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) Non-conference games are scheduled each year with select colleges. Intercollegiate NCCAA conference teams currently fielded by Johnson University Florida are women’s volleyball, women’s basketball, men’s soccer, and men’s basketball. Johnson University sponsors various community-league men’s and women’s teams and also sponsors intramural sports and recreation activities on campus. The colors of the Johnson University Florida Suns are orange and white.

Opportunities for recreation on campus include an outdoor swimming pool (48’ x 32’, 3’-6’ deep); a gymnasium for volleyball, basketball, and other indoor games; a Student Union Building equipped for ping pong, billiards, television and movie viewing, board games, a fitness center, and a snack vending machine; fishing in campus ponds; a barbecue grill and picnic area; and lots of space for walking, jogging, personal reflection, and outdoor games. The Student Life Office organizes various recreational activities throughout the school year, both on campus and in the local community.

• Student Government Association (SGA). The purpose of the Student Government Association is to promote the spiritual well-being of the student body and to provide a forum for students to officially express their views to the institution and to work with Student Life personnel to plan events that benefit the University community including, but not limited to, events designed to enhance spiritual development. Representatives of each class (freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes) serve on the SGA.

• Service Learning. After their first term, all students participate in a program of Service Learning. Under the direction of the Service Learning Coordinator, students are expected to provide 16-20 hours of volunteer service each term to a church or non-profit community organization. This experience complements the classroom teaching by practical application through personal services to others.

• Other Activities. Other activities students enjoy on campus include drama productions, music groups (choir, traveling groups), and other activities sponsored by classes and the student government.

Virtual Campus: Johnson University Online

Online Programs. Johnson University offers associate’s, bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral programs fully-online or in hybrid format through Sakai, an open source learning management and collaboration system (LMS) authored and supported by a large number of major research universities (http://sakaiproject.org). Each course has its own customized and branded online course site through which students may interact with their professor and classmates, access course materials, explore digital library resources, engage in a variety of learning activities, submit assignments, and receive feedback and grades. Johnson University’s Department of Online Education, which includes two professionally-trained instructional designers, provides technical, pedagogical/andragogical, and other types of assistance to professors and students working in the online environment.

Services for Online Students. The University provides a variety of services to online students, including:

- Johnson University’s main website (www.johnsonu.edu), through which students may access general information about the university, along with news and updates, academic catalogs, digital library resources, financial aid information and application forms, and a variety of other resources and services.

- Sakai course sites, which facilitate online presentations, the sharing of educational resources, communications with the instructor and other students, assignments, and assessments of student learning.

- Johnson University email accounts, which facilitate communication between students, faculty, and support staff. This service is also available for students’ personal use.

- my.JohnsonU.edu portal, the Johnson University student portal, through which students may receive messages and conveniently check their financial aid status, account balance, course schedule, enrollment status, grade point average, and more.

- Disability Services. Johnson University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 by providing reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities. The Special Services Coordinator on the Tennessee campus evaluates requests submitted through the Request for Reasonable Accommodations Form, which is located on the website and the student portal (my.JohnsonU.edu), and determines appropriate accommodations. The Academic Support Center provides appropriate assistance.

- Online library services provided by the library staff. Students may access thousands of e-books and full-text journal articles, academic websites and search engines, a variety of research databases, research guides and tutorials, and more. Students may also contact professional library staff (http://www.johnsonu.edu/library) via telephone, email, chat, or videoconferencing systems for assistance with research and reference questions. The library website (http://www.johnsonu.edu/library) provides a helpful overview of resources and services, including a link to the library catalog. All students and faculty, whether on or off campus, may access digital library resources through the library website by using proxy software with their Johnson University logins and passwords.

- Technical training and support from the Department of Online Education staff, including Sakai online tutorials and orientation courses.

- A 24/7/365 online HelpDesk (http://johnsonu.echelp.org/) provided by Embanet (http://embanet.com).

- Online academic coaching is provided by the Academic Support Center staff and is accessible through WCONLINE5 (https://johnsonu.mywconline.com).
• Textbook Services are offered online through Follett Bookstore Management, the leading textbook provider in the United States or other providers, depending on the program. In most cases, students may order online and download digital textbooks to their home computers or other devices.

• Enrollment counseling provided by the Department of Online Education staff or program personnel.

• Other general services, such as admission counseling, transcript evaluations, financial aid counseling, student financial services, academic advising, registrar services, and program orientation.

• Other program-based services, such as the Doctoral Learning Community for Ph.D. students.
JOHNSON UNIVERSITY PERSONNEL

Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees of Johnson University is comprised of ten to fifteen members (and the president of the University as an ex-officio member) who are nominated by the Board Development Task Force for three-year terms with approval by the board. The Alumni Council of Seventy is informed of the nominations. Members come from the ranks of the ministry and various other professions representing supporting constituencies of the University. A majority of the members must be alumni of the University. The major responsibility of the Board of Trustees is to give general direction and oversight to the operation of the University. As the governing body of Johnson University, the trustees establish broad institutional policies, aid in securing financial resources to support the work of the University, select the chief administrative officer, and upon his recommendation, approve the other administrative officers.

IMPORTANT: Written and oral communication are important elements of the Arts & Sciences Core. Thus, students are strongly encouraged to complete the first-year Composition sequence, ENGL 1013 and ENGL 1014 or approved equivalents, before moving on to any 2000-level, 3000-level, and 4000-level courses.

ACCT 2013 Principles of Financial Accounting (3). Students learn the fundamental concepts, standards, and generally accepted principles of financial accounting from transactions through financial statements. Journal entries, special journals, and subsidiary ledgers are also examined.

ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City as Text (3). This course examines the importance of culture and worldview in an increasingly multicultural world, and will give special attention to “reading” their city in preparation for service. It explores cultural diversity and the necessary skills for identifying the traits of different cultures (including the student’s own), in order to equip them to effectively interact with people of other cultures as they seek to fulfill the Great Commission and do their part to extend the kingdom of God among all nations.

ANTH 2023 Introduction to Archaeology: History, Methods, & Great Discoveries (3). As one of the major subdivisions of anthropology, this course surveys the ways in which archaeology contributes to our understanding of the human past. We will define archaeology as the systematic recovery and analysis of the material remains from antiquity and examine its origin in classical and biblical studies. Participants will learn about how archaeologists use scientific techniques to study ancient sites and artifacts. The course will utilize a variety of resources, including films, museum study, and visiting speakers.

ANTH 3023 Peoples & Cultures of the Middle East (3). This course examines the ethnic groups and cultures of the modern Middle East and North Africa (MENA). While it focuses on the map as it appears today, the course also surveys essential historical background. By necessity, the study considers the relationship between this region’s modern boundaries and its traditional ethnic identities. In this process, the course highlights the MENA’s rich cultures and diverse people groups.

ANTH 3103 Race & Ethnicity in the American Experience (3). This course examines the complex issue of ethnicity and race in America from a cultural, historical, and social justice perspective. Students gain a framework for understanding and identifying ethnic and racial issues and are equipped to live justly within their chosen professional fields.

ANTH 3203 Practical Anthropology (3). This course introduces cultural anthropology with special attention to the application of an anthropological perspective to Christian mission. Students learn to examine the framework of beliefs, assumptions, values, and behaviors that shape peoples’ lives, in order to be more effective in ministry.

ANTH 3300 Cultural Anthropology (3). This course is an introduction to the social science known as cultural anthropology. Readings, films, websites, lectures, reports, and an exam provide a survey of vocabulary, concepts, and illustrations related to this branch of anthropology. Class lectures, outside reading, and films provide more in-depth case studies on the Near East Bedouin, Western Apache, and Old Order Amish, among others.

ARTS 3100 Art Appreciation (3). Students develop an understanding and appreciation of the visual arts through a study of the basic elements of art, the major movements of modern art, and art as a reflective and contributing force in society. Art from both Western and Global cultures is examined.

BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament (3). This survey familiarizes learners with a definition and description of the literature of the Old Testament. Key theological ideas, important characters, textual turning points, and historical sweeps are highlighted. Emphasis moves beyond what the OT says to why it matters.

BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament (3). This survey familiarizes learners with a definition and description of the literature of the New Testament. Key theological ideas, important characters, textual turning points, and historical sweeps are highlighted. Emphasis moves beyond what the NT says to why it matters.

BIBL 2103 Genesis (3). Genesis provides an essential introduction to the identity of God and the identity of the People of God. As backstory to Torah, Genesis offers readers the resume of God as creator and trustworthy guide for life. Prerequisite: BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament

BIBL 2113 Narratives in Samuel (3). The rise of David is one of the most compelling in all of Scripture. Study of selected texts in the books of 1st and 2nd Samuel reveal the art of narrative storytelling. David is a hero, but not without flaws. Prerequisite: BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament

BIBL 2123 On Kings and Kingship (3). Israel’s request for a king seemed like a good idea at the time but as the text of 1st and 2nd Kings reveals, the story of Israel’s monarchy is littered with tragic choices; even a few good kings could not reverse the slide to exile. Prerequisite: BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament

BIBL 2203 Matthew (3). This course is a study of the Gospel of Matthew, with special focus on how to interpret biblical narratives. In addition to literary considerations (plot, characters, structure, recurring themes, etc.), it also considers the Gospel of Matthew in various contexts (historical, theological, canonical, etc.). Prerequisite: BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament

BIBL 2213 Mark (3). This course is a study of the Gospel of Mark, with special focus on how to interpret biblical narratives. In addition to literary considerations (plot, characters, structure, recurring themes, etc.), it also considers the Gospel of Mark in various contexts (historical, theological, canonical, etc.). Prerequisite: BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament

BIBL 2223 Luke (3). This course is a study of the Gospel of Luke, with special focus on how to interpret biblical narratives. In addition to literary considerations (plot, characters, structure, recurring themes, etc.), it also considers the Gospel of Luke in various contexts (historical, theological, canonical, etc.). Prerequisite: BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament

BIBL 2233 John (3). This course is a study of the Gospel of John, with special focus on how to interpret biblical narratives. In addition to literary considerations (plot, characters, structure, recurring themes, etc.), it also considers the Gospel of John in various contexts (historical, theological, canonical, etc.). Prerequisite: BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament
BIBL 3101 Job & Theodicy (3). An exegetical study of the Book of Job with a focus on its contribution to understanding the theological problem of evil. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3102 Message of the Psalms (3). This exegetical study is prefaced by an introduction to OT poetic writing. Following this preface, attention is given to major Psalm types and the messages that they contain. Reflective thought and worship within the community of God’s people are also considered. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3107 Israel’s Wisdom Literature (3). Job, Proverbs, and Ecclesiastes are considered as biblical reflections on wisdom. A definition of wisdom/wisdom literature is explored, noting how the idea is used by biblical authors and how it is like/unlike ideas of Israel’s neighbors. Observations about wisdom in the NT conclude the course. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3201 Isaiah (3). This “fifth gospel” sketches the contours of promise against the cold realities of an age of empires. The message of the Servant goes out to the ends of the earth; it is a message that provides transforming peace for the People of God and destructive judgment for God’s enemies. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3203 Ezekiel & Daniel (3). An exegetical study of Ezekiel and Daniel, emphasizing the books’ relationship to their historical setting, their use of visionary language, their development of theological ideas, and their contribution to biblical theology. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3207 Preaching from the Minor Prophets (3). A combination of best practices in exegesis and homiletics to create and deliver contemporary sermons based on the writings of the Minor Prophets. Attention will be given to understanding each book within its historical and cultural context, identifying key passages and topics for twenty-first century preaching, and developing carefully researched, exegetically sound and culturally relevant sermons. Prerequisites: CMML 2013 Foundations of Biblical Preaching and THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3208 Jeremiah (3). This study of Jeremiah emphasizes the relationship of the text to the historical setting, the struggle between disappointment and hope, and the book’s contribution to biblical theology. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3213 The Minor Prophets (3). Select texts illustrate the role of the prophet as mediator between God and humanity. Understanding the message delivered by these communicators in their historical context reveals the timeless priorities of God and announces radical cultural critiques. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3301 Romans (3). This course places the Apostle Paul within the context of the first-century world (including both Jewish and Gentile dynamics) and traces movements of rhetoric and theology in the letter. The meaning of faith, grace, and virtue are explored. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3302 1–2 Corinthians (3). Paul’s letters to the Corinthian church are studied with a focus on the problems faced by the church and Paul’s solutions for correcting them. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3303 Early Epistles of Paul (3). The texts of Galatians and 1 and 2 Thessalonians are studied as a part of the ministry of the Apostle Paul. Special attention is given to false teaching (especially Judaizing errors), eschatology, and life in the Spirit. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3304 Prison Epistles of Paul (3). Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon are studied with attention to origins, relationship to the theology of Paul, and their use in constructing theology today. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3305 Pastoral Epistles (3). Study of the letters written to Timothy and Titus allow students to consider issues of authorship, exegesis, and application, including whether, or to what extent, the Pastorals provide organizational patterns for church leadership today. An original-language variant of the course is offered side-by-side under the name Greek Exegesis of the Pastoral Epistles. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3311 Letter to the Hebrews (3). A close look at this unique book is offered with consideration given to its theological and rhetorical method, its use of Israel’s Scriptures, and its contribution to the church’s theology. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3312 Petrine Letters & the Letter of Jude (3). An exegetical and historical study of 1 and 2 Peter and Jude, with consideration given to critical issues of the books’ origins, their rhetoric, their theological emphases, and their contribution to the church’s theology. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 3314 Book of Revelation (3). The movement and message of Revelation is studied against the larger background of apocalyptic literature. The victory of God and the renewal of creation brings closure to the biblical story and to the canon of the NT. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4103 Acts and the Mission of God (3). This course considers the Book of Acts as a rehearsal and projection of the biblical story. Old Testament and New Testament study are brought together in a context that promotes the discussion of intertextuality, Christian identity, multiculturalism, evangelism, and the mission of God. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4201 Gospel of Matthew (3). A historical and exegetical study of the English text of the Gospel of Matthew. The course focuses on the literary structure and themes of Matthew, with particular attention to the book’s portrayal of Christ as the fulfillment of Israel’s hopes. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4204 The Fourth Gospel & Johannine Letters (3). An exegetical and historical study of the Gospel of John, with careful attention to the development of theological themes in the Johannine Letters. Attention is given to the relationship of the Fourth Gospel to the Synoptics. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4205 The Gospels & the Historical Jesus (3). An analysis of historical and contemporary approaches to the historical Jesus. The course surveys traditional methods for identifying historical knowledge about Jesus, criticisms of those approaches, and proposals for ways forward. Students evaluate the significance of historical Jesus research for the contemporary Church and potential contributions of this research for developing and equipping disciples today. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4206 The Sermon on the Mount (3). A historical and exegetical study of Matthew 5–7, with careful consideration for the place of the Sermon on the Mount in Jesus’ declaration of the kingdom of God, the history of its interpretation, and its use in constructing theology and ethics in the modern world. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4207 Parables of Jesus (3). A critical study of Parables scholarship followed by an in-depth historical, grammatical, and textual analysis of the Parables of Jesus recorded in the Gospels. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4208 The Spirituality of Jesus (3). A critical reflection upon the nature, theology, and current literature of spiritual formation followed by a detailed analysis of the Gospels’ presentation of Jesus’ own spirituality. Special consideration is given to the personal and corporate disciplines Jesus practiced on a regular basis. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4209 Gospel of Mark (3). A historical and exegetical study of the English text of the Gospel of Mark. The course focuses on the narrative aspect of the Gospel (e.g. plot, characters, recurring themes) and raises questions about the performance and reception of the narrative in the early church. Students design and discuss performative and/or homiletical approaches to experiencing the Gospel in its original and contemporary contexts. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4301 Greek Exegesis of the Pastoral Epistles (3). A study of the Greek text of 1 Timothy, 2 Timothy, and the epistle to Titus. The course includes translation, exegesis of selected texts, and an attempt to locate the Pastorals in their early-church context. Students consider whether, or to what extent, the Pastorals provide organizational patterns for today’s church. Prerequisites: Prerequisites: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation and GREK 2200 Elementary Greek II. Special Considerations: Open to students who have completed two years of Greek or are currently enrolled in their second year of Greek.

BIBL 4401 Seminar in Genesis (3). Consideration of the special nature of Genesis 1–11, with attention to these chapters as case studies in theology, homiletics, the relationship of the Old and New Testaments, literary analysis, ancient text versions, and comparisons with other Ancient Near Eastern religious texts. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4404 Jewish World of the New Testament (3). A survey of the history and literature of late Second Temple Judaism, including readings from English translations of significant primary texts (the Pseudepigrapha, Philo, Josephus, and the Dead Sea Scrolls). Students identify and evaluate significant and/or recurring theological themes from these texts and compare and contrast them with parallel themes in the New Testament. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4405 Philosophical Backgrounds of the New Testament (3). A critical examination of the influence of classical philosophies on the theological interpretation of the New Testament. Some emphasis is given to the impact of classical philosophies on early Christian literature and how the application of Greek philosophical ideas gave rise to past heresies and ongoing theological debates. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4408 Archaeology in the Old Testament World (3). A survey and analysis of key archaeological finds related to the history and interpretation of the Old Testament. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 4410 Advanced Biblical Studies Seminar (3). An in-depth research seminar designed to advance a student’s skill in biblical research and critical thinking. Students demonstrate advanced research skills by producing a research paper on a topic of interest and presenting it in a seminar setting. Integral to the learning process is the constructive criticism offered by the professor and other students. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

BIBL 5100 Introduction to Graduate Studies: Orientation (0). An online orientation includes a brief investigation of the methods and tools of New Testament research and scholarly writing. It introduces appropriate indices, journals, and reference works in the Glass Memorial Library. One unit covers bibliography, note taking, and research writing skills.

BIBL 5103 New Testament Introduction (3). A study of the authorship, date, audience, and purpose of each book of the New Testament, with attention to differing approaches to these questions. The text and canon of the New Testament are also considered.

BIBL 5104 World of the New Testament (3). A study of the world of Christian origins. Focus is given to principles cities, institutions, movements, and individuals that contextualize the New Testament text.

BIBL 5107 Ministry of the Master (3). A graduate-level study of the ministry of Jesus as depicted in Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and various other biblical witnesses. The aim of the course is to acquire knowledge of Jesus in his historical setting and to make contemporary applications of His ministry for the Christian.

BIBL 5111 Story of Scripture (3) Offered to participants in the Knoxville Fellows, which is part of The Fellows Initiative whose mission is to provide post-graduate Christian leadership development programs in key communities, considering the Christian story as a story about hospitality—how God draws the world to himself through radical self-giving love—and the question: How can I participate in this great story?

BIBL 5160 Integrating Biblical Values & Education (3). An introduction to the theory and practice of New Testament exegesis, the tools and methods of biblical research, and the academic writing process.

BIBL 5207 Old Testament Book Study Book of Amos (3). An exegetical study of Amos, bringing together issues of history, culture, language, rhetoric and theology in the interpretation of the book.

BIBL 6101 Gospel of Matthew (3). A detailed study of the Gospel of Matthew. Through reading, writing, and individual research, students explore the meaning of the text in its first-century setting, gaining experience in using the tools of biblical study.

BIBL 6105 Acts (3). A study of the text of the Acts of the Apostles with special attention to the historical, cultural, linguistic, chronological, archaeological, and theological issues crucial for understanding this book. Literary features of this text are analyzed in their relation to the message of the New Testament book.

BIBL 6106 Romans (3). This course focuses on Paul—as author of the Epistle to the Romans—and the text of Romans itself. The course places Paul within the context of the first-century Roman imperial world (including both Jewish and pagan dynamics) and traces the rhetoric and theology of Romans in terms of this context. Students also focus on the overall movement and argumentation of Romans and place each section of Paul’s epistle within this overall movement.

BIBL 6107 Ministry of the Master (3). A graduate-level study of the ministry of Jesus as depicted in Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and various other biblical witnesses. The aim of the course is to acquire knowledge of Jesus in his historical setting and to make contemporary applications of His ministry for the Christian.

BIBL 6201 Honors Thesis (3). Students who intend to pursue a terminal degree in New Testament research may with the prior approval of the faculty on review of the student’s portfolio of written work completed in the program, write a carefully researched, appropriately documented, cogent, clear paper of about 75 pages on a selected New Testament subject of interest to the student and conducted under the guidance of a faculty advisor. Typically, the honors thesis requires two terms to complete.

BIBL 6203 Thesis Continuation (0). Students continue the project begun in BIBL 6201 Honors Thesis.

BIBL 6207 1 Corinthians: Greek Text (3). A Greek-based study of Paul’s first letter to the Corinthians. Through translation, individual research, and discussion, students explore the meaning of the text in its first-century setting, gaining experience in using the tools of biblical study.

BIBL 6209 Research Project(3). Most students in the New Testament Research track and the Customized Concentration track will complete a paper of approximately 30 pages under the supervision of a faculty member over a single term. The paper will summarize and evaluate the present state of research on a particular issue related to the New Testament or a passage in the New Testament. The paper for the Customized Concentration may be an interdisciplinary project that combines this summary and evaluation with methods, perspectives, or problems associated with a second academic or professional discipline.

BIBL 6210 Prison Epistles: Greek Text (3). A Greek-based study of Paul’s letters to the Ephesians, the Philippians, the Colossians, and to Philemon. Through translation, individual research, and discussion, students explore the meaning of the text in its first-century setting, gaining experience in using the tools of biblical study.

BIBL 6227 Apocalypse: Greek Text (3). Supervised study of the Greek Text of the Book of Revelation to develop skills in translation and exegesis and knowledge of exegetical resources.

BIBL 6303 Translation & Exegesis of New Testament Texts (3). Students apply Greek language and exegetical skills learned in earlier courses to a selected text(s) from the New Testament. As students employ this systematic approach to the Scriptures, they gain deeper knowledge of the content, structure, and theology of New Testament writings; continue to strengthen and develop their translation and exegetical skills; and become better equipped to use those skills in the service of Christ.

BIBL 6505 Translation & Exegesis of Old Testament Texts (3). Students apply Hebrew language and exegetical skills learned in earlier courses to a selected text(s) from the Old Testament. As students employ this systematic approach to the Scriptures, they gain deeper knowledge of the content, structure, and theology of Old Testament writings; continue to strengthen and develop their translation and exegetical skills; and become better equipped to use those skills in the service of Christ.

BIOL 1114 Principles of Biology I (4). This course is required for all life science majors as part of a 2-semester sequence with BIOL 1124, which should be taken during the same year. The first semester emphasizes foundational biological principles and integrates cellular-level process such as metabolism, cell division, gene regulation and inheritance with global processes such as energy and nutrient exchange and natural selection. Includes a three-hour weekly lab. Offered every fall.

BIOL 1124 Principles of Biology II (4). This course is a continuation of BIOL 1114. The second semester emphasizes the diversity of life across kingdoms. Emphasis will be on understanding how cellular processes contribute to organismal-level physiology across multiple kingdoms, including growth and reproduction processes. Ecological concepts such as interaction within and between populations and the abiotic environment will also be introduced. Includes a three-hour weekly lab. Offered every spring. Prerequisite: B or better in BIOL 1114, or equivalent.

BIOL 2014 Fundamentals of Biology and Sustainability (4). In this course, students will learn about the organization of life from cells to organisms to ecosystems. This course will explore exchange of energy and resources in ecosystems, and students will be introduced to ways in which natural selection and inheritance of genes drives ecosystem composition. From this foundation, students will examine how human activities impact the natural world in which we reside and assess the sustainability of these practices and behaviors. Students will be challenged to examine the ethics of sustainability in light of Christian stewardship. In the laboratory, students will directly consider specimens from microscopic organisms to whole ecosystems, and they will implement field and laboratory techniques for assessing ecosystem health.

BIOL 2024 Fundamentals of Microbiology with Lab (4). An introductory course focusing on microbes (bacteria, fungi, yeast, protozoa, algae and viruses) and multicellular animal parasites. Lecture topics include cellular morphology and physiology, metabolism and growth, relationships with host and environment, and genetics. Laboratory studies provide experience with microscopy and culture techniques necessary to study bacterial in a research setting.

BIOL 2034 Anatomy and Physiology I with Lab (4). An introduction to structure and function of the human body and is designed for students pursing health-related fields or majoring in Life Sciences. Course topics begin with discussions of organic chemicals and cells before progressing to tissues, organs and body systems, including the integumentary, skeletal, articular, muscular, and nervous systems. Discussions will include the significance of system homeostasis upon organismal function and will also encourage students to integrate an increased understanding of the body into a framework of Christian worldview. Course includes lecture and integrated laboratory applications each week.

BIOL 2044 Anatomy and Physiology II with Lab (4). A continued introduction to the structure and function of the human body with respect to the blood, circulatory, immune, respiratory, digestive, excretory, endocrine, and reproductive systems and is designed for students pursing health-related fields or majoring in Life Sciences. Discussions will consider contributions of multiple body systems to overall homeostasis. The course emphasizes interdependence of body systems and encourages students to use the course material to deepen Christian faith. Course includes lecture and integrated laboratory applications each week. Prerequisite: successful completion of BIOL 2034 or equivalent.

BIOL 2054 Cellular and Molecular Biology (4). Topics includes a history of cell biology, orientation to organic chemistry and biomolecules, cell boundary, cell physiology (including energy metabolism), cell division, mitosis, and an introduction to genetic regulation of physiological processes. Labs will introduce students to historical and current techniques in microscopy, cytology and molecular extraction, purification and analysis. Includes a three-hour weekly lab. Offered every Fall. Prerequisites: B or better in BIOL 1114 and BIOL 1124, or equivalent.

BIOL 2204 Anatomy & Human Body Systems with Lab (4). This course acknowledges the dual contributions of body structure and physiological processes to body system function and to the maintenance of life. Students will acquire an introductory knowledge of the human body, the “temple of God,” and of body systems, including the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous, endocrine, cardiovascular, lymphatic, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive systems.
The course will primarily address the normal function of body systems and will secondarily address the impact of body system homeostatic imbalance in disease causation. The course operates on an integrated lecture-lab model, and during each class students transition several times between a lecture-based environment and a hands-on, lab-based learning environment. Course activities include traditional lecture, online resources, anatomical models and figures, and physiological apparatus (EKG machine, sphygmomanometer, stethoscope, CO₂ measurement devices, and blood typing and urinalysis kits).

BIOL 3003 Genetics (3). Lecture topics include principles of gene expression and heredity, including statistics and probability related to heredity. Human health considerations related to genetic background are also introduced. Students will be asked to apply theological principles to ethical and moral considerations that arise as a result of genetic knowledge, research avenues, and therapeutic applications. Includes a three-hour weekly lab. Offered odd-numbered Fall terms. Prerequisites: B or better in BIOL 1114 and BIOL 1124, or equivalent. Completion of MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics before taking this course is recommended.

BIOL 3013 Ecology (3). This course explores interactions between living organisms and between living things and their environment. Principles of population and community dynamics, nutrient cycling and management, and restoration biology will all be introduced and discussed in the context of case studies. A variety of ecological systems will be introduced, including human-created and natural systems. Historical land management philosophies in the United States and ethical considerations for the future as Christian stewards of our physical resources will be considered. Prerequisites: B or better in BIOL 1114 and BIOL 1124, or equivalent.

BIOL 3304 Animal Biology (4). This course will explore the range of diversity in animal taxonomy, morphology, development, and ecological interactions. Students will learn comparative gross and tissue anatomy to explore animal systems between diverse organisms. Additional topics related to current events will also be discussed and explored through student research and writing. In the accompanying lab, students will complete dissections and design and conduct at least one experiment. Some laboratory exercises will be completed outdoors, exploring local fauna. Includes a three-hour weekly lab. Offered odd-numbered Spring terms. Prerequisites: B or better in BIOL 1114 and BIOL 1124, or equivalent.

BIOL 3404 Plant Biology (4). This course will explore the range of diversity in plant taxonomy, anatomy, development, physiology and ecology. Additional topics related to current events will also be discussed and explored through student research and writing. In the accompanying lab, students will complete a multi-week whole-plant physiology experiment. Some laboratory exercises will be completed outdoors, exploring local flora. Includes a three-hour weekly lab. Offered even-numbered Fall terms. Prerequisites: B or better in BIOL 1114 and BIOL 1124, or equivalent.

BIOL 3604 Biodiversity: Concepts and Methods (4). This course will introduce the core concepts of biodiversity with an emphasis on quantitative reasoning. In particular, students will use quantitative techniques to discern and describe patterns of biodiversity, discover and understand processes that generate and maintain biodiversity, and predict consequences of the loss and/or conservation of biodiversity. Foundational to these core concepts is an understanding of “local” diversity. Accordingly, a significant portion of the course will be dedicated to learning methods for the measurement, estimation and comparison of biodiversity. In the laboratory, students will explore core concepts of biodiversity with an emphasis on quantitative reasoning as they design and carry out a study pertaining to the measurement, estimation and comparison of biological diversity. Students will report and present their results.

BIOL 4013/THEO 3013 Special Topics in Life Sciences/Biology Ethics (3). Topics include discussions of the nature of science and faith, bioethics and science-informed public policy. Students will use historical perspective, theological framework, and scientific literature to evaluate chosen topics and case studies. Students will employ metacognition in their writing and in creating presentation for peer teaching during the class period. Prerequisites: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation and senior standing in the Life Sciences major program. This course may be repeated, as different topics are explored between offerings.

BUSN 2013/ECON 2103 Economics (3). Students learn and apply macro and micro-economic principles. Topics include theories related to consumer and market behavior, determination of price, profit, output and GDP, supply and demand, fiscal policy, and distribution of income.

BUSN 2043 Business Essentials (3). This course focuses on developing essential competencies necessary for business professionals, some of which include critical thinking, decision making, and the use of computer applications for problem solving. Topics include: Case Study Analysis, Project Development, and Application Software.

BUSN 3003/PSYC 3003 Organizational Behavior (3). This course will explore human behavior in a variety of organizational contexts. Topics include: managing individuals, leadership, motivation and communication, group and team dynamics, organizational diversity and cross-cultural effects, power and politics, conflict management, organizational change, and the history of organizational behavior as a discipline.

BUSN 3043 Business Communication (3). This course will explore the theories and practices of written and oral communication in business and professional settings. Students will examine internal and external communication and the use of technology to facilitate the communication process. Prerequisites: BUSN 2043 Business Essentials and ENGL 1013 English Composition I

BUSN 3053 Business Finance (3). Students will study business financial management. Emphasis is on financial statement analysis, time value of money, management of cash flow, risk and return, and sources of financing. Prerequisites: MGMT 3013 Principles of Management and MATH 2100 Quantitative Literacy

BUSN 3063 Business Analytics & Decision Making (3). Students learn how to analyze, synthesize, and make decisions using internal and external data and indicators to optimize operational decision making. Prerequisites: BUSN 2043 Business Essentials and MATH 2100 Quantitative Literacy

BUSN 4023 Organizational Strategy & Policy (3). This course provides students with an opportunity to synthesize and integrate the various courses and topics introduced throughout the Business Administration program. Emphasis will be on the development, implementation, and analysis of organization strategies and policies that impact a firm’s survival and success in a progressively competitive global marketplace. Prerequisite: Senior Standing

BUSN 4043 Business Law (3). Students learn the ethical and legal environment of business, the impact of legislation and regulations on business activity and the role of law and ethics in the decision making process. Prerequisite: BUSN 2043 Business Essentials include the analysis and application of leadership skills, styles, and behaviors. To improve leadership effectiveness, students will engage in leadership self-assessments to determine their current leadership strengths and weaknesses. The student will prepare an Individual Leadership Development Plan (ILDP) as a tool for continuous improvement. Prerequisite: Junior/Senior Standing or Dean approval

BUSN 4333 Internship (3). This course offers students a formal and practical work experience opportunity intended to extend their professional skills beyond the classroom while also providing an opportunity to apply and analyze classroom knowledge and skills appropriate for the workplace. Entrepreneurship students have the opportunity to implement or take to market an entrepreneurial venture, participate in a n entrepreneurial start up, or participate in an entrepreneurship competition. Prerequisite: Junior/Senior standing BUSN 5000 MBA Orientation (0). Orientation provides students with valuable information to assist in their transition to the online M.B.A. program. Students gain an understanding of program requirements, technology, and services along with preparation for business learning.

BUSN 5013 Advanced Operations Management (3). Students examine approaches to managing the design, operation, and improvement of systems and processes, as well as the delivery of a firm’s products and services.

BUSN 5023 Advanced Business Analytics (3). The purpose of this course is to teach students how to make optimum decisions as a result of analyzing data. Additionally, students will be able to effectively communicate the results of the data analysis in a clear and concise manner.

BUSN 5033 Marketing Management (3). Students explore the strategies of how a company decides what to sell, identify its target market(s), and the best method(s) of reaching them. An emphasis will be placed on developing a Marketing Plan for a profit or nonprofit organization.

BUSN 5113 Accounting for Strategic Decision Making (3). Students gain enhanced knowledge, analytical tools, and interpretation skills to help leaders make better operating, investing, and financing decisions. Topics include GAAP (Generally Accepted Accounting Principles) financial statement presentation and reporting, underlying accounting principles and conventions, and cost accounting language and topics, such as cost-volume-profit analysis, resource allocation, budgeting and variance analysis, and relevant costs.

BUSN 5123 Business Law/PSYC 5123 Ethical and Legal Issues (3). Students explore the legal and ethical issues of business. Since the law is the foundation to societal ethics, students study and discuss basic business law concepts such as business organizations, real property, contracts, employment, sales & warranties, personal property, risk devises, governmental regulation and the court system. The course enables students to understand and articulate the development of ethical and moral frameworks by which operational decisions can be made and professional moral conduct enhanced. Students utilize a variety of ethical models and perspectives that shed light on ethical operational issues.

BUSN 5213 Advanced Corporate Finance (3). Students focus on the functions of corporate finance, which includes evaluating financial statements and ratios, asset utilization, and working capital models.

BUSN 5223 Managerial Economics (3). This course examines micro and macro economic forces in organizations and throughout the economy. The student gains insight into how the markets function, including an understanding of how individual managers and consumers generate the fundamentals of market supply and demand, governing the prices and quantities sold in all economic transactions.

CCCU 3000 Best Semester (12). Go to www.bestsemester.com for detailed information.

CDC 4000 Credit by Demonstrated Competency (variable). See Academic Policies & Procedures – Credit by Demonstrated Competency.

CEDF 2033 Introduction to Educational Technology (3). This course introduces students to the use of educational technology in the classroom, including application of instructional design principles for the use of technology to enhance the quality of teaching and learning in the classroom. The course includes hands-on experience with educational media emerging technologies, hardware and software, and peripherals for the personal computer as well as data-driven decision-making processes. It also includes identification of appropriate software for classroom applications, classroom procedures for integrating technologies with emphasis on legal and ethical use, and effective instructional strategies for teachers and students in regard to research, analysis, and demonstration of technology. Students will be provided an overview of the National Educational Technology Standards. (Florida only)

CHEM 1114 General Chemistry I (4). This course is an introduction to chemistry, including chemical formulas, periodic law, equations, stoichiometry, structure of the atom, chemical bonding, thermodynamics and other related topics. The laboratory portion emphasizes proper technique in measuring, making calculations, and the collection and interpretation of data. Includes a 3-hour weekly lab. Math readiness: Students will need a strong algebra background to be successful in this course. Students with a math score of less than 21 ACT or 500 SAT must complete MATH 2200 College Algebra or an equivalent course with a B or better before taking this course.

CHEM 1124 General Chemistry II (4). This continuation of CHEM 1114 is an introduction to chemistry, including gas laws, solutions, acids, bases, salts, kinetics, electrochemistry and other related topics. The laboratory portion emphasizes proper technique in measuring, calculations, analysis and interpretation of quantitative data. Includes a 3-hour weekly lab. Pre-requisite: C or better in CHEM 1114.

CHEM 2014 Chemistry for Health Sciences w/Lab (4). Chemistry for Health Sciences is an introductory course designed exclusively for Pre-Nursing majors. The course is designed to first examine fundamental chemical concepts including measurement and unit conversion, atomic and molecular structure of matter, chemical bonding and intermolecular forces, solutions, acid/base chemistry, and organic chemistry. The goal of the course is to then develop an understanding of how these concepts relate to biomolecules, including carbohydrates, lipids, and proteins, and their application to physiological functions. The laboratory portion of the course provides firsthand experiences that inform, illustrate, expand, and reinforce major concepts discussed in lecture. Student will need a strong algebra background to be successful in this course. Students with a math score of less than 21 ACT or 500 ACT must complete College Algebra or an equivalent course with a B or better before taking this course or with approval from the Instructor.

CHIN 1100/2100 Chinese I (3). This course introduces students to the basics of Chinese language for interaction with Chinese populations worldwide. Students learn some of the Chinese writing system, but the course is designed with an emphasis on the acquisition of spoken Chinese for use in everyday conversation. The course focuses on the relationship between language and culture, gives students a small repertoire of theological vocabulary, and explains strategies for continuous progress in the language.

CHIN 1200/2200 Chinese II (3). This course builds on the language studied in Chinese I. Students begin more serious work on learning the Chinese writing system, but with a continued emphasis on the acquisition of spoken Chinese for use in everyday conversation. The course focuses on the relationship between language and culture, gives students a small repertoire of theological vocabulary, and explains strategies for continuous progress in the language. Prerequisite: CHIN 2100 Chinese I or placement.

CHIN 2300/3200 Chinese III (3). This course continues to cover topics in everyday conversational Chinese. Students practice vocabulary which will be useful for living in China, Taiwan, or among other diaspora Chinese populations and interacting with those Chinese friends. This course reviews and expands previously studied topics. It also covers new topics, such as health, personality and feelings, and the full repertoire of structural words. Finally, students continue their study of Chinese characters and theological vocabulary in preparation for their study of 1 John for Chinese IV. Prerequisite: CHIN 2200 Chinese II or placement.

CHIN 2400/3210 Chinese IV (3). This course continues to cover core vocabulary for everyday conversations but also covers basic vocabulary necessary for personal outreach and Bible reading. Specifically, students focus their attention on reading and writing certain Bible verses and texts from the book “Studies on the Way.” Prerequisite: CHIN 3200 Chinese III or placement.

CMCF 4013 Strategies of Children’s Ministry (3). This course prepares the student to develop and maintain an effective ministry to children, ages 0-11. This course introduces strategies, programs, ministries, and leadership skills necessary for effective spiritual nurture of children. A practicum is part of the course. Prerequisite: CMFM 2013 Foundations of Student and Children’s Ministry.

CMCH 3220 Ministry to Children (3). This course prepares the student to develop and maintain an effective ministry to children, ages 0-11. It examines the cultural environment in which children are living and introduces strategies, programs, ministries, and leadership skills necessary for effective spiritual nurture of them. A practicum is part of the course. Prerequisite: CMYM 2100 Youth & Children’s Ministry Fundamentals.

CMCH 3231 Children’s Ministry Internship (1). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experience to develop further skills they need for ministry. Prerequisites: CMCH 3221 Children’s Ministry Internship Preparation and completion of approximately 90 credit hours and at least one course from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students majoring in Children’s Ministry.

CMCH 3400 Administration of Early Childhood Education Programs (3). This course considers principles of administration and their application to early childhood programs. Students examine the role of state standards and national accreditation requirements as they relate to the implementation of principles of administration in early childhood programs.

CMCH 3600 Early Childhood Program Development (3). This course focuses on preschool program and curriculum development. From the perspective of a biblically integrated Christian preschool, students consider how to develop curriculum layouts, developmentally appropriate units, and how to integrate biblical standards within the total program.

CMCH 3621 Children’s Ministry 7-Month Internship I (1). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Part I includes internship work typically completed from June through August. Prerequisites: CMPR 3301 Congregational Ministry Internship Preparation, completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students majoring in Children’s Ministry.

CMCH 3729 Children’s Ministry 7-Month Internship II (10.5). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Part II includes internship work typically completed from September through December. Prerequisites: CMPR 3301 Congregational Ministry Internship Preparation and CMCH 3621 Children’s Ministry 7-Month Internship I and completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students majoring in Children’s Ministry.

CMCM 3100 Introduction to Counseling Ministry (3). This course introduces students to the ministry of counseling and provides an orientation to the counseling field. This orientation includes the historical roots of the field, the person of the counselor, ethics, multicultural considerations, and professional development through the lens of a biblical worldview. Philosophical foundations for the integration between theology and psychology are also introduced and explored to aid the student in developing a sound worldview for counseling ministry.

CMCM 4110 Counseling Ministry Practicum (3). The practicum experience provides students the opportunity to integrate theory, knowledge, and skills acquired in the classroom through supervised experience in community ministries or churches. Prerequisites: SPSY 1100 Interpersonal & Family Relationships and CMCM 3100 Introduction to Counseling Ministry.

CMFM 2013 Foundations of Student & Children’s Ministry (3). This course focuses on the foundations of next generation ministry including a theology of children’s and student ministry, child & student development, understanding culture and its implications for ministry with young people, and the foundations for developing lesson plans to teach both children’s and students.

CMFM 3013 Theories of Family Ministry (3). This course will focus on developing a multi-generational approach to ministry. Theology and theories of family ministry will be explored including family systems theory, family ministry models, and best practices for ministry to the whole family.

CMML 1012 Introduction to Ministry Leadership (2). This course provides students with biblical and practical resources for exploring ministry callings, establishing healthy personal and interpersonal skills for ministry effectiveness, and embracing the role of higher education in equipping for ministry leadership.

CMML 2013 Foundations of Biblical Preaching (3). This course equips students with the basic skills necessary to prepare and present biblical sermons. It gives special attention to studying a biblical text for preaching purposes; developing thesis statements, outlines, and support materials; and communicating effectively with contemporary listeners.

CMML 3003 Ministry Leadership Internship (3). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Prerequisites: completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area.

CMML 3013 Theories and Practices of Biblical Teaching (3). This course equips students with the skills necessary to prepare and present biblical lessons. It gives special attention to studying a biblical text for teaching purposes, developing thesis statements and objectives, interactive and creative strategies, and utilizing group dynamics to help individuals grow spiritually. Prerequisite: CMML 2013 Foundations of Biblical Preaching.

CMML 3113 Spiritual Formation for Ministry (3). This course provides students with biblical, historical, and practical perspectives on how God works in believers through his Holy Spirit to conform them to the image of Christ and empower them for ministry. It gives special attention to utilizing personal and interpersonal discipleship strategies to help individuals grow spiritually. NOTE: School of Congregational Ministry students who are also on the Honor’s Program can substitute CMPR 3600 Spiritual Formation: Honor’s Program for CMML 3113. Upon approval of the School of Congregational Ministry dean and the instructor of COMM 4998, students may substitute COMM 4998 Spiritual Formation and Creativity for CMML 3113.

CMML 3213 Special Issues in Ministry Leadership (1–3). This course equips students through an elective, guided, high impact experience. Options include seminars and conferences, guest lectureships, and field trips. Special attention is given to providing students engagement with diverse ministers, ministry roles, and ministry models. NOTE: Three credits are required.

CMML 3313 Conflict and Communication (3). This course equips students with the self-understanding and skills necessary for effective and transformative communication in individual, group, and congregational/organizational settings.

CMML 3621 Ministry Leadership 7-Month Internship I (1). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Part I includes internship work typically completed from June through August. Prerequisites: completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area.

CMML 3729 Ministry Leadership 7-Month Internship II (12.5). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Part II includes internship work typically completed from September through December. Prerequisites: CMML 3621 Ministry Leadership 7-Month Internship I and completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area.

CMML 4013 Effective Ministry Leadership (3). This course equips students to guide churches toward the fulfillment of congregational values, mission, and vision. It gives special attention to biblical, cultural, and organizational insights for helping large groups grow spiritually.

CMML 4113 Pastoral Care in Ministry (3). This course equips students with the skills necessary to carry out common pastoral tasks in ministry leadership. It gives special attention to utilizing basic counseling skills in ministry settings.

CMML 4212 Senior Seminar in Ministry Leadership (2). This course equips students to integrate previous insights and experiences into a refined philosophy of ministry and sense of leadership ministry calling. Special attention is given to portfolio development and ministry hiring policies and practices.

CMMN 5110 Foundations for Understanding and Applying the Bible (1.5). This course presents basic principles related to the interpretation and application of major literary genres in the English Bible. Special attention is given to utilizing key resources in developing an informed and discerning approach to understanding Scripture.

CMMN 5120 Foundations for Biblical Preaching & Teaching (1.5). This course equips students with basic skills needed to prepare and deliver accurate and effective sermons or lessons. This course includes a lab component in which recorded student lessons or sermons are assessed.

CMMN 5130 Foundations for Implementing Restoration Movement Principles (1.5). This course equips students with an understanding of the key principles valued by the Restoration Movement through a historical overview of key Scriptures, persons, and documents. Special attention is given to practical opportunities and challenges that impact contemporary implementation of these principles.

CMMN 5140 Foundations for Spiritual Formation (1.5). This course helps students understand key Scriptures and apply key practices that help foster increasing spiritual maturity in themselves and others.

CMMN 5150 Foundations for Effective Leadership Ministry (1.5). This course equips students with a practical understanding of crucial Scriptures and practices that shape spiritual leadership in a variety of ministry roles and contexts.

CMMN 5160 Foundations for Understanding the Entire Story of Scripture (1.5). This course equips students with an overview of the major events and people of the Bible in a way that helps them understand and communicate the relevance of individual texts within the overall framework of God’s revelation in Scripture.

CMOL 3210 Ministry Leadership Internship (3). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experience to further develop the skills they need for ministry. Prerequisites: Completion of approximately 90 credit hours and at least one course from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students enrolled in the online Ministry Leadership program.
CMPR 2110 Biblical Teaching and Preaching (3). This course equips students with the fundamental skills necessary to prepare and present biblical lessons and sermons. It gives special attention to studying a biblical text for teaching and preaching purposes; developing thesis statements, outlines, and support materials; and communicating effectively with contemporary students and listeners.

CMPR 3013 Theories of Biblical Preaching (3). This course builds upon the principles learned in Foundations of Biblical Preaching, leading students to a deeper understanding of the history and theology of preaching, various sermon forms, the significance of and methods for developing sermon series, and the application of Scripture to listeners’ lives. Prerequisite: CMML 2013 Foundations of Biblical Preaching.

CMPR 3110 Pastoral Ministry (3). This course focuses on many of the day-to-day responsibilities of the pastoral ministry, such as applying for positions, ministry beginnings and endings, relationships with elders and staff, weddings, funerals, baptisms, visitations, office management, and discipleship ministries. Students also examine the underlying theology of the ministry of all believers.

CMPR 3120 Spiritual Formation for Ministry (3). This course explores two areas: The first is how God works in believers through his Holy Spirit to conform them to the image of Christ and empower them for ministry. The second is how to help others grow spiritually. Students survey the history and theology of spiritual formation, examine biblical and historical spiritual disciplines, experience spiritual practices firsthand, develop a “rule of life,” and consider the most effective ways of fostering spiritual maturity in individuals, groups, and congregations. NOTE: School of Congregational Ministry students who are also on the Honor’s Program can substitute CMPR 3600 Spiritual Formation: Honor’s Program for CMPR 3120. Also, upon approval of the dean of the School of Congregational Ministry and the instructor of COMM 4998, students can substitute COMM 4998 Spiritual Formation and Creativity for CMPR 3120.

CMPR 3213 Race, Culture, & The Church (3). A study of the sociological indicators, theories, and practices pertaining to race, culture, and the growing trend toward intentional multi-ethnic church planting/building. Students will become familiarized with the theories, foundations, opportunities, and challenges that accompany these areas, and applications across various ministry contexts will be explored.

CMPR 3231 Preaching Internship (1). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experience to develop further skills they need for ministry. Prerequisites: CMPR 3221 Preaching Internship Preparation and completion of approximately 90 credit hours and at least one course from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students majoring in Preaching & Church Leadership or Preaching and Youth Ministry.

CMPR 3301 Congregational Ministry Internship Preparation (1). Typically completed during Spring Session II, this course consists of orientation meetings, required paperwork, required reading assignments, creating a resume and finding a field mentor who agrees to supervise, mentor, and evaluate the student.

CMPR 3311 Congregational Ministry Internship Assessment (1). Typically completed during fall session I, upon the completion of the internship, students return a notebook that consists of journal entries, reading plans, mentor meetings and interviews, lesson plans and critiques and write a final report evaluating the internship experience. The course concludes with a final interview with the Congregational Ministry Internship Director. Prerequisites: CMPR 3301 Congregational Ministry Internship Preparation and the internship.

CMPR 3410 Advanced Biblical Teaching & Preaching (3). This course furthers the principles learned in CMPR 2110 Biblical Teaching and Preaching, leading students to a deeper understanding of teaching and preaching God’s Word with integrity and relevance. The course gives particular attention to biblical and theological backgrounds, various lesson and sermon forms, the development of a lesson or sermon series, and the application of Scripture to listeners’ lives. The course includes extensive collaboration, practice teaching and preaching, and evaluation. Prerequisites: CMPR 2110 Biblical Teaching and Preaching.

CMPR 3420 Group Internship (1). Group Internship is a long weekend group field experience. Under supervision of a faculty member, students visit a church and lead in a variety of ministry responsibilities as performed in the local church.

CMPR 3430 Hospice Internship (1). Students participate in an internship experience in a hospice setting.

CMPR 3440 Mentored Ministry Experience (1). This experience allows students to spend an hour per week, throughout a term, with a local minister for purposes of guidance, mentoring, and hands-on ministry experience.

CMPR 3450 Clinical Setting Internship (1). Students participate in an internship experience in a clinical setting, such as a hospital or a home for the disabled.

CMPR 3460 Weekend Ministry Internship (1). Students gain academic credit for regularly scheduled weekend ministries. To meet the internship requirement, students who are engaged in these ministries should consult with the Ministry Internship Coordinator before registering.

CMPR 3600 Spiritual Formation: Honors Program (3). This course is an introductory study of the process of spiritual formation in the Christian life. The purpose of the course is to assist Christian leaders and future leaders in their own spiritual formation and their ability to direct others in the journey toward Christ-likeness. Elements of the course include an introduction to the classical spiritual disciplines, a historical overview of the church’s use of the disciplines, and practical integration of the disciplines into the life of the individual and the life of the church. Special Considerations: This course is limited to juniors and seniors in the Honors Program and capped at 15 participants. Other students may enroll on a space available basis with the permission of the professor.

CMPR 3621 Preaching 7-Month Internship I (1). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Part I includes internship work typically completed from June through August. Prerequisites: CMPR 3301 Congregational Ministry Internship Preparation and completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students majoring in Preaching Ministry.

CMPR 3729 Preaching 7-Month Internship II (10.5). This course leads students to apply lessons learned in the classroom to actual ministry contexts under the guidance of an experienced field mentor. Students accomplish various ministry tasks, observe ministry situations, and reflect on their experiences to further develop skills they need for ministry. Part II includes internship work typically completed from September through December. Prerequisites: CMPR 3301 Congregational Ministry Internship Preparation and CMPR 3621 Preaching 7-Month Internship I and completion of 90 credit hours and three courses from the student’s professional area. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students majoring in Preaching Ministry.

CMPR 4013 Practices of Biblical Preaching (3). This course builds upon prior preaching courses and leads students to integrate preaching with worship, leadership, and biblical interpretation. Special attention is given to preaching from various biblical genres. Prerequisites: CMML 2013 Foundations of Biblical Preaching and CMML 3013 Theories of Biblical Preaching.

CMPR 4113 Dynamics of Senior Leadership (3). This course equips students for the relational, administrative, and leadership dynamics that are unique to senior leadership roles in churches. Learning activities include guest speakers and interactive projects designed to prepare students for positions such as Lead Minister, Senior Minister, or Executive Minister.

CMPR 4210 Preaching in Ministry (3). This course draws together what students learned in prior teaching and preaching courses and leads them to integrate and further advance their understanding of preaching’s relationship with worship, leadership, and especially hermeneutics. Prerequisites: CMPR 2110 Biblical Teaching and Preaching and CMPR 3410 Advanced Biblical Teaching & Preaching.

CMPR 4303/PSYC 4303 Conflict and Communication (3). This course explores both the destructive and transformative dynamics of conflict in faith communities and equips students with the self-understanding and skills needed for effective communication for conflict management. The course emphasizes individual and group settings, but also introduces the larger dimensions of corporate conflict. This is an interactive, skills-based course.

CMPR 4310 Effectiveness in Leadership & Life (3). This course is divided into two phases: The first phase develops a theology of spiritual leadership, integrating biblical resources with healthy leadership theories. The second phase teaches practical strategies to affirm and utilize one’s strengths, clarify core values and objectives, maintain life balance and emotional health, and manage one’s impact on the church context, so that both leader and followers achieve meaningful and mutually desirable outcomes.

CMPR 4320 Pastoral Counseling (3). This course provides an overview of specific counseling situations faced in ministry, including integration of psychology and theology. Theory and practical application will be integrated in such a way as to assist the student in developing a “style of counseling.” Some role-play situations are included.

CMPR 4333 Leading Effective Churches (3). In this advanced course, students consider how to develop congregations that are both biblically faithful and culturally relevant; and how to equip individuals and groups toward the fulfillment of congregational mission, vision and values. The course adopts a systems model for managing the complex interrelationship between a congregation, its immediate surroundings, the community, and the culture at large. Particular attention is given to the unique dynamics of small to medium-size congregations.

CMPR 5101 Expository Preaching (1). Expository Preaching equips students with the fundamental skills necessary to prepare and deliver expository sermons. Students learn to study a Scripture text, develop a thesis statement, construct an outline (both deductively and inductively), and fill the outline with effective explanation, illustration, and application. The course also covers sermon introduction, conclusions, language, delivery, and series development.

CMPR 6200 Advanced Expository Preaching (3). Advanced Expository Preaching further develops principles learned in CMPR 5101 Expository Preaching (or previous homiletics courses). Students gain a deeper understanding of the relationship between sound exegesis and effective preaching, learn to preach accurately from various biblical literary forms, and utilize various sermon forms to communicate biblical truth most effectively.

CMPR 6210 Preaching & Teaching for Spiritual Formation (3). This course prepares students to provide opportunities for spiritual formation of churches through their preaching and teaching. Students learn to focus on their own spiritual formation as a basis for the ministry of the Word, assess a congregation’s spiritual condition, determine how congregations develop spiritually, and design specific preaching and teaching methodologies that effectively shape corporate and individual spiritual formation. Students in the Spiritual Formation concentration must take the hybrid format of this course, which includes an intensive week on campus. The hybrid format is offered every other summer. Students in the Preaching concentration and certificate programs may choose either the hybrid or online format of the course.

CMPR 6220 Preaching Contexts (3). Students examine three important contexts of preaching—namely, the theological, historical, and contemporary contexts. Students explore a biblical theology of preaching, trace key eras and figures related to the history of preaching, and learn to assess their own contemporary context for preaching, so that they can most effectively relate their sermons to their particular listeners.

CMPR 6501 Preaching Project I (1). This project leads students to integrate their New Testament and preaching courses through writing an exegetical paper on a New Testament passage. Prerequisites: Students must have completed or be currently enrolled in all required preaching courses to register for CMPR 6500.

CMPR 6602 Preaching Project II (2). This continuation of the preaching project allows students to integrate New Testament and preaching courses through writing a sermon, which is delivered to a congregation and recorded for the faculty to evaluate.

CMPS 4013 Strategies of Student Ministry (3). This course focuses on strategies to minister effectively to adolescents. This course introduces strategies, programs, ministries, and leadership skills necessary for effective spiritual development of students. A practicum is a part of this course. Prerequisite: CMFM 2013 Foundations of Student and Children’s Ministry.

CMSF 5100 Introduction to Spiritual Formation (3). This course introduces students to the concept, process, and practice of spiritual formation. Particular emphasis is placed on the examination of and the practice of classical spiritual disciplines and other devotional practices. The purpose is to help students with their own spiritual formation as they prepare to lead others. This 3-credit course is taken in a one-week residence with cohort members. Additional online pre- and post-course assignments are required.

CMSF 6200 History of Christian Spiritual Formation (3). The purpose of this course is to examine the varieties of spiritual and devotional movements throughout the history of Christianity. The strengths and weaknesses of these movements are explored with the intent of appreciating the role of history and tradition in spiritual formation and applying valid spiritual principles to contemporary practice in individual and corporate contexts.

CMSF 6302 Spiritual Formation & Leadership Project: Fall Term (2). This project leads students to integrate their New Testament and spiritual formation courses through developing a project in their ministry setting. Prerequisites: Students must have completed or be currently enrolled in all spiritual formation courses to register for CMSF 6302.

CMSF 6501 Spiritual Formation & Leadership Project: Spring Term (1). This continuation of the spiritual formation project allows students to integrate New Testament and spiritual formation courses through delivering a project in their ministry setting and reporting on that project at the Spiritual Formation Project Retreat in the Spring Term. Prerequisites: Students must have completed all required preaching courses to register for CMSF 6501.

Students must have completed the prerequisite practicum 5830. Of the 600 clock hour supervised field experience, a minimum of 240 hours of direct service. Students practice and lead individual and group counseling, classroom guidance, advocacy, consultation, collaboration, and coordination.

Prerequisite: COUN 5830 School Counseling Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 5911 Marriage & Family Therapy/Clinical Mental Health Counseling Postgraduate Internship (1). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship will provide the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Students will develop individualized contracts with the department to clearly articulate internship requirements.

Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 5941 Marriage & Family Therapy/Clinical Mental Health Counseling Postgraduate Internship (4). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship will provide the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Students will develop individualized contracts with the department to clearly articulate internship requirements.

Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6100 Clinical Practicum (2). This introductory course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities with an orientation to wellness and prevention and in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This 100 clinical hour practicum requires 40 direct client service hours and provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice.

Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll. Prerequisite: COUN 5581 Counseling Skills & Techniques(1) or COUN 5586 Counseling Skills & Techniques (2)

COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum (6). This introductory course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities with an orientation to wellness and prevention and in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This 250 clinical hour practicum requires 40 direct client service hours and provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice.

Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll. Prerequisite: COUN 5586 Counseling Skills & Techniques (2)

Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.
COUN 6112 Clinical Internship (1). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6113 Clinical Internship (1). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6114 Clinical Internship (1). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6115 Clinical Internship (1). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6121 Clinical Internship (2). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6122 Clinical Internship (2). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6123 Clinical Internship (2). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6124 Clinical Internship (2). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6125 Clinical Internship (2). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6131 Clinical Internship (3). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6132 Clinical Internship (3). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6133 Clinical Internship (3). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6141 Clinical Internship (4). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6142 Clinical Internship (4). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6151 Clinical Internship (5). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

COUN 6152 Clinical Internship (5). This course provides the student with practical experience in selected client care responsibilities in a broad range of roles performed by the professional counselor. This internship provides the intern with a transitional clinical/counseling experience by engaging in supervised day to day professional clinical practice. Prerequisite: COUN 6106 Clinical Practicum. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll.

CPED 5103 Computer Architecture (3). Students learn a brief history of the development of computers and the development of the underlying working processes of the internet. Basic components of the computer will be explored with regard to input, output, and processing procedures handled within the computer. Working on the Raspberry Pi platform, from a fundamental understanding of an operating system, attention turns to coding and procedures to program computer applications. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5213 Putting Your Class on the Web (3). This course considers content management systems, learning management systems, augmented reality, virtual reality, and other technologies as may be applied in the conduct of the classroom. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5233 Mobile Computing (3). This course helps educators understand how to use current mobile computing both within the classroom and as supplemental material for student enrichment. Students will make their own apple apps using various procedures. There is a significant research project in this class. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5313 The Internet of Things (3). This course describes the network of physical objects and things that are embedded with sensors, software, and other technologies for the purpose of connecting and exchanging data with other devices and systems over the internet. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5323 Special Issues: Multimedia (3). Students learn to recognize different multimedia file formats and use them appropriately. The end goal is to guide student development of effective multimedia by teaching sound publication and presentation design and implementation techniques. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5402 Special Issues: Digital Video (3). Students work with digital video cameras, learning to edit on both platforms using a computer non-linear editing program, and place their video on the web. Students learn ways to use video with children within the classroom. As a result of this course, they will be able to integrate video technology into various areas of their classroom. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5404 Computer Tools for the Teacher & Student (3). Students consider makerspaces, critical thinking using technology and their applications to coding and classroom activities. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5408 Special Issues: Robotics (3). Students will engage in the study of robots for grades PreK-12 including various types of coding robots and AI robots. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 5503 Introduction to Technology Worldwide (3). Students examine the current state of Global Education in contact with students and teachers in other countries. There is a coding component using the latest technology including how to use this with students. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Educational Technology program.

CPED 6103 Biblical Principles of Leadership (3). This course explores principles of leadership from a historical Biblical perspective.

CPED 6203 Educational Technology Leadership (3). Students will learn about the basic principles of technology leadership from the classroom to the district level. The application of digital citizenship to all aspects of the educational ecosystem are considered.
CPED 6303 Instructional Design & Learning Environments (3). This course explores principles of Instructional Design in the learning environments of online, face-to-face, and hybrid courses. Students explore foundational instructional design theories, project-planning, content/task analysis, developing learning experiences and assessments. Two specific foci include digital platforms and designing courses compliant with accessibility standards set by WCAG 2.0 (Web Content Accessibility Guidelines 2.0).

CPED 6403 Technology in Integrated Learning Environments (3). Working with a commonly available Learning Management System (LMS), this course will concentrate on working with applications that function within that LMS environment and applications that feature interacting linkages with other applications. The course also will focus on extensions, add-ons, apps embedded within other apps and apps that link with other apps. App-Smashing, or Mash-Ups, techniques for bringing apps together for more effective functioning is a skill students will develop. The current software base is Google Suite for Education.

CPED 6503 Coding for Elementary & Secondary Students (3). Elementary and middle school coding will feature Scratch and Blockly coding systems. Coding for secondary students will use Alice and Python.

CPED 7103 Special Issues I: Critical Thinking & the Makerspace (3). Principles for establishing a makerspace in a classroom or a library are explored and the role which critical thinking places in the development and implementation are discussed. The various emphases which can be placed on a makerspace are considered.

CPED 7203 Special Issues II: Robotics (3). The role of robotics in early learning, elementary, middle and high school is explored. The various robots which are available and the ways of using them with coding are implemented.

CPED 7303 Special Issues III: Unmanned Aerial Systems (3). Indoor and outdoor use of drones is discussed. Safety, legal, and ethical issues are addressed, along with the selection and operation of the systems deployed, Pre-K through 12. Funding opportunities and real world applications are explored. Various types of drones, rockets, and other aerial systems are covered in the context of the use of these systems by schools.

CPED 7403 Capstone Project I (3). Capstone Project I is the first of two courses required in the Capstone Project requirements. The course is project-based and agreed upon between student and instructor. This course will highlight the student’s focus in the field of technology. This course can also align the student’s desire to begin the topic of their Ed.D. in Education Technology.

ECED 3225 Early Childhood Methods (3). This course focuses on preschool program and curriculum development from the perspective of a biblically integrated Christian preschool. Students consider how to develop curriculum layouts and developmentally appropriate units, and how to integrate biblical standards within the total program.

ECED 5115 Early Childhood Education Internship I (6). This course represents the first term of a full-year internship in Early Childhood Education grades PreK-3. More information about this course appears in the Internship Handbook. Prerequisite as of AY 2017: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies from Johnson University with a focus on Early Childhood Education.
ECED 5225 Early Childhood Education Internship II (6). This course represents the second term of a full year internship in Early Childhood Education grades PreK-3. More information about this course appears in the Internship Handbook. Prerequisite as of AY 2017: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies from Johnson University with a focus on Early Childhood Education.

ECED 5400 Student Teaching: Pre-Kindergarten-3rd Grade (6). Participants engage in a term of student teaching in an early childhood PreK-3 setting. It includes a weekly seminar with other student teachers and the university supervisors. Prerequisite as of AY 2017: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students who have completed all teacher education coursework and received approval from the Templar School of Education faculty committee.

ECON 2103 Economics (3). Students learn and apply macro and micro-economic principles. Topics include theories related to consumer and market behavior, determination of price, profit, output and GDP, supply and demand, fiscal policy, and distribution of income.

ECON 3100 Personal & Family Economic Decision-Making (3). This course will examine the foundation of Christian stewardship rather than ownership of God’s resources for an individual and the family. Students will study Christian stewardship through the 10-week Crown Financial Ministries course focusing on the great value of advance financial plans (i.e. budgets). They will also examine a variety of personal and family financial decision such as: setting and reaching financial goals, tithing, minimizing debt, personal insurance purchases, and wisdom in making major purchases.

EDLS 6000 Orientation (1). Orientation to the Ed.S. in Educational Leadership program. It includes the online APA course and the online IRB course.

EDLS 6100 Foundational Principles of Biblical Leadership (3). This course provides a study of the Biblical principles that guide leadership. Candidates will understand foundational characteristics of ethical Christian leader. Leadership is viewed through the ultimate purpose of the Great Commission. This course is designed as an overview of leadership theory in a Biblical context.

EDLS 6200 Instructional Leadership (3). This course will enable students to realize and actualize the role of the principal as the instructional leader in the school. As the lead learner in the school, principals must engage in learning-focused leadership and lead teachers and other stakeholders to be reflexive learners themselves. Methods and theories of learning-focused leadership will be studied.

EDLS 6250 Curricular Leadership (3). This course will explore curriculum development and implementation. Candidates will explore the various philosophies that guide curricula and how these approaches influence aspects of schooling.

EDLS 6300 Organizational Theory (3). Complex organizations, such as schools, can be understood through a variety of metaphors. This course will explore the various aspects of organizations that become apparent when understanding it through certain perspectives. This introductory course will guide candidates to analyze leadership, constituents, policies, and other aspects of an organization from multiple viewpoints.

EDLS 6400 Clinical Supervision of School Personnel (3). This course will educate school leaders on strategies to empower a reflective, development-minded, self-directed staff. Building on the theories of instructional leadership, this course will focus on building organizational structures that form a culture of continual improvement.

EDLS 6500 Intermediate Educational Research (3). This course will provide an extension to the qualitative and quantitative methodologies commonly used in social science research. It will be focused on acquisition and analysis of valid and reliable sources of data. The intent of the course is to provide candidates with an understanding of research methodologies and data analysis in order to make decisions based on the best evidence available.

EDLS 6600 Leadership of Diverse Groups (3). This course will explore the intricacies of addressing the needs of a variety of student needs in the K-12 school environment. Schools are comprised of a variety of groups: students from impoverished homes, special education students, and students from marginalized backgrounds. School leaders need to learn how to understand contextual needs of these students through collaboration with the various stakeholders.

EDLS 6700 School Economics (3). This course will explore the means and methods of resource acquisition and allocation in the public and private education environments. The candidates will examine the interplay of resource sources, institutional needs, and policy regulations in order to develop strategies to be meet the needs of the school.

EDLS 6750 Education Law (3). This course will provide an overview of laws and rulings pertinent to public and private schools. Candidates will become familiar with seminal case law. They will also learn strategies and resources for researching legal issues and reaching decisions grounded in the legal framework guiding schools.

EDLS 6810 Field Experience I (2). Candidates will complete 30–40 hours of field experience with activities and reflections focused on principals as leaders of learning. They will engage in experiences involving analysis of ethical leadership dilemmas, school data, instructional leadership, and curriculum development and/or implementation. This field experience will be completed in partnership with Johnson University and the participating school system.

EDLS 6820 Field Experience II (2). Candidates will complete 30–40 hours of in-field experiences focused on the intricacies of school organizations. They will engage in activities focused on organizational growth and dynamics, curricular decisions, and school culture. This field experience will be completed in partnership with Johnson University and the participating school system.

EDLS 6830 Field Experience III (2). Candidates will complete 30–40 hours of field experience focused on resource needs assessment and allocation, policy compliance, and stakeholder engagement. This field experience will be completed in partnership with Johnson University and the participating school system.

EDLS 6910 Capstone Project I (2). Candidates will begin their capstone project by identifying specific areas of need within the organization through analysis of various data points and engagement with stakeholders.

EDLS 6920 Capstone Project II (2). Candidates examine further the area of need that they identified in their chosen organization. They explore the issue more deeply by viewing it through multiple organizational lenses.

EDLS 6930 Capstone Project III (2). Candidates present a plan of action to address the identified need. The plan will include input from a variety of school stakeholders (e.g., staff members, leadership, parents, etc.). Necessary resources will be identified as well as strategies to acquire them. Additionally, methods for determining the effectiveness of the plan will be incorporated.

EDUC 1100 Introduction to Diversity in Education (3). This course provides the prospective educator with the opportunity to explore issues of diversity, including an understanding of the influence of exceptionalities, culture, family, gender, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, religion, language of origin, ethnicity and age upon the educational experience. Students will explore personal attitudes toward diversity and exceptionalities. Students will be provided information on the Florida Educator Accomplished Practices (FEAPs), Sunshine State Standards, and the Professional Educator competencies. Students will participate in a minimum of 15 hours of field-based experience working with diverse populations of children via FLED 2022 Tutoring.

EDUC 2013 Introduction to Teaching: Elementary Education (3). This course gives students an initial experience teaching in an elementary school setting. Students study principles of education with an emphasis on aiding struggling readers, assessment, and lesson planning. They implement these principles as they engage in a one-to-one tutoring session with an at-risk child. The course is made possible through a partnership between Mooreland Heights Elementary School and Johnson University.

EDUC 2200 Instructional Strategies in Content Area (3). This course provides an overview of teaching strategies and practices used in American classrooms. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Early Childhood program.

EDUC 2210 Integrating the Fine Arts (2). The purpose of this class is to equip students with the skills and dispositions necessary for teachers to integrate the fine arts into their elementary curriculum. Emphasis is placed on exploring the relationship between the arts and learning, and identifies the basic elements of movement, the visual arts, and music.

EDUC 3010 Introduction to ESL (3). The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the history of the Educational Consent Decree of English for Speakers of Other Languages and to describe the responsibilities of the classroom teacher in regards to the Limited English Proficient Students.

EDUC 3013 Introduction to Teaching II (3). As a continuation of Introduction to Education I, this course moves students from a broader view of teaching and introductory lesson planning to an in-depth look at a Learning Segment. Emphasis is placed on analyzing and reflecting upon lesson plans, instruction, and assessments as well as incorporating research-based learning theories into each of those areas. Additional focus is put on academic vocabulary, learning environments, and academic feedback.

EDUC 3110 Classroom Management (3). This course provides an overview of various methods for effective classroom management in the elementary grades. Emphasis is placed on the relationship between discipline and instructional strategies that both motivate and promote appropriate student behavior. Pre-service teachers develop a classroom management plan that facilitates a positive classroom climate, meets the needs of all students—including those from various cultural backgrounds and those with various educational needs—and adheres to the basic teacher competencies set forth in the Florida Accomplished Practices.
EDUC 3212 Survey of Persons with Disabilities (3). This course is a study of the characteristics of exceptional persons and the etiologies of some disabilities. The roles of the family and community agencies (especially the church) are discussed, and particular emphasis is given to the role of public education in the lives of persons with disabilities.

EDUC 3311 Language Arts Methods (3). Students develop knowledge and skills needed to teach writing, spelling, handwriting, and study skills. Students employ appropriate practices to promote effective communication, expression, and reflection in all subject areas. Students become more aware of the interactive nature of the language arts. Prerequisites: Midpoint Application to the teacher education program must be made.

EDUC 3323 Bible & Social Studies Methods (3). This two-part methods course introduces students to theory and methods regarding the teaching of Social Studies and the Bible as classroom subjects. Students develop and use knowledge of spiritual development in children and effective methods to support student acquisition of spiritual knowledge and understanding. During the second part of the course students learn effective instructional strategies that integrate the ten strands of Social Studies as developed by the National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS)—including culture, economics, geography, governance, civics, history, individual development, and group interaction. Prerequisites: Midpoint Application to the teacher education program must be made.

EDUC 3324 Science, Health & Physical Education Methods (3). This methods course gives students an overview of teaching methods and strategies for Science, Health, and Physical Education. Students learn and apply skills needed to apply inquiry-based, open-ended and materials-based investigation to the classroom. Students develop understanding and use strategies and pedagogy to enhance children’s learning of life science, earth and space science, and physical science. Students also learn strategies for encouraging children to adopt healthy lifestyles, practice wellness concepts, and incorporate physical activity into their lives. Prerequisites: Midpoint Application to the teacher education program must be made.

EDUC 4014 Classroom Management with Regular & Special Populations (3). This course explores two areas of significance and potential difficulty for the beginning teacher: effective classroom management and successful organization of the inclusive classroom. In this course, participants study management theory and teacher style, and explore a variety of strategies for developing a plan for classroom management based on Christian principles. They also gain understanding of the special needs of the mainstreamed child and ways to meet these needs within an effective inclusive setting. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program.

EDUC 4064 Nature & Needs of the Gifted Child (3). This course examines the particular nature, needs, and development of the gifted student. Pertinent issues such as creativity, cultural differences, gender, and underachievement are examined. The history of gifted education is explored, as well as how to recognize and identify giftedness in the classroom. Students also examine characteristics of the teacher of the gifted.

EDUC 4074 Methods of Teaching the Gifted Child (3). This online course provides learners with an understanding of the instructional needs of gifted students and the resources available to teach and enrich the education of these individuals. Emphasis is placed on curricular models, teaching strategies of differentiated instruction, and processes for learning.
EDUC 4111 Reading Methods (3). This methods course includes in-depth study of methods of teaching reading in early childhood, elementary, and middle grades classrooms. Students come to know, understand, and use appropriate practices for promoting and developing beginning literacy skills for integrating reading instruction across all subject areas and for enabling all children to become to become proficient and motivated readers. Students begin to develop skills in applying explicit approaches to support student acquisition of phonemic awareness, decoding, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension. Prerequisite: ENGL 1013 English Composition I, or ENGL 2200 English Composition, or approved equivalent; and EDUC 3311 Language Arts Methods. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program.

EDUC 4112 Research, Integration & Learning (3). This course assists students in integrating knowledge and skills learned in their methods courses into cohesive units of study that help children make connections in their learning. Students research integration and learning theory, and they apply those methods to comprehensive teaching units. Prerequisites: Students who have completed a minimum of three method courses. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students who have been accepted into the teacher education program.

EDUC 4113 History & Philosophy of Christian Education (3). This course examines the development of Christian education through the ages and philosophies that have influenced it. Major educational philosophers and schools of philosophy are discussed, and students are encouraged to apply insights to their own educational philosophy. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program.

EDUC 4115 Mathematics Methods (3). This methods course is a comprehensive study of effective instructional strategies that integrate mathematical content and processes. Students develop knowledge, understanding, and skill in problem-solving, number operations, algebraic concepts, geometry, measurement, data analysis, probability, reasoning, communication, connections, and representations. Students apply those skills in planning effective units of study that develop these processes in children, and they integrate appropriate reading and technologies. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program.

EDUC 4123 Research, Integration & Learning (3). This course takes students through the various steps of conducting an action research plan in order to assist them in reflecting upon their craft as teachers and in integrating the knowledge and skills they learn as a result of the action research. This course is limited to students accepted into the Teacher Education program.

EDUC 5022 Teaching in the Christian School (3). This course focuses on historical and philosophical foundations for the Christian School. During the course, three main components are addressed: historical perspectives and contributions to Christian Education, theology and philosophy of Christian Education, and biblical integration in Christian Education. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Teaching programs.

EDUC 5031 Mathematics & Science Methods (4). This course provides an overview of teaching methods and strategies for Mathematics and Science education in elementary and middle school classrooms. Students investigate trends, learning theories, instructional activities, and manipulative materials applicable to mathematics education with a focus on ways to improve the teaching of mathematics. Specific emphasis is given to the developmental approach to mathematics learning, teaching, and assessment. In the Science portion of the course, students learn and apply skills needed to use inquiry-based, open-ended, and materials-based investigations in the classroom. Students come to know, understand, and use strategies and pedagogy to enhance children’s learning of life science, earth and space science, and physical science based on the best practices for teaching science outlined in the National Science Education Standards and the Common Core State Standards. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

EDUC 5064 Nature & Needs of the Gifted Child (3). This course examines the particular nature, needs, and development of the gifted student. Pertinent issues such as creativity, cultural differences, gender, and underachievement are examined. The history of gifted education is explored, as well as how to recognize and identify giftedness in the classroom. Students also examine characteristics of the teacher of the gifted.

EDUC 5074 Methods of Teaching the Gifted Child (3). This course provides learners with an understanding of the instructional needs of gifted students and the resources available to teach and enrich the education of these individuals. Emphasis is placed on curricular models, teaching strategies of differentiated instruction, and processes for learning.

EDUC 5203 Classroom Management with Regular & Special Populations (3). This course explores two areas of significant and potential difficulty for the beginning teacher: effective classroom management and successful organization of the inclusive classroom. In this course, students will study management theory and teacher style and will study a variety of strategies for developing a plan for classroom management based on Christian principles. They will also seek to understand the special needs of the mainstreamed child and ways to meet these needs within an effective inclusive setting.

EDUC 5213 Introduction to Education II (3). As a continuation of EDUC 2013 Introduction to Teaching, this course moves students from a broader view of teaching an introductory lesson planning to an in-depth look at a Learning Segment. Emphasis is placed on analyzing and reflecting upon lesson plans, instruction, and assessments as well as incorporating research-based learning theories into each of those areas. Additional focus is put on academic vocabulary, learning environments, and academic feedback.

EDUC 5225 Diversity & Special Education (3). This course continues the study of holistic education with special emphasis on diversity and special education in schools today. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

EDUF 1100 Introduction to Diversity in Education (3). This course provides the prospective educator with the opportunity to explore issues of diversity, including an understanding of the influence of exceptionalities, culture, family, gender, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, religion, language of origin, ethnicity and age upon the educational experience. Students will explore personal attitudes toward diversity and exceptionalities. Students will be provided information on the Florida Educator Accomplished Practices (FEAPs), Sunshine State Standards, and the Professional Educator competencies. (Florida only)

EDUF 1203 Teaching in the Christian School (3). This course will be online that focuses on historical and philosophical foundations for the Christian School. During the course, three main components are addressed: historical perspectives and contributions to Christian Education, theology and philosophy of Christian Education, and biblical integration in Christian Education. (Florida only)
EDUF 2023 Introduction to Teaching: Elementary Education (3). This is a survey course including historical, sociological and philosophical foundations of education, governance and finance of education, educational policies, legal, moral and ethical issues and the professionalism of teaching. Students will be provided information on the Florida Educator Accomplished Practices (FEAPs), Sunshine State Standards and the Professional Educator Competencies. It focuses on preparing students for an initial experience teaching in an elementary school setting. Students study principles of education with an emphasis on best practices, cooperative learning, and lesson planning. (Florida only)

EDUF 2210 Integrating Fine Arts (2). The purpose of this class is to equip students with the skills and dispositions necessary for teachers to integrate the fine arts into their elementary curriculum. Emphasis is placed on exploring the relationship between the arts and learning, and identifies the basic elements of movement, the visual arts, and music. (Florida only)

EDUF 3013 Teaching English Language Learners (3). This course is designed to provide candidates with the skills needed to acquire a deeper understanding of the structure of English from a modern day linguistic perspective. Candidates learn how to adapt classroom instructional practices to meet the linguistic needs of their English language learners. This course will focus on increasing awareness and sensitivity to diverse cultures by highlighting similarities and differences as they relate to language and communication. (Florida only)

EDUF 3123 Strategies & Assessment for English Language Learners (3). This course is designed to provide candidates with the necessary skills to determine appropriate instructional methods and strategies for teaching English language learners. Candidates will use their knowledge of current first and second language acquisition to plan and deliver appropriate, effective instruction by determining which materials are effective for the ELL based on his or her communicative skills. Candidates will also be able to select and use formal/informal methods of assessment for the ELL in order to make informed decisions about instruction. (Florida only)

EDUF 3212 Survey of Persons with Disabilities (3). This course provides students with an overview of students with disabilities, including the history and implementation of the Individual with Disabilities Educational Act (IDEA), the RTI process and the referral process for becoming eligible for special education services. The course will introduce students to the process used to design and implement an Individual Education Plan (IEP) and the role of the general education teacher. The course will also provide the student with strategies to teach students with disabilities in the general education Inclusion classroom. This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program. (Florida only)

EDUF 3311 Language Arts Methods (3). This course is designed to equip students with the skills and dispositions necessary for teachers of elementary language arts. Emphasis is placed on the content, principles, materials, and techniques involved in teaching, speaking, listening, and writing in the elementary classroom. Students employ appropriate practices to promote effective communication, expression, and reflection in all subject areas. Students become more aware of the interactive nature of the language arts. This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program. (Florida only)

EDUF 3323 Social Studies Methods (3). This course introduces students to theory and methods regarding the teaching of Social Studies. Candidates learn effective instructional strategies that integrate the ten strands of Social Studies as developed by the National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS)—including culture, economics, geography, governance, civics, history, individual development, and group interaction. (Florida only)

EDUF 3324 Science, Health and PE Methods (3). This course gives students an overview of teaching methods and strategies for Science, Health, and Physical Education. Students learn and apply skills needed to for inquiry-based, open-ended and materials-based investigation in the classroom. Students develop understanding and use strategies and pedagogy to enhance children’s learning of life science, earth and space science, and physical science. Students also learn strategies for encouraging children to adopt healthy lifestyles, practice wellness concepts, and incorporate physical activity into their lives. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program. (Florida only)

EDUF 4014 Classroom Management (3). This course provides an overview of various methods for effective classroom management in the elementary grades. Emphasis is placed on the relationship between discipline and instructional strategies that both motivate and promote appropriate student behavior. Candidates develop a classroom management plan that facilitates a positive classroom climate, meets the needs of all students—including those from various cultural backgrounds and those with various educational needs—and adheres to the basic teacher competencies set forth in the Florida Accomplished Practices. (Florida only)

EDUF 4111 Reading Methods (3). This course includes an in-depth study of methods of teaching reading in K-6 classrooms. Students come to know, understand, and use appropriate practices for promoting and developing beginning literacy skills for integrating reading instruction across all subject areas and for enabling all children to become proficient and motivated readers. Students develop skills in applying explicit approaches to support student acquisition of phonemic awareness, decoding, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension in a summer reading camp at Boggy Creek Elementary School. (Florida only)

EDUF 4115 Math Methods (3). This course is a comprehensive study of effective instructional strategies that integrate mathematical content and processes. Students develop knowledge, understanding, and skill in problem-solving, number operations, algebraic concepts, geometry, measurement, data analysis, probability, reasoning, communication, connections, and representations. Students apply those skills in planning effective units of study that develop these processes in children; emphasis is placed on problem-solving as a vehicle for lesson planning and delivery. This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program. (Florida only)

EDUF 4123 Research, Integration and Learning (3). This course takes students through the various steps of conducting an action research plan in order to assist them in reflecting upon their craft as teachers and in integrating the knowledge and skills they learn as a result of the action research. This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program. (Florida only)

EDUL 7313 Research Concentration 1 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

EDUL 7323 Research Concentration 2 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework.
Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

EDUL 7333 Research Concentration 3 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

EDUL 7343 Research Concentration 4 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

EDUL 7353 Research Concentration 5 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

EDUL 8103 Proposal Seminar (3). Students develop a dissertation research proposal according to Johnson University standards. Prerequisites: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research, RSCH 7243 Quantitative Analysis, RSCH 7253 Qualitative Research.

EDUL 8110 Proposal Seminar Continuation (0). Students continue the project begun in EDUL 8103 Proposal Seminar.

EDUL 8201 Proposal Defense (1). The proposal defense includes review and approval of the dissertation research proposal by the Advisor, Committee, and Institutional Review Board.

EDUL 8304 Dissertation (4). Students prepare a formal research study that meets Johnson University standards and makes an original contribution to the body of knowledge.

EDUL 8310 Dissertation Continuation (0). Doctoral students continue the project begun in EDUL 8304 Dissertation.

EDUL 8410 Dissertation Defense (1). Students defend the formal research study developed in EDUL 8304 Dissertation and EDUL 8310 Dissertation Continuation.

ELED 5114 Introduction to Elementary Education (3). This course introduces students to various aspects of teacher education, including teaching and learning, history and philosophy of education, educational psychology, and classroom management. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

ELED 5115 Elementary Education Internship I (6). Students complete the first term of a full-year internship in Elementary Education grades K-5. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Consideration: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies from Johnson University with a focus on Elementary Education.

ELED 5214 Integrated Methods I: Language Arts & Social Studies (4). This course focuses on best practices and strategies employed by teachers that are effective in motivating elementary school age students to acquire information, skills, and modes of reasoning. Students plan, author, and present lesson plans and instruction demonstrating use of various methods, techniques, and materials as they expand their understanding of the fields of social studies and language arts. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

ELED 5216 Integrated Methods II: Reading (4). This course is an in-depth study of methods of teaching reading in the classroom. Students come to know, understand, and use appropriate practices for promoting and developing beginning literacy skills for integrating reading instruction across all subject areas. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

ELED 5225 Elementary Education Internship II (6). Students complete the second term of a full-year internship in Elementary Education grades K-5. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies from Johnson University with a focus on Elementary Education.

ELED 5400 Student Teaching: Elementary Education (6). Students complete a term of student teaching in Elementary Education grades K-5. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores.

ELSL 5115 Elementary Education & English as a Second Language Education Internship I (6). This course is the first term of a full-year internship in Elementary Education K-5 and ESL K-12. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies from Johnson University with a focus on Elementary Education and ESL K-12.

ELSL 5225 Elementary Education & English as a Second Language Education Internship II (6). This course is the second term of a full-year internship in Elementary Education K-5 and ESL K-12. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies from Johnson University with a focus on Elementary Education and ESL K-12.

ELSL 5400 Student Teaching: Elementary Education K-5 & English as a Second Language PreK-12 (6). This course is for students completing a term of student teaching for Elementary Grades K-5 and English as a Second Language Grades PreK-12. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies (Elementary Education Grades K-5 & English as a Second Language Grades PreK-12) from Johnson University.

ENGL 0101 Introduction to College Writing (1). This is a co-requisite course for the Arts & Sciences core course ENGL 1013 English Composition for continual success in college-level writing. This course provides a review of writing and reading skills; it introduces students to the form, function, and meaning of written discourses so that they may engage more fully with one kind of discourse: academic writing. Writing as a process will be the focus so as to help students become more critical about their own writing habit & style. This course may be required in a student’s first semester based upon English department assessment. Also, the course may be repeated until necessary skills are mastered.

ENGL 1013 English Composition I (3). This course introduces students to university-level writing and focuses on communication structure, rhetorical strategies, writing processes, argumentation, research, and documentation. The course also includes an emphasis on revision through workshops and other formats. This course must be completed during the student’s first year.

ENGL 1014 English Composition II (3). A continuation of English Composition I, this class is a writing across the curriculum/writing in the disciplines course in which students are introduced to the basics of reading and researching in various majors. The class is organized around a research project relating to the students’ fields of interest. By the end of the semester, students learn how to: develop an actionable central research question, propose a research project, conduct primary and secondary research, design a research project for multimodal platforms, and present their research in an oral presentation. This course must be completed during the student’s first year. Prerequisite ENGL 1013 English Composition I.

ENGL 1110 Ancient Near Eastern Literature (3). This course examines the first five books of the Hebrew Bible to establish a foundation for further study of the Old and New Testaments. The course provides a general overview of the biblical material, as well as a more detailed study of important theological and hermeneutical issues.

ENGL 1150 Greco-Roman Literature I (3) [China-Gospel Narratives]. This course is a study of the life and teaching of Jesus as recorded in the four Gospels with special attention given to the emphases of His ministry.

ENGL 1500 English Language Group I (0.5). This small group study is designed to help international students improve their English language skills.

ENGL 1600 English Language Group II (0.5). This small group study is designed to help international students improve their English language skills.

ENGL 2010 Survey of British Literature (3). This course is a survey of British literature from the Anglo-Saxon period to the present. It involves reading, analyzing, and interpreting significant texts within their historical, social, and cultural contexts. Prerequisite: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 2020 Survey of American Literature (3). This course is a survey of American writers and the literary genres in which they worked: political prose, religious prose, novel, short story, poetry, and drama. Instruction gives special consideration to language usage on analytical, critical, and artistic levels. Prerequisite: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 2100 Literature for Children & Adolescents (3). This course surveys the field of children’s literature. It includes an examination of effective ways to use literature with students in primary and intermediate educational settings. It is designed to enable students to become familiar with many books, authors, and illustrators.

ENGL 2103 Poetry Reading (3). Poetry Reading hones knowledgeable, close-examination skills for studying the poetic genre. This development broadens and deepens the reader’s interpretation in: Definition & approach, form, music, rhetoric, meaning, aesthetics, and oral interpretation, culminating in an informative survey for the collected works of two selected poets.
ENGL 2110 Survey of World Literature I: Ancient (3). This course is a survey of world literature, in both Western and Asian cultures, from 1000 B.C. through the European Renaissance. Instruction covers major literary achievements within significant philosophical and religious traditions. Prerequisite: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 2120 Survey of World Literature II: Modern (3). This course presents a survey of world literature from the 18th century to the present, highlighting major movements in the works of the Western canon. Further, it explores literature from Asia, the Middle East, and developing countries in order to understand the differences and similarities in cultural and social influences in writings from the non-western canon. The literature will be explored as individual works on their own merit and as part of their historical and cultural contexts. Prerequisite: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 2250 Greco-Roman Literature II (3). This course is a study of the early history, worship, organization, mission, and message of the church of the New Testament through an exegetical approach to the Acts of the Apostles.

ENGL 2340 Intermediate Composition (3). This course is a composition course that builds on writing competencies developed in English 1013 and ENGL 1014. The course focuses primarily on analyzing and writing creative nonfiction, specifically the personal essay. Instruction and content emphasize the ways that writing can (and often should) be both personal and persuasive. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 2352 Literature for Children & Adolescents (3). This course surveys the field of children’s literature. It includes an examination of effective ways to use literature with students in primary and intermediate educational settings. It is designed to enable students to become familiar with many books, authors, and illustrators. (Florida only)

ENGL 3200 Advanced Composition (3). This course expands on and develops student writing for academic and professional contexts beyond the undergraduate degree. Instruction focuses on establishing proficiency in communicating with specified audiences, enhanced sophistication and style in presentation of ideas, and more effective incorporation of appropriate scholarly research. Prerequisite: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3310 English Language: History & Grammar (3). This course surveys the historical development of the English language from its Anglo-Saxon inception through its current proliferation in world communication. Furthermore, the course reviews the grammatical structure and application of English within communication contexts. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher; 2000-level writing emphasis course.

ENGL 3313 Literary & Rhetorical Theory (3). This course functions as an introduction to upper-level coursework in literature and rhetoric. The course provides an initial survey of modern critical theories relevant for the study of English and advanced instruction in applying critical theories to research and writing. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher; 2000-level writing emphasis course.

ENGL 3353 Rhetoric of Prophetic Black Preachers (3). African American preaching was born out of protest and by virtue of such a birth its essential character is prophetic. Preaching, in general, is a kind of truth-telling and communication on behalf of God by man to humankind in a contextualized situation or event. However, telling the truth has not always been advantageous for black preachers; nonetheless, preach they did and truth they told without fear. This course will explore this disadvantage historically; also, it will pursue discussions of black preachers as spiritual rhetoricians who spoke truth to powers by proclaiming a certain kind of speech concerning God’s justice and mercy. Thus, the course will think of “prophetic” as a style and critical language practice more than through a theological lens, even though theology will, no doubt, emerge from the sermons. Students will read multiple texts from a myriad of black preachers (male and female) of the 19th to 21st century, like Frederick Douglas, Sojourner Truth, Maria W. Stewart, Malcolm X, M.L. King, Jr., and Vahsti McKenzie. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3410 19th Century Russian Writers (3). This course examines four nineteenth century Russian novelists: Turgenev, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, and Chekhov. Instruction covers novel and short story genres within the Realism tradition. The course gives special emphasis to the spiritual experiences and psychological observations as presented by these authors. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3420 20th Century British Writers: The Inklings (3). This course examines the lives and creative writing careers of three 20th century British novelists: J.R.R. Tolkien, C.S. Lewis, and Charles Williams. Instruction covers the Inklings’ use of the fantasy genre and emphasizes the Christian themes developed in these writers’ works. Texts include selections for young adults and adolescents. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3440 Shakespearean Tragedies (3). This course examines the ten tragedies by William Shakespeare. Instruction includes consideration of film and stage interpretation of these plays. From an overview reading, discussion examines politics, love, and personal dilemma as presented in the tragedies. Prerequisite: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3450 African Literature & Cultures (3). This course examines how African authors represent African culture and experiences across time and place. This is not to say, however, that these are monolithic representations. Rather, students analyze texts by men and women from four broad geographic areas (North, West, East, and South) and several individual countries to see how specific historical, cultural, colonial, linguistic, and religious influences shape African literary expressions. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3460 Women Writers in World Literature (3). This course examines ways that female authors represent and respond to issues particular to women across time and cultures. Students analyze the way context (e.g. culture, history) influences women writers’ choices and concerns in their writings. More specifically, students pay particular attention to how sex, race, and class converge to shape female authored texts about finding a voice in patriarchal cultures, maternity, identity, and resistance. Additionally, students read appropriate works of Feminist/Gender theory and analyze how these theories can be applied to the primary texts for the course. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 3480 African American Literature (3). This course examines literature by African American authors in several genres—slave narratives, essays, poetry, drama, and fiction—written for a variety of audiences, including young adults and adolescents. Students situate each work within its historical and cultural contexts and, in so doing, develop a better understanding of the range and scope of issues that African American authors confront in representing black experience in literature. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.
ENGL 4310 Technical & Professional Writing (3). This course involves advanced study of the principles and practices of technical and professional writing. It includes planning, organizing, and writing technical descriptions, instructions, proposals, and recommendation reports, as well as designing visual aids and editing. Assignments include individual and group projects and at least one complete technical report. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 4320 Creative Writing (3). This is a course on creative writing—creative nonfiction, poetry, prose, and drama—with concern for the relation of form to content, viewpoint, narrative, voice, audience, syntax, imagery, and diction. Students may take COMM 2998 spiritual Formation and Creativity as a substitute/equivalent for this course. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 4330 Journalism (3). Students engage in intensive, advanced writing and reporting practice for the development of non-fiction articles for magazines, newspapers, and other print and online publications, focusing on human interest writing. Topics include legal and ethical issues, freelance writing techniques, working with editors, multimedia additions for online features, and in-depth interviewing and reporting. Students may take COMM 2100 Reporting for Mass Media as a substitute/equivalent for this course. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 4340 Special Topics in Writing (3). This course offers advanced study and practice of one of the following genres of writing: technical and professional, creative, or journalism. Since the topics vary, students may repeat this course for credit. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 4350 Writers’ Workshop (3). This course integrates stylistic development with production output. Instruction considers formal expression and offers students a chance to hone their skills in one of the following genres of writing: technical and professional, creative, or journalism. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher; an additional English writing course.

ENGL 4400 Immigrant Literature (3). This course examines how immigrant authors represent immigrant experiences across time and place. Students analyze texts and films by men and women from several different primary cultures who are writing about first as well as second-generation immigrant experiences to several countries. The texts included in the course explore the immigrant experience from a variety of perspectives, including young adult and adolescent. Additionally, students read appropriate works of theory and criticism, as well as analyze how these theories can be applied to the primary texts. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 4450 Special Topics in Literature (3). This course allows for the study of a genre, author, or time period not already represented within current course offerings. Since the content of the course will vary, the course may be repeated for credit. Prerequisites: English Composition I and II with a grade of C or higher.

ENGL 4460 Literature & Theology of Grief (3). Grief presents both a theological and a practical problem. Theologically grief seems to challenge the core of the Christian claim, that Christ has overcome the conditions that produce grief, such as death, corruption, failure, shame, and loss. Grief would seem to have to place within the church, because to grieve—to mourn a loss—challenges the truth of the gospel that Christians proclaim. At the same time, however, Christians and all humans continue to inhabit a world in which grief remains a universal experience, one that presents not only an intellectual problem but an existential one: how can we cope with something that is at once so common and so crippling? This course takes up these questions and proceeds from two closely related propositions: (1) that theology provides categories and practices for addressing the problem of grief, and (2) that literature offers us a framework for engaging the intersection between the problem of grief and the human, lived experience of it. Accordingly, we will use a critical reading of important literary, theoretical and theological texts to begin the process of reflecting on the problems of grief and loss and to begin the process of imagining what response to grief might look like. We will frame this discussion throughout as an explicitly theological attempt to construct a vision of Christian faith and practice that emphasizes the priority of healing and wholeness.

ENGL 4998/COMM 4998 Spiritual Formation & Creativity (3). Students are equipped with a biblical perspective on creativity, communication, and arts, and engage in the process of creativity from a Great Commission perspective. Students learn how to integrate and articulate the biblical foundations underlying creative endeavors, demonstrate the process of creativity, and develop the means to sustain creativity.

ENGL 5023 Eastern Mediterranean Literature (3). This course provides an introductory discussion of the twenty-seven ancient texts that together make up the New Testament. The heart of the course is a two-week close reading of Luke–Acts that focuses on the narrative and historical strata of the Lukan account of Christian origins. Learning experiences consist primarily of lectures and in-class discussions, but the course also features a modest amount of out-of-class reading.

EPSF 2112 Educational Psychology (3). This course is the study of how children develop and learn, including a focus on physical, social, emotional, mental, and moral development. It strives to harmonize teaching as an art with the science of teaching and endeavors to approach that dichotomy through various learning theories, concepts, and principles coupled with the latest research in brain development. (Florida only)

EPSY 2112 Educational Psychology (3). This course includes a study of the physical, social, emotional and mental development of the child from birth to adolescence. This includes the role of preschool through eighth grade teachers as they work with these children. Observations and assessments of children are included in this experience. Special attention is directed to working with students with emotional and family problems in early childhood, elementary and middle schools.

EPSY 5440 Statistics (3). This course introduces students to basic descriptive and inferential statistics. The course is designed to enable students to read and understand primary research articles, collect and interpret their own research data, write results in APA format, and prepare for advanced courses in statistics and research design. The course emphasizes current mathematical procedures for describing the center and spread of data, computation of differences between groups, descriptions of relationships between variables, and hypothesis testing. This course blends conceptual, applied, and theoretical studies and methods. Prerequisite: At least one college mathematics course. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Holistic Education program.
EPSY 5450 Research Design (3). This course surveys relevant methodologies for educational research, including quantitative, qualitative, and eclectic approaches. Major course goals include conducting educational research in the classroom, using computers in research, and becoming discerning consumers of educational research by other people. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Holistic Education program.

ESED 2100/ICEL 2100 Foundations in Linguistics (3). This course introduces students to the complexity of human language. It is designed to introduce material in three interrelated units, including the nature of language, the grammatical aspects of language, and the applied areas of language. The course focuses on issues such as how the brain and language are related, how language sounds are produced and formed into words and sentences, and how those words and sentences are used to convey meaning. The course also addresses applied areas, such as dialects of English, pragmatics, bilingualism, language acquisition, and language instruction. While covering these various aspects of language, the ways in which the content relates to ministry are addressed.

ESED 3133 English as a Second Language Methods & Materials for Teacher Education (3). This course is required for students seeking licensure in ESL or TESOL credentials. Students learn how to integrate language learning methods and subjects taught in the elementary and middle school, with special emphasis on reading, writing, listening, speaking, and vocabulary development. Students focus on methods and approaches used by educators for language instruction and effective lesson preparation using those methodologies.

ESED 4133 Special Topics in K-12 ESL Education (3). This course provides candidates with the skills needed to acquire a deeper understanding of the academic needs of English learners in order to prepare them for the field of ESL education. Special emphasis is placed on specific ESL educational policies, legal requirements, and professional responsibilities. The administration of both formative and summative English language assessments is explored and practiced. Students analyze how the RTI process applies to students developing English proficiency. Students learn strategies in developing strong collaboration with administrators, educators, and parents in order to benefit English learners and their families. Students practice adapting general school and classroom practices in order to meet the linguistic needs of the English learners.

ESED 5101 Principles for Second Language Acquisition (3). This course is designed to provide candidates with the skills needed to acquire a deeper understanding of the structure of English from a linguistic perspective. The nature of language, the grammatical aspects of language, and the applied areas of language are explored. Focus is placed on specific theories and research pertaining to second language acquisition for the PreK-12 classroom teacher.

ESED 5102 Instruction & Assessment for English Learners (3). This course provides candidates with an understanding of the instructional needs of English learners. Candidates explore effective instruction and develop English Language Development (ELD) lesson plans that integrate listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Candidates will select and use formal and informal methods of assessment to make informed decisions about instruction.

ESED 5103 Topics and Trends (3). This course provides candidates with the skills needed to acquire a deeper understanding of the social and academic needs of English learners. Specific educational policies, legal requirements, professional responsibilities, and collaboration among stakeholders will be explored. Candidates will analyze student diversity and current trends related to the education of English learners.
ESED 5104 Literacy and Content (3). This course focuses on the development and implementation of content-area instruction for English learners. Special focus will be placed on literacy strategies, instructional methods, and techniques that promote the integration of language, literacy, and content instruction. Candidates will explore various program models that integrate both language and content instruction.

ESED 5106 K-12 ESL Endorsement Field Experience (3). The field experiences are completed over the course of the academic school year, the fall and spring semesters. They tie course content into real-world ESL activities occurring in the candidates’ schools and/or district. The field experience is an integral part of the candidates’ study. Activities are designed to integrate the content of the courses into the candidates’ practice. Candidates complete 45 hours of field experiences focused on the intricacies of school’s ESL program. They engage in activities focused on student growth and dynamics, curricular decisions, and school meetings and culture. This field experience is completed in partnership with Johnson University and the participating school system.

ESED 5115 English as a Second Language Internship I (6). This course is the first term of a full-year internship in English as a Second Language education. Prerequisite: Students must have passed the PRAXIS 2 tests and been accepted into the M.A. in Holistic Education. This course is for students who have graduated with a B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies (English as a Second Language Education Grades PreK-12) from Johnson University.

ESED 5225 English as a Second Language Internship II (6). This course is the second term of a full-year internship in English as a Second Language education. Prerequisite: Students must have passed the PRAXIS 2 tests and been accepted into the M.A. in Holistic Education. This course is for students who have graduated with a B.S. in Interdisciplinary Studies (English as a Second Language Education Grades PreK-12) from Johnson University.

ESED 5527 Student Teaching: English as a Second Language (6). Students complete a term of student teaching in English as a Second Language. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores.

ETHS 7213 Leadership & Personal Ethics (3). Students consider leadership from the perspective of the personal character of leaders and their ability to make decisions and take actions considered good and right. This course includes examination of the foundation, purpose, and methodology of various ethical systems, approaches to ethical decision-making, and applications to leadership issues.

ETHS 7223 Applied Ethics (3). Students consider a variety of moral dilemmas that prevail in societies and organizations. They gain a deep understanding of the complexity of such moral dilemmas by establishing and applying ethical principles derived from philosophical and theological perspectives on how humans can and should interact ethically and morally. Prerequisite: ETHS 7213 Leadership and Personal Ethics.

EXSC 3210 Applied Exercise Anatomy & Physiology (3). This course provides an introduction to the effects of exercise on major systems in the body, including cellular, skeletal, neuromuscular, cardiovascular, respiratory, glandular, and metabolic systems. Other factors influencing human exercise are also examined, including climate, altitude, weight, acute exercise stress, cardiovascular disease, and ergogenic aids. Knowledge and application of these scientific principles are necessary to develop peak performance in athletes and to maintain health and fitness in the general population. A lab component focuses on practical applications based on these studies. [ACSM-CPT, ACSM-GEI, ACSM-HFS, NSCA-CPT, NSCA-CSCS]

FAMS 2013 Internal Family Dynamics (3). Family Systems approach to the study of normative changes and non-normative events and their impact on marriage and family relationships; attention to variations in the socio-economic contexts of family transitions, and to methods for reducing the negative effects of such transitions. Topics include social processes, conflict and communication, relationship roles and dynamics, culture and socioeconomic issues, impact of stress, and special needs in families, including adoptive, foster, migrant, low income, military, and blended families as well as those members with chronic illness and/or disabilities.

FAMS 2203 Human Development (3). This course provides an overview of human development in the physical, cognitive, social, emotional, and spiritual domains from conception to death in old age. Emphases include the ecological context of human development; biological and environmental influences on development; developmental anomalies and their impact on the individual and family; and implications of the knowledge of human development for Christian ministry, counseling, and family life education.

FAMS 3102/THEO 3102 Holistic Sexuality (3). This course is a theological and biopsychosocial-spiritual investigation into human sexuality. Issues discussed in this course include, though are not limited to, characteristics of healthy and unhealthy sexual relationship, interpersonal dynamics of sexual intimacy, gender, marriage, and sexual orientation. Students will learn the art of theological reflection and worldview analysis as they explore sexuality in both ancient and modern contexts and address human sexuality from value-respectful positions. Additional attention will be given to investigating attitudes, behaviors, and decision making as an expression of their understanding. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

FAMS 3310 Family & Community Resource Management (3). This course focuses on individual and family use of resources, including time, energy, material possessions, and environment. The roles of the church and Christian community are discussed, and students engage strategies for assessing and maximizing the influence of these resources. Prerequisite: FAMS 2203 Human Development.

FAMS 3410 Parent Education & Guidance (3). Students identify and discuss how parents teach, guide, and influence children and adolescents, as well as the changing nature, dynamics, and needs of the parent-child relationship across the lifespan. Topics include significant childcare, work, media, and community issues, as well as communication techniques, values clarification, learning principles, disciplinary techniques, family dynamics, diverse family forms and functions, and a theological perspective on parenting children. Prerequisite: FAMS 2203 Human Development.

FAMS 3520 Family Law & Public Policy (3). This course examines historical and current trends in contemporary American society as they relate to community and family life. Significant attention is given to social and public policy as it intersects with issues of diversity and the impact these have on individual and family life. This course examines legal issues, policies, and laws influencing the well-being of families. It provides an understanding of policy processes, distinguishes between lobbying, policy evaluation, analysis, education, and advocacy. Students identify current law, public policy and initiatives, and the influence these have on services to community and family. Prerequisite: FAMS 2203 Human Development.
FAMS 4101/PSYC 4101 Ethics & Professional Practice (3). This course provides an understanding of the character and quality of human social conduct, and the ability to critically examine ethical questions and issues as they relate to professional practice. It investigates areas of convergence and divergence between Human Services and spiritual approaches to the human condition. Various models of integration are explored, and ethical principles from contemporary codes of ethics (e.g., American Counseling Association code, NCFR’s Family Life Educator code) are applied. Topics addressed include ethical and legal considerations, the role of personal beliefs and values in professional practice, and professional development as a leader in the field of Human Services. Prerequisite: Successful completion of 75 hours of undergraduate study.

FAMS 4210 Family Life Education Methodology (3). This course provides an understanding of the general philosophy and broad principles of family life education in conjunction with the ability to plan, implement, and evaluate such educational programs in a variety of setting (government, non-profit, faith based, etc.). An understanding and application of employing various strategies, educational principles, techniques and technologies, to meet the needs of diverse audiences are addressed. Special emphasis is given to the implementation of evidence based programs.

FAMS 4914/PSYC 4914 Internship (3). This internship is designed to provide students opportunities to use and apply the theoretical knowledge, concepts, and skills acquired in their training. Students serve 125 clock hours of supervised field experience, which includes a minimum number of direct service hours based on their future goals. Students serve with and are mentored by full-time faculty and professional practitioners in the field at a site approved by the instructor. Prerequisite: Senior standing. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll. Liability insurance and TBI/FBI background check required.

FAMS 4915/PSYC 4915 Advanced Internship (3). The Advanced Internship provides students with an additional 125 hours of field experience beyond the basic internship. Students continue at their basic practicum site or may choose another site, allowing them to deepen or broaden their real-life experiences. The Advanced Internship, in conjunction with the concurrent seminar that incorporates individual and group supervision, helps students further clarify and establish goals for vocational ministry and/or graduate study. Prerequisite: FAMS 4914 Internship. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll. Liability insurance and TBI/FBI background check required.

FEDF 1031 Field Experience: Observations (0.5). This practical field experience is designed to acquaint candidates with a variety of schools and classrooms in Osceola county. FLED 4410 Practicum: Physical Education (0.5). This course is a term-long experience spending 30 hours in an elementary, middle grade, and high school physical education program. Students observe classroom teacher instruction, prepare weekly lessons, reflect and discuss experiences with a field experience coordinator, and complete assigned tasks.

FLED 4440 Practicum: Coaching (0.5). This course is a term-long experience spending 30 hours in a coaching program. Students observe classroom teacher instruction, prepare weekly lessons, reflect and discuss experiences with a field experience coordinator, and complete assigned tasks.

FREN 2100 French I (3). This course is an introduction to the French language. Students are introduced to the Francophone world and its culture. It is designed to equip students with the basic knowledge necessary to function in a French-speaking environment. Emphasis is given to basic communication sentences and vocabulary to use in practical and familiar contexts. Simple grammatical sentences are introduced to create a strong foundation for oral and written proficiency in French.

FREN 2200 French II (3). This course is designed to review and expand on the knowledge acquired in French I. It is intended to stimulate appreciation of the role of French-speaking cultures in a global context. Emphasis is given to improving and increasing basic conversation and grammatical structures. Students are introduced to short reading passages and begin developing writing skills. Prerequisites: FREN 2100 French I or placement.

FREN 3200 French III (3). This course is designed to increase knowledge in French linguistic tasks in order to build up proficiency. Emphasis is given to more meaningful conversation and more advanced grammar. Materials used promote the strengthening of reading and writing skills. Prerequisites: FREN 2200 French II or placement.
FREN 3210 French IV (3). This course is designed to create an environment where students use the French language with more complex sentences. Emphasis is given to the development of reading comprehension and writing skills. Prerequisites: FREN 3200 French III or placement.

GREK 2100 Elementary Greek I (3). Elementary Greek I introduces students to the basics of Koiné Greek grammar, syntax, and vocabulary, with particular reference to biblical texts (New Testament and Septuagint). Both this course and its follow-on, GREK 2200, develop a greater appreciation for the relation between the Greek New Testament and modern translations, and encourage students to explore the challenges and opportunities of communicating the ancient Word of God in contemporary global contexts. Prerequisites: GREK 2100 Elementary Greek I.

GREK 2200 Elementary Greek II (3). Elementary Greek II continues the introduction of GREK 2100. Students translate a significant biblical text (e.g. 1 John) with the aid of appropriate Greek reference tools. Both this course and its predecessor, GREK 2100, develop a greater appreciation for the relation between the Greek New Testament and modern translations, and encourage students to explore the challenges and opportunities of communicating the ancient Word of God in contemporary global contexts. Prerequisites: GREK 2100 Elementary Greek I.

GREK 3200 Intermediate Greek I (3). This course enables students to improve their skills in translation and grammatical analysis, with an emphasis on translation from selected New Testament passages. Prerequisites: GREK 2100 Elementary Greek I and GREK 2200 Elementary Greek II.

GREK 3210 Intermediate Greek II (3). This course enables students to continue improving their skills in translation and grammatical analysis, with an emphasis on translation from Greek Judeo-Christian material. Students also learn how to apply their skills in congregational or mission settings. Prerequisites: GREK 3200 Intermediate Greek I.

GREK 5553 Greek A (3). This introduction to the fundamentals of Greek focuses on common vocabulary, pronunciation, grammatical forms, elementary syntax, sentence structure, and basic translation. Students learn to use scholarly tools, such as Greek lexicons, and grammars.

GREK 5563 Greek B (3). In this advanced course in Greek, students increase their reading vocabulary, expand their knowledge of Greek grammar and syntax, and further develop their translation skills. They also practice using scholarly tools, such as Greek lexicons, grammars, syntaxes, and commentaries. Prerequisite: GREK 5553 Greek A HEBR 2100 Elementary Hebrew I (3). An introduction to elements of biblical Hebrew prose, including basic grammar, verb forms, and common vocabulary. This course and its follow-ups develop the ability to read and translate the Hebrew Old Testament for more insightful ministry in the contemporary world.

HEBR 2200 Elementary Hebrew II (3). A continuation of the study of biblical Hebrew grammar, morphology, and vocabulary as introduced in Elementary Hebrew I, aiming to complete the basic preparation that students will need to be able to read and translate biblical Hebrew prose. Prerequisite: HEBR 2100 Elementary Hebrew I.

HEBR 3200 Intermediate Hebrew I (3). Reading of selected prose texts from the Hebrew Bible in follow-up to Elementary Hebrew I–II, with focus on basics of Hebrew syntax and use of lexicons and other biblical Hebrew exegetical tools. Prerequisites: HEBR 2100 Elementary Hebrew I and HEBR 2200 Elementary Hebrew II.
HEBR 3210 Intermediate Hebrew II (3). Continuation of developing proficiency in reading selected prose texts from the Hebrew Bible, with focus on the use of biblical commentaries and other scholarly tools which are helpful for doing exegesis for preaching and teaching.

Prerequisite: HEBR 3200 Intermediate Hebrew I.

HEBR 5543 Hebrew A (3). This introduction to the elements of Hebrew focuses on common vocabulary, grammatical forms, basic syntax, and sentence structure. Students learn how to use scholarly tools, such as Hebrew texts, lexicons, and grammars.

HEBR 5553 Hebrew B (3). In this advanced course in Hebrew, students increase their reading vocabulary, expand their knowledge of Hebrew grammar and syntax, engage in discourse analysis, and further develop their translation skills. They also practice using scholarly tools, such as Hebrew texts, lexicons, grammars, syntaxes, and commentaries. Prerequisites: HEBR 5543 Hebrew A.

HIST 1100 World Civilizations I (3). This course is a survey of World Cultures and Civilizations from the appearance of organized societies in the Ancient Near East until 1500AD. This course examines the history of the American Restoration Movement from its inception within the Stone and Campbell traditions of the early 19th century to the contemporary era. Although a significant portion of the course is devoted to the early development of this “Reformation of the 19th Century,” the entire scope of the movement, including current issues of importance, is addressed.

HIST 4220 History of Christian Spiritual Formation (3). This course examines the varieties of spiritual and devotional movements (the “devotional masters”) throughout the history of Christianity. The strengths and weaknesses of this rich Christian tradition of study, prayer, worship, and service are explored in order to appreciate the role of history and tradition in spiritual formation and to apply the valid spiritual principles to contemporary practice in individual and corporate contexts.
HIST 4340 History & Cultures of Africa (3). This course is an examination of the history of Africa from ancient societies to the present. It emphasizes geographical, political, social, and religious dimensions of African culture.

HIST 4400 History Senior Project/Internship (3). Students pursuing a History Major develop a senior project or internship experience in consultation with their academic advisors. In most cases, students complete a major research paper. However, students may pursue an internship or a project that integrates historical research with teaching methods.

HIST 4613 History Seminar (3). This course will explore a special topic of interest to the professor that is not a part of the regular history curriculum.

HIST 4913 History Tutorial (3). This course allows the student to explore a topic of particular interest to the student under the guidance of the professor. This course may be used in preparation for the HIST 4400 History Senior Project/Internship.

HIST 5033 Early Hebrew History (3). This course surveys the Hebrew Bible to establish a foundation for further study of the Old and New Testaments. The course provides a general overview of the biblical material as well as a more detailed study of important theological and hermeneutical issues. Considerable attention is given to historical events that defined the nation of Israel and established the context for the writings of the Prophets and Wisdom Literature.

HLED 5116 Test, Measurement & Assessment (3). This course focuses on test construction and methods of evaluation with an emphasis on teacher-made tests, standardized tests, test data measurement, interpretation and application of test data to instructional decisions, and the reporting of test results to parents and students. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Holistic Education program.

HLED 5215 Brain-Based Learning (3). This course teaches students to identify various areas of the brain and their functions. Students become familiar with current research regarding brain function. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students in the Holistic Education program.

HLED 5225 Curriculum & Diversity (3). This course continues the study of holistic education with special emphasis on curriculum, including an examination of the development of National Standards and the resulting changes in principles of assessment and evaluation. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Holistic Education program.

HLED 5605 STEM Beyond the Classroom (3). A two-week summer course providing experiential learning opportunity for students. Students will work with urban middle school students conducting STEM activities and visiting various STE(A)M-focused sites to engage urban youth in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics.

HLSC 1013 Health Science (3). This course explores what it means for a person to be healthy in body, mind, spirit and relationships. Students will learn the basics of how to maintain a healthy body within current medical standards by learning and implementing behavioral recommendations for managing stress, eating a healthy diet and getting regular physical activity. Students will also learn techniques for maintaining healthy attitudes and relationships. All of these subjects will be taught within a framework of maintaining a healthy self in order to sustainably continue in God’s Kingdom work.

HLSC 2203 Human Development for Health Sciences (3). This course introduces students to human development across the lifespan. The course will discuss the major theories that explain our biophysical, cognitive, emotional and social development through the various life stages—prenatal, infancy, toddlerhood, early childhood, middle childhood, adolescence, early, middle and late adulthood. The class format will include pre-learning, lectures, videos, application of the material through a text and student presentations.

HLSC 2213 Nutrition (3). Students pursue a scientific study of the principles of nutrition, essential nutrients and functions, and their application in meeting nutritional needs throughout the life cycle. The course emphasizes nutrients and their relationship to optimal health and selected disease states, diet application, nutritional misinformation, controversial diets, obesity, food supplements, consumer fallacies, and exercise. An exploration of holistic approaches to health is utilized in order to attain optimal health toward the end of honoring and glorifying God through our bodies.

HONR 2002 Honors Chapel (0.5). This course is a Wednesday Chapel Group option for Honors Program students on the Tennessee campus. Topics change from term to term, providing exposure to a variety of biblical, historical, and theological issues. During their time at Johnson University, Honors Program students must complete a minimum of three such term-length studies.

HONR 4200 Senior Project Honors (3). The primary criterion for the senior project is to select a topic of great interest to the student, which a Johnson University professor can supervise. It must sustain the interest of both parties for a term. The three-hour course must include reading, research, and writing, but the project can take different forms (e.g., substantial research paper, reading and book reviews, field project, ministry). The HP coordinator should be involved in the process from the beginning and must approve the topic and plan, but the supervisory professor is also involved – and is even more important to the process. The student registers for HONR 4200, but the professor and subject can come from any department or area of study.

HSVC 2100 Interviewing & Counseling Skills (3). This course presents the interviewing and counseling process and trains students in the use of foundational micro skills (attending, observation, checking out, questions, encouraging, paraphrase, summarization, reflection, focusing, influencing, and confrontation). Students are taught basic concepts, observe experienced practitioners, and practice skills in role-play and peer counseling. Upon completion, students should be able to listen, conduct a well-formed interview, and focus their interventions in a Human Services environment. Prerequisite: SPSY 1100 Interpersonal & Family Relationships (concurrent enrollment in SPSY 1100 permitted).

HSVC 2103 Substance Abuse & Addictions (3). Course content includes analyzing theories, development, and treatment of substance abuse and addictions. We will discuss addiction and intervention from intrapersonal, interpersonal and family perspectives. Students will examine clinical and biblical concepts of substance abuse and will practice integrating these perspectives. Upon completion, students should have an understanding of the theoretical basis of addictions and an ability to assess and identify treatment options and interventions. Prerequisite: PSYC 2100 Introduction to Psychology.

HUMN 1011 First-Year Bridge (1). Shared experiences for incoming freshman that will begin with a preliminary experience before their first semester and tie directly into the FYS courses. These courses will allow opportunity for students to find community and learn about Johnson as they get settled into college life. Various course descriptions as new courses are developed.
HUMN 1022 First-Year Cornerstone Seminar (2). Introduces students to the aims, responsibilities, requirements, and rewards of Christian higher education at Johnson University and the Arts & Sciences core curriculum. This faculty/staff team-taught course consists of two primary and interrelated components: First, the course cultivates academic skills and habits of mind necessary for success in a Christian university setting. Second, small section sizes help faculty and staff build positive relationships and promote spiritual formation for a lifelong pursuit of Christ as a student. Note: Must be taken in JUTN student’s first term at Johnson University. Replaced by HUMN 3202 for JUTN students transferring in more than 15 credits, or one full term from another college[s] at the time of admission. Replaced by HUMN 1100 for JUFL students. Replaced by HUMN 1102 for JUOL students.

HUMN 1023 Cultural & Spiritual Considerations in Nursing (3). This course promotes the provision of nursing care within a cultural and spiritual framework. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of understanding human behavior and of promoting, maintaining and restoring the holistic health of individuals, families and communities within their socioeconomic and religious contexts. Focus will also be placed on how cultural and spiritual beliefs influence a person's health care practices. Also, this course will introduce students to spiritual formation practices.

HUMN 1100 Freshman Cornerstone Experience (3). The Freshman Cornerstone Experience introduces students to the aims, responsibilities, requirements, and rewards of Christian higher education at Johnson University. This team-taught course consists of three primary and interrelated components: First, students explore spiritual formation and the “story of scripture” as an overview of the structure and rationale of the Johnson University curriculum and how students can prepare themselves for active participation in God’s ongoing Story. Second, the course cultivates academic skills and habits of mind necessary for success in a Christian university setting. Third, faculty- and staff-led small group experience (“D” group) build positive relationships and promote spiritual formation. (Must be taken in a JUFL student’s first term.)

HUMN 1102 Online Cornerstone Experience (3). This course introduces students to the aims, responsibilities, requirements, and rewards of Christian higher education at Johnson University in general and the Arts and Sciences student learning outcomes in particular. The course prepares students to succeed in online learning experiences and promotes spiritual formation. A core focus will be to cultivate reflective discipleship and spiritual formation through self-awareness and metacognition. Major skill sets developed in the course include technology, communication, academic, personal management, and learning efficiency. Students also review information regarding program requirements, policies, and procedures. (Must be taken in a JUOL students’ first term.)

HUMN 1201 Freshman Cornerstone Seminar (1). Introduces students to the aims, responsibilities, requirements, and rewards of Christian higher education at Johnson University and the Arts & Sciences core curriculum. This team-taught course consists of two primary and interrelated components: First, the course cultivates academic skills and habits of mind necessary for success in a Christian university setting. Second, faculty- and staff-led small groups build positive relationships and promote spiritual formation. Note: Must be taken in JUTN student’s first term at Johnson University. Replaced by HUMN 3201 for JUTN students transferring in more than 15 credits, or one full term from another college[s] at the time of admission. Replaced by HUMN 1100 for JUFL students. Replaced by HUMN 1102 for JUOL students.
HUMN 1203 Personal Spiritual Formation (3). Personal Spiritual Formation equips students for the life-long transforming and learning experience that emerges from our communion with Christ. This communion involves the joyful sharing and participation in the life and love of the Father, Son and Spirit. This class introduces students to classic disciplines involving both solitude and community in preparation for a life of personal flourishing and other-centered service in whatever career God might call them.

HUMN 1501 Service-Learning & Discipleship (1). This course will bridge connections between students’ field of study and their service-learning placement. The course will employ a dialogical model in which reflection informs action and action in turn informs reflection. The core focus will be to cultivate reflective discipleship and spiritual formation through self-awareness, metacognition, and thoughtful engagement with service placement. Students will set goals, develop action plans, undertake field research strategies, and meet weekly with a small group and faculty member to reflect upon and to maximize their service-learning experience. Students receive up to 20 hours of SALT credit for satisfactory completion of the course, dependent upon course grade. Note: Must be taken in a JUTN student’s first term at Johnson University. Replaced by HUMN 1100 for JUFL students. Replaced by HUMN 1102 for JUOL students. JUTN students transferring in more than 30 credits at the time of admission need not take HUMN 1501.

HUMN 1503 Service Learning, Discipleship & Leadership (3). This course will bridge connections between students’ field of study and their service-learning placement. The course will employ a dialogical model in which reflection informs action and action in turn informs reflection. The core focus will be to cultivate reflective discipleship and spiritual formation through self-awareness, metacognition, and thoughtful engagement with service placement. Students explore models of leadership focused upon the best interests of others and self-leadership habits that support such service. Students will set goals, develop action plans, undertake field research strategies, and meet weekly with a small group and faculty member to reflect upon and to maximize their service-learning experience. Students receive up to 20 hours of SALT credit for satisfactory completion of the course, dependent upon course grade. Note: Must be taken in a JUFL/JUOL student’s first year at Johnson University.

HUMN 1602 Service Learning & Change (2). This course will bridge connections between students’ field of study and their service-learning placement. The core focus will be to cultivate reflective service and spiritual formation through self-awareness, metacognition, and thoughtful engagement with multicultural experience. Students will explore poverty, development and personal and community change as it relates to their service placement. Note: Should be taken in a JUTN student’s second term at Johnson University. Replaced by HUMN 1100 for JUFL students. Replaced by HUMN 1102 for JUOL students. JUTN students transferring in more than 30 credits at the time of admission need not take HUMN 1602.

HUMN 2001 Special Topics: Exploration Mind Course (1). Designed to cultivate spiritual disciplines, this course includes offerings from several options designed for spiritual formation including prayer, solitude, and mentoring or additional approved course content. Course may be repeated.

HUMN 2011 Special Topics: Exploration Body Course (1). Designed specifically for physical fitness, this course includes offerings from several options designed for physical wellbeing including basketball, yoga, and more. Course may be repeated.
HUMN 2012 Cross-Cultural Experience (2). A variable content course designed to allow students first-hand cross-cultural experiential learning while participating in a faculty/staff-led multi-cultural experience including traveling, living, and studying in a cross-cultural setting domestically or abroad. Completion of the course requires documentation and reflection of experiences.

HUMN 2021 Special Topics: Exploration Pop-up Course (1). Designed to engage students on spiritual, philosophical, or cultural questions this course provides opportunities to engage professors and teachers in the classroom and non-traditional settings to discuss, explore, and grapple with questions of faith and spirituality. Course may be repeated.

HUMN 2022 Research Methods for Service Learning (2). This course equips students to analyze qualitative and quantitative research projects in service learning settings. Students will design their own action research proposal including a review of literature, and an exploration of methodology, data collection, and analysis.

HUMN 2100 Introduction to the Humanities (3). This course is an introduction to the Humanities grounded in the Christian intellectual tradition. It equips students with principles and practices to effectively study, appreciate, and criticize art, history, literature, philosophy, and other disciplines.

HUMN 2110 Great Books I (1). This course deepens the Humanities major’s experience with focused readings of key classic works from Antiquity that have made an impact on western culture and Christian thought. Potential authors include Homer, Plato, Aristotle, Cicero, and Herodotus.

HUMN 2202 Multicultural Experience (2). A variable content course designed to allow students first-hand experiential learning while participating in a faculty/staff-led multi-cultural experience including traveling, living and studying abroad or domestically in a cross-cultural setting. Completion of the course requires documentation and reflection of experiences. Prerequisite: ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City As Text.

HUMN 2203 Multicultural Experience (3). A variable content course designed to allow students first-hand experiential learning while participating in a faculty/staff-led multi-cultural experience including traveling, living and studying abroad or domestically in a cross-cultural setting. Completion of the course requires documentation and reflection of experiences. Prerequisite: ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City As Text.

HUMN 3100 Humanities I: Classical Antiquity (3). This course surveys Ancient Near Eastern thought with emphasis on the history, philosophy, literature, and art of Greek and Roman societies. Special attention is given to how the Greco-Roman worldview shaped and influenced Christianity.

HUMN 3110 Great Books II (1). This course deepens the Humanities major’s experience with focused readings of key classic works from Early Christianity and the Middle Ages that have made an impact on western culture and Christian thought. Potential authors include Augustine, Thomas Aquinas, Dante, and Thomas á Kempis.

HUMN 3133/THEO 3133 Christian Thought and Film (3). This course offers instruction in discerning theological elements inherent in modern film. Films selected for study feature examples of either Christian theology or theologies in competition with Christianity. Students receive tools for making moral decisions about movie-going and for evaluating a film’s content.
Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation

HUMN 3201 Transfer Cornerstone Seminar (1). Introduces students to the aims, responsibilities, requirements, and rewards of Christian higher education at Johnson University and the Arts & Sciences core curriculum. This team-taught course consists of two primary and interrelated components: First, the course cultivates academic skills and habits of mind necessary for success in a Christian university setting. Second, faculty- and staff-led small groups build positive relationships and promote spiritual formation. (Must be taken in a JUTN transfer student’s first term. Replaces HUMN 1201 for JUTN transfer students.)

HUMN 3202 Transfer Cornerstone Seminar (2). Introduces students to the aims, responsibilities, requirements, and rewards of Christian higher education at Johnson University and the Arts & Sciences core curriculum. This team-taught course consists of two primary and interrelated components: First, the course cultivates academic skills and habits of mind necessary for success in a Christian university setting. Second, faculty- and staff-led small groups build positive relationships and promote spiritual formation. (Must be taken in a JUTN transfer student’s first term. Replaces HUMN1102 for JUTN transfer students).

HUMN 3303 Introduction to Unity and Reconciliation Studies (3). A broad humanities-based overview of the theology, theory, philosophy, and literature in the field, contributing factors leading to the need for reconciliation in our world, and paradigms for unity and reconciliation praxis. The course presents processes for moving toward societal reconciliation through the biblically-framed unity principles of Restoration movement. Subjects are covered include: denomination, gender, race and social class unity and reconciliation, conflict resolution, spiritual disciplines, social and economic justice issues, and the role of the local church in embodied and symbolic unity. Prerequisite: ANTH 1103 Encountering Cultures: City As Text.

HUMN 3400 Humanities II: Early Christianity & Medieval World (3). This course surveys early Christian and Medieval history, philosophy, literature, and art. It gives particular consideration to the emergence and influence of Roman Catholicism, Eastern Orthodoxy, and Islam.

HUMN 3500 Literature and Theology of Race (3). Martin Luther King gave his famous “I Have a Dream” speech more than 50 years ago, but the problem of racial relationships remains as troubling and divisive today as it was then. Cases like Trayvon Martin’s and Michael Brown’s demonstrate a deep-seated mistrust and antagonism between races that continues to pervade our social landscape. This course proceeds from three closely related propositions: (1) that racial division contradicts the Gospel, (2) that theology provides categories and practices for addressing the problem of racial division, and (3) that literature offers us a framework for engaging the intersection between racial division and the theological application of reconciliation. Accordingly, we will use a critical reading of important literary, theoretical and theological texts to begin the process of reflecting on the problems of racial division and to begin the process of imagining what racial reconciliation might look like. We will frame this discussion throughout as an explicitly theological attempt to construct a vision of Christian faith and practice that emphasizes the priority of racial reconciliation.

HUMN 4100 Humanities III: Renaissance to the Enlightenment (3). This course surveys Renaissance, Reformation, and Enlightenment thought with emphasis on history, philosophy, literature, and art. It examines the influence of Renaissance humanism; the causes, nature, and consequences of the Protestant Reformation; and the emergence of the modern rational worldview of the Enlightenment.

HUMN 4103 Advanced Film in Theological Context (3). This course builds upon THEO 3133 by instructing students in the utilization of film for exploring general theological categories – theology proper, soteriology, eschatology, etc., as well as the theological foundations of modern film genres – drama, comedy, fantasy, etc. Students receive tools for using film in preaching, teaching and other ministry settings. Prerequisite: HUMN 3113/THEO 3113 Theology in Film or HUMN 3133/THEO 3133 Christian Thought and Film.

HUMN 4110 Great Books III (1). This course deepens the Humanities major’s experience with focused readings of key classic works from the Renaissance, Reformation, and Enlightenment that have made an impact on western culture and Christian thought. Potential authors include Machiavelli, Luther, Calvin, Descartes, Voltaire, and Rousseau.

HUMN 4200 Senior Capstone Seminar (3). As an interdisciplinary course designed as the culmination of four years of undergraduate study at Johnson University and integrating the Bible, Arts & Sciences, and professional areas of the curriculum, the senior capstone seminar focuses on the Christian worldview, especially the discipline of ethics. It makes significant connections between course content, skills learned, and application to life and ministry, and serves as a bridge to life-long education. Prerequisites: Students must have completed 90 credit hours and be classified as a senior. Special Consideration: Since this course is unique to the Johnson University curriculum, no transfer courses may be substituted.

HUMN 4201 Spiritual Formation Lab (1). Taken in conjunction with Senior Capstone Seminar, this course develops spiritual discipline through mentored, missional, spiritual, formation small group communities.

HUMN 4400 Humanities IV: 19th to 21st Centuries (3). This course surveys the 1800s and 1900s with emphasis on history, philosophy, literature, and art, specifically with regard to the emerging dominance of American culture and the global society. Special focus is given to the legacy of the Enlightenment in the American Revolution and its French counterpart. It explores how Communism and Evolution accelerated European skepticism and impacted two World Wars, and it examines how the Christian worldview has weathered both the emergence of Modernism and its transition into Postmodernism.

HUMN 4410 Great Books IV (1). This course deepens the Humanities major’s experience with focused readings of key classic works from the 19th and 20th centuries that have made an impact on western culture and Christian thought. Potential authors include Goethe, Dickens, Nietzsche, Sartre, and Orwell.

ICAL 4302 Principles of Articulatory & Acoustic Phonetics (3) [Dallas International University]. Students complete this course at Dallas International University in Dallas, Texas. Using an augmented subset of the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA), students identify, mimic, and transcribe sounds and prosodies in normal human speech, and describe the mechanisms by which a speaker produces these sounds. Students are also introduced to basic techniques of acoustic analysis.

ICAL 4333 Principles of Phonological Analysis (3) [Dallas International University]. Students complete this course at Dallas International University in Dallas, Texas. By the end of the course, students are able to recognize the difference between phonetic (etic) and phonological (emic) data and identify phonological hierarchy and intonation in data. They are able to recognize the use of distinctive features, natural classes, and phonetic plausibility; identify phones in complementary distribution, free variation, and contrast in identical/analogous environment; recognize major phonological processes and common conditioning environments, including adjacent segments, syllables, and larger prosodic units; and apply concepts of tone analysis, and morphophonemics to data. Prerequisite: ICAL 4302 Principles of Articulatory & Acoustic Phonetics.

ICAL 4410 Principles of Grammatical Analysis I (2) [Dallas International University]. Students complete this course at Dallas International University in Dallas, Texas. By the end of the course, students are able to write a brief description of a grammatical topic; identify constituent structure, syntactic categories, and grammatical relations within a sentence; analyze data in terms of a set of phrase structure rules and a lexicon; distinguish between indicative, imperative, and interrogative sentences; distinguish between types of objects and obliques; and analyze the structure of noun phrases and verb phrases.

ICAL 4422 Principles of Grammatical Analysis II (2) [Dallas International University]. Students complete this course at Dallas International University in Dallas, Texas. By the end of the course, students are able to write a brief description of a grammatical topic, divide words into constituent morphemes, distinguish between inflectional and derivational morphemes, analyze case and agreement systems, and identify passive and recursive structures. Prerequisite: ICAL 4410 Principles of Grammatical Analysis I.

ICCC 5131 Foundations of Intercultural Studies (3). This course is a synthesis of the foundational areas of intercultural studies, including historical, cultural and practical analyses. The student is acquainted with the multidisciplinary demands of intercultural studies.

ICCC 5232 Applied Anthropology (3). This course explores cultural anthropology with special attention to the impact of culture on working cross-culturally. Critical elements of political, social, religious, economic, kinship as well as other areas of anthropology are included to prepare students for cross-cultural work of various types. The course provides a framework for cross-cultural workers to understand forces that shape peoples’ beliefs and behaviors as they interact with those of other cultures.

ICCC 5234 Global Philosophy and Religion (3). This course focuses on developing a clear understanding of the impact of religion and global philosophical trends, arising from ancient historical writings through today’s global interaction.

ICCC 6031 Dynamics of Cross-Cultural Growth (3). This course addresses issues involved in personal and familial growth while engaged and immersed in the pressures and dynamics of living and working cross-culturally. This course develops strategies and continuing practices required to satisfy the needs of both children and parents under the stress of working in a context that demands high levels of change in family, social integration, and cultural isolation. Issues of conflict resolution and relationship building among team and family members are also addressed as a beginning to cross-cultural worker care.

ICCC 6301 Micro-Finance for Development (3). This course introduces development leaders to concepts and approaches to micro-finance, as well as to dynamics of customer expectations. It facilitates approaches to designing new culturally-appropriate and relevant products, along with methods of distribution suitable to the context. Students explore ways to develop seed lending and financial resources, regulate assets and expenses, and assess sustainability.
ICCC 6337 Innovation of Transformation (3). This course utilizes cultural change theory in support of initiating transformed communities for the sake of uplifting and improvement of local contexts. Students explore strategies of dynamic change utilizing significant cultural change agents, including wisdom and resource leaders. They examine opposition and opportunities for presenting the gospel toward the goal of transformed individuals and communities.

ICEL 2015 Teaching Cross-Culturally (3). Students consider the challenges and joys of the cross-cultural educator. The course seeks to help teachers better understand their own culture of learning and teaching, while becoming effective teachers in a context other than their own. Cross-cultural teaching methods, techniques, appropriate lesson planning, and more are addressed for those who teach in cross-cultural or multicultural settings.

ICEL 2100/ESED 2100 Foundations in Linguistics (3). This course introduces students to the complexity of human language. It is designed to introduce material in three interrelated units, including the nature of language, the grammatical aspects of language, and the applied areas of language. The course focuses on issues such as how the brain and language are related, how language sounds are produced and formed into words and sentences, and how those words and sentences are used to convey meaning. The course also addresses applied areas, such as dialects of English, pragmatics, bilingualism, language acquisition, and language instruction. While covering these various aspects of language, the ways in which the content relates to ministry are addressed.

ICEL 2203 Structure of the English Language (3). This course helps students understand the system of rules that comprise the real grammar of English and leads students systematically from an understanding of the structures themselves to an ability to use this understanding in an ESL/EFL classroom, as well as in more informal “tutoring” situations. The course deals more with concepts and content than with application.

ICEL 3360 English as a Second Language/English as a Foreign Language Methods & Materials (3). This course examines the four second/foreign-language learning skills (reading, writing, listening, and speaking) and introduces students to a variety of instructional methodologies developed by ESL practitioners. Attention is also given to the teaching of grammar, the creation and use of placement and testing instruments, the critical examination of classroom texts, the study of contemporary theories of second/foreign language teaching, and to further study of current theory regarding language acquisition. Development of classroom lessons implementing methodologies discussed in class, especially the production of instructional visuals, is emphasized. Prerequisite: ICEL 2015 Teaching Cross-Culturally, ICEL 2100 Foundations in Linguistics.

ICEL 4700 Topics in English as a Second Language/English as a Foreign Language Instruction (3). This senior-level course completes the examination of the four second/foreign language learning skills begun in ICEL 3360 ESL/EFL Methods & Materials by stressing strategies for teaching reading and writing. The course provides more in-depth study of teaching methods, pronunciation instruction techniques, lesson planning, and English for Special Purposes. The course also examines the use of video production and instructional technology for the ESL classroom, explores topics in curriculum development, and examines ESL standards by grade/age level. Additionally, students investigate research in ESL classroom communication, the role of culture in ESL instruction, development of ESL ministries, and other relevant topics. Prerequisites: ICEL 3360 ESL/EFL Methods & Materials
ICIS 2310 Islam: History, Beliefs, and Practices (3). This course provides a survey of Islam’s history and the beliefs and practices of Muslims. We will consider the development of Islam’s doctrines and focus on the modern period. Class participants will use a variety of resources to acquire historical perspective and theological understanding – including readings, films, websites, and lectures. Students should learn how to analyze and discuss the topics we consider in a critical, honest, and fair manner.

ICIS 3115 Modern Middle East (3). This course is a study of major geographical, political, economic, cultural, and religious factors in the Middle East that explain some of the regional problems that dominate today’s headline news. The course enables students to understand the background of these contemporary conflicts, some of which have lengthy and complex histories.

ICLD 4350 Language & Society (3) [Dallas International University]. Students complete this course at Dallas International University in Dallas, Texas. Participants consider the relationship between language and society. After successfully completing the course, students are able to articulate the multilingual nature of the world's societies, the function(s) of language(s) in nations, and how different languages are used alongside one another, including the idea of diglossia. They are also able to identify factors influencing the choice among language varieties for national and educational use. In addition, students are able to explain how language attitudes and domains of language use influence the long-term maintenance and/or shift of language(s) in society. They are able to discuss how all the aforementioned may possibly affect a language development program for a given linguistic community.

ICLD 4505 Second Language & Culture Acquisition (5) [Dallas International University]. This course introduces students to the process of language and culture acquisition among people served on the field. An array of tools and practices are introduced.

ICLI 2610 Phonetics & Phonology (3). Phonetics and Phonology focuses on understanding the use of sound in human language. This includes a general understanding of description, production, and transcription of sounds based upon the International Phonetic Alphabet, as well as the identification of phonemes and phonological processes within specific languages. Prerequisite: ICST 3136 Introduction to Linguistics OR ICEL 2100 Foundations of Linguistics.

ICLI 3410 Grammatical Analysis (3). This course provides tools for the analysis of language on morphological and syntactic levels. Prerequisite: ICST 3136 Introduction to Linguistics OR ICEL 2100 Foundations of Linguistics.

ICLI 4410 Sociolinguistics (3). This course offers a view of language as a context-dependent social phenomenon. Students examine how cultural attitudes, expectations, behaviors, and contexts affect the use of language. With a particular emphasis on multilingual communities, this course introduces foundational principles for socio-linguistic survey.

ICLI 5810 Translation Linguistics (3). This course is a study of phonetics, phonology, and grammar necessary to implement a Bible translation project. It includes the study of phonetics and phonology needed to develop a writing system. The course also includes the study of morphology and syntax for understanding how the language communicates meaning through grammatical structures. Prerequisite: ICLI 5813 Language Analysis.

ICLI 5813 Language Analysis (3). This course addresses the process of language analysis with a view to enhancing the student’s ability to learn field languages. Students will learn a framework for understanding and identifying the sound systems and grammatical structures of different languages, recognizing language as context-dependent social phenomenon driven by cultural attitudes, expectations, behaviors, and contexts which affect the use of language.
Emphasizing multilingual communities, this course includes principles for socio-linguistic survey.

ICLI 5823 Use & Distribution of Cross-Cultural Literature (3). This course equips the student to maximize Cross-Cultural Literature engagement by examining factors influencing their and highlighting the significance of community involvement. Topics include appropriateness of publication and distribution, transformational community and people context involvement, digital distribution, modeling the literature use, oral storytelling, and audio recording.

ICLI 6210 Semantics, Pragmatics & Discourse (3). This course is designed to equip the student to identify key terms and to analyze and translate the meaning of words, phrases, sentences, and discourses from one language to another. Prerequisite: ICLI 5810 Translation Linguistics.

ICLI 6410 Translation Models & Methods (3). This course covers models and methods applicable to meaning-based translation and issues commonly arising in translating the biblical text. Topics include accuracy, clarity, naturalness, the source—meaning—receptor translation model, cultural factors in translation model, cultural factors in translation, and the relevance theory of communication. Prerequisite: ICLI 6210 Semantics, Pragmatics & Discourse.

ICLI 6610 Translation Process (3). In this course students examine the process of translating the Bible, including considerations of acceptability and style. This includes collaboration and partnerships, sociolinguistics surveying, orthography development, drafting, exegetical check, comprehension testing, consultant checking, publication, and distribution concerns. It also includes translation approaches such as oral drafting, cluster projects and adaptations. The course introduces software commonly used by translators for language data collection, management, and analysis, as well as written translation, oral drafting, and adaptation. Prerequisite: ICLI 6410 Translation Models & Methods.

ICLI 6703 Translation Consulting (3). This course equips students with an understanding of the process of consultant checking a Bible translation and an awareness of issues commonly arising in translating the biblical text. Topics include role and qualifications of a consultant, important tools, interpersonal skills, consulting techniques and approval parameters.
Prerequisite: ICLI 6410 Translation Models & Methods or equivalent.

ICLI 6723 Mentored Consulting (3). In this course students obtain experience in the process of translation consulting. Working under the mentorship of a consultant trainer they will participate in the translation consulting process, applying the skills they learned in the Translation Consulting course. Professor approval is required to enroll in this course.

ICME 3360 Introduction to Arabic Language & Middle Eastern Cultures (3). This course introduces the student to the diversity of Middle Eastern Cultures and Modern Standard Arabic.
Elements include greetings, acquisition of the Arabic alphabet, and both manual and printed script. Equal emphasis is placed on the four skills of language: reading, writing, speaking and listening.

ICME 4710 Faith Communities in Middle Eastern Contexts (3). This course provides an overview of the theology, theory, and practice of planting churches cross-culturally and in a Middle Eastern context. Special attention is given to the mission of the church, house churches, indigenous church planting movements, making the gospel relevant to culture, and accountability-oriented discipleship that leads to the multiplication of churches. Church planting specialists assist, and field trips to new church plants are included in the course schedule.

ICMI 3521 Cross-Cultural Internship Preparation (1). Typically completed during the spring term, this course consists of orientation meetings, required paperwork, required reading, cultural research, application for the student’s internship and other necessary preparations for the field internship. Prerequisites or Corequisites: ICST 2133 Intercultural Communication, Students should pass ICST 2131 Missiology with a minimum GPA of 2.5.

ICMI 3522 Cross-Cultural Internship (1). This internship provides on-the-job training under the supervision and guidance of an experienced missions practitioner where students are given opportunities to apply classroom instruction in cross-cultural situations. Internships directed by Johnson University’s School of Intercultural Studies enable students to gain ministry experience in their area of concentration in a cross-cultural setting. The term “cross-cultural” refers to cultural “distance,” whether geographical, theological, linguistic, or social, without regard to “foreign” or “home” distinctions. Internships test students’ aptitude for intercultural ministry, provide a laboratory for the application of classroom-learned theory, and offer exposure to life and practice on the cross-cultural field, all under the supervision and mentoring of an experienced and successful practitioner. Three-credit 10-week (minimum) internships include a minimum 300 hours of cross-cultural work, which students normally complete during the summer between their junior and senior years. Prerequisite: To enroll, students must have senior status (90+ university credits) or advisor approval.

ICMI 3523 Cross-Cultural Internship Assessment (1). Typically this course is completed during Fall Session 1, upon successful completion of ICMI 3521 and ICMI 3522. During this course following the internship, students will successfully complete all paperwork and other debriefing requirements for their time on the field in internship. Elements such as debriefing, field reports, and supporter reports are a part of this course. Successful completion of all course components is required. Prerequisites: ICMI 3521 Cross-Cultural Internship Preparation, ICMI 3522 Cross-Cultural Internship.

ICMI 4600 Living & Working Cross-Culturally (3). This course focuses on practical strategies of evangelism and discipleship in a cross-cultural setting that result in indigenous-led churches which reproduce themselves by planting more churches. Special attention is given to contextualization, creative access strategies into closed countries, personal spiritual development, spiritual warfare, raising support, communicating with supporters, family dynamics, choosing an organization, and the changing role of the western missionary. Prerequisites: ANTH 3300 Cultural Anthropology, Internship required for concentration.

ICMI 4720 Church Planting & Discipleship (3). This course gives students an overview of the theology, theory, and practice of planting churches locally and cross-culturally. Special attention is given to the mission of the church, contemporary models of church planting, indigenous church planting movements, making the gospel relevant to culture, and accountability-oriented discipleship which leads to the multiplication of churches. Church-planting specialists assist, and field trips to new church plants are included in the course schedule.
ICRU 2232 Foundations of Ministering Cross-Culturally (in Russian) (3). Students explore the dynamics of cross-cultural ministry, fundamental team building, and issues of attending to personal and familial spiritual growth during ministry in a cross-cultural setting. Special emphasis is given to avoidance of placing children in at-risk situations due to the ministry of the parents.

ICRU 3136 Introduction to Linguistics (in Russian) (3). This course introduces the process of language analysis with the goal of enhancing the student’s ability to learn language. Students gain a framework for understanding and identifying the sound systems and grammatical structures of different languages.

ICRU 3235 Missiological Anthropology (in Russian) (3). This course introduces cultural anthropology with special attention to the application of an anthropological perspective to Christian mission. Students learn to examine the framework of beliefs, assumptions, values, and behaviors that shape people’s lives, in order to be more effective in ministry.

ICRU 3237 Second Language & Culture Acquisition (in Russian) (3). This course introduces students to the process of language and cultural acquisition among people served on the field. An array of tools and practices are introduced. Prerequisite: ICRU 3136 Introduction to Linguistics.

ICRU 4109 Mission Theology (in Russian) (3). This course introduces students to principles and processes for developing a theology of mission for the context in which they serve. Emphasis is placed on biblical precedent and a practical approach to the local context.

ICRU 4412 Area Studies (in Russian) (3). This research course enables students to develop a deeper understanding of a chosen area of the world. Special attention is given to the dominant religions of the area, cultural differences, significant barriers to the gospel, and channels for creative access to accomplish missional goals.

ICST 2131 Missiology (3). This course presents a comprehensive and dynamic view of the mandate for Christian missionary activity. Students are challenged to a growing awareness that world evangelism is four dimensional: biblical, historical, cultural and strategic. A special emphasis is given to issues revolving around cultural and cross-cultural communication, along with how sensitivity in these areas can help further realize God’s global purpose.

ICST 2133 Intercultural Communication (3). This course examines the unique problems and strategies for communicating the gospel effectively in intercultural contexts. Special attention is given to the student’s personal role in intercultural communication, including language, behavior, and sensitivities needed to bridge cultural boundaries.

ICST 2233 Foundations of Working Cross-Culturally (3). Students explore the dynamics of cross-cultural ministry, fundamental team building, and issues of attending to personal and familial spiritual growth during ministry in a cross-cultural setting. Special emphasis is given to avoidance of placing children in at-risk situations due to the ministry of the parents.

ICST 3001 Urban Plunge & Lab: Fall (0.5). The Urban Plunge is a 16-week life experience with mentoring and academic undergirding. It is expected that students will enroll in both terms of Urban Plunge for a total of 32 weeks in Knoxville and one credit for the entire year. It is a field experience that can be related to all ministry concentrations as students live in Knoxville and engage in on-the-field training under the supervision of experienced urban workers at the site.
ICST 3002 Urban Plunge & Lab: Spring (0.5). The Urban Plunge is a 16-week life experience with mentoring and academic undergirding. It is expected that students will enroll in both terms of Urban Plunge for a total of 32 weeks in Knoxville and one credit for the entire year. It is a field experience that can be related to all ministry concentrations as students live in Knoxville and engage in on-the-field training under the supervision of experienced urban workers at the site.

ICST 3013 History of the Expansion of Christianity (3). This course surveys the origin and growth of Christian missionary activity from its origin in the Middle East to the modern period. Students will examine how Christian faith achieved its global status through the work of key individuals from various traditions, who employed a wide range of methods. Survey textbooks, films, lectures, and case studies provide insight into how Christianity overcame significant geographical, cultural, and linguistic barriers.

ICST 3100 Survey of World Religions (3). This course provides an introduction to the world’s major living religions through the study of primary and secondary sources. Students learn about the history and practices of these religious traditions through a variety of media. Each religion is allowed to speak for itself, but the course employs a comparative approach. Key aspects of Christian faith and practice are examined during the entire process.

ICST 3134 Cross-Cultural Church Planting & Growth (3). This course introduces the process of planting and growing a network of biblically- and culturally-relevant faith communities in their setting. Building upon biblical methods, students explore the implications of contextualization in message formulation and the resulting communities of faith.

ICST 3136 Introduction to Linguistics (3). This course introduces the process of language analysis with the goal of enhancing the student's ability to learn language. Students gain a framework for understanding and identifying the sound systems and grammatical structures of different languages.

ICST 3237 Second Language & Culture Acquisition (3). This course introduces students to the process of language and cultural acquisition among people served on the field. An array of tools and practices are introduced. Prerequisite: ICST 3136 Introduction to Linguistics.

ICST 3338 International Community Development (3). This course explores issues of poverty, primary health care, and microfinance for grassroots initiatives, as well as educational, economic, medical, and physical needs for community development.

ICST 4109 Mission Theology (3). This course introduces students to principles and processes for developing a theology of mission for the context in which they serve. Emphasis is placed on biblical precedent and a practical approach to the local context.

ICST 4311 The Gospel & Culture (3). This course explores the intersection of God’s Word, the cultural context, and the local faith community as they come together to develop a healthy church in context. The inspiration of Scripture, how God's Word is perceived, and how God's Word enters a context are addressed.

ICST 4413 Intercultural Studies Practicum (3). Under the supervision of a qualified practitioner, students engage in a field context experience that integrates practice and theory related to missionary life, work, and growth.

ICST 4415 Understanding the Muslim World (3). This course expands the student’s knowledge and understanding of Muslim culture, worldview, and practices.

ICST 4416 Animism (3). This course enables students to develop a deeper understanding of folk religions and animism. Special attention is given to folk religions and animistic beliefs found in the world today, cultural differences, significant barriers to the gospel, and channels for better understanding.

ICST 5011 Intercultural Studies Orientation (3). Orientation provides students with information to assist in their transition to the online Master of Arts program in Intercultural Studies. Students gain an understanding of program requirements, processes, and policies. The Orientation course provides valuable resources, such as who to call for course and program assistance, technology and library use, and student services.

ICST 5131 Missiology (3). This synthesis of biblical, historical, cultural, and strategic studies acquaints students with the multidisciplinary demands of mission work. A collection of influential journal essays, research articles, book excerpts, and case studies shows how the simple methods of God, His direct approach to reaching people, His use of individuals in the process, and His use of groups comprise the bulk of successful mission outreach.

ICST 5135 Second Language & Culture Acquisition (3). This course prepares students for the process of language and cultural acquisition while acquainting them with tools for developing insight into the worldviews of people groups. Students learn to identify and apply their own language and culture learning styles, manage language data, and use appropriate learning techniques while working with a native language speaker. Prerequisite: ICST 3136 Introduction to Linguistics; for the Translation Concentration: ICLI 5813 Language Analysis

ICST 5143 Advanced Cross-Cultural Leadership (3). This course provides a biblical overview of leadership models illustrated in Scripture with the focus on demonstrating how servant leadership is the preferred model. The course also establishes the basis for participants to begin building their own theological rationale for how they view and practice leadership, including an understanding of leadership emergence, leader empowerment, and team dynamics. The course also explores the dynamics of servant leadership and these same issues in cross-cultural settings and with multiple cultural representatives in team effort.

ICST 5232 Missiological Anthropology (3). This course explores cultural anthropology with special attention to the impact of culture on understanding and receiving the gospel message. Critical elements of political, social, religious, economic, kinship and other areas of anthropology are included to prepare students for cross-cultural ministry. The course provides a framework for cross-cultural workers to understand forces that shape peoples’ beliefs and behaviors, and the transformational power of God’s contextualized Word in their own lives and the lives of those they serve in a cross-cultural setting.

ICST 5234 Mission Theology (3). This course focuses on developing a theology of Mission (Missio Dei) for field engagement and ecclesial development. Focusing on the “Story of Scripture,” or Scripture's “metanarrative,” the course utilizes narrative theology to develop an understanding of God's historical engagement with people to establish current insight into His approach to the peoples of the world today. Special emphasis is given to the Word of God as it engages different contexts.

ICST 5310 Seek the Peace of the City (3) This course is offered for graduate-level credit for participants in the Knoxville Fellows, which is part of The Fellows Initiative whose mission is to provide post-graduate Christian leadership development programs in key communities. God commanded the exiles living in Babylon to “seek the peace of the city” (Jeremiah 29:7). Why does this command apply to believers living in cities today? What does God mean when he speaks of this kind of peace? What does a city look like when it experiences God’s peace? How can we partner with God in seeking the peace of our city? What are obstacles that keep cities from experiencing God’s peace? This course explores answers to these questions through readings, guest lectures, and field trips.

ICST 5331 International Community Development (3). This course addresses theories and practices of community development in contemporary societies, including issues of poverty, grass-roots economics, education, and primary health care. It emphasizes the role of the faith community in impacting infrastructures, institutions, conventions, and initiatives of community development. The course includes methods for evaluating, motivating change, and utilizing assets available to the community, both locally and globally.

ICST 5332 Developing Countries in Light of Macro-Economics (3). This course addresses the impact of the current macroeconomy on limited-resource and underdeveloped countries with a view to informing community development practices. It addresses in particular the plight of isolated people groups in marginalized cultural economies.

ICST 5333 Initiating Transformational Communities (3). This course presents students with approaches for initiating and growing culturally relevant transformational communities of people in their context. It establishes fundamental theory for planting common valued communities across cultural boundaries as developed by experienced initiators. Actual case studies demonstrate approaches to various culture types and initiating among major world religious groups.

ICST 5339 Cross-Cultural Church Planting & Growth (3). This course presents students with approaches for planting and growing missionally and culturally relevant churches in context. It establishes fundamental theory for planting faith communities across cultural boundaries as developed by experienced church planters. Actual case studies demonstrate approaches to various culture types and major world religions.

ICST 5431 Critical Introduction to the Old Testament Translation (3). This course offers a study of the authorship, date, provenance, audience, occasion, purpose, and major themes of each of the Old Testament writings. Attention is given to the ways in which different schools of biblical interpretation attempt to answer these introductory questions. Students consider Jewish chronology, theories regarding the formation of the Pentateuch and the Deuteronomistic History, Second Temple Judaism, the Wisdom Tradition, Apocalypticism, the Old Testament canon, and other issues important for translators.

ICST 5433 Critical Introduction to the New Testament Translation (3). This course offers a study of the authorship, date, provenance, audience, occasion, purpose, and major themes of each of the New Testament writings. Attention is given to the ways in which different schools of biblical interpretation attempt to answer these introductory questions. Students consider the Synoptic Problem, Pauline chronology, the Johannine community, the New Testament canon, and other issues important for translators.

ICST 6031 Missionary Formation (3). Missionary Formation addresses issues involved in personal and familial growth in spirituality while engaged and immersed in the pressures and dynamics of a cross-cultural ministry. The course develops strategies and continuing practices required to satisfy the needs of both children and parents under the stress of working in a context that demands high levels of change in family, social integration, and cultural isolation. Issues of conflict resolution and relationship building among team and family members are also addressed as a beginning to cross-cultural worker care.

ICST 6033 Living and Working in the Muslim World (3). This course enables students to develop a deeper understanding of a chosen area of Muslim context in today’s world. Special attention is given to the religion of the area, cultural differences, and communication barriers and bridges.

ICST 6103 Animism and Folk Religions (3). This course examines the unique problems and strategies for communicating effectively in cross-cultural animistic contexts. Special attention is given to the student’s personal role in intercultural communication, including language, behavior, and sensitivities needed to bridge cultural boundaries.

ICST 6210 Poverty in Biblical Perspective (3). Poverty is a central issue in most community development initiatives. In this course, students explore biblical perspectives on poverty, the culture of poverty, and the development necessary to respond to poverty. The course integrates biblical reflection with current poverty issues, such as marginalization, human rights, social justice, and globalization.

ICST 6301 Micro-Finance for Missions (3). This course introduces Christian leaders to concepts and approaches to micro-finance, as well as to dynamics of customer expectations. It facilitates approaches to designing new culturally-appropriate and relevant products, along with methods of distribution suitable to the context. Students explore ways to develop seed lending and financial resources, regulate assets and expenses, and assess sustainability.

ICST 6302 Sustainable Development (3). This course presents major theoretical concepts that identify sustainable ecological, economical, and sociological system resources toward the end of setting them in balance with real human needs. It equips the Christian developer to approach development projects biblically, theoretically, and in a way that sustains long-term viability.

ICST 6304 Social Justice & Culture (3). This course prepares leaders for meeting the challenge of social justice, within cultural contexts, in the global struggle for human rights. It emphasizes developing a biblical basis for social justice and cultivating strong advocacy skills within the local community.

ICST 6305 Disaster Relief & Recovery (3). This course provides an overview of fundamental concepts, principles, tools, practical methodologies, and resources needed for relief and recovery in disaster situations, such as drought, earthquakes, tsunamis, hurricanes/typhoons, and even war. It includes management practices for relief and recovery professionals.

ICST 6306 Social Entrepreneurship (3). This course innovatively establishes the fundamental concepts, principles, and tools necessary for social entrepreneurship. Combining development, business, and missiological theory in order to respond to the needs of a community, this course moves beyond business as mission and examines criteria for starting, building, and running a project that makes an impact for Christ and is a developmental asset to the local community. Cross-Listed Course: NPMG 6306

ICST 6337 The Gospel & Change Theory (3). This course utilizes cultural change theory in support of church planting for the sake of communities in their context. Students explore strategies of dynamic change utilizing significant cultural change agents, including wisdom leaders. They examine opposition and opportunities for presenting the gospel toward the goal of transformed individuals and communities.

ICST 6433 Intercultural Studies Integrative Project (3). Working in close conjunction with faculty, students engage in a self-designed project on a given field. Faculty interact with students to facilitate project planning, engagement, and management. This serves as a concrete assessment of the student's ability to function in the field.

ICUR 2503 Dynamics of City Transformation (3) This course serves as an orientation to the sociological, physical, and political structures and systems of the city and exposes students to the work of faith-based ministries and urban churches that work in the ongoing transformation of cities. Special attention is given to issues of wealth and poverty, power and marginalization, race, ethnicity, class, community development, biblical justice, and mobilization.

ICUR 3360 Urban Anthropology (3). This course focuses on contemporary issues salient to selected people and groups in the city (such as, but not necessarily including, African-American, Hispanic-American, drug culture, the homeless), and—as appropriate—historical background (including migration patterns). The course also relates these issues and people groups to the Missio Dei, or Mission of God. Topics vary by term.

ICUR 3513 Engage Orlando I (3). Engage Orlando is an opportunity for students to learn hands-on experience through rhythms of practice and reflection while engaging in cross-cultural evangelism in the city. Admission to this course requires instructor approval.

ICUR 3514 Engage Orlando 2 (3). Engage Orlando 2 offers continuing opportunities for students to learn hands-on experience through rhythms of practice and reflection while engaging in cross-cultural evangelism in the city. Admission to this course requires instructor approval.

ICUR 4600 Urban Strategies (3). This course focuses on selected topics and strategies contributing to dynamic witness in the city. Prerequisites: ICUR 3503 Urban Internship.

JASC 0101 Skills for Academic Success (1). This course is open to any student with a desire to improve skills needed in a university setting. The course is designed to empower students to reach their educational goals. It improves student performance by introducing college resources, strategies, and techniques used in reading, writing, studying, note-taking, test-taking, and time management. It includes online learning opportunities. Students are teamed with an academic coach who helps oversee their progress.

JASC 0102 Orientation to OT Reading Lab (1). This lab is designed to improve reading and inferential thinking skills in support of BIBL 1103. Topics include vocabulary; comprehension; reading strategies; determining main ideas and supporting details; recognizing basic patterns of organization; drawing conclusions; and understanding vocabulary in context. (Fall only)

JASC 0103 Orientation to NT Reading Lab (1). This lab is designed to improve critical thinking skills in support of BIBL 1203. Topics include vocabulary; implied meaning; analyzing author's purpose, tone, and style; perspective; drawing conclusions; and understanding vocabulary in context. Vocabulary enrichment is further developed during this course. (Spring only)

LDRS 5013 Leadership (3). This course examines theories of leadership and the practical application of leadership practices in organizations. The purpose is to optimize the student's leadership effectiveness.

LDRS 6013 Leadership Communication (3). This course develops the student's leadership abilities in a variety of business communications, including public speaking, presentation, and oral and written communication.

LDRS 6023/PSYC 6023 Leadership & Team Building (3). This course focuses on developing the skills needed to successfully create and lead teams in organizations. Skills examined and practiced in this course include team building, conflict management, decision making, and strategic thinking.

LDRS 6033/PSYC 6033 Organizational Leadership (3). Students explore organizational theories related to structure and leadership, team dynamics and communication, and change management. Topics include pluralist contexts; conflict management; power, politics, and stakeholder management; resistance to change; and the importance of dialogue and listening.

LDRS 6113 Project Design Management (3). Students gain practical knowledge and apply project management processes from project inception through closeout, including initiating, planning, executing, monitoring, controlling, and closing. A major focus is integration of process management processes in scope, time, cost, quality, risk, communication, human resources, and procurement.

LDRS 6123 Capstone Project: Leadership (3). Students are required to successfully demonstrate their ability to research, synthesize, analyze, and communicate information at a graduate level. As a final demonstration of the knowledge gained throughout the MBA program, students will collaborate with or research an organization, profit or nonprofit, to develop actionable business solutions.

LDRS 7110 Ph.D. Orientation (0). This course provides students with valuable information to assist in their transition to the Ph.D. program in Leadership Studies. Students gain an understanding of the doctoral requirements, process, and policies; who to call for assistance; technology and library use; and student services and support.

LDRS 7123 Introduction to Global Studies (3). Students explore global studies through an introduction to intercultural leadership theories using multiple lenses: society, organization, and individual. The course lays a foundation by identifying dimensions of culture with a focus on understanding how participants in other cultures see the world, think, make decisions, view leadership, communicate, and lead.

LDRS 7133 Leadership Studies & Theory (3). Students develop understandings of the concept of leadership historically, philosophically, theologically, psychologically, and morally, testing these understandings against their own values and experiences. The course emphasizes issues of contemporary leadership in times of organizational and societal turmoil.

LDRS 7143 Ways of Knowing and Understanding for Leadership Development (3). This course investigates the four ways of coming to knowledge and understanding: sense perception (observant), logic (discursive), poetic (imaginative), and emotional (intuitive). The moral, intellectual, and theological virtues are explored as the means of properly acquiring knowledge and understanding through these four ways as well as the means of developing a person epistemologically and theologically in the role of leading others.

LDRS 7153 Organizational Studies & Theory (3). Students examine classical and contemporary organizational theories, viewing organizations as living, dynamic systems. They explore organizations through the frames of structure, human resources, politics, symbols, chaos and complexity, and appreciative inquiry. The course highlights the importance of culture in influencing organizational effectiveness and efficiency, variables impacting and included within organizational culture, organizational structure and its relationship to its culture, and the leadership role and responsibilities related to organizational culture.

LDRS 7163 Intercultural Behavior, Worldview & Communication (3). Students explore socio-cultural and critical perspectives on identity, language, and how they intersect in diverse cultural communities. Topics include the philosophical and theological dimension of worldview and how one's worldview translates into behavior, intercultural communication with a focus on what happens when people from different cultures interact, and interactions within organizational contexts. Students define cultural intelligence and explore existing literature on leadership competencies related to intercultural leadership.

LDRS 7173 Global Leadership, Systems & Policy (3). Students develop a solid understanding of concepts linking leadership to global and social systems, giving special attention to the role of policy analysis as a critical connection between leadership and systems. They apply philosophical and theological perspectives to issues raised in the course.

MAEL 5001 Spiritual Formation I (3). Students engage in reading, discussion, practice, and evaluation of disciplines that have historically been associated with Christian spiritual formation and the experience of God. Semester 1 focuses on historical themes and practices.

MAEL 5002 Spiritual Formation II (3). Students engage in reading, discussion, practice, and evaluation of disciplines that have historically been associated with Christian spiritual formation and the experience of God. Semester 2 focuses on contemporary themes and practices.

MAEL 5101 The Bible and the City (3). This course is designed to survey the Old Testament books with the intent of highlighting the ways that these texts approach questions of ethics, morality and cultural engagement. Special attention will be given to ways that Old Testament texts explore the role of the city and ethical considerations that pertain to life in the city.

MAEL 5102 New Testament Themes (3). This course is designed to survey the New Testament books with the intent of highlighting the ways that these texts approach questions of ethics, morality and cultural engagement. (Knoxville Fellows)

MAEL 5200 Fundamental Theology: Father, Son and Spirit (3). This course has three objectives: (1) To introduce the students to the task of Christian Theology, especially as it relates to the study of Scripture, (2) To familiarize the students with some basic theological concepts and vocabulary, (3) To teach the students how to construct a theological argument using the resources and skills gained through objectives #1 and #2. In order to meet these objectives, we will examine the foundational doctrines of Christian theology, particularly the Christian confession: (1) That God the Father is the creator of heaven and earth, (2) That by being fully human and fully divine, the Son was able to reconcile all creation to the Father, (3) That the church continues to live in the power of the life – giving Spirit. Because these doctrines were initially formulated in the period immediately following the New Testament, we will concentrate on these first theologians as they struggled to make sense of the revelation of God in the person of Jesus Christ. (Knoxville Fellows)

MAEL 5201 Beyond Christ and Culture: Rethinking the Church and Contemporary Society (3). This course examines the relationship between the Christian Church and contemporary culture, specifically the challenges that this culture makes to the Church’s life and mission and the Church’s response to these challenges. We will give special attention to the effects of Enlightenment “atheism” on Western culture, as well as the fall of modern foundationalism and its effects on post-modern culture. Since every culture uses facets of that culture, such as media, art, political structures, and educational systems to represent that culture’s fundamental picture of itself, we will first look at how contemporary American culture represents itself. We will then turn to Christianity and ask what kind of representation Christians should strive for and what ways are Christians trying to attain this kind of representation. The ultimate goal will be to think theologically about what it means for followers of Christ to inhabit the world in all its fullness.

MAEL 5300 The Ethical Leadership and Thriving Congregations I (3). This course studies the nature of the church and importance of ethical and public leadership rooted in fostering thriving congregations and cities. Through readings, discussions, research, and presentations, students will: 1) explore and understand their rapidly changing social and cultural contexts; 2) gain greater clarity about their values and mission; and 3) draw on Christian practices from their theological and ecclesial traditions to adapt their ministries to the demands of their changing contexts. (Thriving Congregations)

MAEL 5301 The Ethical Leadership and Thriving Congregations II (3). This course studies the nature of the church and importance of ethical and public leadership rooted in fostering thriving congregations and cities. Through readings, discussions, research, and presentations, students will: 1) explore and understand their rapidly changing social and cultural contexts; 2) gain greater clarity about their values and mission; and 3) draw on Christian practices from their theological and ecclesial traditions to adapt their ministries to the demands of their changing contexts. (Thriving Congregations)

MAEL 5600 Field Experience (4.5). Students will work with and be mentored by leaders in their chosen vocational area, including local business and service sites. Emphasis will be given on using their religious and ethical perspectives to develop a heart for vocational service.

MAEL 5601 Field Experience (4.5). Students will work with and be mentored by leaders in their chosen vocational area, including local business and service sites. Emphasis will be given on using their religious and ethical perspectives to develop a heart for vocational service.

MAEL 5800 Capstone Project (3). Students will design a program that addresses the concerns that arise from their study and field and services experiences in this program. The students will identify a local issue or service opportunity and produce a program that offers the possibility of addressing that concern. Students will present their program, including a workable implementation plan, to their fellow students and other interested stakeholders.

MART 1023 Drawing and Ideation (3). Students are introduced to concepts of Visual Art and Design, including storyboarding, visual storytelling, and theoretical principles.

MART 2013 History of Media Arts I (3). Students explore the history of media arts, through the early 1960s. Students examine the connections between economics, industrial history, and social and political systems. Students also examine the media from an artistic, rhetorical and critical lens.

MART 2033 Introduction to Animation (3). Students are introduced to the history, technology, and business of animation, including techniques, workflow, conceptual development, storyboarding, 2D animation, stop motion, motion graphics, and 3D animation. Prerequisite: MART 1023 Drawing and Ideation.

MART 2043 3D Animation (3). Students experiment with three-dimensional design, motion, and animation. Prerequisite: MART 2033 Introduction to Animation

MART 3053 Integrated Animation (3). Students complete a self-directed study using a combination of animation techniques. Possible focuses include character animation, motion graphics, or information video. Students will create a finished animated piece based on research interests.

MART 2073 Graphic Design I (3). Students explore elements and principles of basic two-dimensional design with an emphasis on composition, color theory, and craftsmanship. Prerequisite: MART 1023 Drawing and Ideation.

MART 2083 Graphic Design II (3). Students explore elements and principles of basic three-dimensional design with an emphasis on spatial organization, color, and planning and craft. Prerequisite: MART 2073 Graphic Design I.

MART 2093 2D Animation (3). Students are introduced to the history, technology, and business of animation, including techniques, workflow, conceptual development, storyboarding, 2D animation, stop motion, motion graphics, and 3D animation. Prerequisite: MART 1023 Drawing and Ideation.

MART 3023 Typography (3). Students explore the development and application of typography for design and layout. Prerequisite: MART 2083 Graphic Design II.

MART 3033 Graphic Arts & Design Processes (3). Students examine and experiment with design and production processes in preparation for project presentation in a variety of mediums. Prerequisite: MART 3023 Typography.

MART 3043 Advanced Graphic Arts (3). Students are challenged to develop personal style in graphic design with an emphasis on excellence, problem solving, and industry standards. Prerequisite: MART 3033 Graphic Arts & Design Processes.

MART 3053 Integrated Animation (3). Students complete a self-directed study using a combination of animation techniques. Possible focuses include character animation, motion graphics, or information video. Students will create a finished animated piece based on research interests.

MART 4013 Advanced Animation (3). Students continue to work with three-dimensional animation techniques and focus on scenic and character development. Prerequisite: MART 2043 3D Animation.

MART 4603 Media Arts Internship (3). Under the supervision of a qualified professional, interns gain real-world experience in a media-arts work environment. Prerequisites: Senior status (90+ university credits).

MART 4999 Media Arts Integrated Project (3). Students demonstrate a culmination of skills developed during their studies. Students produce a project with choice of subject and medium which showcases practical skills. Prerequisites: Students must have completed 66 credits of Major coursework and hold senior status (90+ university credits), or secure permission from the Dean of the School of Communication & Creative Arts.

MATH 0101 Academic Support Algebra (1). For students not meeting prerequisite conditions to enroll in MATH 2200, Academic Support Algebra will prepare students with a review of basic algebraic skills, signed numbers, fractions, exponents, linear and quadratic equations, inequalities, absolute value, and scientific notation. This course does not count toward the minimum hours needed for graduation, and is not used in the calculation of grade point average. A final score of 80% or higher on the Johnson University Diagnostic Algebra Test will determine final qualifications for MATH 2200.

MATH 1100 Introduction to Mathematics (2). This course is a study of basic concepts of elementary mathematics, including the nature and structure of the real number system, whole numbers and integers, and rational and irrational numbers. Basic concepts of algebra, geometry, and measurement are studied, including applications of percentages, metric conversions, probability, statistics, graphs, and charts.

MATH 1103 Elementary Statistics (3). An introduction to probability and statistics without calculus. Students learn to use statistical reasoning and apply statistical techniques to problems in various health and life science contexts. Topics include probability distribution functions, sampling distributions, estimation, hypothesis testing, and linear regression. Course readiness: Students will need strong Algebra skills to be successful in this course. Students with an SAT math score of below 530 or ACT math score below 21 are recommended to complete College Algebra before taking this course.

MATH 1104 Calculus I (4). Introduction to the basic concepts of differential and integral calculus and their applications. Limits, continuity and derivatives; the definite integral and the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus.

MATH 1114 Calculus II (4). Techniques and applications of integration, indeterminant forms, improper integrals, sequences and series.

MATH 2012 Introduction to Proofs (2). An introduction to the principles of logic and the methods of proof necessary for the successful study of mathematics. This course serves as a transition from calculus to advanced mathematics courses.

MATH 2022 Introduction to Scientific Computing (2). An introduction to the field of scientific computing. Students will use algorithmic reasoning, mathematical software and programming as tools in mathematical modeling and problem solving.

MATH 2034 Linear Algebra (4). Systems of linear equations, matrices, vector spaces, linear transformations, inner product spaces, determinants, eigenvectors and eigenvalues.

MATH 2044 Calculus III (4). Vectors and parametric equations; functions of two variables; partial and directional derivatives; multiple integrals; line integrals.

MATH 2054 Ordinary Differential Equations (4). A first course emphasizing solution techniques of first order differential equations, linear equations of higher order, systems of differential equations; mathematical modeling, numerical methods, existence and uniqueness of solutions and qualitative techniques.

MATH 2100 Quantitative Literacy (3). This course increases students’ mathematical literacy — the ability to reason with numbers and mathematical ideas. The course emphasizes logic, reasoning skills, the identification of fallacies, the use of statistical data and charts, unit conversions, critical reasoning skills, the correct use of percentages, and the use of mathematics in finance.

MATH 2110 Mathematics Concepts (3). This course is a study of basic concepts of elementary mathematics, including the nature and structure of the real number system, whole numbers and integers, rational and irrational numbers. Basic concepts of algebra, geometry, and measurement are studied, including applications of percent, metric conversions, probability, statistics, graphs, and charts.

MATH 2200 College Algebra (3). This course is a functional approach to algebra that incorporates the use of appropriate technology. Topics include linear, polynomial, rational, exponential, and logarithmic functions and their graphs and applications; and linear regression models. Appropriate applications are included. Prerequisites: High school Algebra I and Algebra II, ACT Math score of at least 21 or a score of 80% on the Johnson University Diagnostic Algebra Test taken through the Academic Support Center, or MATH 0101 Academic Support Algebra.

MATH 3014 Modern Geometries (4). Axiomatic and historical development of Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometries. This course will introduce students to the foundations of Neutral and Euclidean Geometry and to some of the subsequent developments in Non-Euclidean Geometries.

MATH 3034 Numerical Analysis (4). An introduction to the field of numerical analysis. Students will learn numerical techniques for solving equations in one variable, interpolation and polynomial approximation, numerical differentiation and integration, and solving initial value problems for ordinary differential equations.

MATH 3044 Probability and Statistics (4). An introduction to single variable probability and statistics. Discrete and continuous random variables, conditional probability, expectation, moment generating functions, law of large numbers, central limit theorem; elements of statistical inference, estimation, and hypothesis testing.

MATH 4014 Advanced Calculus (4). An introduction to the theory of sequences, series, differentiation, and Riemann integration of functions of one or more variables.

The instructor provides one half-hour lesson per week. Music majors with voice as their primary or secondary instrument must present a jury performance before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and/or perform in a student recital at the completion of the term to receive credit.

MUAP 4320 Voice VIII (1). Students receive private instruction in the technique of singing and the interpretation of song tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides one half-hour lesson per week. Music majors with voice as their primary or secondary instrument must present a jury performance before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and/or perform in a student recital at the completion of the term to receive credit.

MUAP 4330 Advanced Voice VII (2). Students receive private instruction in the technique of singing and the interpretation of song tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides a one-hour lesson per week.

MUAP 4340 Advanced Voice VIII (2). Students receive private instruction in the technique of singing and the interpretation of song tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides a one-hour lesson per week.

MUAP 4410 Piano VII (1). Students receive private instruction in piano technique, literature and repertoire tailored to the maturation level of each student. The instructor provides one half-hour lesson per week. Music majors with piano as their primary or secondary instrument must present a jury performance before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and/or perform in a student recital at the completion of the term to receive credit.

MUAP 4420 Piano VIII (1). Students receive private instruction in piano technique, literature and repertoire tailored to the maturation level of each student. The instructor provides one half-hour lesson per week. Music majors with piano as their primary or secondary instrument must present a jury performance before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and/or perform in a student recital at the completion of the term to receive credit.

MUAP 4430 Advanced Piano VII (2). Students receive private instruction in piano technique, literature, and recital repertoire tailored to the maturation level of each student. The instructor provides a one-hour lesson per week.

MUAP 4440 Advanced Piano VIII (2). Students receive private instruction in piano technique, literature, and recital repertoire tailored to the maturation level of each student. The instructor provides a one-hour lesson per week.

MUAP 4510 Guitar VII (1). Students receive private instruction in guitar tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides one half-hour lesson per week. Music majors with guitar as their primary or secondary instrument must present a jury performance before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and/or perform in a student recital at the completion of the term to receive credit.
MUAP 4520 Guitar VIII (1). Students receive private instruction in guitar tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides one half-hour lesson per week. Music majors with guitar as their primary or secondary instrument must present a jury performance before the Communication & Creative Arts faculty and/or perform in a student recital at the completion of the term to receive credit.

MUAP 4530 Advanced Guitar VII (2). Students receive private instruction in guitar tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides a one-hour lesson per week.

MUAP 4540 Advanced Guitar VIII (2). Students receive private instruction in guitar tailored to the maturation level of the individual student. The instructor provides a one-hour lesson per week.

MUED 2100 Introduction to Music Technology (1). This course is a survey of the technology used to create, prepare, perform, and distribute music, with an emphasis on technologies for application in elementary and secondary school settings.

MUED 3320 Vocal Pedagogy (3). This course covers the structure and function of the vocal mechanism with application to both performance and the teaching of singing. Topics include exploring the relationship of function to artistry, breathing, coordination of vocal process, historic traditions, vocal health, methods for self-evaluation, performance challenges, teaching skills and studio management.

MUED 3323 Vocal Choral Pedagogy (3). Students learn the science, mechanics, and methodologies available to twenty-first century instructors of voice and lead them to be able to apply these in both private voice lessons and in vocal ensemble rehearsals. In addition to providing the student with proven methods for achieving the best possible sounds from singers, the course helps them determine the most effective ways to practice, develop mental skills, understand performance psychology, and structure learning for the best possible outcome.

MUED 3520 Instrumental Methods (3). This course is designed to teach the basic skills, fingerings, proper care of the instruments, teaching methods, and available materials in woodwind and brass instruments. Students will be required to reach a proficiency level on one woodwind instrument and one brass instrument.

MUED 4110 Methods for Teaching Music in Elementary School (3). Students develop critical thinking as they cultivate teaching skills and examine the role of an elementary music teacher as an integral component in the musical, aesthetic, and social development of elementary children. The course will prepare students with competencies necessary to creatively formulate, plan, teach and evaluate a thorough elementary music program.

MUED 4220 Methods for Teaching Music in Secondary School (3). Students explore the philosophical basis, methods, and materials for teaching general music in secondary schools, as well as developing a firm grounding in the philosophy, methods, and materials used to enlist, engage, and train singers to produce expressive music through vocal ensembles at the secondary level.

MUED 4450 Piano Pedagogy (3). This course is a one-term upper-level music course that uses resources and literature to acquaint music majors with current methods and materials in piano teaching and their practical applications. This course also includes insights on business practices for music teachers, and an introduction to the latest music teaching technology, apps for iPad to enhance piano lessons.

MUED 5500 Student Teaching: K-12 Music Education (6). This course is a six-hour graduate course for students that wish to receive their K-12 Music Education license.

MUSC 1100 Musicianship Skills (3). This course is required for music majors whose music reading ability is deficient as determined by the “Music Reading Diagnostic Examination.” This course is also available for non-music majors who wish to learn to read music. Topics considered include principles of pitch and rhythmic notation, intervals, major and minor scales, major and minor key signatures, and chords with their respective inversions.

MUSC 1111 Music Theory I (3). This course briefly considers the fundamental elements of music theory, including notation, scales, intervals, key signatures, meter and rhythm, and triads and their respective inversions. The majority of the course focuses on harmonic analysis, figured bass, cadences, non-harmonic tones, melodic organization, and texture/textural reduction. Prerequisite: A score of 75 or above on the “Music Reading Diagnostic Examination” and/or instructor permission. Special Consideration: This course cannot be substituted for MUSC 2100 Music Appreciation required for non-music majors.

MUSC 1131 Music Theory Lab I (1). This course is devoted to the development of aural skills through instruction in solfege-based sight singing, rhythmic dictation, simple melodic dictation, ear training, and functional keyboard/piano elements that include root position triads and selected major scales. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor is required for non-music majors.

MUSC 1221 Music Theory II (3). This course is designed as a continuation of the work begun in MUSC 1111 Music Theory I. Course contents include two- and four-part writing, harmonic progression, harmonic rhythm, dominant seventh chords, leading tone seventh chords, non-dominant seventh chords, and modulation. Prerequisite: MUSC 1111 Music Theory I or equivalent.

MUSC 1241 Music Theory Lab II (1). This course is a continuation of the work begun in MUSC 1131 Music Theory Lab I. Course contents include sight-singing, rhythmic and melodic dictation, simple harmonic dictation, ear training and functional keyboard/piano elements that include inverted triads, root position seventh chords, all major scales, and selected minor scales. Prerequisite: MUSC 1131 Music Theory Lab I or equivalent.

MUSC 2013 History of Rock (3). This survey course examines the musical, historical, cultural, political, and social trends of post-World War II to present-day America through the lens of popular music. This course is open to all majors and assumes no prerequisite musical knowledge.

MUSC 2043 History of Commercial Music (3). The study of commercial music from vaudeville to the internet and beyond with an emphasis on music technology and how it has enabled the music industry and commercial music to explore ever expanding paths.

MUSC 2100 Music Appreciation (3). This course exposes students to the fundamentals of musical notation and literature. It introduces music of four historical perspectives (Baroque, Classical, Romantic, and Twentieth Century) of Western civilizations, as well as composers and forms of music from each of these perspectives. The course also addresses cultural and historical aspects of each historical perspective and how these influenced composers and their music. Jazz, rock music, and musical theater are introduced through independent study units. The course addresses non-Western music as an individual unit in addition to highlighting similarities between Western and non-Western music throughout the term.
MUSC 2113 Music History & Literature I (3). This course investigates the development of music in western civilization. Emphasis is given to the significant role of church music in this history. The hallmarks of musical literature representing major periods of music history are studied in detail. Also, personalities, processes, and contemporary events are discussed, along with specific musical compositions. Music of antiquity through the early baroque periods is examined. Special consideration is given to the development of polyphony, along with the evolution of certain genres, such as the Mass and the motet.

MUSC 2211 Music Theory III (3). This course is designed as a continuation of the work begun in MUSC 1221 Music Theory II. The course covers secondary chord structures; binary and ternary forms; 18th century counterpoint; extended and chromatic harmonic materials; an introduction to Classical period forms; and the continued development of part-writing, compositional, and analytical skills as they pertain to all musical materials and forms covered in this course. Prerequisite: MUSC 1221 Music Theory II or equivalent.

MUSC 2221 Music Theory IV (3). This course is designed as a continuation of the work begun in MUSC 2211 Music Theory III. The course covers fugal, sonata, rondo, and other large forms; characteristics of music from the Romantic period and the 20th century, including extended tonalities and harmonic structures, modal and scalar resources, dissonance, atonality and twelve-tone techniques, and advanced rhythmic elements; an overview of musical elements found in popular music; and the continued development of compositional and analytical skills as they pertain to musical materials and forms covered in this course. Prerequisite: MUSC 2211 Music Theory III or equivalent.

MUSC 2223 Music History & Literature II (3). This course is a continuation of the study begun in MUSC 2113, Music History and Literature I. In the study of Music History and Literature II, the development of the music of western civilization will be investigated with emphasis being given to the significant role of church music in that history. The hallmarks of musical literature representing the major periods of history will be studied in detail. Also, composers and performers, processes, and contemporary events will be discussed. During this second term of study, music of the classical period through the 20th century will be covered. Special consideration will be given to the development of particular genre (categorizations or classifications of music), such as the symphony, the sonata, etc.

MUSC 2231 Music Theory Lab III (1). This course is a continuation of the work begun in MUSC 1241 Music Theory Lab II. Course contents include sight singing of diatonic and basic chromatic music materials, part singing, the use of Kodaly solfege hand signals, melodic and harmonic dictation of diatonic musical materials, rhythmic dictation, and functional piano/keyboard skills that include all one-octave major and minor scales, playing two-voice and simple three-voice parts, realizing basic chord lead sheets, seventh chords, and chord voicings. Prerequisite: MUSC 1241 Music Theory Lab II or equivalent.

MUSC 2241 Music Theory Lab IV (1). This course is a continuation of the work begun in MUSC 2231 Music Theory Lab III. Course contents include diatonic and chromatic sight singing, melodic and harmonic dictation of diatonic and chromatic musical materials, advanced rhythmic dictation, and functional piano/keyboard skills that include multi-octave major and minor scales, playing four-voice parts, realizing advanced chord lead sheets, and additional chord voicings. Prerequisite: MUSC 2231 Music Theory Lab III or equivalent.

MUSC 3300 Entrepreneurship in Music (3). Students examine economic and fundraising issues related to music and employee entrepreneurial solutions to help in fundraising, financial viability, and marketing of music and music programs. Students examine elements of business plans, financial structures, finance, marketing, and management and organizational behavior, and leadership.

MUSC 3313 Conducting I (3). Choral conducting requires the development of physical coordination and the mental discipline necessary to elicit expressive music making from a choral ensemble. Students learn the physical skills of traditional conducting patterns, entrances, and cutoffs. They develop a philosophical basis for choral conducting and the mental skills involved with score study, analysis, teaching basic vocal technique, how to pronounce words to produce the desired choral sound, and rehearsal preparation and techniques. Students conduct rehearsals of choral music in class. Prerequisites: MUSC 2211 Music Theory III and MUSC 2231 Music Theory Lab III or permission of instructor.

MUSC 3420 Conducting II (3). Students develop advanced skills in conducting choral music, gain an introduction into instrumental conducting and a basic understanding of reading an instrumental score, and learn to develop total musicianship in the members of a choral ensemble through the organization and prosecution of effective and expressive choral rehearsals. Prerequisite: MUSC 3313 Conducting I.

MUSC 4220 Arranging & Orchestration (3). This course is designed to provide students with the basic skills and knowledge necessary to read, orchestrate, and arrange music for orchestra, band, and choir. It covers the study of orchestral and band instruments, their playing techniques, and their properties; instrumental transcription; scoring principles for band and orchestra; choral sound; scoring principles for choirs; and arranging techniques for choral music with and without orchestral accompaniment. Prerequisite: MUSC 2211 Music Theory III or permission of instructor.

MUSC 4501 Music Internship Fall (1.5). The Music Internship is designed to provide practical experience in the areas of music and music education. The internship must be a minimum of five weeks in length and take place in a school setting or any approved music institution. It must be supervised by a full-time music educator, teaching supervisor or director, who holds at least a four-year degree in music. Prerequisites: EDUC 2013, EDUC 3110, EDUC 2112, MUSC 3313

MUSC 4502 Music Internship Spring (1.5). The Music Internship is designed to provide practical experience in the areas of music and music education. The internship must be a minimum of five weeks in length and take place in a school setting or any approved music institution. It must be supervised by a full-time music educator, teaching supervisor or director, who holds at least a four-year degree in music. Prerequisites: EDUC 2013, EDUC 3110, EDUC 2112, MUSC 3313

MUSC 4503 Music Internship (3). The Music Internship is designed to provide practical experience in the areas of music and music education. The internship must be a minimum of ten weeks in length and take place in a school setting or any approved music institution. It must be supervised by a full-time music educator, teaching supervisor or director, who holds at least a four-year degree in music. A part-time internship in the spring term and in the fall term of the same year is also possible, as per approval of Internship Coordinator. Prerequisites: EDUC 2013, EDUC 3110, EDUC 2112, MUSC 3313 experience in the areas of music and music education. The internship must be a minimum of five weeks in length and take place in a school setting or any approved music institution. It must be supervised by a full-time music educator, teaching supervisor or director, who holds at least a four-year degree in music. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a Bachelor in Music Education from Johnson University.

MUSC 5225 Internship II: Music (6) The Music Internship is designed to provide practical experience in the areas of music and music education. The internship must be a minimum of ten weeks in length and take place in a school setting or any approved music institution. It must be supervised by a full-time music educator, teaching supervisor or director, who holds at least a four-year degree in music. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a Bachelor in Music Education from Johnson University.

MUTC 2013 Live Production I (3). Students analyze the use and advancement of audio and visual technology in today’s church and gain hands-on experience in live production. They learn mix theory and styles, the proper use of analog and digital consoles, microphones, signal processing, effects, amplifiers, loudspeakers, systems design, maintenance and repair, and stage monitor systems for sound reinforcement. Students also explore staging, set design and construction, lighting equipment, lighting design and techniques, projection systems, presentation software, switchers, camera operation, image magnification, simulcast, and recording.

MUTC 2023 Studio Recording I (3). Students learn the basics of multi-track recording and engineering while focusing on techniques for tracking, capturing, and mixing sound throughout the production process. Students utilize software and hardware as they apply the principles of sound; operate microphones, recording consoles, and mixers; and become familiar with the workflow of digital recording systems.

MUTC 2033 Live Production II (3). Students continue to develop skills in live audio, video, and stage production, building on the skills gained through MUTC 2013 Live Production I. Prerequisites: MUTC 2013 Live Production I.

MUTC 3013 Electrical Engineering for Audio Devices (3). Students learn about electronic circuit elements, electronic devices and study circuits containing audio related devices. Topics include soldering, breadboarding, and reading a basic schematic diagram.

MUTC 3023 MIDI and Acoustic Analysis (3). Students explore synthesis as a means of developing sounds by manipulating acoustic properties both computer generated and recorded in nature. Students also develop MIDI as a language for communication between audio devices. Topics include aural perception of frequencies/noise, as well as manipulation of those sounds using various hardware and software techniques. Prerequisites: Principal Instrument: Piano 2 credits.

MUTC 3033 Studio Recording II (3). Students continue to learn multi-track recording and engineering while focusing on for tracking, capturing, and mixing sound throughout the production process. Students utilize software and hardware as they apply the principles of sound; operate microphones, recording consoles, and mixers; and become familiar with the workflow of digital recording systems.

MUTC 3041 Building Electronic Instruments I Lab (1). Students use a combination of audio components, software, synthesis, 3D Printing technology, computer science, and electrical engineering to design and build electronic instruments. Taken in conjunction with the Building Electronic Instruments course. Co-requisites: MUTC 3043 Building Electronic Instruments I.

MUTC 3043 Building Electronic Instruments I (3). Students study and create expressive sound by building electronic instruments. Using sonic goals as inspiration for design features. Topics include contact microphones, basic synthesizers, digital controllers, and physical enclosures. Prerequisites: MUTC 3013 Electrical Engineering for Audio Devices.

MUTC 3051 Building Electronic Instruments II Lab (1). Students use a combination of audio components, software, synthesis, 3D Printing technology, computer science, and electrical engineering to design and build electronic instruments. Taken in conjunction with the Building Electronic Instruments course. Co-requisites: MUTC 3053 Building Electronic Instruments II.

MUTC 3053 Building Electronic Instruments II (3). Students continue to study and create electronic instruments. Students also consider ways distinct objects can unite to form a musical performance system. Topics include musical listening and design, resonance of different materials, creating an enclosure, and expressive interaction with instruments. Prerequisites: MUTC 3043 Building Electronic Instruments I.

MUTC 3302 Sound Design and Audio Postproduction (3). Students develop skills related to capturing, creating and manipulating sonic materials for film and video. Students explore techniques for developing and presenting audio materials for a variety of narrative situations.

MUTC 3900 Computer Science for Audio Development I (3). Students explore skills related to software development with an emphasis on audio/video content. Topics include basics of computer languages, object-oriented programming, and computer languages used for music/audio app development. Prerequisites: MUTC 3043 Building Electronic Instruments I.

MUTC 3998 Computer Science for Audio Development II (3). Students further develop skills with writing code for audio devices. Topics include computer languages used for music/audio app development, music information retrieval, and audio coding.

MUTC 4013 Composition and Sound Design (3). Students explore the potential for utilization of synthesis and sound design in music composition utilizing both acoustic and electronic instruments in both traditional and experimental formats. Prerequisites: MUTC 3023 MIDI and Acoustic Analysis.

MUTC 4603 Music Technology Internship (3). Under the supervision of a qualified professional, interns gain real-world experience in a media work environment. Prerequisites: Senior status (90+ university credits).

MUTC 4993 Music Technology Integrated Project (3). Students develop an integrated project based on demonstration of the principles of music technology. Potential projects include creation of electronic instruments, major original composition work, or interactive software/controllers for sonic performance. Prerequisites: MUTC 3043 Building Electronic Instruments II.

NPMG 2010 Introduction to the Nonprofit Sector (3). This course will introduce students to: nonprofit organizations, their governance, organizational structure, and the various domains comprising the sector. Students will explore challenges and opportunities within the sector and the functions within nonprofit organizations that work together to deliver individual and societal value.

NPMG 3020 Nonprofit Fundraising & Development (3). Students explore multiple avenues to nonprofit sustainability and the importance of diversifying funding sources in today’s nonprofit environment. Avenues explored include individual donations, grants, business partnerships, and self-generated funds. The course emphasizes entrepreneurial and diversified sustainability approaches. Prerequisite: NPMG 2010 Introduction to the Nonprofit Sector

NPMG 4113 Nonprofit Governance and Leadership (3). This course introduces students to strategic leadership issues within the nonprofit sector. Students will explore how nonprofits are governed and some of the current issues in nonprofit governance. Topics include: structure, functions, recruitment and composition of nonprofit boards; the relation of the board to management; the board’s role in both compliance and strategic planning; and improving board performance and accountability. Prerequisite: Senior Standing

NPMG 4333 Nonprofit Internship (3). This course offers students a formal and practical work experience opportunity intended to extend their professional skills beyond the classroom while also providing an opportunity to apply and analyze classroom knowledge and skills appropriate for the workplace. Prerequisite: Junior/Senior standing

NPMG 6123 Capstone Project: Nonprofit Management (3). Students are required to successfully demonstrate their ability to research, synthesize, analyze, and communicate information at a graduate level. As a final demonstration of the knowledge gained throughout the MBA program, students will collaborate with or research an organization, profit or nonprofit, to develop actionable business solutions.

NPMG 6303 The Nonprofit Sector (3). This course evaluates the nonprofit sector, with particular emphasis on charitable 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations. Students explore the scope and context of the sector, historical developments, management and leadership challenges, community-building roles, ethics, legal issues, social justice, and emerging issues such as information technology. In addition, Students examine board and volunteer management in terms of legal responsibilities of boards, the role of boards in nonprofits, volunteer organization and management, and the dynamics of board and staff relations.

NPMG 6306 Social Entrepreneurship (3). This course innovatively establishes the fundamental concepts, principles, and tools necessary for social entrepreneurship. Combining development, business, and missiological theory in order to respond to the needs of a community, this course moves beyond business as mission and examines criteria for starting, building, and running a project that makes an impact for Christ and is a developmental asset to the local community. Cross-Listed Course: ICST 6306.

NPMG 6323 Nonprofit Resource Development (3). Students explore principles of philanthropy and fundraising applicable to private nonprofit and governmental agencies.

NPMG 6333 Project Design Management (3). Students gain practical knowledge and apply project management processes from project inception through closeout, including initiating, planning, executing, monitoring, controlling, and closing. A major focus is integration of process management processes in scope, time, cost, quality, risk, communication, human resources, and procurement.

ORCC 1000 Online Readiness Certification Course (0). This course helps prepare students to succeed in online courses offered by Johnson University. It is prerequisite for all students taking online courses.

ORGL 7313 Research Concentration 1 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

ORGL 7323 Research Concentration 2 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

ORGL 7333 Research Concentration 3 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

ORGL 7343 Research Concentration 4 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

ORGL 7353 Research Concentration 5 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

ORGL 8103 Proposal Seminar (3). Students develop a dissertation research proposal according to Johnson University standards. Prerequisites: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research, RSCH 7243 Quantitative Analysis, RSCH 7253 Qualitative Research.

ORGL 8110 Proposal Seminar Continuation (0). Students continue the project begun in ORGL 8103 Proposal Seminar.

ORGL 8201 Proposal Defense (1). The proposal defense includes review and approval of the dissertation research proposal by the Advisor, Committee, and Institutional Review Board.

ORGL 8304 Dissertation (4). Students prepare a formal research study that meets Johnson University standards and makes an original contribution to the body of knowledge.

ORGL 8310 Dissertation Continuation (0). Doctoral students continue the project begun in ORGL 8304 Dissertation.
ORGL 8410 Dissertation Defense (1). Students defend the formal research study developed in ORGL 8304 Dissertation and ORGL 8310 Dissertation Continuation.

PBHL 2100 Introduction to Public Health (3). This course provides an introduction to the field of public health. It addresses the core concepts and areas of public health practice, as well as the role of various public/school health agencies/organizations that promote individual and community health at the local, state, national, and global levels. Students articulate a biblical and theological perspective on lifetime health as they examine the relationship among the determinants of health, needs assessment, public health initiatives, health literacy, consumer health, ethical practice, career opportunities, health education program development, and selected contemporary public health issues. Students seek active and ethical engagement as global citizens, intentionally preparing for vocational opportunities that value service to others in the community and around the world.

PBHL 3110 Introduction to the Study of Disease (3). This course addresses disease etiology and prevention practices for communicable and non-communicable diseases, including sexually transmitted infections. Students articulate a biblical and theological perspective on lifetime health through the study of disease. They explore the identification and description of the causes, risk factors, symptoms, transmission mechanisms, treatment procedures, and disease prevention and control methods. Selected disease processes with emphasis on the relationship among lifestyle, risk factors, and prevention strategies are discussed.

PBHL 3130 Health Program Planning & Evaluation (3). Students develop skills needed to assess, plan, implement, and evaluate public and school health programs. They explore a variety of models, methods, and best practices for the integration of program evaluation as a component of the overall planning process. In the culminating health education program project, students design program goals, objectives, activities, and evaluations for public and school health programs for diverse populations. The course equips students with knowledge and skills needed for the Certified Health Education Specialist credential offered by the National Commission for Health Education Credentialing, Inc.

PBHL 3140 Health Instructional Methods for Schools & Communities (3). This course uses a variety of current methods and strategies for developing health instructional programs in schools and communities. Students learn valid and reliable strategies for assessing student learning and teacher effectiveness utilizing ethical assessment principles. The Coordinated School Health program model serves as a guide for establishing school and community-based programs and collaborative relationships. Students demonstrate technology competencies, as well as ethical and professional utilization of health information and resources. Students develop health instructional materials/lessons using technology, innovative methods, and strategies, and they present the material to a class or within a school or community setting.

PBHL 3230 Global & Environmental Health Perspectives (3). Students explore health at the community and global levels by examining the interplay of many factors, including the social, economic, political and physical environments; economic forces; access to food, safe water, sanitation, and affordable preventive/medical care; nutrition; cultural beliefs and human behaviors; and worldviews which impact one’s quality of life and health. It explores the interrelationship between behavior and health, and the resulting effect on the physical, social, mental, and cultural dimensions of the environment. Students also consider individual, societal, and ethical responsibilities essential to the achievement and maintenance of a safe and healthy environment. The identification of public and global goals and services vital to promote healthy community environments is addressed, as well as professional opportunities in the fields of environmental and global health. Students learn to view the world from perspectives other than their own and gain an appreciation for many diverse and distinctive societies and cultures.

PBHL 4100 Health Policy, Faith, & Ethics (3). This course examines the development and current status of American health care policy with particular attention to access, delivery, cost, health outcomes, and quality. Selected state and national reform models, including Medicaid, receive special attention, along with challenges associated with global health care reforms. Students examine policy issues and consider the roles played by government, consumers, advocates, and other interest groups. They compare health care models and articulate a biblical and theological perspective on ethical, political, economic, and public health issues within health care and service systems. Skills necessary to critically assess issues in the health care field and produce written arguments are addressed and practiced.

PBHL 4110 Drugs & Society (3). This course provides an overview of the appropriate (therapeutic) and inappropriate (recreational) uses of substances, symptoms of abuse and dependency, and legal issues surrounding drug abuse. The basic concepts of drug use and abuse are addressed for a better understanding of the relationship between drugs, health, and the biblical view of the human body as a temple of the Holy Spirit and the command to honor God with our bodies. The course includes a focus on the pharmacology of both therapeutic and recreational drugs. Using a broad multi-disciplinary perspective, students examine legal and illegal drugs and their effects on personal, school, and community health. Effective prevention methods and strategies are examined for use by individuals, schools, and global communities.

PBHL 4120 Public Health Administration (3). This course introduces students to concepts, principles, and methods of management and administration within the field of public health. Using a systems perspective, students examine organizational roles and authority, leadership styles, resource management and budgeting tools. Organizational communication, decision-making, and grant writing skills are discussed, along with ethical principles and faith issues surrounding public health administration. Students develop a community or school health program proposal and a budget for class presentation and approval.

PBHL 4200 Seminar for Public Health Extended Internship I (1). The seminar introduces the parameters of the internship experience and provides an in-depth look at various internship sites and settings. The seminar includes a discussion of student requirements, responsibilities, and expectations prior to and during the public health internship. Topics include ethical principles, biblical views of health and wellness, professional etiquette and behaviors within the workplace, pre-internship blood screenings, and confidentiality and workplace policies and laws. Guidelines and consequences for student absences/tardiness, unprofessional behavior, or poor performance during the internship are discussed in detail. Seminar students establish internship goals and desired outcomes, complete self-assessments and pre-internship reflection writings and experiences, and research and establish placement with prospective health internship site supervisor. Prerequisites: Students must pass ALL Public Health courses prior to completing the seminar with a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.5 or better. For further information, see the section of the Public Health program description focusing on the “Internship.”

PBHL 4210 Public Health Internship (3). The supervised Internship is a cumulative, integrative, and applied experience in a public health setting. It provides an opportunity for students to transition from theory to practice, apply their academic preparation in professional work settings, develop competencies required for entry-level public health practice, and prepare for future employment and/or advanced education. Students reinforce and integrate concepts, ethical principles, and skills gained that are essential to professional competency. Students are required to complete a minimum of 150 hours of on-site work under close supervision by a faculty member and on-site preceptor approved by Johnson University. Student learning is guided and enhanced through projects, written assignments, and faculty and preceptor mid-term and final evaluations of student performance. Prerequisites: See the section of the Public Health program description focusing on the “Internship.” Internship enrollment is by permission only and is granted by the Public Health Internship Supervisor.

PBHL 4230 Public Health Extended Internship (6). The supervised term-length Extended Internship is a cumulative, integrative, and applied experience in a public health setting. It provides an opportunity for students to transition from theory to practice, apply their academic preparation in professional work settings, develop competencies required for entry-level public health practice, and prepare for future employment and/or advanced education. Students reinforce and integrate concepts, ethical principles, and skills gained that are essential to professional competency. Students are required to complete a minimum of 300 hours of on-site work under close supervision by a faculty member and on-site preceptor approved by Johnson University. Student learning is guided and enhanced through projects, written assignments, and faculty and preceptor mid-term and final evaluations of student performance. Prerequisites: See the section of the Public Health program description focusing on the “Internship.” Internship enrollment is by permission only and is granted by the Public Health Internship Supervisor.

PHED 5115 Physical Education Internship I (6). This course is the first term of a full-year internship in Physical Education Grades K-12. Prerequisite: Students must have passed the PRAXIS 2 tests and been accepted into the M.A. in Holistic Education. This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Sport & Fitness Leadership (Physical Education Grades K-12) from Johnson University.

PHED 5225 Physical Education Internship II (6). This course is the second term of a full-year internship in Physical Education Grades K-12. Prerequisite: Students must have passed the PRAXIS 2 tests and been accepted into the M.A. in Holistic Education. This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Sport & Fitness Leadership (Physical Education Grades K-12) from Johnson University.

PHED 5400 Student Teaching: Physical Education (6). Students complete a term of student teaching Physical Education Grades K-12. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special considerations: This course is for students who have graduated with a B.A./B.S. in Sport & Fitness Leadership (Physical Education Grades K-12) from Johnson University.

PHIL 2013 Philosophical Ethics (3). Students consider a variety of moral dilemmas that prevail in societies and organizations. They gain a deep understanding of the complexity of such moral dilemmas by establishing and applying ethical principles derived from philosophical and theological perspectives on how humans can and should interact ethically and morally.

PHIL 2100 Philosophical Inquiry & Critical Thinking (3). This course provides an introduction to the discipline of philosophy, introducing students to appropriate definitions and analytical models. It develops thinking skills necessary for forming, identifying, understanding, and evaluating arguments, how to identify unquestioned assumptions functioning as major premises, how to identify and analyze the many types of logical fallacies, and how to engage in transformational thinking. It concludes with a comparative study of world philosophical systems.

PHIL 2110 Philosophy of Religion (3). This course critically examines and reflects on beliefs, assumptions, and arguments central to the human religious experience. Topics include the relation between theology and philosophy, the nature of religion, the existence of God, the relation between God and the world, the problem of evil, and the nature of religious language and experience. Students engage in critical dialogue about religion in order to develop personal commitment and intellectual honesty in a religiously pluralistic world.

PHIL 4210 Applied Ethics (3). This course focuses on application of ethical principles to social problems, such as abortion and euthanasia, capital punishment, genetic engineering, environmental policy, public education, war, immigration policy, the Christian’s participation in public life, and marriage and family issues.

PHIL 5200 Confucius & Wisdom Literature (3). This course explores The Analects of Confucius and compares them with the Hebrew wisdom literature to be found in the Book of Proverbs.

PHIL 7313 Research Concentration 1 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

PHIL 7323 Research Concentration 2 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

PHIL 7333 Research Concentration 3 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

PHIL 7343 Research Concentration 4 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

PHIL 7353 Research Concentration 5 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

PHIL 8103 Proposal Seminar (3). Students develop a dissertation research proposal according to Johnson University standards. Prerequisites: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research, RSCH 7243 Quantitative Analysis, RSCH 7253 Qualitative Research.
PHIL 8110 Proposal Seminar Continuation (0). Students continue the project begun in PHIL 8103 Proposal Seminar.

PHIL 8201 Proposal Defense (1). The proposal defense includes review and approval of the dissertation research proposal by the Advisor, Committee, and Institutional Review Board.

PHIL 8304 Dissertation (4). Students prepare a formal research study that meets Johnson University standards and makes an original contribution to the body of knowledge.

PHIL 8310 Dissertation Continuation (0). Doctoral students continue the project begun in PHIL 8304 Dissertation.

PHIL 8410 Dissertation Defense (1). Students defend the formal research study developed in PHIL 8304 Dissertation and PHIL 8310 Dissertation Continuation.

PRMN 1000 Service Learning (0). The Service Learning program enables students to apply classroom learning to real-life situations by providing voluntary service in the church and community. While the recipients benefit from the services of student volunteers, students also benefit from identifying their gifts and strengths, learning to work with others, developing skills in critical thinking and problem solving, confirming their career decisions, and gaining a lifelong commitment to community involvement and civic engagement. Students choose their areas of service and are expected to be supervised during service for accountability purposes. PRMN 1000 is a pass/fail requirement.

PRMN 1300 Chapel (0.3). Academic credit is awarded for chapel attendance. All students are required to attend.

PRMN 1400 Chapel (0.4). Academic credit is awarded for chapel attendance. All students are required to attend.

PRMN 1500 Chapel (0.5). Academic credit is awarded for chapel attendance. All students are required to attend.

PSYC 2013 Statistics (3). This course examines the application, interpretation, and analysis of statistics. Introduces basic concepts, including descriptive statistics, elementary probability, estimation, and hypothesis testing in both nonparametric, parametric and normal models. It also covers analytical topics including data summary and visualization, study design, elementary probability, categorical data, comparative experiments, statistical inferences and model diagnostics.

PSYC 2100 Introduction to Psychology (3). This course introduces the field of psychology—the scientific study of human behavior and experience. Students are acquainted with the major concepts and terminology of the discipline, providing a broader understanding of self and others. The course includes brief studies of the history and systems of psychology, human neuroanatomy, sensation, perception, learning and thinking, human development, personality, social interaction, health psychology, and abnormal psychology. There is also an emphasis on applied psychology so that students are prepared for advanced courses in social science and other professional studies.

PSYC 2300 Social Science Research & Writing (3). This course provides an overview of research in the social sciences. Attention is given to both purpose and design of research, including problem definition, literature review, sampling and data collection methods, interpretation, and communication of results. Students are expected to develop a rationale for social research, read and understand contemporary research, and write while effectively utilizing current American Psychological Association (APA) Publication Manual style guidelines.

Prerequisite: ENGL 1013 English Composition I.

PSYC 3003/BUSN 3003 Organizational Behavior (3). This course will explore human behavior in a variety of organizational contexts. Topics include: managing individuals, leadership, motivation and communication, group and team dynamics, organizational diversity and cross-cultural effects, power and politics, conflict management, organizational change, and the history of organizational behavior as a discipline.

PSYC 3013 Research Methods & Design (3). Students will investigate psychological research and design methods in social psychological settings. Theoretical and applied aspects of experimental design are utilized, including data collection, analysis, and interpretation, in qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods. Students will apply these methods in an original research project. Prerequisites: PSYC 2013 Statistics, PSYC 2300 Social Science Research & Writing.

PSYC 3100 Abnormal Psychology (3). This is a study of the theory of abnormal psychology and how this relates to Human Services. Focus is on how to determine the identified pathology in an individual, couple, family or a larger system, and includes the use of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders and other assessment tools. The meaning of “abnormal” thought, affect, behavior, and related concepts are examined within biblical, historical, and cultural contexts. Prerequisite: PSYC 2300 Social Science Research & Writing.

PSYC 3210 Theories of Counseling & Psychotherapy (3). This course is designed to present the qualities and resources of an effective counselor (basic elements of counseling relationships, the current theories of counseling with a study of the variety of techniques utilized, and integration of psychology and counseling theory with theology and a Christian worldview). Individual, marriage and family, and group approaches are addressed. Ethical issues in counseling and an eclectic approach to counseling are discussed. Students have opportunity to apply theoretical approaches in role-play and peer counseling, and to integrate the approaches into a personal counseling style. Prerequisite: PSYC 2300 Social Science Research & Writing.

PSYC 3510 Understanding Diversity in Human Services (3). This course explores various forms and influences of diversity in the human service field, with special attention given to the impact of diversity in a counseling setting. Christian worldview is discussed as it interacts with topics such as culture, race, ethnicity, gender, class, faith and religious values, and sexual identity. Students develop self-awareness of their own experiences related to diversity, as well as an awareness of how diversity is understood from multiple perspectives. Prerequisites: FAMS 2203 Human Development and PSYC 2300 Social Science Research & Writing.

PSYC 3803 Special Topics (3). This course is designed to address issues in the social and behavioral sciences field not already represented within current course offerings. Since the content of the course will vary, the course may be repeated for credit.

PSYC 4101/FAMS 4101 Ethics & Professional Practice (3). This course provides an understanding of the character and quality of human social conduct, and the ability to critically examine ethical questions and issues as they relate to professional practice. It investigates areas of convergence and divergence between Human Services and spiritual approaches to the human condition. Various models of integration are explored, and ethical principles from contemporary codes of ethics (e.g., American Counseling Association code, NCFR’s Family Life Educator code) are applied. Topics addressed include ethical and legal considerations, the role of personal beliefs and values in professional practice, and professional development as a leader in the field of Human Services. Prerequisite: Successful completion of 75 hours of undergraduate study.

PSYC 4303/CMPR 4303 Conflict and Communication (3). This course explores both the destructive and transformative dynamics of conflict in faith communities and equips students with the self-understanding and skills needed for effective communication for conflict management. The course emphasizes individual and group settings, but also introduces the larger dimensions of corporate conflict. This is an interactive, skills-based course.

PSYC 4914/FAMS 4914 Internship (3). This internship is designed to provide students opportunities to use and apply the theoretical knowledge, concepts, and skills acquired in their training. Students serve 125 clock hours of supervised field experience, which includes a minimum number of direct service hours based on their future goals. Students serve with and are mentored by full-time faculty and professional practitioners in the field at a site approved by the instructor. Prerequisite: Senior standing. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll. Liability insurance and TBI/FBI background check required.

PSYC 4915/FAMS 4915 Advanced Internship (3). The Advanced Internship provides students with an additional 125 hours of field experience beyond the basic internship. Students continue at their basic practicum site or may choose another site, allowing them to deepen or broaden their real-life experiences. The Advanced Internship, in conjunction with the concurrent seminar that incorporates individual and group supervision, helps students further clarify and establish goals for vocational ministry and /or graduate study. Prerequisite: PSYC 4914 Internship. Special Considerations: Program permission required to enroll. Liability insurance and TBI/FBI background check required.

PSYC 4951 Counseling Lab (3). Students apply counseling principles and techniques to actual case studies to sharpen skills learned in previous courses. An emphasis is on the analysis of case dynamics and the development of treatment procedures. The course integrates Christian principles with therapeutic techniques. Prerequisites: PSYC 3100 Abnormal Psychology or PSYC 3210 Theories of Counseling & Psychotherapy. Special Considerations: Program permission is required to enroll. Liability insurance and a TBI/FBI background check are required.

PSYC 5013 Testing, Assessment, and Evaluation (3). This course provides students with an overview and methods of various psychometric techniques and strategies that measure cognitive ability, achievement, personality, intelligence, and other psychological phenomenon for individual and program evaluation. Development and evaluation of psychological measurement instruments are examined, particularly in the administration, scoring, and interpretation of testing situations. The reliability and validity of these instruments and methodologies are examined.

PSYC 5123/BUSN 5123 Ethical and Legal Issues (3). Students explore the legal and ethical issues of business. Since the law is the foundation to societal ethics, students study and discuss basic business law concepts such as business organizations, real property, contracts, employment, sales & warranties, personal property, risk devises, governmental regulation and the court system. The course enables students to understand and articulate the development of ethical and moral frameworks by which operational decisions can be made and professional moral conduct enhanced. Students utilize a variety of ethical models and perspectives that shed light on ethical operational issues.

PSYC 5223 Recruitment, Placement and Selection (3). This course is designed to provide a thorough examination and application of all phases of recruitment, selection, placement, and retention of the most qualified applicant/employee, including attracting qualified employees, predicting future performance, selecting best fit individuals, matching recruits to positions, and developing effective policies and procedures to guide the process. Topics include job analysis, internal and external recruitment, use of various selection methods such as interviews and tests, planning and staffing projections, and meeting legal requirements during the hiring process.

PSYC 6013 Advanced Applied Statistics (3). This course emphasizes the applications of statistics that require advanced statistical models that go beyond the basic inferential tools (e.g., confidence intervals and hypothesis tests.) Introduces the analyst to logistic regression, analysis of variance (ANOVA and MANOVA), advanced multivariate regression analysis and residual diagnostics, time series models, and analysis of categorical variables. Heavy focus will be placed on application of techniques using statistical software and interpretation of results.

PSYC 6023/LDRS 6023 Leadership & Team Building (3). This course focuses on developing the skills needed to successfully create and lead teams in organizations. Skills examined and practiced in this course include team building, conflict management, decision making, and strategic thinking.

PSYC 6033/LDRS 6033 Organizational Leadership (3). Students explore organizational theories related to structure and leadership, team dynamics and communication, and change management. Topics include pluralist contexts; conflict management; power, politics, and stakeholder management; resistance to change; and the importance of dialogue and listening.

RELS 2200 Cults, Sects, & New Religions (3). This course provides a survey of a variety of relatively new religions that developed in the United States. Many of these religious systems, both large and small, derive from Christianity, while some find their origins in other world religions or combine elements of two or more religions. Many of these groups fall into the broad category described as quasi-religious and offer a worldview with a philosophical and ethical foundation.

RELS 3100 Christian Apologetics (3). Christian apologetics is the study of how believers present a rational defense for the Christian faith. As such, the course considers various objections to belief and examines the historic responses to such doubt. The course considers the long-term and lively interaction between theology and philosophy, logic, history, religious pluralism, and science.

RELS 3110 Apologetics I: Foundations for Defending Theism (3). Students develop a theology and practice of the defense of the Christian faith. Topics include the spiritual development of the apologist, worldview impacts on apologetics, the rationality of religious belief, the relationship of faith and science, historical approaches to apologetics, apologetic methodologies, arguments for the existence of God, the problem of evil, religious pluralism, and postmodernism.

RELS 3120 Apologetics II: Evidence for Christian Theism (3). Students develop an affirmative case for the rationality of a distinctly Christian theism. They examine the historical foundations of the Christian faith and the factuality of the biblical record, with particular emphasis on the historicity of Jesus and the resurrection. Attention is directed towards identifying and utilizing credible methods of historical investigation, textual criticism, and relevant manuscript and archaeological evidence.

RELS 3260 History & Theology of Judaism (3). In this course, students consider the historical and theological development of one of the world’s great living religions, which is also important for the background of Christianity and Islam. Through readings, films, and lectures, the course examines major events and persons of Judaism from ancient, medieval, and modern history. This study focuses on the sacred literature that provides the foundation for Jewish faith and practice.

RELS 3300 History of the Bible (Text, Canon and Versions) (3). This course provides a survey of the Bible’s history – i.e., the composition and transmission of the text, formation of the canon, and production of the versions. We will identify the significant people and events in this story, along with their historical contexts. Course activities including readings, films, lectures, projects, and a final essay.

RELS 3310 C.S. Lewis: Life and Non-fiction Apologetics (3). A critical study of the life and work of Clive Staples (C.S.) Lewis (1898–1963), a major figure in the history of Christian apologetics. In this course, we will examine Lewis’ biography – including his spiritual pilgrimage – and his understanding of the Christian faith. We will investigate these topics through assigned readings, films, and discussion sessions.

RELS 4100 Studies in Christian Apologetics (3). Students consider the life and work of a selected writer who has contributed much to the field of Christian Apologetics (e.g., C.S. Lewis, Francis Schaefer). Class members examine the biography of the writer and consider the writer’s background and the influence s/he has had on others. Students read, discuss, and write about a selection of the author’s major works.

RELS 4110 Ancient Near Eastern Religions (3). Students examine the major religions of ancient Egypt, Syria-Palestine, Mesopotamia, and surrounding regions. They study these beliefs and practices by reading religious texts and by considering archaeological evidence from these regions. This study serves an important role by providing essential background for the biblical narratives.

RELS 4120 Religions of Ancient Greece & Rome (3). Students examine major religions of the Greco-Roman world, broadly defined. The course covers religious beliefs and practices from the Hellenistic and Roman periods, which students examine through the reading of ancient texts and the study of archaeological remains. This course provides important background for biblical narratives.

RELS 4200 Religious Studies Internship (3). An internship for the Religious Studies Major requires students to experience long-term contact with a different religion or worldview from the Western or non-Western world. This can take place in the United States or in an international setting (e.g., campus ministry, foreign mission). Students initiate an internship through the School of Arts & Sciences and other key contacts. Each internship includes a field experience, along with preparatory reading and a follow-up writing assignment.

RSCH 7233 Principles of Research (3). Students learn research processes and principles of research design, including both quantitative and qualitative methods.

RSCH 7243 Quantitative Analysis (3). This course develops proficiency in quantitative analysis for interpreting social and organizational data. Topics include experimental, quasi-experimental, and multivariate designs; critical analysis of quantitative studies; and the ethics involved in research. Students discuss, critique, and apply appropriate statistical techniques, demonstrating the ability to recognize valid data and valid evidence for decision-making within organizations. Prerequisite: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research.

RSCH 7253 Qualitative Research (3). Students develop qualitative research skills while gaining familiarity with related theories, issues, and problems. The course provides multiple opportunities for practicing research skills, analyzing data, and writing the results. Prerequisite: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research.

RSCH 7263 Scholarship & Research Framework (3). Doctoral students develop an appreciation for the transition from coursework to research, including an understanding of the process and research proposal content areas. The course assists students in conceptualizing the themes and primary focus of their topic by providing a structure for searching supporting literature, writing draft purpose and questions, and preparing a preliminary conceptual framework from which they can then design a research agenda that will support their capacity to prepare a research proposal at the end of year 3. (Chapter 1 of the doctoral dissertation includes the research proposal, which identifies the research purpose, research questions, and need for the research. Chapter 2 consists of a literature review. And chapter 3 discusses research methodology.)

RSCH 8000 Candidacy (0). Ph.D. students produce a 25+ page integrative Candidacy Paper and presentation, which must be approved by faculty. The Candidacy Paper demonstrates the student’s ability to produce and defend scholarly work, which qualifies them to proceed through the remainder of the doctoral program. Prerequisite: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research.

SCED 5012 Introduction to Secondary Education (3). This course is an introduction to education for students in grades 6-12. It includes an introduction to educational philosophy, student development, learning styles, and methodology. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in the Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

SCED 5014 Reading in the Content Area (3). This course focuses on reading and critical thinking in secondary education content areas. Specific strategies are explored that enhance comprehension, concept development, and vocabulary knowledge. Effects of text organization and relationship between reading and writing are examined for all content areas.

SCED 5023 Topics & Trends in Secondary Education (3). This course focuses on the most recent topics in education for students going into a middle and/or high school classroom. These topics include, but are not limited to, technology, school policy, and ethics. Emphasis will also be placed on child development for students in grades 6-12.

SCED 5120 Teaching English (3). Students examine methods of teaching secondary school language, composition, and literature.

SCED 5122 Teaching History (3). This course considers principles and techniques for teaching social studies to students in grades 6-12. It includes 12 hours of field observations. Prerequisite: Undergraduate degree in Social Studies/History. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.
SCED 5124 Teaching Economics (3). This course considers principles and techniques for teaching economics to students in grades 6-12. It includes 12 hours of field observations. Prerequisite: Undergraduate degree in Economics. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

SCED 5125 Teaching Biology (3). Students examine teaching strategies for Biology in the secondary school. This course emphasizes information processing and classroom learning strategies. It includes 12 hours of field observations. Prerequisite: Undergraduate degree in Biology. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

SCED 5126 Teaching World Languages PreK-12 (3). Students examine theoretical and practice issues that relate to the teaching of world languages in grades PreK-12. It explores the role of comprehension, learning, listening, reading, writing, testing, curriculum and culture.

SCED 5130 Teaching Chemistry (3). Students examine teaching strategies for Chemistry in the secondary school. This course emphasizes information processing and classroom learning strategies. Prerequisite: Undergraduate degree in Chemistry. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

SCED 5134 Teaching Mathematics (3). This course considers principles and techniques of teaching Mathematics in the secondary school. It includes a study of curricula and materials available for instruction. The course includes 12 hours of field observations. Prerequisite: Undergraduate degree in Mathematics. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

SCED 5136 Teaching Psychology (3). This course considers the principles and techniques for teaching Psychology to students in grades 6-12. It includes 12 hours of field observations. Prerequisite: Undergraduate degree in Psychology. Special Considerations: This course is limited to students in Master of Arts in Teaching programs.

SCED 5200 Student Teaching: Secondary Education (6). This course involves a term of student teaching in secondary grades in the prepared discipline area of preferred licensure. Prerequisite: Students must have passing PRAXIS II scores. Special Considerations: This course is for students pursuing Secondary licensure in the Master of Arts in Teaching program.

SCIN 1013 Certified Nursing Assistant (3). The Certified Nursing Assistant course is designed to prepare students to pursue careers in the field of nursing. Upon completion of this course, a proficient student will be able to implement communication and interpersonal skills, maintain residents' rights and independence, provide care safely, prevent emergency situations, prevent infection through infection control, and perform the skills required of a nursing assistant. At the conclusion of this course, if students have logged 40 hours of classroom instruction and 20 hours of clinical instruction, and if they have completed 40 hours of site-based clinical with at least 24 of those hours spent in a long-term care facility (LTCF), then they are eligible to take the certification as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA).

SCIN 3100 Biological Science with Lab (4). This course is a survey of our living world from single-celled organisms to plants, to humans. The course will highlight commonalities between all living things and will also cover concepts guiding interactions within the biosphere and between us and our world. Applicable current events will also be explored as the relate to the week’s topic.
SCIN 3200 Science Concepts & Methods with Lab (4). This course is an integrated science course encompassing major concepts and principles of physics, chemistry, astronomy, or earth sciences. The emphasis is on these concepts and principles and their application to real-world views.

SCIN 3201 Science Concepts & Methods Lab (1). This lab is co-requisite with SCIN 3203 Science Concepts & Methods, an integrated science course encompassing major concepts and principles of physics, chemistry, astronomy, and earth sciences. The emphasis is on these concepts and principles and their application to real-world views.

SCIN 3203 Science Concepts & Methods (3). This course is an integrated science course encompassing major concepts and principles of physics, chemistry, astronomy, and earth sciences. The emphasis is on these concepts and principles and their application to real-world views. The co-requisite Lab to this course is SCIN 3201 Science Concepts & Methods Lab.

SCIN 3224 Introduction to Meteorology (4). This course introduces students to basic weather principles, including fronts, air pressure, jet stream, and heat and energy distribution. Students gain awareness of their world through understanding how complex interactions of weather elements produce various weather systems. Students learn how to locate and interpret weather data, including a surface map and how to analyze available data to forecast weather. In the laboratory portion of the course, students learn to read, record and report on data collected from a weather station, with the ultimate goal of creating a local weather forecast based on interpretation of personally-collected data.

SCIN 3501 Water Science & Human Thriving Lab (1). This laboratory course accompanies SCIN 3503. In this course, students will have the opportunity to visit water management facilities, conduct water testing, analyze soil samples, explore water chemical properties, and participate in other activities that support the accompanying lecture course. Students should expect to complete hands-on demonstrations and experiments and to write reports of their findings. When combined with SCIN 3503, this course will meet the Arts and Sciences Core 4-hour Science with lab requirement.

SCIN 3503 Water Science & Human Thriving (3). This course focuses on the science behind the cycling and chemistry of water and the use of water to meet the needs of mankind over the history of civilization through today. In order to provide a big-picture understanding of water issues, students will learn about a variety of topics as they relate to water, including: water chemistry, water movement through plants and soil, related concepts in hydrology and geology, irrigation principles and the history of agriculture, and finally current issues of urbanization and international disputes over water resources. The course will meet the 3-hour science Elective requirement in the Arts and Sciences Core. In combination with the lab, this course will meet the Science with lab (4 credit hour) requirement for the Arts and Sciences Core. The course can also be applied as a 3-hour general elective.

SFFS 3013 Motor Learning (3). This course focuses on motor skill acquisition; variables that influence learning and performance of motor skills; and the relationship between skill acquisition, growth, development, and adaptation. Students apply these principles in teaching and coaching motor skills. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology. [ACSM-CPT, ACSM-GEI, ACSM-HFS, NSCA-CPT, NSCA-CSCS]

SFFS 3023 Essentials of Strength Training & Conditioning (3). This course focuses on theories, organization, methods, and techniques involved in the teaching and coaching of strength training, physical conditioning, and personal training. It includes an introduction to biomechanical principles and their application. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology.
Recommended Preparation: HLSC 1013 Health Science and BIOL 2204 Anatomy & Human Body Systems with Lab. [ACSM-CPT, ACSM-GEI, ACSM-HFS, NSCA-CPT, NSCA-CSCS]

SFFS 3033 Health & Fitness Testing, Evaluation & Prescription (3). This course provides practical experience in using laboratory instruments and methodologies to evaluate health-related components of physical fitness. Special emphasis is placed on testing protocols, interpretation, risk identification and stratification, and the application of American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) guidelines in prescribing a health and fitness regimen. Prerequisites: SFIT 2013
Kinesiology and SFFS 3023 Essentials of Strength Training & Conditioning. Recommended Preparation: HLSC 1013 Health Science and BIOL 2204 Anatomy & Human Body Systems with Lab. [ACSM-CPT, ACSM-GEI, ACSM-HFS, CSRM 2, NSCA-CPT, NSCA-CSCS]

SFIT 1011 Aerobics (1). This course develops skills in aerobics.

SFIT 1021 Basketball (1). This course develops skills in basketball with emphasis on its rules, tactics, and strategies.

SFIT 1031 Royal Wellness Program (1). The Royal Wellness Program provides practical application of health and fitness principles in an exercise class setting. Students learn and apply various techniques and appropriate implementation strategies for exercise class development and execution. Proper weight loss and weight control principles are discussed, and methods for accurate and practical monitoring for body composition improvements are utilized.

SFIT 1041 Golf (1). This course develops skills in golf with emphasis on its rules, tactics, and strategies.

SFIT 1051 Lifesaving (1). This course develops skills in lifesaving.

SFIT 1061 Racquetball (1). This course develops skills in racquetball with an emphasis on its rules, tactics, and strategies.

SFIT 1071 Running (1). This course develops skills in running with an emphasis on effective strategies.

SFIT 1081 Self Defense (1). This course develops skills in self defense with an emphasis on its tactics and strategies.

SFIT 1091 Soccer (1). This course develops skills in soccer with an emphasis on its rules, tactics, and strategies.

SFIT 1101 Softball (1). This course develops skills in softball with an emphasis on its rules, tactics, and strategies.

SFIT 1111 Swimming (1). This course develops skills in swimming with an emphasis on effective strategies.

SFIT 1121 Tennis & Badminton (1). This course develops skills in tennis & badminton with an emphasis on their rules, tactics, and strategies.

SFIT 1131 Volleyball (1). This course develops skills in volleyball with an emphasis on its rules, tactics, and strategies.
SFIT 1141 Weight Training (1). This course develops skills in weight training with an emphasis on effective strategies.

SFIT 1151 Women’s Volleyball: Varsity (1). This course is designed for female students who make the varsity volleyball team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1161 Women’s Soccer: Varsity (1). This course is designed for female students who make the varsity soccer team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1171 Men’s Soccer: Varsity (1). This course is designed for male students who make the varsity soccer team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1181 Cross-Country: Varsity (1). This course is designed for students who make the varsity cross-country team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1191 Women’s Basketball: Varsity (1). This course is designed for female students who make the varsity basketball team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of games rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1201 Men’s Basketball: Varsity (1). This course is designed for male students who make the varsity basketball team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of the game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.
SFIT 1211 Men’s Baseball: Varsity (1). This course is designed for male students who make the varsity baseball team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1221 Tennis: Varsity (1). This course is designed for students who make the varsity tennis team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1231 Golf: Varsity (1). This course is designed for students who make the varsity golf team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of game rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1241 Cheerleading: Varsity (1). This course is designed for female athletes who make the varsity cheerleading team and complete the intercollegiate season. It develops knowledge of cheerleading and an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1261 Practicum (1). Students gain practical experience with management of tasks through experiential learning. Students will assist with planning, organizing, leading, and evaluating various sport and fitness activities, events, and games. Topics also include best practices and procedures with operating and maintaining athletic facilities. Students will be expected to log approximately 30 hours outside of the classroom.

SFIT 1271 Softball: Varsity (1). This course is designed for female students who make the varsity softball team and complete the intercollegiate competitive season. It develops knowledge of games rules, strategy, coaching, and nutrition, along with an improved fitness level. Attendance and participation levels are important factors in the evaluation process. Christian student-athletes will be expected to think how their identities as a Christian, student, and athlete are integrated. Being able to do this within the context of sport will allow for a practical opportunity to grow as a Christian sportsperson.

SFIT 1291 Functional Fitness (1). This course develops versatile fitness skills, using minimal equipment, with an emphasis in speed, agility, quickness, as well as form, technique, and program development generated from current research and best practices from the field. Students will integrate strength training and flexibility to complement functional fitness goals.
SFIT 1301 Triathlon Skills (1). This course develops skills in triathlon training with an emphasis on its rules, techniques, and strategies. Students will learn basic swimming, cycling, and running fundamentals.

SFIT 1321 Indoor Sports & Games (1). This course develops skills in indoor sports, including, but not limited to, volleyball, futsal, basketball, goal ball, table tennis, various adapted sports and games, etc. with an emphasis on each sport's rules, techniques, and strategies.

SFIT 1331 Lifetime Sports & Games (1). This course develops skills in lifetime sports, including, but not limited to, golf, tennis, disc golf, pickle ball, table tennis, etc. with an emphasis on their rules, techniques, and strategies.

SFIT 1341 Outdoor Sports & Games (1). This course develops skills in outdoor team sports, including, but not limited to baseball, softball, beach volleyball, flag football, Chicago ball, ultimate frisbee, capture the flag, Spike Ball, Kan Jam, various adapted sports and games, etc. with an emphasis on each game’s rules, techniques, and strategies.

SFIT 2013 Kinesiology (3). The course serves as an introduction and foundation to the Sport and Fitness Leadership major. Students will examine how physical activity permeates all aspects of life. A strong emphasis will be placed on career exploration, career opportunities, and professional development. This will entail the creation of resumes and cover letters, bringing in guest speakers from the field of kinesiology, and enhancing student professionalism and leadership skills.

SFIT 2023 Sport & Exercise Psychology (3). This course is devoted to assisting students in learning and using theoretical and practical information related to the psychology of sport and physical activity. Effective mental training skills for successful sport and life performance are also discussed. Lectures, labs, discussions, role playing, and guest speakers are used to illustrate the theoretical and applied foundations of sport psychology.

SFIT 3013 Sports Ministry Models (3). This course begins with an historical overview of the use of sports in Christian evangelism and discipleship (e.g. athletic metaphors of the Apostle Paul, the “Muscular Christianity” of the Victorian era, and the contemporary Sports Ministry movement), along with biblical, theological, and philosophical foundations for sports ministry (e.g. a theology of competition, victory, unity, character formation, and sportsmanship). Students then explore a variety of proven methods and models for using sports to share Christ with youth and adults (e.g. church leagues, sports mission trips, training camps and clinics). Successful sports ministry programs serve as case studies providing ideas, lessons, and inspiration for their own outreach efforts. Participants learn about resources and organizations that promote sports ministry (e.g. the Association of Church Sports and Recreation Ministers and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes), as well as professional opportunities in the field. [CSRM 1, CSRM 2]
Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology

SFIT 3031 Internship Orientation (1). The interactive seminar introduces the parameters of the internship experience and provides an in-depth look at various internship settings. The seminar includes a discussion of student requirements, responsibilities, policies, expectations, and support prior to and during the Sport & Fitness Internship. Topics include professional etiquette and behaviors, an overview of workplace policies and laws, and enhancing professional development competencies. Seminar students construct professional goals and objectives and then research and contact prospective Practicum site supervisors. By the conclusion of the seminar, students are required to secure a practicum site and supervisor who agrees to supervise, mentor, and evaluate the student during the Internship experience. The Internship Orientation is a prerequisite for the Internship; the Internship Orientation is recommended to be taken the term immediately before taking the Internship. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology

SFIT 4013 Legal, Ethical & Professional Standards for Sports Professionals (3). This culminating course for the Sports & Fitness Leadership Major focuses on legal, ethical, and professional standards for sports professionals. It gives attention to issues related to church, school, and community settings. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology. [ACSM-GEI, ACSM-HFS, CSRM 2, NSCA-CPT]

SFIT 4033 Sport & Fitness Internship (3). Students integrate theory, praxis, and faith through a supervised leadership experience in a church, school, or community setting. Journaling and small group discussions facilitate reflection, mentoring, and growth. The internship experience may be between 3–12 credit hours (3 hours minimum are required). Prerequisites: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology and SFIT 3031 Internship Orientation. [ACSM-CPT, ACSM-GEI, TDOE]

SFPE 3013 Introduction to Coaching (3). This course includes an overview of the roles, qualifications, responsibilities, and skills required of coaches during the season and off season. It addresses principles and philosophies of coaching, as well as issues affecting coaches both on and off the field. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology. [ACSM-CPT, NSCA-CPT]

SFPE 3023 Physical Education Methods (3). Students develop professional competencies for planning and implementing physical education programs with an emphasis on reaching all age and ability groups. They learn a wide variety of exercise techniques, recreational games, and group and individual sports that promote health and personal fitness. The course gives attention to programs appropriate for church, school, and community settings. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology

SFPE 4013 Physical Education Programming for Special Populations (3). This course focuses on training adaptations, exercise prescriptions, and recreational needs of special populations from primary ages through senior citizens, including those with common physical and mental disorders. The course gives attention to programs appropriate for church, school, and community settings. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology. [ACSM-CPT, ACSM-GEI, ACSM-HFS, NSCA-CPT, NSCA-CSCS]

SFSA 3013 Organization & Administration of Athletic Programs (3). Students explore practical aspects of administering athletic programs, including planning, organization, scheduling, staffing, recruiting and training volunteers, budgeting, promotion, fundraising and sponsorships, tournament and event management, working with coaches and officials, church and community resources, facility care, goal-setting, and evaluation. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology. [ACSM-HFS, CSRM 1, CSRM 2, NSCA-CSCS]

SFSA 4013 Principles of Sport Marketing (3). Students examine principles of marketing and apply fundamental concepts of pricing, product decisions, distribution channels, promotional strategies, and public relations to the sport industry. Topics also include marketing research and assessment, branding decisions, endorsements and sponsorships, licensing and logos, and trends in technology and media. Prerequisite: SFIT 2013 Kinesiology.

SPAN 2100 Spanish I (3). This course lays a foundation for ongoing language acquisition by devoting time and attention to all four language skills—listening, speaking, reading, and writing.
It facilitates discussion and experience of Spanish culture, both inside and outside the classroom. Special Consideration: Without the instructor’s permission, this course is not open to students with more than two years of high school Spanish or more than one term of college-level Spanish or its equivalent.

SPAN 2200 Spanish II (3). This course furthers the goals and objectives set forth for SPAN 2100. It expands the foundation of language acquisition, with attention given to all four-language skills—listening, speaking, reading, and writing. It facilitates opportunities for discussion about and the experiencing of Spanish cultural practices, both inside and outside the classroom. Prerequisite: SPAN 2100 Spanish I or equivalent.

SPAN 3103 History & Cultures of the Early Spanish-Speaking World (3). This course introduces students to the early history of the Spanish-speaking world beginning with first peoples settled on the Iberian Peninsula. The focus is on Spain in the 15th through 17th centuries and the conquest of the new world including the syncretism that developed in the New World with the expansion of Christianity. Includes elements of geography, sociology, religion, and history.

SPAN 3200 Spanish III (3). This course builds upon the foundation of communicative skills developed in SPAN 2100 and SPAN 2200 through increased emphasis on setting the language within its “natural” historical, literary, and socio-cultural contexts and through a corresponding decrease in emphasis on grammar-as-grammar. Except by instructor’s permission, this course is not open to students with more than three years of high school Spanish or more than one year of college-level Spanish or its equivalent. Prerequisites: SPAN 2100 Spanish I, SPAN 2200 Spanish II or equivalents. Special Consideration: Without the instructor’s permission, this course is not open to students with more than three years of high school Spanish or more than one year of college-level Spanish or its equivalent.

SPAN 3210 Spanish IV (3). This course continues the emphases of SPAN 3200, broadening and deepening the “passive” and “active” communication skills previously developed, through an increased emphasis upon using the language within its “natural” historical, literary, and sociocultural contexts. Prerequisite: SPAN 3200 Spanish III or equivalent.

SPAN 3303 History and Cultures of Latin America (3). This course examines the history and culture of Latin America including the Caribbean from the 18th century to the modern day. Includes elements of geography, sociology, and religion. Taught in English.

SPAN 3403 Spanish in Context (3). This course focuses on Spanish language skills in conjunction with a service-related experience in a Hispanic community. Students will be required to participate in a project in the Hispanic community in which they can practice the skills learned in Service Learning classes as well as Spanish language history and culture classes. The course emphasizes cultural readiness for effective cross-cultural ministry and expanding conversational Spanish for that work. First Language Spanish-speakers will need permission from the instructor to enroll in this course. Prerequisites: SPAN 2100 and SPAN 2200.

SPAN 4013 History and Culture of Modern Spain (3). This course examines the history of Spain from 1898 to the present day with a focus on the role that the Spanish Civil War played on the world stage. This course examines topics of the tumultuous 20th century and the lasting effect of political polarization, a strictly religious dictatorship, its effect on a new democracy and religion going into the 21st century.
SPED 3113 Techniques for Inclusion of Diverse Learners (3). This course discusses the principles of inclusion, how to work with students with disabilities in an inclusive setting; the role of the special educator in an inclusive setting and ways to team teach with the general education teacher. Theories of inclusion will be discussed.

SPED 3223 Instructional Methods for Special Education (3). Students will explore the content, materials and methods of all areas of the curriculum except reading and language arts giving special attention to meeting the needs of the student with disabilities. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program

SPED 3313 Characteristics & Needs of the Mildly & Moderately Disabled (3). Emotional, behavioral characteristics, assessment and intervention strategies and theories will be examined with particular reference to the needs of the mildly and moderately disabled student.

SPED 3323 Managing Challenging Behaviors & Special Education Law (3). Students will explore special education legislation regarding the rights of persons with disabilities and the effect on our educational system and society. Consideration will be given to major current problems and issues concerning persons with disabilities and those with learning problems. Specific attention will be given to those with severe challenging behaviors. The class will guide students into developing a model for appropriate interaction with persons with disabilities informed by Christian principles, values and dispositions.

SPED 3333 Assessment & Diagnosis of Persons with Disabilities (3). Terms and constructs used in describing and interpreting test results will be studied with the uses, purpose, nature and procedures of formal and informal tests. A brief history of psychometric testing will be presented. The student will learn to transform the assessment data into programmatic guidelines for instructional objectives. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program

SPED 4213 Diagnosis & Remediation of Reading Problems (3). This course examines the ways to diagnose errors and reading problems and then offers students tools to remediate these problems. Special Consideration: This course is limited to students accepted into the teacher education program who have taken the Reading Methods class.

SPED 4313 Nature & Needs of the Gifted (3). This course examines the particular nature, needs, and development of the gifted student. Pertinent issues such as creativity, cultural differences, gender, and underachievement are examined. The history of gifted education is explored, as well as how to recognize and identify giftedness in the classroom. Students also examine characteristics of the teacher of the gifted.

SPED 4323 Methods for Teaching the Gifted (3). This course provides learners with an understanding of the instructional needs of gifted students and the resources available to teach and enrich the education of the individuals. Emphasis is placed on curricular models, teaching strategies of differentiated instruction, and processes for learning.

SPED 5115 Practicum: Internship I (6). This course is the first term of a full year internship in Special Education Interventionist K-8 education. Prerequisite: Students must have passed the PRAXIS 2 tests and been accepted into the M.A. in Holistic Education. This course is for students who have graduated with a B.S. in Special Education from Johnson University.

SPED 5225 Practicum: Internship II (6). This course is the second term of a full year internship in Special Education Interventionist K-8 education. Prerequisite: Students must have passed the PRAXIS 2 tests and been accepted into the M.A. in Holistic Education. This course is for students who have graduated with a B.S. in Special Education from Johnson University.

SPSY 1100 Interpersonal and Family Relationships (3). This course introduces students to concepts and practices of healthy personal and social interactions. It emphasizes a Christian worldview when considering topics such as communication skills, problem solving, personality styles, relationship stages, relationship enhancement and enrichment, societal expectations, and the impact of family dynamics, interpersonal violence, and unhealthy coping strategies on relationships. Additional areas receiving special attention include conflict management styles, cultural diversity, special needs in families, stress, and relationship management.

THEL 7313 Research Concentration 1 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

THEL 7323 Research Concentration 2 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

THEL 7333 Research Concentration 3 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

THEL 7343 Research Concentration 4 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

THEL 7353 Research Concentration 5 (3). Under faculty supervision, doctoral students earn Research Concentration credits through Directed Independent Studies (DIS), based on the Research Concentration Plan developed in RSCH 7263 Scholarship and research Framework. Ideally, students’ Research Concentrations arise from their personal research questions and flow directly into their dissertations.

THEL 8103 Proposal Seminar (3). Students develop a dissertation research proposal according to Johnson University standards. Prerequisites: RSCH 7233 Principles of Research, RSCH 7243 Quantitative Analysis, RSCH 7253 Qualitative Research.

THEL 8110 Proposal Seminar Continuation (0). Students continue the project begun in THEL 8103 Proposal Seminar.

THEL 8201 Proposal Defense (1). The proposal defense includes review and approval of the dissertation research proposal by the Advisor, Committee, and Institutional Review Board.
THEL 8304 Dissertation (4). Students prepare a formal research study that meets Johnson University standards and makes an original contribution to the body of knowledge.

THEL 8310 Dissertation Continuation (0). Doctoral students continue the project begun in THEL 8304 Dissertation.

THEL 8410 Dissertation Defense (1). Students defend the formal research study developed in THEL 8304 Dissertation and THEL 8310 Dissertation Continuation.

THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology (3). What is theology? How is it studied? What are its challenges and benefits? Questions like these offer structure to a study of key doctrinal issues relating to a God-centered life: Christology, salvation, work of the Spirit, community living, and Christian formation are considered.

THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation (3). Learning to read, interpret, and apply the biblical text is a skill set built upon specific presuppositions and principles. Biblical Interpretation teaches learners how to recognize these presuppositions and use these principles to study Scripture with care and understanding. Prerequisites: BIBL 1103 Orientation to Old Testament, BIBL 1203 Orientation to New Testament, and THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology.

THEO 2313 The Character and Work of God (3). This course explores the attributes and names of God in Scripture and in Christian reflection including holiness, love, mercy, etc. It also explores the distinctive works of God, covering selected topics such as the relationship between God and creation, God’s self-revelation, the Incarnation of the Son of God, and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit and others. Prerequisite: THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology.

THEO 2323 God and the Human Person (3). How do we understand ourselves within a relationship to God and the Christian story? How do past, present, and future acts shape us and lead us to God? These questions suggest the pursuit of personal formation and ethics within the scope of Christian thought. Prerequisite: THEO 1303 Orientation to Theology.

THEO 3013/BIOL 4013 Special Topics in Life Sciences/Biology Ethics (3). Topics include discussions of the nature of science and faith, bioethics and science-informed public policy. Students will use historical perspective, theological framework, and scientific literature to evaluate chosen topics and case studies. Students will employ metacognition in their writing and in creating presentation for peer teaching during the class period. Cross-listed as BIOL 4013. This course may be repeated, as different topics are explored between offerings. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3101 Eschatology in the New Testament (3). An advanced study of the teaching of the New Testament regarding the kingdom of God and events related to the culmination of salvation history. Special attention is given to the background of these concepts in Old Testament and Jewish teachings and their development in later Christian thought. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3102/FAMS 3102 Theology & Human Sexuality (3). This course is a theological and biopsychological-spiritual investigation into human sexuality. Issues discussed include, but are not limited to, characteristics of healthy and unhealthy sexual relationships, interpersonal dynamics of sexual intimacy, gender, marriage, and sexual orientation. Students learn the art of theological reflection and worldview analysis as they explore sexuality historically and address human sexuality from value-respectful positions. Additional attention is given to investigating attitudes, behaviors, and decision making as an expression of understanding. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3105 Biblical Perspectives on the Holy Spirit (3). An exploration of the biblical witness of promise and fulfillment concerning the Holy Spirit, with special attention to the origins of New Testament teaching and the Church’s experience of the Spirit in the present. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3106 Topics in Theology (3). This course cycles through key ideas, movements, and figures in the history of Christian theological reflection: among them, the study of God, Christ, the Holy Spirit, the Church, Salvation, and the nature of Scripture. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3107 Contemporary Theology (3). A study of major theological figures and movements in the 19th, 20th, and early 21st centuries. The course provides a broad perspective on theological developments within the time period while focusing on in-depth analysis of the primary sources. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3108 Theology and Philosophy of the Skeptic (3). A study of authors whose writings and philosophies are set in direct opposition to the fundamental beliefs of the Christian faith. Readings progress chronologically from the Enlightenment to the current day with specific attention towards an apologetic approach to worldviews encountered in the literature. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3109 Christianity & Contemporary Life (3). An examination of dominant values in contemporary American society, from an historical and a Christian perspective. The course includes discussions of economics, education, politics, technology, and trends in popular culture and the arts, with emphasis on their effects on Christian ministry and family life. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3110 Religious Cultism (3). An introduction to the development and teachings of various cults in America, including discussions of such contemporary religious movements as Christian Science, the Watchtower Society, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Seventh-day Adventism, Scientology, the Unification Church, the New Age Movement, Freemasonry, Neo-paganism, and the Occult. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3112 Biblical Interpretation Across Cultures (3). Different cultures read the biblical text with different eyes. They notice what other cultures do not. They apply the text differently based on their own cultural location. This course enables students to recognize their own cultural lenses and learn to read through the lenses of others in order to come closer to an intercultural “crowdsourced” reading. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3115 Theology of the Trinity (3). A study of the doctrine of the Trinity from the Scriptures to modern times. Students will read and discuss primary texts and contemporary treatments in order to better understand the place of the doctrine of the Trinity in Christian theology. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3116 Issues in Christian Apologetics (3). A study of the coherence and explanatory power of the Christian worldview, especially as confronted by the challenges of modern and postmodern thought. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship (3). This course explores biblical-theological foundations of Christian worship. It seeks to develop a theology of worship based on the concepts and practices of worship modeled in Scripture and applies that theology in contemporary worshipping contexts. This course is taught by and for the Worship Ministry Program of the School of Communication and Creative Arts. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3121 History of Christian Worship (3). This course surveys the development of Christian worship from the close of the NT era to the present day. Attention is given to the worship practices of the Stone-Campbell Movement. The course aids the student to develop her or his own practical approach to worship. This course is taught by and for the Worship Ministry Program of the School of Communication and Creative Arts. Prerequisites: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation and THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship.

THEO 3123 Women in the Bible (3). This course studies the place of women in the Bible with attention to the texts’ historical and literary contexts. Particular attention is also given to the subsequent interpretation of texts about women in the Bible and the impact those interpretations have had on the church. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3133/HUMN 3133 Christian Thought and Film (3). This course offers instruction in discerning theological elements inherent in modern film. Films selected for study feature examples of either Christian theology or theologies in competition with Christianity. Students receive tools for making moral decisions about movie-going and for evaluating a film’s content. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3143 Christian Pilgrimage Today (3). This course is an academic supplement to a study-abroad experience in the lands of the Bible, regions integral to the historic development of biblical literature and home to three diverse text-oriented communities, namely Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Observation and engagement allow learners to reflect upon Christian thinking and personal ministry in an increasingly complex world. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation. Note: course fee may apply.

THEO 3153 Love in Contemporary Culture (3). A study of the theory and practice of love in contemporary culture. The first half of the course offers a case-study in biblical theology, featuring examinations of key vocabulary, narratives, and themes that define “love”—for God and for others—in the Judeo-Christian tradition. The second half of the course explores the presence and absence of love in contemporary culture. Particular attention is paid to identifying and addressing challenges to the practice of love for God and others in local and online environments. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.
THEO 3173 Theology of Vocation (3). This course explores theological thinking about calling and vocation. Learners are challenged to consider how Christian thought applies to a personal sense of purpose, mission, and employment. A final exercise is cast within the context of professional practice and ethics. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 3999 Global Theology (3). This course introduces students to principles and processes for developing a theology of mission for the context in which they serve. Emphasis is placed on biblical precedent, exegesis, and a practical approach to the local context. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 4101 Advanced Theological Seminar (3). An in-depth research seminar designed to synthesize a student’s biblical, theological, and literary education. Students demonstrate advanced theological research skills by producing an advanced theological paper on a topic of interest and presenting their papers in a seminar format similar to a scholarly conference. Integral to the learning process is the constructive criticism offered by the professor and other students. Prerequisite: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation.

THEO 4102 Christian Literature after the New Testament (3). A study of the Greek texts of the Apostolic Fathers collection. The course includes translation, exegesis of selected texts, and an attempt to locate the Apostolic Fathers in their early-church context. Students evaluate ways in which these texts demonstrate the development of first- and second-century Christianity, including how they extend and/or challenge ideas in the texts of the New Testament. Additional prerequisites: THEO 2303 Biblical Interpretation, GREK 2100 Elementary Greek I and GREK 2200 Elementary Greek II, enrollment in or completion of GREK 3200 Intermediate Greek I and/or GREK 3210 Intermediate Greek II.

THEO 5000 Fundamental Theology: Father, Son and Spirit (3) Offered for participants in the Knoxville Fellows, which is part of The Fellows Initiative whose mission is to provide post-graduate Christian leadership development programs in key communities, this course has three objectives: (1) To introduce the students to the task of Christian Theology, especially as it relates to the study of Scripture, (2) To familiarize the students with some basic theological concepts and vocabulary, (3) To teach the students how to construct a theological argument using the resources and skills gained through objectives #1 and #2. In order to meet these objectives, we will examine the foundational doctrines of Christian theology, particularly the Christian confession: (1) That God the Father is the creator of heaven and earth, (2) That by being fully human and fully divine, the Son was able to reconcile all creation to the Father, (3) That the church continues to live in the power of the life—giving Spirit. Because these doctrines were initially formulated in the period immediately following the New Testament, we will concentrate on these first theologians as they struggled to make sense of the revelation of God in the person of Jesus Christ.

THEO 5100 Beyond Christ and Culture: Rethinking the Church and Contemporary Society (3) Offered for graduate-level credit for participants in the Knoxville Fellows, which is part of The Fellows Initiative whose mission is to provide post-graduate Christian leadership development programs in key communities, this course examines the relationship between the Christian Church and contemporary culture, specifically the challenges that this culture makes to the Church’s life and mission and the Church’s response to these challenges. We will give special attention to the effects of Enlightenment “atheism” on Western culture, as well as the fall of modern foundationalism and its effects on post-modern culture. Since every culture uses facets of that culture, such as media, art, political structures, and educational systems to represent that culture’s fundamental picture of itself, we will first look at how contemporary American culture represents itself. We will then turn to Christianity and ask what kind of representation Christians should strive for and what ways are Christians trying to attain this kind of representation. The ultimate goal will be to think theologically about what it means for followers of Christ to inhabit the world in all its fullness.

WORS 1001 Worship Leadership Orientation (1). This course introduces first semester students to the Worship Leadership program by overviewing key areas of the curriculum, including the value of music studies, the importance of biblical, theological, and historical inquiry, the necessity of improving one's practical ministry, musical and production skills, and developing a philosophy in Christian gathered worship. The course aims to orient the student to the program's expectations and design in order to prepare them for success in their study of Worship Leadership. Students participate in a weekend retreat/seminar as part of this course.

WORS 2000 Chapel Worship Leadership Team (1). This team of students will be involved in the practical experience of planning, preparing and leading weekly chapel services. This provides a “laboratory” for the application of the principles of Christian worship as taught in the Worship Leadership program courses. (Open only to upperclassmen Worship Leadership majors and by invitation of instructor.)

WORS 3013 The Art & Theology of Songwriting (3). This course introduces the basic concepts and principles in developing the songwriting craft with an emphasis on the theology and philosophy of creativity as it relates to the relationship of lyrics, music, community, and the Christian faith. Songwriting techniques and critiquing tools will be illustrated and practiced as a means of understanding the art of song composition.

WORS 3023 Songwriting & Composition (3). This course will introduce the elements and procedures of song composition that will be most useful in a church setting. The writing of lyrics will be addressed from a background of sound biblical theology, and the writing of music, from basic compositional principles that incorporate both traditional/hymnic and contemporary/praise song expressions of style.

WORS 3033 Creative Worship (3). A course introducing students to techniques and deployment of prevalent creative teaching and worship styles in the contemporary evangelical church. Principles of planning, dynamics, creative presentation, audience engagement, response, and evaluation will be presented. Guest lectures from creative professionals, working worship leaders, and recording artists will supplement the principal lectures.

WORS 3110 Worship Leadership and Ministry (3). This course introduces basic worship leadership skills as well as core biblical, theological, historical, philosophical, and pastoral considerations for worship leadership and ministry. Attention is given to 1) the role, function, and responsibilities of the worship minister, 2) cultivating pastoral relations with worship teams, staff, pastor, and church, 3) biblically, theologically, and historically informed patterns of worship, 4) worship design and planning, 5) conducting special services, 6) the Christian year, 7) executing the actions of worship, and 8) practical skills for leading worship services. During the course each student will lead a part of a worship service in a campus setting or local ministry setting where they will demonstrate the application of course principles to the planning, designing, organizing, and leading of that service. Prerequisite or co-requisite: THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship.

WORS 3120 Worship Ensemble Leadership (3). This course covers the practical aspects of and methods for conducting rehearsals of instrumental teams, vocal teams, and worship choirs in preparation for worship services. Students gain experience rehearsing and leading instrumental teams, vocal teams, and worship choirs throughout the course. This course provides students with a biblical and theological framework for understanding the responsibilities, function, and service roles worship ensembles assume in Sunday worship. Worship service planning with ensemble participation, and the pastoral role the worship minister assumes in developing and leading worship ensembles will also be covered.

WORS 3130 Introduction to Worship Technology and Production (3). This course provides students with the basic skills needed to operate live audio and visual technology in today’s church, including knowledge of the standard equipment, styles, and techniques. This course also reflects upon the appropriate use of audio and visual technology in worship and the pastoral sensibilities necessary for its effective use. The student will not only demonstrate the ability to operate the equipment but the ability to do so in ways that enhance the content and expression of Sunday worship.

WORS 3230 Worship Technology and Production Practicum (3). Students in this practicum will gain practical experience in live audio, video, and stage production through involvement in chapel services, on-campus worship events, and/or local church settings. This hands-on experience serves to develop both the student’s operating skills and pastoral sensibilities.

Prerequisite: WORS 3130 Introduction to Worship Technology and Production

WORS 4110 The Arts in Christian Worship (3). This course will aid the student in developing a philosophy of the use of arts in worship. This course explores how the content, form, and styles of worship are enlivened through the expression of the arts. With attention given particularly to visual and performing arts, the course covers the history of the use of the arts in worship and the application of arts in ministry today. Prerequisites: THEO 3120 Theological & Biblical Foundations of Christian Worship and THEO 3121 History of Christian Worship

WORS 4403 Worship Leadership Internship (3). This 10-week internship is designed to provide practical experience for Worship Leadership majors to observe, analyze, participate, and lead in the music and worship ministry of a local church under the guidance of a minister of music and/or minister of worship. This internship must be supervised by a full-time minister of music and/or worship minister employed by the church, or by a part-time minister of music and/or worship minister employed by and actively involved in the church, who has earned an undergraduate degree in music and/or worship studies. All internships must receive approval from the WORS 4403 instructor/supervisor, and in some instances may require approval from the entire Communication & Creative Arts faculty. Prerequisite: Must earn a “C” or higher in WORS 3110, WORS 3120 and THEO 3120.

WORS 4999 Integrative Project (1). In this course each student organizes, develops, and then implements a final project under the supervision of the course instructor or an instructor-approved supervisor. Normally through the integrative project each student will display proficiency in planning, organizing, and leading worship informed by or demonstrated by 1) a biblical, theological, and historical understanding of worship, 2) a sensitivity to cultural context, 3) artistic expression, 4) the proper role and use of technology in worship, and 5) competent proficiency in applied music skills and knowledge. All projects must receive approval from the course instructor, and in some instances may require approval from the entire Communication & Creative Arts faculty. Prerequisite: Must earn a “C” or higher in WORS 4403. Post-requisite: Must earn a “C” or higher in WORS 4999 to apply the course credit to the Worship Leadership degree.
